11 WHEN REHOBAM CAME TO Jerusalem, he mustered the 180,000 choice troops of the houses of Judah and Benjamin for war with Israel to restore the kingdom to Rehoboam.<sup>n</sup> <sup>2</sup>But the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah the man of God: <sup>3</sup>Say to Rehoboam, Solomon's son, king over Judah, and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, <sup>4</sup>This is what the LORD has spoken: You shall not go up, neither shall you fight against your brothers. Go back, every man, to his own house; for this thing has happened by My decree. They paid attention to the LORD's words and turned back from marching against Jeroboam. <sup>5</sup>So Rehoboam settled in Jerusalem, and he fortified cities in Judah for defense. <sup>6</sup>He worked on Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa, <sup>7</sup>Beth-zur, Soco, Adullam. <sup>8</sup>Gath, Mareshah, Ziph, <sup>9</sup>Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah, <sup>10</sup>Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron; these became fortified cities in Judah and Benjamin. <sup>11</sup>He reinforced the strongholds, stationing commanders in them, along with food supplies, oil, and wine. <sup>12</sup>With shields and spears in every city he strengthened them greatly; so Judah and Benjamin remained his.

12 WHEN REHOBAM'S ROYAL POWER became established and he had become strong, he and all Israel forsook the Law of the LORD. <sup>2</sup>Then, because of their unfaithfulness to the LORD, Shishak Egypt's king <sup>3</sup>marched against Jerusalem in the fifth year of King Rehoboam with 1200 chariots, 60,000 cavalry, and innumerable troops, who came with him from Egypt — Lubians, Sukkiites, and Ethiopians. <sup>4</sup>He captured the stronghold cities of Judah, advancing as far as Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup>Meanwhile, Shemaiah the prophet met with Rehoboam and the princes of Judah who had gathered into Jerusalem for fear of Shishak, and said to them, "This is what the LORD has spoken: You have abandoned Me, so I, now, do abandon you into Shishak's hands." <sup>6</sup>Then the princes of Israel and the king humbled themselves and acknowledged, "The LORD is righteous."<sup>s</sup> <sup>7</sup>Accordingly, when the LORD saw that they humbled themselves, this message came to Shemaiah from the LORD: They have humbled themselves. Therefore I will not bring them to ruin but will shortly give them an escaped remnant, and My anger shall not be poured out against Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak. <sup>8</sup>But they will become his servants and recognize the difference between servitude to Me and to the kingdoms of the lands.

the LORD did not send total destruction; in fact, there remained good things in Judah.

<sup>13</sup>So King Rehoboam established himself in Jerusalem and reigned. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel in which to place His name. His mother's name was Naamah the Ammonitess. <sup>14</sup>Nevertheless, he did wrong in that he did not fix his heart<sup>u</sup> to seek the LORD. <sup>15</sup>As for the activities of Rehoboam, both first and last, are they not recorded in the words of Shemaiah the prophet and Iddo the seer in the register of genealogy? There were hostilities between Rehoboam and Jeroboam constantly. <sup>16</sup>So Rehoboam slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David, and Abijah his son became king in his place.

13 ABIJAH BECAME KING OVER Judah in the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, <sup>2</sup>and he reigned for three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Micaiah<sup>v</sup> daughter of Uriel from Gibeah. When war broke out between Abijah and Jeroboam, <sup>3</sup>Abijah engaged in battle with an army of mighty warriors—400,000 picked troops, whereas Jeroboam ordered the battle against him with 800,000 picked troops—strong, courageous men.<sup>w</sup> <sup>4</sup>Then Abijah stood up on Mount Zemaraim<sup>x</sup> which lies in the Ephraim hill country and called, "Listen to me, Jeroboam and all Israel! <sup>5</sup>Should you not understand that the LORD, the God of Israel, has given the monarchy over Israel to David forever, to him and his sons by a salt covenant?<sup>y</sup> <sup>6</sup>Yet Jeroboam,<sup>z</sup> Nebat's son, and servant to David's son Solomon, turned and rebelled against his master. <sup>7</sup>And certain good-for-nothing ne'er-do-wells joined him and defied Rehoboam, Solomon's son—for Rehoboam was immature<sup>a</sup> and faint-hearted and failed to assert himself against them. <sup>8</sup>Now you plan on using your strength against the LORD's kingdom in the hand of David's sons, and you are a huge multitude, but you have with you the calves of gold which Jeroboam made as gods for you. <sup>9</sup>Have you not driven out the LORD's priests, Aaron's son and the Levites, and like the people of the nations made your own priests out of anyone who came with a young bullock and seven rams to consecrate himself, to become a priest to no god?

of Israel fell back before Judah, and God gave them over into their hand. <sup>17</sup>Abijah and his people struck them down with a great slaughter, fatally wounding 500,000 picked troops of Israel. <sup>18</sup>At that time the men of Israel were subdued, but the men of Judah were strengthened, because they relied on the LORD, the God of their fathers. <sup>19</sup>So Abijah pursued Jeroboam and captured some cities from him: Bethel with its suburbs, Jeshanah with its surrounding territories, and Ephraim with its suburbs. <sup>20</sup>Neither could Jeroboam regain power during Abijah's lifetime, and at length the LORD smote him and he died. <sup>21</sup>But Abijah built up his strength. Moreover, he took fourteen wives for himself; he had twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters. <sup>22</sup>The rest of Abijah's affairs, his ways and his words, are recorded in the exposition of the prophet Iddo.

ing sought the LORD our God. We have sought Him; therefore He has given us rest on all sides."<sup>h</sup> So they built and thrived. <sup>8</sup>And Asa commanded an army of 300,000 from Judah bearing light shields and spears and 280,000 from Benjamin armed with larger shields and bows; these were all strong and mighty men.

About 899 B.C.

<sup>9</sup>Now Zerah<sup>i</sup> the Ethiopian came up against them with an army of a million and 300 chariots, advancing as far as Mareshah. <sup>10</sup>Asa marched against him, drawing up the battle lines in the valley of Zephathah by Mareshah. <sup>11</sup>Then Asa called on the LORD his God, praying, "O LORD, there is none but Thee to help the powerless against the mighty;<sup>j</sup> help us, O LORD our God, for we rely on Thee, and in Thy name do we come against this horde. O LORD, Thou art our God, do not let man hold out against Thee!" <sup>12</sup>Then the LORD struck down the Ethiopians before Asa and Judah so that the Ethiopians fled. <sup>13</sup>Asa and the people with him chased them as far as Gerar, and there fell so many of the Ethiopians that none were left alive, for they were beaten before the LORD and His army. They collected a large amount of plunder. <sup>14</sup>They also overthrew all the cities around Gerar,<sup>k</sup> because the awe of the LORD had come over them;<sup>l</sup> and because there was abundant booty they plundered these cities. <sup>15</sup>They went so far as to attack the cattle tents, capturing many sheep and camels; but finally they returned to Jerusalem.

895 B.C.

15 <sup>1</sup>NOW THE SPIRIT OF GOD CAME on Azariah, Oded's son, <sup>2</sup>and he went out to meet Asa, saying to him, "Listen to me, Asa and all Judah and Benjamin! The LORD is with you while you are with Him; if you seek Him, He will be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will forsake you.<sup>m</sup> <sup>3</sup>For some time Israel has been without the true God, without a teaching priest, and without law. <sup>4</sup>But in their extremity they returned to the LORD, the God of Israel;<sup>n</sup> when they sought Him, He was found by them. <sup>5</sup>During those times there was no security for anyone who went out or came in, because many disturbances came to all the inhabitants of the lands. <sup>6</sup>Nation dashed against nation, and city against city, for God plagued them with all sorts of adversity. <sup>7</sup>But you, be strong, and do not lose heart, for your efforts shall be rewarded.<sup>o</sup> <sup>8</sup>When Asa heard these words and this prophecy coming from the prophet Oded, he gained courage to remove the detestable things<sup>p</sup> from all the land of Judah and Benjamin and from the cities which he had taken from the Ephraim hill country, and he renewed the LORD's altar which stood in front of the porch of the LORD.

<sup>9</sup>Then he brought together all Judah and Benjamin, and those from Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon who lived among them. For a large number came over to him from Israel when they saw that the LORD his God was with him. <sup>10</sup>These were assembled at Jerusalem in the third month of the fifteenth year of Asa's reign. <sup>11</sup>That day they sacrificed to the LORD some of the plunder they had brought — 700 cattle and 7000 sheep — <sup>12</sup>and entered into the covenant<sup>q</sup> to seek the LORD God of their fathers with all their heart and with all their soul.<sup>r</sup> <sup>13</sup>Indeed, anyone who would not seek the LORD God of Israel was to die, whether small or grown, man or woman. <sup>14</sup>They made this oath to the LORD with a loud voice and a cheer, with trumpets and horns. <sup>15</sup>All Judah was glad for the oath, because they had sworn with all their heart and sought

Him with all their will; He was found by them, and the LORD gave them rest all around.

894 B.C.

16 IN THE THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR OF Asa's reign, Baasha, Israel's king advanced against Judah and built Ramah, to prevent anyone from going out or coming in to Asa king of Judah. <sup>2</sup>Then Asa withdrew silver and gold from the treasures of the LORD's temple and from the king's palace and sent it to Ben-hadad king of Syria, who lived at Damascus, saying, <sup>3</sup>"There is a treaty between me and you, as there was between my father and your father. Note that I have sent you silver and gold. Go, break your treaty with Baasha Israel's king, that he may withdraw from me."<sup>v</sup> <sup>4</sup>So Ben-hadad listened to King Asa and sent the commanders of his armies to the cities of Israel, and they overpowered Ijon, Dan, and Abel-maim, along with all the storage cities of Naphtali. <sup>5</sup>When Baasha heard this, he quit building Ramah and gave up his enterprise. <sup>6</sup>Then King Asa brought all Judah, and they carried away the stones and timbers of Ramah with which Baasha had been building, and with these he built Geba and Mizpah.

<sup>7</sup>At that time Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah and said to him, "Because you relied on the king of

Also at this time Asa cruelly oppressed certain of the people. <sup>11</sup>Note that the affairs of Asa from first to last are recorded in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

17 HIS SON JEHOSEPHAT BECAME king in his place and strengthened himself against Israel. <sup>2</sup>He quartered troops in all the fortified cities of Judah and stationed garrisons throughout all the land of Judah and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken. <sup>3</sup>The LORD was with Jehoshaphat because he walked in the old paths of David his father<sup>z</sup> and did not seek the Baalim.<sup>a</sup> <sup>4</sup>Instead he followed the God of his father and walked in His commandments — not according to the doings of Israel. <sup>5</sup>So the LORD established the kingdom in his hand, and all Judah presented gifts to Jehoshaphat so that he attained great riches and honor. <sup>6</sup>He took heart in the ways of the LORD and went on to remove the high places and shame images<sup>b</sup> from Judah. <sup>7</sup>Also in the third year of his reign he sent out his princes — Ben-hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel, and Micaiah — to teach in the cities of Judah, <sup>8</sup>accompanied by the Levites — Shemaiah, Nathaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah, and Tobadonijah, Levites — and by Elishama and Jehoram, priests. <sup>9</sup>So these taught throughout Judah, taking with them the book of the Law of the LORD, and they went around into all the cities of Judah, teaching among the people.

18 WHEN JEHOSEPHAT HAD AMPLE riches and honor, he made a marriage alliance with Ahab.<sup>e</sup> <sup>2</sup>After a few years he visited Ahab in Samaria. Ahab butchered a large number of sheep and cattle for him and his company and persuaded him to march against Ramoth-gilead. <sup>3</sup>For Ahab king of Israel inquired of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, "Will you go to Ramoth-gilead with me?" To this he responded, "I am as you, and my people as your people, we will be with you in the war. <sup>4</sup>But first of all," requested Jehoshaphat of the king of Israel, "let me ask that you seek the word of the LORD." <sup>5</sup>So the king of Israel called together the prophets, <sup>6</sup>400 men, and said to them, "Shall we advance against Ramoth-gilead for battle or shall I desist?" "Go up," they replied, "and God will deliver it into the king's hand." <sup>6</sup>But Jehoshaphat queried, "Isn't there another prophet of the LORD around here that we may inquire from him?" <sup>7</sup>The king of Israel responded to Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man by whom to seek the LORD,<sup>f</sup> but I hate him, for he never prophesies good about me, but always bad.<sup>h</sup> He is Micaiah, Imla's son." Then Jehoshaphat said, "Oh, let not the king say so!" <sup>8</sup>So the king of Israel summoned an officer and ordered, "Hurry and get Micaiah, Imla's son."

<sup>9</sup>The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were sitting each on his throne dressed in his robes. This was in the threshing area of the entrance gate to Samaria, where all the prophets were prophesying before them. <sup>10</sup>Then Zedekiah, Chenaanah's son, made iron horns for himself and said, "This is what the LORD says: With these you will gore Syria until they are destroyed." <sup>11</sup>And all the prophets were prophesying the same way, saying, "Go against Ramoth-gilead and win, for the

<sup>12</sup>Meanwhile, the messenger who had gone to call Micaiah informed him, "Listen, the prophets' messages to the king are unanimously good. How about making your message like one of theirs and speaking favorably?" <sup>13</sup>Micaiah replied, "As the LORD lives, whatever my God shall say, that will I proclaim."<sup>i</sup> <sup>14</sup>When he came to the king, the king inquired of him, "Micaiah,<sup>j</sup> shall we march against Ramoth-gilead to battle or should I give it up?" He retorted, "Go on up and win, that they may be delivered into your hands!" <sup>15</sup>But the king took him to task, "How many times have I adjured you never to speak to me anything except the truth in the name of the LORD?"<sup>k</sup> <sup>16</sup>Then he responded, "I saw all Israel scattered out over the hills like sheep without a shepherd. And the LORD said: These have no master. Let everyone of them return to his own house in safety." <sup>17</sup>"What did I tell you?" remarked the king of Israel to Jehoshaphat. "He does not prophesy good about me, but rather calamity!" <sup>18</sup>"That being so," he<sup>l</sup> continued, "listen to the LORD's word: I saw the LORD sitting on His throne with all the throngs of heaven standing around Him at His right and left." <sup>19</sup>The LORD said: Who will persuade Ahab, Israel's king, to go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? As one said one thing, and another said something else, <sup>20</sup>one spirit<sup>m</sup> moved forward, stood before the LORD, and said, 'I will persuade him.' The LORD quizzed him: In what way? <sup>21</sup>He replied, 'I will go out and become a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' You will succeed in persuading him, He answered; go ahead and do this. <sup>22</sup>Now notice, the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouths of these your prophets, for the LORD has decreed evil against you."

<sup>23</sup>Then Zedekiah, Chenaanah's son, stepped up and struck Micaiah on the cheek, saying, "Which way did the Spirit of the LORD cross over from me to speak to you?" <sup>24</sup>"Look," said Micaiah, "you will see in that day, when you enter an inside room to hide yourself!" <sup>25</sup>The king of Israel ordered, "Take Micaiah and remand him to Amon, officer of the city, and to Joash, the king's son, <sup>26</sup>with orders, 'The king commands this, Put this man in prison and feed him prison fare of bread and water until I return safely.'" <sup>27</sup>Micaiah rejoined, "If you actually return safely, the LORD has not spoken by me! Hear this, all you peoples!" he called.

<sup>28</sup>Even so, the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up against Ramoth-gilead. <sup>29</sup>The king of Israel, moreover, proposed to Jehoshaphat, "I will disguise myself and go into battle, but you wear your own regalia." So the king of Israel disguised himself, and they entered the battle. <sup>30</sup>Now the king of Syria had ordered his chariot captains, "Do not fight against small or great, but only against the king of Israel." <sup>31</sup>So it happened that when the chariot captains saw Jehoshaphat, they concluded, "That is the king of Israel," and encircled him to fight against him. But Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him; God drew them away from him. <sup>32</sup>When the chariot captains realized he was not the king of Israel, they retired from pursuing him. <sup>33</sup>But one of the men took a shot with his bow at random and hit the king of Israel between the layers of breastplate and body armor. He ordered his driver, "Turn your hand and take me out of the front line, for I am wounded." <sup>34</sup>Through that day the battle raged, while the king of Israel kept himself standing in his chariot opposite Syria until evening; but about sundown he died.

and said to King Jehoshaphat, "Should you give help to the wicked and love those who hate the LORD? Because of this, indignation from the LORD shall come upon you. <sup>3</sup>Even so, there are good things found in you, for you have destroyed the shame images out of the land and have set your heart to seek God."

<sup>8</sup>In Jerusalem Jehoshaphat also stationed some of the Levites and priests along with clan leaders of Israel for the judgment of the LORD and for disputes, after they had returned to Jerusalem. <sup>9</sup>These he charged, "So shall you do, in reverence for the LORD, in faithfulness, and with a heart of integrity. <sup>10</sup>Regarding every case which may come before you from your brothers living in the cities, which involves blood versus blood, law, commandment, regulations or ordinances, you shall warn them not to be guilty before the LORD, lest anger should come on both you and your brothers. This you shall do so as not to incur guilt. <sup>11</sup>Note also: Amariah is high priest over you in all matters regarding the LORD, and Zebadiah, Ishmael's son, ruler of the house of Judah, in all matters regarding the king; the Levites are officials before you. Deal fearlessly, and the LORD be with the good."

huge multitude has come against you from beyond the sea,<sup>o</sup> from Syria; and note this, they are at Hazazon-tamar" (which is Engedi). <sup>3</sup>In fear, Jehoshaphat set his face to seek the LORD and proclaimed a fast throughout Judah. <sup>4</sup>And Judah came together to seek the LORD; indeed they came to seek the LORD out of all the cities of Judah.

<sup>5</sup>Then, in the house of the LORD in front of the new court, Jehoshaphat stood up in the congregation of Judah and Jerusalem <sup>6</sup>and said: "LORD God of our fathers, art Thou not God in heaven, and dost Thou not rule over all the kingdoms of the nations? There is both strength and might in Thy hand, and there is none who can stand up against Thee. <sup>7</sup>Didst Thou not, O, our God, dispossess the inhabitants of this land in favor of Thy people Israel, giving it to the descendants of Thy friend Abraham forever? <sup>8</sup>Later they settled in it and built a sanctuary in it for Thy name, saying, <sup>9</sup>'If calamity, sword, judgment, pestilence, or famine come on us,<sup>p</sup> we will stand before this house and before Thee—for Thy name is in this house—and cry to Thee out of our distress, and Thou wilt hear and save.'<sup>10</sup>See, now! The men of Ammon and Moab and Mount Seir, whom Thou didst not let Israel invade as they came out of the land of Egypt<sup>q</sup>—instead they turned away from them and did not destroy them—<sup>11</sup>see how they are repaying us by coming to drive us out from Thy possession, which Thou didst cause us to inherit. <sup>12</sup>O our God, wilt Thou not judge them? For we have not power against this huge array which has come against us, and we are at a loss what to do; but our eyes are on Thee."<sup>r</sup> <sup>13</sup>All Judah was standing before the LORD, including their infants, wives, and children.

<sup>20</sup>Early the next morning they got up and marched out to the wilderness of Tekoa. When they were setting out, Jehoshaphat stood to say, "Hear me, O Judah and you residents of Jerusalem! Trust in the LORD your God, and you will be established. Trust in His prophets, and you will be successful."<sup>21</sup>He took counsel with the people, appointing those who were to sing to the LORD and those who were to give praise in sacred vestments as they advanced in front of the troops, saying, "Praise the LORD, because His loving-kindness is everlasting!"<sup>w</sup>

shout and praise, the LORD set an ambush against the sons of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir who had come against Judah, and they were beaten. <sup>23</sup>For the men of Ammon and Moab stood up against the inhabitants of Mount Seir to destroy and annihilate them, and when they had wiped out the inhabitants of Seir, they helped to destroy one another. <sup>24</sup>When Judah arrived at the lookout in the wilderness and faced toward the horde, what were they but corpses, lying on the ground, none having escaped! <sup>25</sup>Jehoshaphat and his people proceeded to collect the plunder and found much among them, including goods with the bodies and precious articles. They stripped off for themselves more than they could carry, spending three days collecting the loot; for it was enormous.<sup>x</sup> <sup>26</sup>On the fourth day they assembled in the valley of Berachah;<sup>y</sup> for there they blessed the LORD, and as a result they have called the name of that place the valley of Berachah to this day. <sup>27</sup>Then they turned—all the men of Judah and Jerusalem, headed by Jehoshaphat—to go back with joy to Jerusalem, for God had made them rejoice over their enemies. <sup>28</sup>So they went into Jerusalem to the house of the LORD with harps, lyres, and trumpets. <sup>29</sup>Again the awe of God came over all the kingdoms of the lands when they heard that the LORD had fought against the enemies of Israel. <sup>30</sup>The kingdom of Jehoshaphat had peace, for his God gave him rest on all sides.

<sup>31</sup>So Jehoshaphat ruled over Judah; he was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-five years. His mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. <sup>32</sup>He walked in the way of his father Asa and did not turn aside from it, doing right in the eyes of the LORD—<sup>33</sup>except that the high places were not removed and the people still would not fix their heart on the God of their fathers. <sup>34</sup>Now the rest of Jehoshaphat's affairs, both first and last, see, they are written in the words of Jehu the son of Hanani, which he inscribed in the book of the kings of Israel. <sup>35</sup>Later on, Jehoshaphat king of Judah made an alliance with Ahaziah king of Israel, who acted wickedly; <sup>36</sup>he joined with him in making ships to go to Tarshish.<sup>z</sup> They made the ships in Ezion-geber.<sup>a</sup> <sup>37</sup>But Eliezer, Dodavahu's son, from Mareshah, prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, "Because you allied yourself with Ahaziah, the LORD has broken up your efforts." So the ships were so damaged that they could not sail to Tarshish.

848 B.C.

21 JEHOSEPHAT WENT TO REST with his fathers, was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Jehoram his son became king in his place. <sup>2</sup>His brothers, other sons of Jehoshaphat, were Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azariah, Michael, and Shephatiah; all these were the sons of Jehoshaphat, Judah's king. <sup>3</sup>Now their father gave to each of them large gifts of silver, gold, and valuable items, together with fortified cities in Judah, but he gave the kingdom to Jehoram because he was the first-born.

<sup>4</sup>When Jehoram took over his father's kingdom and had strengthened his position, he killed<sup>b</sup> all his brothers with the sword and even some of the princes of Judah. <sup>5</sup>Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he remained king in Jerusalem for eight years. <sup>6</sup>But he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, doing as the dynasty of Ahab had done, for Ahab's daughter had become his wife.<sup>c</sup> He did wrong in the eyes of the LORD. <sup>7</sup>However, the LORD was unwilling to destroy the dynasty of David because of the covenant<sup>d</sup> which He had made with David, in which He had promised to give a lamp<sup>e</sup> both to him and to his sons for all time.

Edomites and their chariot captains who had surrounded him. <sup>10</sup>Nevertheless, Edom revolted from the domination of Judah to this day. At that time, because he had left the LORD, the God of his fathers, Libnah also revolted from his sway.

<sup>11</sup>He also made high places in the hill country of Judah, causing the inhabitants of Jerusalem to become unfaithful and turning Judah astray.

<sup>12</sup>Then a writing came to him from the prophet Elijah, warning him, "The LORD, the God of your father David, has said this: Because you have not walked in the ways of your father Jehoshaphat, nor in the ways of Asa king of Judah, <sup>13</sup>but have rather followed in the way of the kings of Israel, causing Judah to be unfaithful and making the inhabitants of Jerusalem commit harlotry like that of the dynasty of Ahab,<sup>f</sup> and because you have killed your brothers, your father's own family, who were better than you, <sup>14</sup>now listen! The LORD is going to strike a great blow to your people, including your sons, your wives, and all your goods. <sup>15</sup>You also will become severely ill from an intestinal disease until your vitals fall out because of the day-after-day disease."

<sup>18</sup>After all this, the LORD struck him with an incurable intestinal disease. <sup>19</sup>So it came about as time passed, that by the end of two years his intestines came out because of his sickness, and he died in intense suffering. His people made no burning for him like the burning for his fathers.<sup>h</sup> <sup>20</sup>He was thirty-two years old when he became king and he reigned in Jerusalem for eight years, expiring without being mourned. They buried him in the city of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

841 B.C.

22 THEN THE INHABITANTS OF Jerusalem made Ahaziah, his youngest son, king in his place; for all his older sons had been killed by the band of marauders that had come with the Arabians against the camp. So Ahaziah, Jehoram's son, reigned as king of Judah. <sup>2</sup>Ahaziah was forty-two<sup>i</sup> years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem for one year; his mother's name was Athaliah, Omri's granddaughter.<sup>j</sup> <sup>3</sup>He too, walked in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother was counselor to him in his doing what was wrong. <sup>4</sup>So he did evil in the eyes of the LORD as the dynasty of Ahab had done, because, after his father's death, they became his advisors, leading him to ruin.

served Ahaziah,<sup>m</sup> and he killed them. <sup>9</sup>He then made search for Ahaziah, who was captured while hiding in Samaria; he was brought before Jehu, who had him killed. Even so they buried him, for they reasoned, "He was the son of Jehoshaphat who sought the LORD with all his heart." But there was no one from the house of Ahaziah who was able to exercise control over the kingdom.

<sup>10</sup>When Athaliah, Ahaziah's mother, saw that her son was dead, she set out and killed all the royal descendants of the house of Judah.<sup>n</sup> <sup>11</sup>But Jehoshabeath, the king's daughter, took Joash, Ahaziah's son, stole him away from among the king's sons, who were put to death, and placed both him and his nurse in the storeroom for beds. This Jehoshabeath, being Ahaziah's own sister as well as the daughter of King Jehoram and wife of the priest Jehoiada, hid him away from Athaliah, so that she could not kill him. <sup>12</sup>He stayed with them, hidden in the house of God for six years, while Athaliah was queen over the land.

835 B.C.

23 IN THE SEVENTH YEAR JEHOIADA took courage and brought into a mutual agreement the captains of hundreds: Azariah, Jeroham's son; Ishmael, Jehohanan's son; Azariah, Obed's son; Maasciah, Adaiah's son; and Elishaphat, Zichri's son. <sup>2</sup>They toured through Judah, called together the Levites out of all the cities of Judah, also Israel's clan leaders, and these came to Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>This whole assembly made a covenant with the king in the temple of God. He<sup>o</sup> told them, "See, the king's son is to reign as the LORD promised concerning David's sons. <sup>4</sup>This is the thing for you to do: a third of you priests and Levites who come in on the Sabbath will serve at the entrance as gatekeepers. <sup>5</sup>Another third will be at the king's palace, and a third at the foundation gate, while all the people will stay in the courts of the LORD's temple.

<sup>8</sup>So the Levites and all Judah did according to all that Jehoiada the priest had commanded and each took his men, both those entering on the Sabbath and those leaving on the Sabbath, for Jehoiada the priest had not dismissed the divisions. <sup>9</sup>Then Jehoiada the priest gave the captains of hundreds the spears, shields and the smaller shields that were in the temple of God and had been King David's. <sup>10</sup>He had all the people stand around the king, weapons in hand, from the south side of the house to the north side by the altar and the temple itself. <sup>11</sup>Then they brought out the king's son, placed the crown on him, and presenting him with the testimony,<sup>q</sup> they made him king. Jehoiada and his sons then anointed him and proclaimed, "Long live the king!"

as she came to the entrance of the horse gate of the king's palace, and there they executed her.

<sup>16</sup>Then Jehoiada made a covenant between himself and all the people and the king to be the LORD's people. <sup>17</sup>All the people went to the temple of Baal, broke it down with its altars, and smashed its images; they executed Mattan the priest of Baal in front of the altars. <sup>18</sup>Jehoiada placed the administrative officers of the LORD's house under direction of the Levitical priests, whom David had assigned to be over the LORD's house. Their task was to offer burnt offerings to the LORD, as is written in the law of Moses, with joy and singing, as ordered by David. <sup>19</sup>He stationed the doorkeepers near the doors of the LORD's temple, so that no one who was unclean for any cause could enter in. <sup>20</sup>Then taking the captains of hundreds, the nobles, the rulers among the people, and all the people of the land, he escorted the king down from the LORD's temple. They came through the upper gate to the king's palace where they set the king on the throne of the kingdom. <sup>21</sup>So all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city had quiet because Athaliah had been put to death with the sword.

24 JOASH WAS SEVEN YEARS OLD when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem forty years; his mother's name was Zibiah from Beersheba. <sup>2</sup>Joash, too, did right in the eyes of the LORD during the priest Jehoiada's lifetime. <sup>3</sup>Jehoiada obtained two wives for him,<sup>r</sup> and he had sons and daughters.

<sup>4</sup>Later on it came into the heart of Joash to restore the LORD's temple. <sup>5</sup>Gathering the priests and Levites together, he said to them, "Go out into the cities of Judah and collect money from all Israel for the repairing of the temple of your God year by year — and you are to hurry the matter!" But the Levites did not hurry it. <sup>6</sup>Then the king summoned Jehoiada the high priest and said to him, "Why is it that you have not required the Levites to bring from Judah and Jerusalem the assessment<sup>s</sup> of Moses the LORD's servant, which was levied on the congregation of Israel for the tent of testimony?"<sup>t</sup> <sup>7</sup>For the sons of that wicked Athaliah had broken into God's house and had even turned over to the Baalim all the dedicated articles of the LORD's house.

<sup>8</sup>So the king ordered them to make a chest<sup>u</sup> and place it outside at the gate of the LORD's temple. <sup>9</sup>Then they issued a proclamation in Judah and in Jerusalem to bring in to the LORD what was assessed on Israel in the wilderness by Moses, God's servant. <sup>10</sup>All the princes and all the people were glad and brought it in, dropping it into the chest until all had given. <sup>11</sup>Whenever the chest was brought to the king's officers by the Levites and they saw that it contained much money, the king's secretary and the high priest's deputy would empty the chest, take it up, and return it to its place. This they did daily and collected money abundantly. <sup>12</sup>The king and Jehoiada passed it on to those in charge of the service of the LORD's temple, who, in turn, were hiring masons and carpenters to renew the LORD's house, and iron-workers and coppersmiths to restore the temple of the LORD. <sup>13</sup>So these workers labored, and the restoration work progressed under them; they restored the house of God to its proper condition and made it strong. <sup>14</sup>When they had finished, they brought in to the king and to Jehoiada what was left of the silver, and it was made into utensils for the LORD's temple — instruments for serving and for making sacrifices, bowls, and gold and silver items. They continued sacrificing burnt offerings in the LORD's house regularly throughout Jehoiada's lifetime.

130 years old at his death, <sup>16</sup>and they buried him with the kings in the city of David, for he had done noble things in Israel, both toward God and toward His temple. <sup>17</sup>Nevertheless, after Jehoiada's death the princes of Judah came and bowed down to the king, and at that time the king began to listen to them. <sup>18</sup>They disregarded the temple of the LORD, the God of their fathers, serving the shame images and idols instead, and because of their guilt in this, anger came on Judah and Jerusalem. <sup>19</sup>He<sup>v</sup> sent prophets among them to turn them back to the LORD, and these bore witness among them, but they would not listen.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>25</sup>Then after these had gone from him—for they did leave him, though with many wounds—his servants plotted against him, because of his murder of the priest Jehoiada's son, and killed him on his bed. He died and was buried in the city of David, but not in the royal tombs. <sup>26</sup>Now those who conspired against him were Zabad son of Shimeath the Ammonitess, and Jehozabad son of Shimrith the Moabitess. <sup>27</sup>Concerning his sons, the many prophecies against him, and the restoration of God's house, note, these are written in the exposition of the book of the kings. Amaziah his son became king in his place.

796 B.C.

25 AMAZIAH WAS TWENTY-FIVE years old when he became king, and he ruled in Jerusalem for twenty-nine years; his mother's name was Jehoaddan, from Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>He did what was right in the LORD's eyes, but not wholeheartedly. <sup>3</sup>When the kingdom had become established under him, he killed those servants of his who had assassinated his father the king; <sup>4</sup>but he did not put their children to death, because he did what was written in the Law, in the book of Moses<sup>b</sup> where God commanded, "Fathers shall not be executed for children, neither shall children be executed for fathers; each may be executed only for his own sin."

<sup>5</sup>Amaziah called Judah together and assigned them by their clans to leaders of groups of thousands and of hundreds for all Judah and Benjamin.<sup>c</sup> He then took a census of those from twenty years old and above and found them to be 300,000 capable men who could go out to war and handle a spear and shield. <sup>6</sup>In addition, he hired 100,000 strong and courageous men from Israel for $218,000 in silver.<sup>d</sup> <sup>7</sup>But a man of God came to him and said, "O king, do not let the army of Israel go with you, because the LORD is not with Israel and all these men of Ephraim! <sup>8</sup>But if you do go, carry on! Act strong in battle. God will yet make you fall before your enemy, for God has the power to help or to overthrow." <sup>9</sup>Then replied Amaziah to the man of God, "But what shall I do about the $200,000 which I have given to the troops from Israel?" The man of God responded, "God is able to give you far more than that."<sup>e</sup> <sup>10</sup>So Amaziah dismissed them to return home, those troops which had come to him from Ephraim; but they were highly incensed at Judah and returned home burning with rage.

<sup>11</sup>Amaziah, however, took courage, led his forces out, and marched to the Valley of Salt where he struck down 10,000 men of Seir. <sup>12</sup>The men of Judah also captured 10,000 alive, brought them to the top of a cliff, and there pushed them over the cliff's top so that all of them were dashed to pieces. <sup>13</sup>Meanwhile the men of the troops, which Amaziah had sent back from accompanying him to war, made raids on the cities of Judah from Samaria to Beth-horon. They killed 3000 of the inhabitants and took much loot.

<sup>14</sup>After Amaziah had come back from the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought in the gods of those men of Seir and set them up as his own gods, bowing before them and burning sacrifices to them. <sup>15</sup>Therefore the LORD became angry with Amaziah and sent a prophet to him, who said to him, "Why do you look to the gods of these people, who did not deliver their own people out of your hand?"<sup>f</sup> <sup>16</sup>But as he was speaking, he<sup>g</sup> broke in, "Have you been appointed counselor to the king? Quiet! Why should you be killed?"<sup>h</sup> So the prophet stopped with, "I notice that God has determined to destroy you, because you have done this and have not given heed to my advice."

But a wild animal that was on Lebanon passed by and trampled that bramble down. <sup>19</sup>You have said to yourself, 'See, I have beaten Edom,' so you have the audacity to boast! Stay at home now; why ask for trouble which will only make you fall, both you and Judah with you?"

<sup>20</sup>But Amaziah would not listen, for it was of God, so that He might turn them over into the hand of their enemies, because they had looked to the gods of Edom. <sup>21</sup>So Joash, Israel's king, marched up and he and Amaziah, Judah's king, faced each other in battle at Beth-shemesh which belongs to Judah. <sup>22</sup>But Judah was defeated before Israel, and each man fled to his own tent. <sup>23</sup>At Beth-shemesh Israel's King Joash even captured Amaziah, Judah's king, the son of Joash, Jehoahaz<sup>j</sup> son, and brought him to Jerusalem where he demolished 200 yards of the Jerusalem wall, from the Ephraim gate to the corner gate. <sup>24</sup>He returned to Samaria with all the gold, silver, and utensils found with Obbed-edom<sup>k</sup> in the house of God, with the treasures of the king's palace, and with hostages.

<sup>25</sup>Amaziah son of Joash king over Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of the king of Israel, Joash the son of Jehoahaz. <sup>26</sup>The rest of Amaziah's affairs, first and last, see, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel? <sup>27</sup>From the time that Amaziah turned away from the LORD, they conspired against him at Jerusalem; he fled to Lachish, but they sent after him to Lachish and assassinated him there. <sup>28</sup>They then brought him by horse and buried him with his fathers in Judah's capital.

26 ALL THE PEOPLE OF JUDAH took Uzziah who was sixteen years old and made him king in place

c) Beautiful O.T. combination of Matt. 6:33 and Eph. 3:20.

f) The unanswerable argument against Israel's idolatry. g) The king, Amaziah.

h) Amaziah affords an illustration of the pagan idea that the king stood superior even to God's law; the attitude of Jezebel showed in bringing about the death of Naboth to obtain his property [I Kings 21]. Only in God-fearing Israel were kings, as well as commoners, made accountable to the Law of God. i) By use of a fable; comp. Judg. 9:7 ff.

j) Same as Ahaziah [see ch. 21:17 note]. k) See I Chron. 26:15.

of his father Amaziah. <sup>2</sup>He was the one who, after the king slept with his fathers, built up Eloth and won it back for Judah. <sup>3</sup>Uzziah was sixteen years old when he became king, and he ruled in Jerusalem for fifty-two years; his mother's name was Jechiliah, from Jerusalem. <sup>4</sup>He did right in the eyes of the LORD in all the ways that Amaziah his father had done. <sup>5</sup>He made a point of seeking God during the lifetime of Zechariah, who had insight in divine visions, and while he sought the LORD, God made him thrive.

shooting arrows and heavy stones. Thus his fame spread for a great distance, because he received exceptional help so that he grew strong.

and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem; his mother's name was Jerushah, Zadok's daughter. <sup>2</sup>He did right in the eyes of the LORD according to all that Uzziah his father had done; however, he did not enter the temple of the LORD. Nevertheless the people were still corrupt.<sup>a</sup> <sup>3</sup>He was the one who constructed the upper gate of the LORD's temple, and on the walls of the citadel hill he built extensively. <sup>4</sup>He also built cities in the hill country of Judah, and on the wooded heights he erected fortresses and towers. <sup>5</sup>He fought the king of the Ammonites, whom he overpowered. The men of Ammon that year gave him $200,000<sup>r</sup> in silver, 10,000 measures<sup>s</sup> of wheat, and 10,000 of barley. The men of Ammon brought this to him in the second and third years, too. <sup>6</sup>So Jotham became mighty, for he established his ways before the LORD his God. <sup>7</sup>The rest of Jotham's affairs and all his wars and his ways, see, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. <sup>8</sup>He was twenty-five years old when he became king and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. <sup>9</sup>Then Jotham went to rest with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. Ahaz his son became king in his place.

736 B.C.

28 <sup>1</sup>HAZ WAS TWENTY YEARS OLD when he became king, and he remained king in Jerusalem for sixteen years. He failed to do what was right in the LORD's eyes as David his father had done; <sup>2</sup>for he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel in that he made molten images to the Baalim,<sup>t</sup> <sup>3</sup>made sacrifices in the valley of the son of Hinnom, and burned his sons in the fire," according to the detestable practices of the nations which the LORD had dispossessed before the children of Israel. <sup>4</sup>He also killed and offered sacrifices on the high places and hills and under every leafy tree.

734 B.C.

<sup>5</sup>Therefore the LORD his God gave him over into the hand of the king of Syria, who defeated him, captured a large number of prisoners from him, and deported them to Damascus. He was also delivered into the hand of the king of Israel, who inflicted heavy casualties on him. <sup>6</sup>Indeed, because they had left the LORD, the God of their fathers, Pekah<sup>v</sup> the son of Remaliah killed 120,000 in Judah in one day, all able men. <sup>7</sup>Zichri, a hero of Ephraim, killed Maasiah, the king's son,<sup>w</sup> Azrikam the palace official, and Elkanah second to the king.

<sup>8</sup>The men of Israel took from their kindred people 200,000 wives, sons, and daughters as captives; they plundered much booty from them and brought the booty to Samaria. <sup>9</sup>But a prophet of the LORD was there, Oded by name, who went out to meet the army as it was coming to Samaria. He said to them, "Observe! Because the LORD, the God of your fathers, was angry with Judah, He has delivered them into your hands; but you have gone and killed them in fury that reaches to heaven. <sup>10</sup>Despite that, you are now thinking to oppress these people of Judah and Jerusalem as male and female slaves! Do you not have enough transgressions of your own against the LORD your God? <sup>11</sup>Now listen to me! Send back these prisoners whom you have captured from your kindred people, for the heat of the LORD's indignation is on you."

u) Human sacrifice was forbidden by the Law [Deut. 18:10], condemned by the prophets [Ezek. 23:37,39]. Though deemed the greatest of sacrifices by many cultures of Biblical (and present) times, as reflected in Micah 6:7, God clearly implied His disapproval as early as Abraham's time [Gen. 22:12,13].

these captives here, for thereby you are proposing to bring on us guilt before the LORD, adding still more to our sins and to our trespasses! Our guilt is already great so that His anger is on Israel." <sup>14</sup>So the armed men left the prisoners and the loot in front of the princes and the whole gathering. <sup>15</sup>Then the men already mentioned by name got up and took charge of the prisoners, giving clothing from the loot to the naked. They clothed them and gave them sandals, fed them, and gave them water. They anointed<sup>x</sup> them and led the feeble on donkeys. So they took them back to the side of their fellow tribesmen at Jericho, the city of palm trees, and then returned to Samaria.

<sup>22</sup>Even so, in the time of his distress he — that same king Ahaz — transgressed yet more against the LORD; <sup>23</sup>for he offered sacrifice to the gods of Damascus, which had attacked him, reasoning, "Because the gods of the kings of Syria are those who have helped them, it is to them I will sacrifice, so they may help me."<sup>b</sup> But they proved, in fact, to be the cause of his downfall and of all Israel. <sup>24</sup>Moreover, after Ahaz had collected the utensils of God's temple, he cut up those utensils from the house of God and closed up the doors of the LORD's temple. He also made altars in every corner of Jerusalem. <sup>25</sup>Indeed, in every city throughout Judah he made high places for sacrificing to other gods, provoking the LORD, the God of his fathers. <sup>26</sup>Now the rest of his affairs, and all his ways, from first to last, see, they are recorded in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. <sup>27</sup>So Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, in Jerusalem, but they did not bring him to the tombs of the kings of Israel. Then his son Hezekiah became king in his place.

29 HEZEKIAH BECAME KING WHEN he was 25 years old, and he remained king in Jerusalem for 29 years; his mother's name was Abijah daughter of Zechariah. <sup>2</sup>He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD according to all that David his father had done.

<sup>3</sup>In his first year as king, in the first month, he opened the doors of the LORD's house and repaired them. <sup>4</sup>He also brought in the priests and the Levites, assembling them at the open space to the east, <sup>5</sup>and said to them, "Listen to me, O Levites! Sanctify yourselves now, and sanctify the temple of the LORD, the God of your fathers, taking away the unclean things from the holy place. <sup>6</sup>For our fathers have broken faith and have done wicked things in the eyes of the LORD our God by leaving Him. They have turned away their faces from the LORD's dwelling place and have turned their backs. <sup>7</sup>They have even closed the doors of the porch and extinguished the lamps; they have failed to burn incense offerings and to offer the burnt offering in the holy place to the God of Israel. <sup>8</sup>Consequently, the LORD's anger has come down on Judah and Jerusalem, and He has made them an object of horror, of astonishment, and of hissing, as you see with your own eyes. <sup>9</sup>Look! It is because of this that our fathers have fallen by the sword and our sons, our daughters, and our wives are in captivity. <sup>10</sup>Now then, it is in my heart to enter into a covenant with the LORD, the God of Israel, that His fierce anger may be diverted from us. <sup>11</sup>So now, my sons, be not negligent, for the LORD has chosen you to stand before Him to serve Him, to be His ministers and to offer sacrifice."

These two prophets could then be dated at 735 B.C. Isaiah warned Ahaz to trust God [Isa. 7:9], but Ahaz relied on Assyria, to his own regret. z) Not of the northern kingdom, but as in vs. 27, of Israelites in Judah.

<sup>12</sup>Then these Levites stood up, from the descendants of the Kohathites: Mahath son of Amasai and Joel son of Azariah; from the sons of Merari: Kish the son of Abdi and Azariah the son of Jehallelel; and from the Gershonites: Joah the son of Zimmah and Eden the son of Joah. <sup>13</sup>From the sons of Elizaphan: Shimri and Jeuel; from the sons of Asaph: Zechariah and Mattaniah; <sup>14</sup>from the sons of Heman: Jehuel and Shimei; and from the sons of Jeduthun: Shemaiah and Uzziel.<sup>c</sup> <sup>15</sup>These, in turn, summoned their brothers, sanctified themselves, and went in to cleanse the LORD's temple according to the king's command by the words of the LORD. <sup>16</sup>The priests went into the inside of the LORD's house to cleanse it, bringing all that was unclean which they found in the temple of the LORD out into the court of the LORD's house, from which place the Levites took it out to the brook Kidron. <sup>17</sup>Having begun to sanctify it on the first day of the first month, they reached the porch of the LORD on the eighth day of the month, a total of eight days for sanctifying the house of the LORD, finishing on the sixteenth day of the first month.<sup>d</sup> <sup>18</sup>Then they went in to King Hezekiah and reported, "We have cleansed the entire house of the LORD, including the altar for the burnt offerings with all its utensils and the table for the showbread with all its utensils. <sup>19</sup>All the utensils, too, which King Ahaz in his unfaithfulness had set aside while he was king, we have put in order and sanctified. There they are in front of the LORD's altar."

c) The first six men are listed according to their descent from Kohath, Merari, and Gershom, Levi's three sons. Elizaphan is of the Kohath line [Num. 3:30], and Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun [Ethan] are the leaders of the Levitic musicians from the families of Gershom, Korah, and Merari, respectively.

d) Both the temple and the porch (court). e) For burnt offerings.

f) Not on any false altars as those of Ahaz [ch. 28:24].

g) Refers to I Chron. 15:16.

h) This states a principle of inspiration: God, the primary source, speaks through an agent—prophet, writer, king, etc. [as in Amos 3:7; Acts 1:16; Heb. 1:1].

<sup>29</sup>Again at the conclusion of the burnt offering, the king and all those present with him bowed down and worshiped. <sup>30</sup>Then King Hezekiah and the princes ordered the Levites to sing praises to the LORD in the words of David, and of Asaph<sup>i</sup> the seer; so they sang joyful praises while they<sup>j</sup> bowed down and worshiped.

<sup>31</sup>Then Hezekiah spoke out, "Now that you have consecrated yourselves to the LORD, come near and bring sacrifices and thank offerings to the LORD's temple." So the congregation brought sacrifices and thank offerings, and everyone so inclined brought burnt offerings. <sup>32</sup>The number of burnt offerings which the congregation brought was 70 cattle, 100 rams, and 200 lambs; all these were for burnt offerings to the LORD. <sup>33</sup>The consecrated items, moreover, totaled 600 cattle and 3000 sheep. <sup>34</sup>But there were not enough priests, so that they could not skin all the burnt offerings; therefore their fellow tribesmen, the Levites, came to their aid until the work was accomplished, or until more priests had sanctified themselves; for the Levites were more upright in heart to sanctify themselves than the priests were.<sup>k</sup> <sup>35</sup>With the many burnt offerings was the fat of the peace offerings, also the liquid offerings which accompanied the burnt offerings. Thus the service in the LORD's temple was re-established. <sup>36</sup>And Hezekiah rejoiced with all the people over God's preparation of the people; for the thing happened suddenly.

30 HEZEKIAH SENT WORD TO ALL Israel and Judah and even wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh inviting them to come to the LORD's temple at Jerusalem for the observance of the Passover to the LORD, the God of Israel. <sup>2</sup>The king, his princes, and the whole assembly at Jerusalem, had decided to keep the Passover in the second month,<sup>l</sup> <sup>3</sup>for they had not been able to observe it in its time because not enough priests had sanctified themselves and the people had not assembled at Jerusalem. <sup>4</sup>This decision seemed proper in the king's eyes and in the eyes of the whole assembly. <sup>5</sup>So they decreed to dispatch heralds through all Israel, from Beer-sheba to Dan, that they come and keep the passover to the LORD God of Israel in Jerusalem; for they had not, in any number, observed it as it was prescribed.

<sup>6</sup>So the couriers went throughout all Israel and Judah with the letters from the hand of the king and his princes, and according to the king's command they proclaimed, "Sons of Israel! Return to the LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel! Then will He return to the remainder of you who have been left by the hand of the kings of Assyria. <sup>7</sup>Be not like your fathers or like your brothers, who transgressed against the LORD, the God of their fathers. For, as you can see, He turned them over to desolation. <sup>8</sup>Now then, do not stiffen your necks like your fathers did, but yield to the LORD and attend His sanctuary which He has sanctified forever. Serve the LORD your God, that His fierce anger may be diverted from you. <sup>9</sup>If you return to the LORD, your brothers and sons will gain favor with their captors so that they may return to this land. For the LORD your God is gracious and compassionate and will not turn away His face from you, if you return to Him."

<sup>10</sup>So the couriers traveled from city to city in the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, and on to Zebulun. But people made fun of them and mocked them. <sup>11</sup>Even so, certain men from Asher, Manassah, and Zebulun did humble themselves<sup>m</sup> and came to Jerusalem. <sup>12</sup>God's hand also moved in Judah to give them one heart to observe the orders of the king and of the princes by the word of the LORD.

i) The two chief authors of our book of Psalms. Asaph was David's appointee for the regular praising of God with music [I Chron. 16:5,37]. j) Everyone else.

k) Neither the Levites nor the priests had for long periods received sufficient support from tithes to sustain their lives and that of their families.

l) Rather than the first month, as prescribed in the law [Ex. 12:18], because the temple was in process of being cleansed [ch. 29:17]. Such an exception was allowed by Num. 9:9-11.

m) Access to God's fellowship always involves self-humbling; note Isa. 57:15; Luke 18:13,14.

<sup>13</sup>So there assembled at Jerusalem a huge throng to keep the feast of unleavened bread in the second month — it was an exceptionally large assembly. <sup>14</sup>They set out and did away with the altars that had stood in Jerusalem,<sup>n</sup> and they removed all the incense altars, dumping them in the brook Kidron. <sup>15</sup>On the fourteenth day of the second month, they killed the Passover. The priests and the Levites, having been put to shame, sanctified themselves and brought burnt offerings into the LORD's temple. <sup>16</sup>They stood at their posts according to their assignment prescribed by the Law of Moses, the man of God, and the priests sprinkled the blood received from the hand of the Levites. <sup>17</sup>Since there were many in the congregation who had not sanctified themselves, the Levites took over the killing of the Passover for all who were not clean, to sanctify them to the LORD. <sup>18</sup>For many of the people, many from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun, had not cleansed themselves. Nevertheless, because Hezekiah had prayed on their behalf, they ate the Passover — though not as written. He had prayed, "The good LORD pardon everyone <sup>19</sup>who has set his heart to seek God, the LORD, the God of his fathers, though it be not according to the purification rules of the sanctuary."<sup>o</sup> <sup>20</sup>The LORD listened to Hezekiah and healed the people.

<sup>21</sup>The people of Israel who were present at Jerusalem kept the feast of unleavened bread for seven days with great joy. The Levites and the priests were also giving praise to the LORD day after day on loud instruments to the LORD, <sup>22</sup>and Hezekiah spoke encouragingly to all those Levites who displayed good skill for the LORD. So they ate that appointed feast for seven days,<sup>p</sup> sacrificing peace offerings and making confession to the LORD God of their fathers.

did observe those seven days joyfully. <sup>24</sup>For Hezekiah king of Judah had made 1000 young bulls and 7000 sheep available for the congregation; the princes too had donated 1000 bulls and 10,000 sheep for the congregation, and a large number of the priests had sanctified themselves. <sup>25</sup>So they rejoiced, the whole congregation of Judah, the priests and Levites, all the congregation who had come from Israel, and the foreign residents,<sup>q</sup> both those who came from the land of Israel and those who resided in Judah. <sup>26</sup>The rejoicing<sup>r</sup> in Jerusalem was great indeed; for there had not been anything like this in Jerusalem since the day of Solomon son of David, king of Israel. <sup>27</sup>In conclusion, the Levitical priests stood up and blessed the people, and their voice was heard, for their prayer reached to His holy dwelling place, to heaven.

725 B.C.

31 AFTER ALL THIS WAS ENDED, all the Israelites who had been present went out to the cities of Judah, demolished the pillars, chopped down the shame images, tore down the high places and altars from all Judah and Benjamin, and even in Ephraim and Manasseh until they had finished; then all the men of Israel went home, each to his own property and city.

and Levites, that they might stand firm<sup>v</sup> in the Law of the LORD. <sup>5</sup>When this order had been circulated, the men of Israel brought generously of the first fruits of grain, new wine, oil, honey, and all their field crops; indeed, they brought an abundant tithe of everything. <sup>6</sup>The children of Israel and Judah who resided in the cities of Judah also brought their tithe of cattle and sheep and the tithe of the holy things consecrated to the LORD their God; they brought and piled them up in heaps. <sup>7</sup>In the third month they began to pile up the heaps, and in the seventh month they were finished. <sup>8</sup>When Hezekiah and his princes came and saw the heaps, they blessed the LORD and His people Israel; <sup>9</sup>and Hezekiah inquired of the priests and Levites about the heaps. <sup>10</sup>Azariah the high priest of the house of Zadok answered him, "Since contributions began to come in to the LORD's temple, we have eaten to the full,<sup>w</sup> and there has been great superabundance; for the LORD has blessed His people, and this large quantity is left over."

<sup>11</sup>Hezekiah then ordered that they prepare rooms in the LORD's house; and when they had made them ready, <sup>12</sup>they scrupulously brought in the contributions, tithes, and dedicated things. Conaniah the Levite was appointed as officer over them, with Shimei his brother as assistant. <sup>13</sup>Appointed under charge of Conaniah and his brother Shimei, by order of King Hezekiah and Azariah prince of God's temple, were Jchiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath, and Benaiah. <sup>14</sup>Kore son of Imnah the Levite, the doorkeeper toward the east, was appointed over the voluntary offerings that were presented to God, to distribute those contributions of the LORD and the most holy things. <sup>15</sup>Under him were Eden, Miniamin, Ieshua, Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shecaniah, faithful men for making allocations in the priests' cities to their brothers by divisions, to great and small, <sup>16</sup>with the exception of all those males on the genealogical register from three years old and above, who went to the LORD's temple for their daily portions, while serving by their assignments according to their divisions.

32 AFTER THESE EVENTS AND these acts of faithfulness, Sennacherib king of Assyria came and invaded Judah,<sup>x</sup> encamping against the fortified cities, which he proposed to take for himself. <sup>2</sup>When Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had come with intentions of waging war against Jerusalem, <sup>3</sup>he consulted with his princes and brave men to stop up the waters of the springs that were outside the city. They aided him <sup>4</sup>by getting together many people who stopped up all the springs and the stream which ran

v) Subsistence for the priests and Levites depended on the gifts of the people [Num. 18:12, 21, 24]. Therefore, in time of backsliding, the priests and Levites were tempted to use other means to gain a living; for example, by hiring out to a family or clan [Judg. 17:10; 18:19]. A call for proper tithing was a near essential for a consecrated priesthood.

through the middle of the land, saying, "Why should the kings of Assyria come and find good water supplies?"<sup>y</sup> <sup>5</sup>He augmented his strength by rebuilding all the wall that had been broken down and adding to the towers and outer wall. He also reinforced the Millo<sup>z</sup> in the city of David and provided a good supply of weapons and shields. <sup>6</sup>He set combat leaders over the people and, gathering them at the open place near the city gate, he spoke encouragingly to them, <sup>7</sup>"Be strong! Stand firm! Be not afraid or disheartened because of the king of Assyria, or in the face of all the throng that is with him, for there are more with us than with him."<sup>a</sup> <sup>8</sup>With him is an arm of flesh, but with us is the LORD our God to help us and to fight our battles." And the people relied on the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

<sup>9</sup>After this, Sennacherib king of Assyria while he himself remained at Lachish with all his imperial force, sent men to Jerusalem to Hezekiah king of Judah and to all Judeans who were at Jerusalem, saying, <sup>10</sup>"This is what Sennacherib the king of Assyria has said: 'On what are you relying, that you remain in this besieged Jerusalem?' <sup>11</sup>Has not Hezekiah deceived you, only to give you over to death through famine and thirst, by saying, 'The LORD our God will deliver us from the hand of the king of Assyria.'?" <sup>12</sup>Is not this same Hezekiah the very one who got rid of His high places and His altars<sup>b</sup> and ordered Judah and Jerusalem, "Before one altar you are to worship, and on it you are to offer sacrifice."?" <sup>13</sup>Do you not realize what I have done, both I and my fathers, to all the people of the lands? Were the gods of the nations of those countries able by any means to deliver their land out of my hand? <sup>14</sup>Who, among all the gods of those nations which my fathers wiped out, could save his people from my hand, that your God should be able to deliver you from my hand? <sup>15</sup>Now then, do not let Hezekiah deceive you or persuade you this way. Do not believe him, for there is not a god of any nation or kingdom able to deliver his people from my hand, or from the hand of my fathers. Surely then, your God cannot deliver you from my hand."

<sup>16</sup>His servants raged still more against the LORD God and against Hezekiah His servant. <sup>17</sup>In addition, he wrote letters reproaching the LORD, the God of Israel, speaking against Him, "Just as the gods of the nations of other lands could not deliver their people from my hand, so also Hezekiah's God cannot deliver His people from my hand." <sup>18</sup>They also shouted loudly in the Jewish language to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, to frighten and demoralize them, so that they might capture the city. <sup>19</sup>In this way they made reference to the God of Jerusalem as being like the gods of the people of the earth, the work of men's hands.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>20</sup>On this account both Hezekiah the king and the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz prayed and cried out to heaven. <sup>21</sup>Therefore the LORD sent an angel who annihilated all the strong fighting men, the officers and commanders of the camp of the king of Assyria, so that he returned to his home country in disgrace. There, as he entered the temple of his god, certain of his own offspring assassinated him with the sword. <sup>22</sup>So it was that the LORD saved Hezekiah and the residents of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib king of Assyria and from the hand of all; for He gave them rest on all sides. <sup>23</sup>Many were then bringing gifts to Jerusalem for the LORD, along with valuable presents for Hezekiah king of

<sup>24</sup>Now in those days Hezekiah became critically ill, but after praying to the LORD, He spoke to him and gave him a sign.<sup>e</sup> <sup>25</sup>Ilezekiah, however, failed to respond adequately to the benefits that had been shown him; for his heart grew proud. Therefore indignation came on him and on Judah and Jerusalem. <sup>26</sup>Then Hezekiah humbled himself regarding his heart's pride, both he and the residents of Jerusalem; consequently, the LORD's indignation did not come on them during Hezekiah's lifetime.

33 MANASSEH WAS TWELVE YEARS old when he became king, and he remained king in Jerusalem for fifty-five years. <sup>2</sup>But he did what was wicked in the eyes of the LORD, like the detestable practices of the nations which the LORD had dispossessed before the children of Israel. <sup>3</sup>For he built again the high places which Hezekiah his father had torn down; he reared up altars to the Baalim and constructed shame images;<sup>i</sup> he rendered worship to all the host<sup>j</sup> of heaven and served them. <sup>4</sup>He built altars in the very temple of the LORD about which the LORD had said: My name shall be in Jerusalem forever.<sup>k</sup> <sup>5</sup>He constructed altars to all the host<sup>j</sup> of heaven in the two courts of the LORD's house. <sup>6</sup>He made his sons pass through the fire<sup>l</sup> in the valley of the son of Hinnom; he practiced spiritism, fortune-telling, and sorcery, as well as encouraging mediums and wizards. He multiplied evil practices in the LORD's eyes and thus provoked Him to anger. <sup>7</sup>He even set up the image of the idol he had made inside the temple of God, of which God had stated to David and Solomon, his son: In this house, here in Jerusalem, which I chose from all the tribes of Israel, I will place My name forever<sup>m</sup> <sup>8</sup>and I will not again cause the foot of Israel to stir from the land that I have appointed for your fathers, provided they observe to do all that I have commanded them in all the Law and regulations and judgments by the hand of Moses.<sup>n</sup> <sup>9</sup>But Manasseh led Judah and the residents of Jerusalem astray into evil beyond that of the nations which the LORD had destroyed before the people of Israel.

listen. <sup>11</sup>So the LORD brought against them the commanders of the army of the king of Assyria. They seized Manasseh with hooks, binding him in double fetters, and carried him off to Babylon. <sup>12</sup>There in his distress, he appealed to the LORD his God and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers. <sup>13</sup>Because he prayed to Him, He<sup>o</sup> was entreated by him and granted his request by restoring him to Jerusalem and to his kingdom. Then Manasseh acknowledged that the LORD indeed is God.

<sup>18</sup>Now the rest of the affairs of Manasseh, his prayer to his God<sup>q</sup> and the words of the prophets who spoke to him in the name of the LORD God of Israel, notice, they are in the records of the kings of Israel. <sup>19</sup>His prayer, His being entreated of him,<sup>r</sup> all his sin and rebellion, and the locations where he built high places and erected shame images<sup>s</sup> and idols before he humbled himself — see, these are written among the words of the seer. <sup>20</sup>So Manasseh slept with his fathers and was buried in his own house. Amon his son became king in his place.

when he became king and remained king in Jerusalem for two years. <sup>22</sup>He did what was wrong in the eyes of the LORD, as Manasseh his father had done; for Amon sacrificed to all the images which his father Manasseh had made<sup>t</sup> and served them. <sup>23</sup>He, however, did not humble himself before the LORD as Manasseh his father had humbled himself; instead, Amon multiplied his guilt. <sup>24</sup>His servants conspired against him and assassinated him in his palace. <sup>25</sup>But the people of the land executed all the conspirators against King Amon, and the people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place.

621 B.C.

<sup>8</sup>In the eighteenth year of his reign, as he was cleaning up the land and the temple, he sent Shaphan son of Azaliah, Maaseiah, mayor of the city, and Joah son of Joahas, the recorder, to repair the temple of the LORD his God. <sup>9</sup>They went to Hilkiah the high priest and turned over the money brought to the house of God which the doorkeepers, the Levites, had gathered from the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim and from the whole remnant of Israel, and from all Judah, Benjamin, and the residents of Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup>They, in turn, gave it to those doing the supervisory work in the temple of the LORD; and those doing the work, who were at work in the house of the LORD, put it toward repairing and strengthening the house. <sup>11</sup>That is, they handed it to the carpenters and builders to purchase quarried stones and lumber for couplings and to furnish beams for the buildings which the kings of Judah had abandoned to ruin. <sup>12</sup>The men worked on the job conscientiously. Over them as foremen were Jahath and Obadiah, Levites of the descendants of Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam of the descendants of the Kohathites, to supervise. All the Levites skilled on musical instruments <sup>13</sup>were both in charge of the burden bearers and assigned as foremen over all the workers for each job. Some of the Levites served as scribes, as officers and as doorkeepers.

<sup>14</sup>Now as they were bringing out the money which had been brought to the LORD's temple, Hilkiah the priest found the book of the Law of the LORD given through Moses. <sup>15</sup>Hilkiah brought it to the attention of Shaphan the scribe, "I have found the book of the Law in the LORD's house." So Hilkiah turned the book over to Shaphan. <sup>16</sup>Shaphan in turn brought the book to the king when he reported to the king again, saying, "Everything that was made your servants' responsibility, they have accomplished; <sup>17</sup>for they have taken out the money found in the LORD's house and have turned it over to the supervisors and the workers on the job." <sup>18</sup>It was then that Shaphan the scribe told the king, "Hilkiah the priest gave me a book," and Shaphan read from it to the king.

<sup>22</sup>So Hilkiah and the others who were from the king went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum son of Tokhath, Ilasrah's son, keeper of the wardrobe. She lived in the second quarter<sup>x</sup> of Jerusalem, and they spoke to her as instructed. <sup>23</sup>She answered them, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, has said: Tell this to the man who sent you to me. <sup>24</sup>The LORD has spoken: See, I am bringing calamity against this place and against its residents, even all the curses written in the book which was read before the king of Judah. <sup>25</sup>Because they have abandoned Me and have sacrificed to other gods so as to provoke Me with all the works of their hands,<sup>y</sup> therefore My indignation will be poured out on this place and will not be quenched. <sup>26</sup>But concerning the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, this you shall tell him. This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, has said: About these words which you have heard, <sup>27</sup>because your heart was receptive and you humbled yourself before God when you heard His words against this place and against its residents and because you humbled yourself before Me and tore your robes and wept before Me, therefore I also have heard you. The LORD has spoken. <sup>28</sup>See, I will gather you to your fathers, and you shall be gathered to your grave in peace; surely, your eyes shall not see all the punishment which I will bring on this place and on its inhabitants." So they brought back word to the king.

<sup>29</sup>Then the king sent, and summoning all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem, <sup>30</sup>the king went up to the LORD's temple accompanied by all the men of Judah, the residents of Jerusalem, the priests, the Levites, and all the people, great and small. There he read in their hearing all the words of the book of the covenant, which had been found in the LORD's temple. <sup>31</sup>Then the king stood at his place and renewed the covenant before the LORD: to follow the LORD and to keep His commandments, testimonies, and statutes with all his heart and with all his soul; to observe the words of the covenant written in this book. <sup>32</sup>Also he had all who were present in Jerusalem and Benjamin accept it; and the residents of Jerusalem did according to this covenant with God, the God of their fathers. <sup>33</sup>So Josiah got rid of all the detestable things from the lands belonging to the people of Israel. He also led all who were in Israel to serve the LORD their God. During his lifetime they did not turn away from following the LORD, the God of their fathers.

35 JOSIAH KEPT THE PASSOVER TO the LORD in Jerusalem, and they killed the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month. <sup>2</sup>He set the priests at their tasks and encouraged them for the service of the LORD's temple. <sup>3</sup>Then he ordered the Levites who taught in all Israel and were dedicated to the LORD, "Put the holy ark in the temple which Solomon, David's son, king of Israel, built. It is no longer your responsibility to carry it on your shoulders. Minister now to the LORD your God and to His people Israel, <sup>4</sup>and prepare yourselves by your clans, according to your divisions as written by David<sup>a</sup> king of Israel and as written by Solomon his son. <sup>5</sup>Stand in the holy place with the Levitical clan divisions corresponding to the groupings of the clans of your fellow tribesmen, the lay people, <sup>6</sup>and then kill the Passover. Sanctify yourselves and prepare for your brothers to do according to the word of the LORD by the agency of Moses."

<sup>10</sup>The service, therefore, having been made ready, the priests stood at their posts and the Levites by their divisions according to the king's orders. <sup>11</sup>These killed the Passover; the priests sprinkled blood as it was passed to them, and the Levites did the skinning. <sup>12</sup>Then they separated the burnt offerings to distribute them by divisions to the clans of the lay people, so they might offer them to the LORD as it is written<sup>b</sup> in the book of Moses. They did this also with the cattle. <sup>13</sup>So they roasted the Passover in the fire according to the ordinance, and the other consecrated offerings they boiled in the pots, kettles, and pans, and then brought them speedily to the whole group of the people. <sup>14</sup>After that they made preparation both for themselves and for the priests, because the priests, Aaron's sons, were offering up burnt offerings and fat offerings until nighttime; therefore the Levites prepared both for themselves and for the priests, the sons of Aaron. <sup>15</sup>Also the singers, the sons of Asaph, stayed at their posts according to the orders of David, Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun the king's seer; and the doorkeepers stayed by each door; they did not need to leave their stations because their fellow tribesmen, the Levites, made preparation for them.

<sup>16</sup>So all the service of the LORD was prepared on that day according to the command of King Josiah; that is, the observance of the Passover and the offering up of burnt offerings on the LORD's altar. <sup>17</sup>The men of Israel who were present there observed the Passover at that time together with the feast of unleavened bread for seven days. <sup>18</sup>There had never been held such a Passover in Israel since the days of Samuel the prophet; for none of the kings of Israel had kept such a Passover as Josiah did, involving the priests and Levites, all Judah and Israel who were present, and the residents of Jerusalem. <sup>19</sup>It was in the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign that this Passover was held.

<sup>20</sup>After all this, when Josiah had prepared the temple, Neco king of Egypt came for battle at Carchemish on the Euphrates, and Josiah went out to engage him. <sup>21</sup>He<sup>c</sup> sent messengers to him saying, "What do I have to do with you, king of Judah, for it is not against you that I have come up this day, but against the power with which I am at war,<sup>d</sup> and God has commanded me to hurry. Quit interfering with God, who is with me, that He may not destroy you." <sup>22</sup>However, Josiah did not turn away from him, but went to battle against him disguised,<sup>e</sup> for he did not listen to the words of Neco which really were from the mouth of God but went to fight in the valley of Megiddo. <sup>23</sup>The archers shot at King

Josiah with the result that the king called out to his servants, "Take me away, for I am gravely wounded." <sup>24</sup>So his servants took him out of the chariot and put him into the second chariot which he had and brought him to Jerusalem. There he died and was buried in the tombs of his fathers, and all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah. <sup>25</sup>Jeremiah composed a lament over Josiah and all the men and women singers spoke about Josiah in their lamentations as they do to this day, for they made them a standing custom in Israel. Note that they are written in the lamentations.<sup>f</sup> <sup>26</sup>Now the rest of the affairs of Josiah and his acts of faithful love in accord with what is written in the Law of the LORD,<sup>g</sup> and his affairs, from first to last, see, they are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

<sup>12</sup>But he did what was wrong in the eyes of the LORD his God; he did not humble himself before Jeremiah the prophet who spoke from the mouth of the LORD. <sup>13</sup>Besides, he rebelled against King Nebuchadrezzar, who had made him swear by God. He stiffened his neck and hardened his heart against turning to the LORD, the God of Israel. <sup>14</sup>All the leaders too of the priests and people acted most unfaithfully by taking part in all the detestable practices used by the nations; and they desecrated the LORD's temple which He had consecrated in Jerusalem.

until the LORD's indignation was stirred up against His people beyond remedy. 586 B.C.

<sup>17</sup>Accordingly He sent up against them the king of the Chaldeans who killed their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary and did not spare young man or maiden, old man or very aged. He gave them all into his hand. <sup>18</sup>All the utensils of God's temple, large and small, and the treasures of the LORD's temple and of the king and his princes—all these he took to Babylon. <sup>19</sup>They burned the temple of God and broke down the wall of Jerusalem, setting fire to all the palaces and destroying all its precious utensils. <sup>20</sup>As for the rest, who were spared from the sword, he took them captive to Babylon, where they became servants to him and to his sons until the kingdom of Persia came to power. <sup>21</sup>This was to fulfil the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah,<sup>n</sup> until the land had enjoyed its Sabbaths; for as long as it lay desolate it had a Sabbath-rest, fulfilling seventy years.

k) "Eighteen" is given by several manuscripts and agrees with II Kings 24:8, though the majority of manuscripts read "eight."

l) Heb., "brother" in the sense of male relative; in this case, it means "uncle," according to II Kings 24:17.

m) We would say, early and late, or time and again. Jeremiah repeatedly uses the phrase to describe the urgency of God's warning through the prophets [as in Jer. 25:4; 44:4]; a brief summary of the message may be seen in Jer. 35:15. n) See Jer. 29:10.

o) See Jer. 25:12.

p) These last two verses appear again almost identically as the introduction to the book of Ezra, which continues the same narrative. Is Ezra perhaps the writer of the books of Chronicles?

538-537 B.C.

1 IN THE FIRST YEAR<sup>a</sup> OF CYRUS, king of Persia, in order that what the LORD had predicted through Jeremiah might be accomplished, the LORD aroused the spirit of Cyrus, king of Persia, to proclaim throughout all his kingdom, both orally and in writing: <sup>2</sup>"Thus has Cyrus, king of Persia, declared: 'The LORD, the God of heaven, who has given me all the kingdoms of the earth, has directed me to build a house for Him in Jerusalem in Judah. <sup>3</sup>Therefore anyone among you belonging to His people, let him return to Jerusalem in Judah and let him build the house for the LORD, the God of Israel—He is God<sup>b</sup>—in Jerusalem; and may his God be with him! <sup>4</sup>Also let assistance be rendered to every survivor,<sup>c</sup> wherever he may be located, by his neighbors in the granting to him of silver, gold, animals, and miscellaneous articles in addition to a free-will offering for the house of God in Jerusalem.'"

<sup>5</sup>So the heads of the fathers' houses of Judah and Benjamin, also the priests and the Levites, all from these whom God so inclined, made preparations for going up to build the house of the LORD in Jerusalem. <sup>6</sup>And all their neighbors assisted them with articles of silver and gold, with animals, with precious things and with miscellaneous items in addition to a free-will offering. <sup>7</sup>Also Cyrus

the king brought out the vessels of the house of the LORD which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from Jerusalem and had placed in the house of his gods; <sup>8</sup>these did Cyrus, king of Persia, direct Mithredath, the treasurer, to bring forward and count out to Sheshbazzar,<sup>d</sup> prince of Judah. <sup>9</sup>And this is their number: 30 gold and 1000 silver dishes, 29 knives, <sup>10</sup>30 gold bowls,<sup>e</sup> 410 silver bowls of another type, and 1000 other vessels. <sup>11</sup>All the vessels of gold and of silver were 5400.<sup>f</sup> All of these did Sheshbazzar take along when they of the captivity trekked from Babylon to Jerusalem.

Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>Then Jeshua the son of Jozadak, with his fellow-priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, with his brothers, arose and built the altar of the God of Israel so that they might offer burnt-offerings upon it as directed in the law of Moses, the man of God. <sup>3</sup>They erected the altar on its base, being afraid of the people of the neighboring lands, after which they offered on it burnt-offerings to the LORD both in the morning and in the evening. <sup>4</sup>Then they kept the Feast of Tabernacles, as it is prescribed,<sup>n</sup> and the number of daily burnt-offerings as set forth in the law for each day of the Feast,<sup>o</sup> <sup>5</sup>and afterwards the continual burnt-offerings and the (offerings) at the new moon and at all the appointed feasts of the LORD that were dedicated, and of all who willingly offered a free-will offering to the LORD. <sup>6</sup>Beginning with the first day of the seventh month<sup>p</sup> they offered the burnt-offerings to the LORD, even though they had not yet laid the foundation of the LORD's temple.

year following that of their return to the house of God in Jerusalem, Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and the rest of their brothers, the priests and the Levites, along with all who returned from the captivity to Jerusalem, began to build the house of the LORD, having first appointed the Levites who were at least twenty years of age, to superintend the work. <sup>9</sup>Jeshua with his sons and his brothers and Kadmiel with his sons, all of whom were descendants of

<sup>10</sup>When the builders had laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, they<sup>t</sup> appointed the priests, officially clothed, with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals to praise the LORD in accordance with the direction of David, king of Israel.

<sup>11</sup>They sang responsively in praise and thanksgiving to the LORD, saying that He is good because His lovingkindness endures forever toward Israel. Indeed, all the people shouted resoundingly in their praise to the LORD because the foundation of the house of the LORD had been laid. <sup>12</sup>But many of the priests and Levites and heads of fathers' houses, who were old enough to have seen the first temple, as they looked upon the foundation of this new temple now laid, wept sorely;<sup>u</sup> while others raised their voices in shouting for joy. <sup>13</sup>However, the people could not distinguish between the sound of the shouts of joy and the sound of those who wept because the shouting was so loud that it was heard for a great distance.

4 WHEN THE ENEMIES<sup>v</sup> OF JUDAH and Benjamin<sup>w</sup> heard that those who had recently returned from captivity were building the temple of the LORD, the God of Israel, <sup>2</sup>they came to Zerubbabel and the heads of fathers' houses and said to them, "We would like to help you build, because we also worship your God and have sacrificed to Him since the day when Esarhaddon,<sup>x</sup> king of Assyria, brought us to this country." <sup>3</sup>But Zerubbabel, Jeshua, and the heads of fathers' houses replied to them, "We cannot permit you to help us build the house of our God, but we, ourselves together, will build to the LORD, the God of Israel, in accordance with the order of Cyrus, king of Persia." <sup>4</sup>Then the inhabitants of the land began to hinder and to bring trouble<sup>7</sup> upon the people of Judah in their building; <sup>5</sup>even hiring counselors to work against them by frustrating their plans, which they continued to do all the days of Cyrus,<sup>2</sup> king of Persia, and until the reign of Darius,<sup>a</sup> king of Persia.

<sup>14</sup>Now because we receive sustenance from the king, it does not seem proper for us to see the king suffer such a dishonor; we, therefore, send this letter that the king may be informed, <sup>15</sup>and that a search be made in the records of your predecessors wherein shall be found that this city has been rebellious and unprofitable to kings and countries, against whom, in past days, it has continually revolted and for which it was finally destroyed. <sup>16</sup>We are informing the king that if this city is built and its walls are completed, as a result he will lose his control over all territory west of the River."

5 THEN THE PROPHETS, HAGGAI THE prophet,<sup>p</sup> and Zechariah the son<sup>q</sup> of Iddo, began to preach to the Jews in Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel, <sup>2</sup>with the result that Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the son of Jozadak, arose and, with the prophets of God helping them, began to build the house of God in Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>About that time Tatnai, the governor west of the River,<sup>r</sup> and Shethar-bozenai, with their companions, came and asked them, "Who gave you official permission to build this house and to finish this wall?" <sup>4</sup>Then we told them<sup>s</sup> what the names of the men were who were doing the building. <sup>5</sup>The eye of God was watching over the elders of the Jews, however, for they were not made to cease work<sup>t</sup> while a letter was sent to Darius and he gave reply to it.

"We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth and we are building this house which was first constructed many years ago, when a great king of Israel built and finished it.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>12</sup>But because our fathers provoked the God of heaven, He gave them into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this house and carried the people away into Babylon. <sup>13</sup>Then in the first year of Cyrus, king of Babylon, Cyrus decreed that this house of God should be rebuilt. <sup>14</sup>Moreover, in regard to certain gold and silver vessels of the house of God which Nebuchadrezzar took out of the temple in Jerusalem and put in a temple in Babylon, these did Cyrus the king take out again from that temple in Babylon and deliver to Sheshbazzar<sup>w</sup> whom he had appointed as our governor. <sup>15</sup>And he said to him, "Take these vessels and place them in the temple in Jerusalem and let the house of God be rebuilt on its site."<sup>x</sup> <sup>16</sup>Then this Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundation of the house of God in Jerusalem and from that time on it has been in building but still is not completed.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>17</sup>"So now, if the king is so pleased, let search be made in the treasure-house<sup>z</sup> of the king there in Babylon to see if Cyrus did thus decree that this house of God in Jerusalem should be rebuilt and then let the king communicate to us his pleasure in this matter."

6 THEN DARIUS THE KING GAVE THE order and search was made in the house of records wherein also the treasures of Babylon were kept. <sup>2</sup>And in the palace at Ecbatana in the province of Media a book was found containing the following record:

<sup>3</sup>"In his first year, King Cyrus made a decree<sup>a</sup> concerning the house of God in Jerusalem: 'Let the house be built, a place for the offering of sacrifices, and let its foundation be strongly laid. Both its height and width shall be ninety feet, <sup>4</sup>with three courses of great stones and a course of new timber; and the expense shall be met out of the royal treasury. <sup>5</sup>Also let the gold and silver vessels of the house of God, which Nebuchadrezzar took out of the temple in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, be returned and put in their place in the temple in Jerusalem, the house of God.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>6</sup>"Now, therefore, Tatnai, governor west of the River,<sup>g</sup> Shethar-bozenai and your companions, the Apharsachites who live west of the River, keep away; <sup>7</sup>let the work on this house of God alone and allow the governor and elders of the Jews to build this house of God in its place. <sup>8</sup>Moreover, I hereby order how you shall give assistance to the Jews for the building of this house of God: That out of the king's tribute-money from west of the River the cost is to be paid to these men without delay so that they be not hindered. <sup>9</sup>Also whatever the priests in Jerusalem say they need for burnt-offerings to the God of heaven, such as young oxen, rams, lambs, wheat, salt, wine, or oil, let it be given to them daily without fail, <sup>10</sup>so that they may offer sacrifices well-pleasing to the God of heaven and pray for the welfare of the king and his sons. <sup>11</sup>Furthermore, I issue this order that, if anyone changes this command, let him be lifted up and impaled<sup>h</sup> upon a beam torn from his own house, and let his house be made a heap of refuse. <sup>12</sup>May the God, who caused His name to dwell there, overthrow every king or people who seeks to change this command so as to destroy this house of God in Jerusalem. I, Darius, have made this decree; let it be carried out in full."

command of the God of Israel and according to the decrees of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes,<sup>e</sup> kings of Persia. <sup>15</sup>The house was completed on the third day of the month Adar in the sixth year of the reign of King Darius.<sup>f</sup> <sup>16</sup>Then the children of Israel, the priests, the Levites, and the others who had returned from the captivity, observed with joy the dedication of this house of God, <sup>17</sup>offering up at the dedication of this house of God 100 oxen, 200 rams, 400 lambs, and, as a sin-offering for all Israel, 12 male goats, one for each tribe of Israel. <sup>18</sup>Also the priests were arranged in their divisions and the Levites in their courses<sup>g</sup> for the service of God in Jerusalem as prescribed in the book of Moses.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>19</sup>These who had returned from captivity kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month;<sup>i</sup> <sup>20</sup>the priests and the Levites having purified themselves together, so that all were clean. They killed the Passover for all the children of the captivity, for their brothers, the priests, and for themselves. <sup>21</sup>Those who ate included the children of Israel who returned from captivity and also all who had separated themselves unto them from the sin of the nations of the country to follow after Jehovah, the God of Israel. <sup>22</sup>With joy they kept this feast of unleavened bread for the seven days, for the LORD had caused them to rejoice, having inclined the heart of the king of Assyria<sup>j</sup> in their favor so that he assisted them in the work on the house of the God of Israel.

Bukki, <sup>5</sup>son of Abishua, son of Phinehas, son of Eleazer, son of Aaron the chief priest,<sup>m</sup> went up from Babylon. <sup>6</sup>He was a scribe, well versed in the law of Moses which the LORD, the God of Israel, had given. Also the king gave him all that he requested, according to the favor of the LORD his God upon him.

given, for the house of their God in Jerusalem. <sup>17</sup>You must be sure to use this money to buy oxen, rams, and lambs with their meat-offerings and drink-offerings,<sup>r</sup> that they may be offered upon the altar of the house of your God in Jerusalem; <sup>18</sup>and with whatever is left of this silver and gold you may do as you and your brothers believe is in accordance with the will of your God. <sup>19</sup>The vessels<sup>s</sup> that have been given to you for the service of the house of your God you are to deliver in the presence of the God of Jerusalem. <sup>20</sup>Also you may supply out of the king's treasure-house<sup>t</sup> whatever else you find necessary and have occasion to provide for the house of your God. <sup>21</sup>In accordance, I, Artaxerxes the king, do issue this order to all the treasurers west of the River<sup>u</sup>: that, whatever Ezra, priest and scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall ask of you, you are assuredly to give, <sup>22</sup>up to 200,000 dollars<sup>v</sup> of silver, 1000 bushels<sup>w</sup> of wheat, 900 gallons<sup>x</sup> of wine, 900 gallons of oil, and as much salt as necessary. <sup>23</sup>Whatever is required by the God of heaven for the house of the God of heaven is to be completely provided, for we do not want His indignation to fall upon the realm of the king and his sons. <sup>24</sup>Furthermore, we inform you that the priests, Levites, singers, doorkeepers, temple attendants, and servants of this house of God shall not have to pay taxes of any kind. <sup>25</sup>And you, Ezra, in accordance with the wisdom which your God has given you, appoint judges and other officials to govern all the people west of the River, those who are familiar with the laws of your God, and instruct all who do not know them.<sup>y</sup> <sup>26</sup>Whoever disobeys the law of your God or of the king is surely to be punished by such means as death, banishment, confiscation of goods, or imprisonment."

our fathers, who has put the thought into the heart of the king to beautify the house of the LORD in Jerusalem <sup>2a</sup>and who has given me favor with the king, his counselors, and all his mighty princes. Hence I took courage in view of the blessing of the LORD my God upon me, and I gathered leading men from Israel to make the return with me.

<sup>15</sup>I assembled all these at the river that flows past Ahava <sup>d</sup> where we remained three days. I made a survey of the people and of the priests, but found no Levites among those who had gathered. <sup>16</sup>Consequently, I called Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and Meshulam, all of whom were leaders, and Joiarib and Elnathan, who were teachers, <sup>17</sup>and sent them all to Iddo, head man at the place Casiphia, telling them to ask Iddo and his brothers, the temple attendants, also at the place Casiphia, to bring to us those who could serve in the house of our God. <sup>18</sup>And, according to God's blessing upon us, they did bring to us Ish-sekel, <sup>e</sup> a descendant of Mahli, the son of Levi who was a son of Israel, and Sherebiah with eighteen of his sons and brothers; <sup>19</sup>also Hashabiah and Jeshaiah, a descendant of Merari, his brothers and their sons making twenty more. <sup>20</sup>Of the temple attendants, whom David and the princes had provided as servants to the Levites, 220 were brought, all listed by name.

<sup>21</sup>Following this I ordered a fast there at the Ahava River that we might humble ourselves before our God and ask of Him a safe journey for ourselves, our children, and our possessions. <sup>22</sup>For I was ashamed to ask for troops and horsemen from the king to protect us from enemies along the way, since we had told the king that the hand of our God protects all who seek Him and that His power and indignation are against all who forsake Him. <sup>23</sup>Consequently, we fasted and prayed to our God regarding this matter and He heard us.

were two vessels of fine, bright brass, precious as gold. <sup>28</sup>Then I said to them, "You are holy before the LORD, these vessels are holy, and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering to the LORD, the God of your fathers: <sup>29</sup>watch and guard them until you weigh them before the leaders of the priests, Levites and heads of father's houses in Israel at Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of the LORD." <sup>30</sup>Then the priests and Levites received the weight of the silver, the gold, and the vessels to bring them to the house of our God in Jerusalem.

<sup>31</sup>After this we departed from the Ahava River on the twelfth day of the first month<sup>j</sup> on our journey to Jerusalem, with the protection of our God upon us, delivering us from enemies lying in wait along the way. <sup>32</sup>When we arrived in Jerusalem, we remained for three days, <sup>33</sup>and then, on the fourth day, the silver, gold, and vessels were weighed in the house of our God under supervision of Meremoth, son of Uriah the priest accompanied by Eleazer son of Phinehas, and the Levites, Jozabad son of Jeshua, and Noadiah son of Binnui. <sup>34</sup>All was numbered and weighed and the weight recorded at that time.<sup>k</sup> <sup>35</sup>Then those who had just returned from exile, being descendants of those taken captive, offered up in burnt-offerings to the God of Israel twelve oxen for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and, as a sin-offering twelve male goats, all an offering to the LORD. <sup>36</sup>Then they delivered the written order<sup>l</sup> of the king to the king's presidents and governors west of the River<sup>m</sup> with the result that they helped the people in connection with the house of God.

9 AFTER THESE MATTERS WERE COMPLETED,<sup>n</sup> the leaders came to me and told me that the people of Israel, including the priests and the Levites, had not separated themselves from the people of the land, but were conducting themselves after the wicked practices of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites; <sup>2</sup>for they had taken their daughters as wives for themselves and for their sons<sup>o</sup> resulting in an intermingling between the holy offspring and the people of the land, the leaders and rulers being the first offenders in the sin. <sup>3</sup>When I heard this, I tore my garment<sup>p</sup> and covering robe, pulled hair from my head and beard, and sat down, confounded. <sup>4</sup>Soon all who revered the word of the God of Israel concerning the sin of the returned exiles, joined themselves to me; and I continued to sit, confounded, until the evening sacrifice. <sup>5</sup>Then, at the evening sacrifice, I arose from my humiliation and, with my garment and covering robe torn, fell upon my knees, spread out my hands to the LORD my God and said:

<sup>6</sup>"O my God, I am ashamed, greatly ashamed to raise my face to Thee, my God, because our<sup>q</sup> sin is increased over our head and our guilt is great, reaching to heaven. <sup>7</sup>Since the days of our fathers until now, our guilt has been great for which we, our kings, and our priests have experienced defeat by kings of various countries, by the sword, by captivity, and by plunder to our disgrace, even as it is this day." <sup>8</sup>Now for a short time the LORD our God has been merciful in permitting a remnant to return from captivity that we might have a nail<sup>r</sup> in His Holy Place, that our eyes might be enlightened by God, and that our life might be renewed a little in our bondage.<sup>t</sup> <sup>9</sup>For we are bondmen, but in bondage God has not forsaken us but rather has extended mercy to us in the presence of the Persian kings in that we have been granted the opportunity to erect the house of our God, to set up the ruins once again, and to have protection in Judah and Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup>But now, our God, what can we say in view of this, when we have forsaken Thy commandments <sup>11</sup>which Thou didst command through Thy servants, the prophets, when they said: <sup>11</sup>"The land which you are about to possess<sup>v</sup> is unclean due to the wicked practices of the peoples of the land, as they have filled it from one end to the other with their abominations. <sup>12</sup>Therefore, let there be no intermarrying between your daughters and their sons or their daughters and your sons, and never further their peace or their prosperity,<sup>w</sup> that you may be strong and eat the good of the land and leave it for an inheritance for your children forever." <sup>13</sup>Now after all that has come upon us for our wicked deeds and our great guilt, especially when Thou, our God, hast punished us less than our sin deserved, and hast given us this escaped remnant, <sup>14</sup>shall we break Thy commandments again by intermarrying with the people of these abominations? Wouldst Thou not be angry with us till Thou wouldst consume us completely, with none escaping? <sup>15</sup>O LORD, God of Israel, Thou art righteous, for we remain today merely an escaped remnant.<sup>x</sup> See, we are before Thee in our guilt realizing that no one can stand before Thee in view of this."

10 AS EZRA PRAYED AND MADE CONFESSION, weeping and prostrating himself before the house of God, a large crowd of Israelites, men, women, and children, gathered themselves to him; for the people wept bitterly.<sup>y</sup> <sup>2</sup>Then Shecaniah, son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, said to Ezra: "We have sinned against our God in that we have married foreign women from neighboring nations; but there is still hope for Israel in regard to this matter. <sup>3</sup>Let us make a covenant with our God to put away all these wives with their children according to the counsel of the LORD and those who fear the commandment of our God, and let it be done according to the Law. <sup>4</sup>Rise up, have courage, and act, for it is your responsibility, and we will support you."

<sup>9</sup>Accordingly, within three days all the men of Judah and Benjamin assembled in Jerusalem, it being the twentieth day of the ninth month, and all the people sat in the open square before the house of God, trembling because of the matter and because of the rain.<sup>d</sup> <sup>10</sup>Then Ezra the priest stood up and spoke to them: "You have sinned in that you have married foreign women, thus adding to the guilt of Israel. <sup>11</sup>Now render honor to the LORD, the God of your fathers, by doing what He wills: namely, the separation of yourselves from the people of the land by putting away the foreign women." <sup>12</sup>Then all those assembled replied with a loud voice: "We must do as you say. <sup>13</sup>However, inasmuch as the people are many, also that we are not able to remain outside due to the rainy season and that the work will take more than a day or two, since the sin in this matter is so great, <sup>14</sup>we suggest that our leaders stand for the whole assembly,<sup>e</sup> and that all from the cities who have married foreign women, along with the elders and judges from these cities,<sup>f</sup> come to them at an appointed time until the fierce anger of our God be turned from us regarding this matter.”<sup>15</sup> Only Jonathan son of Asahel, and Jahzeiah son of Tikvah, opposed this course of action, though they were encouraged by Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite.

THE BOOK OF NEHEMIAH

December, 445 B.C.

1 I WAS IN SHUSHAN, THE PALACE,<sup>a</sup> in the month Chisleu, in the twentieth year,<sup>b</sup> when Hanani, one of my brothers,<sup>c</sup> came to me, accompanied by a few men from Judah, and I asked them concerning the escaped Jews, who were left from the captivity and concerning Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>They answered me that the remnant in the province<sup>d</sup> who remained from the captivity were being severely afflicted and held in reproach, the wall of Jerusalem having been broken down and the gates destroyed by fire.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>4</sup>When I heard this report, I sat down and wept and I mourned for days, fasting and praying to the God of heaven. <sup>5</sup>I said, "I beseech Thee, O LORD, God of heaven, great and awful God who keeps His covenant and shows lovingkindness to those who love Him and obey His commandments, <sup>6</sup>let Thy ear be attentive and Thy eyes be open to the prayer of Thy servant which I offer to Thee now, day and night, concerning the children of Israel, Thy servants. I confess the sin of the children of Israel, which we, even I and my father's house, have committed against Thee. <sup>7</sup>We have acted very wickedly toward Thee, not obeying the commandments, statutes, and judgments which Thou didst give to Moses Thy servant. <sup>8</sup>But remember now Thy word which Thou hast commanded to Moses, Thy servant, saying, 'If you sin, I will disperse you among the nations, <sup>9</sup>but if you return to Me and live according to My commandments, I will regather you, even from the farthest extremities under heaven if necessary, to the place where I have chosen to cause My name to dwell.'<sup>f</sup> <sup>10</sup>Now these are Thy servants and Thy people which Thou hast redeemed by Thy great power and by Thy strong hand. <sup>11</sup>I beseech Thee, O LORD, let Thy ear be attentive to the prayer both of Thy servant and of Thy servants who take pleasure in revering Thy name; prosper Thy servant today by granting him favor before this man."<sup>g</sup> For I was cupbearer<sup>h</sup> to the king.

March-April, 444 B.C.

2 IN THE MONTH NISAN OF KING Artaxerxes' twentieth year, the king being at wine, as I brought the wine to him, never having been sad in his presence before, <sup>2</sup>the king said to me, "Why is your face sad? You do not seem to be ill, so this can only mean that you have sorrow of heart." Then I felt very frightened,<sup>h</sup> <sup>3</sup>but I answered the king: "May the king live forever! Have I not good reason for my sad appearance, when the city where my ancestors are buried lies waste and her gates are destroyed by fire?" <sup>4</sup>Then the king said, "What are you asking for?" I told the king, with first a prayer to God in heaven, <sup>5</sup>"If it should please the king, and if your servant finds favor in your presence, I would like to be sent to the Jews, to the city where my ancestors are buried, that I may rebuild it." <sup>6</sup>The king then inquired of me—the queen sitting beside him—"How long will you be gone, and when will you return?" After which, when I had indicated to him a time, he gave me permission to go. <sup>7</sup>Then I further asked of the king, if it should please him, to give me letters addressed to the governors west of the River,<sup>1</sup> that they should let me pass through their countries unhindered as far as Judah, <sup>8</sup>and a letter to Asaph, the king's forester,<sup>1</sup> that he should supply me with trees to make lumber for the gates of the fortress<sup>k</sup> near the temple, for the wall of the city and for the house which I would occupy. Then, according to God's hand of blessing upon me, not only did the king so grant me, <sup>9</sup>but in addition he sent with me officers of the army and cavalry to accompany me as I came to the governors west of the River,<sup>1</sup> to whom I gave the letters. <sup>10</sup>But Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the Ammonite, a servant, were much displeased when they heard that someone had come to promote the welfare of the children of Israel.

Summer, 444 B. C.

<sup>11</sup>After arriving in Jerusalem and being there for three days,<sup>m</sup> <sup>12</sup>I went out in the night accompanied by only a few men; for I had not told anyone as yet what my God had inclined my heart to do in Jerusalem. I took no animals with me except the one on which I rode. <sup>13</sup>I went out while it was night, passed through the Valley Gate<sup>n</sup> and headed towards the Dragon Well,<sup>o</sup> then went on to the Dung Gate, viewing the walls of Jerusalem which lay in their broken condition and the gates which had been destroyed by fire. <sup>14</sup>Going on, I passed the Fountain Gate and came to the King's Pool, but then there was not room enough for the animal I was riding to pass.<sup>p</sup> <sup>15</sup>So, it still being night, I took a course leading up the valley,<sup>q</sup> continuing to survey the walls. Then I turned back, reentered the Valley Gate, and came again to my starting point.

<sup>16</sup>The rulers did not know where I had been or what I had done, for I had not as yet told anything to the Jews, the priests, the nobles, the rulers, or those who did the work. <sup>17</sup>But I said to them, "You are aware of the distressing circumstances in which we find ourselves, how Jerusalem lies waste and her gates are destroyed by fire. Therefore, come, let us build the wall of Jerusalem, that we be no longer a reproach."<sup>18</sup>Further, I related to them how God's hand of blessing had been upon me, particularly in the privileges which the king had given me. Then they responded, "Let us rise up and build." So they prepared themselves for the good work.

<sup>19</sup>But when Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite, a servant, and Geshem the Arabian heard what was planned, they jeered and made light of us, saying, "What do you think you are going to do? Would you rebel against the king?" <sup>20</sup>To which I gave answer, "We will begin and we will build, for the God of heaven, whose servants we are, will enable us to accomplish our aim; but you shall have no portion, right, or memorial in Jerusalem."

3 THEN ELIASHIB, THE HIGH PRIEST, and his brothers, the priests, rose up, built the Sheep Gate,<sup>r</sup> dedicated it, and hung its doors, after which they dedicated the wall to the Tower of Hammeah and then to the Tower of Hananel. <sup>2</sup>Next to them the men of

Next to him repaired Zadok the son of Baana. <sup>5</sup>And next to him repaired the Tekoites, though without the help of their nobles, who would not condescend to serve their Lord in that fashion.

4 WHEN SANBALLAT HEARD THAT WE were building the wall, he was furious and insulted and mocked the Jews <sup>2</sup>before his companions and the army of Samaria, saying, "What would these decrepit Jews do? Would they expect to build this by themselves? Would they sacrifice? Do they think this is a one-day's job? Do they hope to use over again the stones from the rubbish heaps that were burned?" <sup>3</sup>And Tobiah the Ammonite, who was nearby, added, "Even if they build their stone wall, it will tumble down if a fox should climb upon it."<sup>c</sup>

places filled in, they were very angry, <sup>8</sup>and they agreed together to make war on Jerusalem and to create disturbance in it. <sup>9</sup>However, we prayed to our God, and stationed a guard day and night as a protection against them. <sup>10</sup>Then Judah<sup>h</sup> reported that, due to the weariness of the workers and the large amount of rubbish needing to be moved, they were not able to continue building the wall. <sup>11</sup>At the same time, the enemy was planning that we should not know of nor see them until they were upon us, killing us, and causing the work to cease. <sup>12</sup>Also during this time, the Jews who lived near them kept coming to us and saying ten times, "Wherever you turn they will assail you."<sup>i</sup> <sup>13</sup>Then I placed the people by families, having their swords, spears, and bows behind the wall at its lowest, most open places.<sup>j</sup> <sup>14</sup>After which, having approved the stationing, I arose and encouraged the nobles, the rulers and the rest of the people, saying, "Do not fear them; remember the LORD is great and dreadful; so fight for your brothers, your sons, your daughters, your wives and your homes."

<sup>15</sup>The result was that when our enemies heard that their plan, which God had thus frustrated, was known to us, we were able to return in total force to our work upon the wall. <sup>16</sup>However, from that day on, only half of my servants<sup>k</sup> worked on the wall while the other half held the spears, the shields, the bows and the coats of mail. The rulers took up positions in support of all the people of Judah. <sup>17</sup>As for the builders of the wall, those who carried the materials did their work of carrying, using only one hand, while with the other they held a weapon; <sup>18</sup>and those who did the building proper worked with their swords strapped to their sides. The trumpeter remained close to me.

nobles, the rulers, and the rest of the people; "The work is great and extensive so that we are separated far from one another on the wall; <sup>20</sup>therefore, wherever you hear the trumpet, assemble yourselves there to us. Our God will fight for us!" <sup>21</sup>So we labored at the task, with half of them bearing spears,<sup>1</sup> from break of morning until the stars appeared. <sup>22</sup>Also I gave direction at that time to the people that every man with his servant should lodge in Jerusalem and so be with us as a guard at night as well as a workman during the day. <sup>23</sup>And neither I, nor my brothers, nor my servants, nor men of the guard which followed me took off our clothes, and each held his weapon in hand.

<sup>2</sup>Some said, "We, our sons and our daughters are many, and we must be given grain if we are to eat and live."

<sup>3</sup>Others said, "We have been mortgaging our fields, our vineyards and our houses and now we must be given grain for our hunger." <sup>4</sup>Still others said, "We have had to borrow money in order to pay the king's tax on our fields and vineyards, <sup>5</sup>and now, although our flesh is the same as that of our countrymen and our children as theirs, yet we are forced to sell our sons and our daughters into slavery, with some of our daughters having already been thus sold, and we are helpless to better ourselves, for our fields and vineyards belong to others."

Judean brothers, who were sold to the gentiles, as far as we have been able;<sup>o</sup> should you now be engaged in selling your brothers, and would you have them bought even by our own people?"

To this they were silent, finding nothing to answer, <sup>9</sup>and so I continued, "What you have been doing is not good. Ought you not to conduct yourselves in reverence for our God, lest reproach come from our enemy nations? <sup>10</sup>It is true that even my own brothers and servants have loaned out money and grain, but now let everyone of us forsake this practice. <sup>11</sup>Restore today, I earnestly ask of you, their fields, their vineyards, their oliveyards and their houses, as well as the hundredth<sup>p</sup> part of the money, the grain, the new wine and the oil which you have exacted from them." <sup>12</sup>They replied, "We will restore to them and seek nothing more from them; so will we do even as you have asked." Then I called the priests that they might be put under oath to carry out what they had promised. <sup>13</sup>In addition I shook out my lap, saying, "So shall God shake out every man from his house and his possessions who does not fulfil his promise, even thus shall he be shaken out and emptied." After this the council responded with, "Amen," and they gave praise to the LORD. Then the people put into practice what they had promised.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Moreover, from the day of my appointment as governor in the land of Judah, in the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes to his thirty-second year, twelve years in all, I and my brothers did not draw upon the governor's food allowance, <sup>15</sup>even though the governors before me had burdened the people in taking from them bread and wine besides forty shekels of silver, with even their servants oppressing the people. However, out of reverence for God, I did not do so, <sup>16</sup>and neither did I buy up land.<sup>r</sup> Instead, I pressed forward the work on the wall and so did all my servants busy themselves. <sup>17</sup>Further, some 150 men, Jews and rulers besides guests from surrounding nations, ate at my table, <sup>18</sup>so that it was necessary to prepare for a single day an ox and six choice sheep in addition to fowl and, once in ten days, a quantity of wine of all kinds. Yet for all this I did not require the governor's food allowance since the burden was already heavy upon the people. <sup>19</sup>O my God, remember me benevolently for everything I have done for this people.

6 NOW WHEN SANBALLAT, TOBIAH, Geshem the Arabian and the rest of our enemies heard that I had completed the wall so there was no breach left in it, though at that time I had not yet hung the doors in the gates, <sup>2</sup>Sanballat and Geshem sent word to me to come and meet with them in one of the villages in the plain of Ono. However, they planned to harm me. <sup>3</sup>Realizing this, I sent a message to them, giving answer, "I am occupied with an important task so that I am unable to come down. Why should the work stop while I leave it and come down to you?" <sup>4</sup>However, they continued to send the same request to me four different times, to which I replied in the same way each time. <sup>5</sup>Finally, the fifth time, Sanballat sent his servant to me, bearing an open letter <sup>6</sup>in which was written, "It is reported among the nations, with Gashmu in particular asserting it, that you and the Jews have built the wall because you plan to rebel, and that you intend to make yourself king; <sup>7</sup>also that you have appointed prophets to spread about in Jerusalem that you should be king of Judah. Soon these reports will be made known to the king; therefore, come and we will counsel together." <sup>8</sup>But I sent a reply to him that these assertions which he had made were not true, being only fabrications out of his own heart. <sup>9</sup>For they all thought they could frighten us so that our hands would cease from pursuing the work. Therefore, may God strengthen my hands!

<sup>10</sup>Some time later I went to the house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah, son of Mehetabel, who was shut in. <sup>11</sup>He said, "Let us seclude ourselves in the house of God within the temple and close the doors of the temple, for they are coming to kill you—at night they are coming to kill you." <sup>12</sup>But I answered him, "Should a man in my position <sup>v</sup>flee? Moreover, can one such as I <sup>w</sup>enter into the temple and live? I will not go in." <sup>13</sup>And then I realized that God had not sent him, but that Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him to speak these words to me; <sup>14</sup>the intention being to cause me to follow this counsel out of fear, thus committing sin, which then would be for them an opportunity to bring an accusation against me. <sup>15</sup>My God, remember Tobiah and Sanballat according to these doings and Noadiah, the prophetess and the other prophets who have tried to frighten me.

September, 444 B. C.

<sup>15</sup>On the twenty-fifth day of the month Elul, <sup>x</sup> the wall was finished, having taken a total of fifty-two days. <sup>16</sup>And when all our enemies heard of it and realized that all the surrounding nations had been made to respect us, they came down considerably in their own estimation and began to understand that this work had been accomplished through our God. <sup>17</sup>Moreover, during those days many letters had been exchanged between Tobiah and influential men of Judah. <sup>18</sup>For many in Judah had pledged themselves to aid him, since he was a son-in-law of Shecaniah son of Arah, and also his son Jenohana had married the daughter of Meshullam the son of Berechiaiah. <sup>19</sup>These had been continually telling me that his actions were good, while at the same time passing on to him

whatever I said, in keeping with which Tobiah had sent his letters to make me afraid.

zebaim, and the sons of Amon. <sup>60</sup>All of the temple attendants and the sons of Solomon's servants were 392.

October, 444 B. C.

8 NOW WHEN THE SEVENTH MONTH was come, the children of Israel being in their cities, all the people gathered as one man in the square<sup>i</sup> by the Water Gate and asked Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the Law of Moses which the LORD had given Israel.<sup>j</sup> <sup>2</sup>So Ezra the priest brought the law to the assembly in which were both men and women—all who could understand what they heard. This was on the first day of the seventh month. <sup>3</sup>He read from it in the square by the Water Gate from early morning until the noon hour to the assembled men and women, all who could understand, and the ears of all the people were attentive to the book of the Law. <sup>4</sup>Ezra the scribe stood on a wooden platform which had been made for the purpose and beside him on his right stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Uriah, Hilkiah and Maaseiah, and on his left Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbaddanah, Zechariah and Meshullam, <sup>5</sup>Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people, he standing higher than they, and when he opened it, all the people stood up.<sup>k</sup> <sup>6</sup>Then Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God, to which all the people responded, "Amen, Amen," as they lifted up their hands, bowed their heads, and worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground. <sup>7</sup>Also Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiiah and other Levites helped the people to understand the Law, the people remaining in their places. <sup>8</sup>They read out of the Law of God distinctly, and they explained the meaning so that they understood the reading.<sup>l</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Then Nehemiah the governor, Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites who helped the people to understand, said to all the people, "This is a holy day to the LORD your God; do not mourn or weep." For all the people were weeping as they listened to the words of the law.<sup>m</sup> <sup>10</sup>Further he said to them, "Go, eat the fat, drink the sweet, and give a part to him for whom nothing is prepared; for this is a holy day to our LORD.<sup>n</sup> Do not grieve, for

foreigners, the Israelites stood and confessed their own sins and those of their fathers.<sup>s</sup> <sup>3</sup>They stood in their places for a fourth part of the day, while the book of the Law of the LORD their God was being read and for another fourth part of it they made confession and worshiped the LORD their God. <sup>4</sup>Upon the platform stood Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebanish, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani and Chenani, all Levites, who spoke out in a loud voice to the LORD their God.

<sup>5</sup>Then the Levites, Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah and Pethahiah said, "Stand up and bless the LORD your God who is from everlasting to everlasting. Blessed be Thy glorious name and exalted above all blessing and praise. <sup>6</sup>Thou<sup>t</sup> alone art the LORD. Thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens with all their host, the earth and all that is thereon, the sea and all that is therein. Thou dost give life to all and before Thee the host of heaven worships. <sup>7</sup>Thou art Jehovah, the God who chose Abram, brought him forth out of Ur of the Chaldees, and changed his name to Abraham. <sup>8</sup>Thou didst find his heart to be faithful before Thee, and Thou didst make a covenant with him to give to his descendants the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, and the Girgashites and Thou didst fulfil Thy promise for Thou art righteous."<sup>u</sup>

<sup>26</sup>Nevertheless, they were disobedient and rebelled against Thee, casting Thy Law behind their back. They killed Thy prophets who warned them that they should return to Thee, and committed other acts of great provocation. <sup>27</sup>Consequently, Thou didst deliver them into the hands of their enemies who made them suffer; but when in their suffering they cried to Thee, Thou didst hear from heaven and out of Thine abundant mercy didst give them saviors to save them from their enemies. <sup>28</sup>After a time of rest, they again committed sin before Thee and Thou didst again deliver them into the hand of their enemies who again held control over them. Yet, when they once more cried to Thee, Thou in Thy mercy, didst hear from heaven and didst deliver them, even after many times.<sup>d</sup> <sup>29</sup>Thou didst continue to warn them that they should return to Thy Law; but they, in their pride, refused to obey Thy commandments, persisting in the breaking of Thine ordinances, which if a man keeps he shall live.<sup>e</sup> They presented a resisting shoulder and a hardened neck in their refusal to listen. <sup>30</sup>For many years Thou didst bear with them, warning them by Thy Spirit through the prophets; yet they would not listen. For that reason Thou didst give them into the hand of neighboring peoples.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>32</sup>"And now, our God, the great, mighty and terrible God, who keeps His covenant and lovingkindness, let not all the adversity seem small to Thee which has come upon us, upon our kings, our princes, our priests, our prophets, our fathers, and all Thy people from the days of the Assyrian kings until now. <sup>33</sup>Though indeed Thou hast been just in all that has come upon us, for Thou hast dealt righteously, but we have acted wickedly. <sup>34</sup>Our kings, our princes,<sup>g</sup> our priests, and our fathers did not keep Thy Law nor heed Thy commandments, nor Thy warnings which Thou didst extend to them.

<sup>35</sup>They did not serve Thee in respect to their kingdom toward which Thou didst show abundant favor, nor in respect to their large and fertile land which Thou didst give them. They did not turn from their wicked practices.

<sup>37</sup>Its rich yield goes to the kings which Thou hast placed over us because of our sin, who exercise authority even over our bodies and our cattle as they please, so that we are in great distress.

the son of Eliashib, the record of the heads of fathers' houses among the descendants of Levi was kept in the book of the chronicles. <sup>24</sup>Among the heads of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua the son of Kadmiel, who, along with their brothers, stood opposite one another to render praise and thanksgiving according to the commandment of David the man of God. <sup>25</sup>Gatekeepers at the gates of the storerooms were Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub. <sup>26</sup>These men<sup>a</sup> were active in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua, son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor and of Ezra the priest and scribe.

struments of David the man of God. At the head of this section was Ezra the scribe. <sup>37</sup>At the Fountain Gate they went straight ahead and climbed the stairs of the city of David at the ascent of the wall by the house of David and came to the Water Gate on the east.

<sup>44</sup>On that day appointments were made of those who were to be over the chambers in which were kept the stores, the heave-offerings,<sup>e</sup> the first-fruits, and the tithes, and to gather into them, according to the fields about a city, the portions as prescribed in the law for the priests and the Levites; for Judah was deeply appreciative of the ministering work of the priests and Levites. <sup>45</sup>Because they performed the service of their God and the service of purification, as also did the singers and the gatekeepers, according to the commandment of David and Solomon his son. <sup>46</sup>For in the former days of David, Asaph<sup>f</sup> was the chief of the singers, and of the songs of praise, and of

thanksgiving to God. <sup>47</sup>In both the time of Zerubbabel and that of Nehemiah, all the people of Israel gave the daily portions for the singers and the gatekeepers, and they set apart what was for the Levites, and the Levites in turn set apart what was for the sons of Aaron.<sup>5</sup>

13 ALSO ON THAT DAY, THE BOOK of Moses was read in the hearing of the people and in it was found written<sup>h</sup> that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever enter the assembly of God, <sup>2</sup>because they had not met the children of Israel with bread and water, but rather had hired Balaam against them to curse them, though, indeed, God had turned the curse into a blessing. <sup>3</sup>Consequently, when the people heard the Law, they separated from Israel all those of foreign descent.

<sup>10</sup>Also I discovered that the portions of the Levites had not been given them so that they and the singers, who were supposed to do the work, had resorted to their own fields. <sup>11</sup>Therefore I remonstrated with the rulers and said, "Why is the house of God thus abandoned?"<sup>1</sup> Then I gathered them together and assigned them to their positions. <sup>12</sup>This done, all Judah brought their tithes of the grain, the new wine, and the oil into the storehouses. <sup>13</sup>And I appointed as managers over the storehouses Shelemiah the priest, Zadok the scribe, and Pedaiah of the Levites, and as their assistant, Hanan the son of Zaccur, son of Mattaniah, for they were considered trustworthy, it being their responsibility to distribute to their brothers.<sup>m</sup> <sup>14</sup>Remember me, my God, concerning this, and do not expunge the benevolent service I have rendered on behalf of the house of my God and its observances.

<sup>19</sup>Then, as it began to get dark at the gates of Jerusalem before the Sabbath, I gave the order and the gates were closed; I furthermore indicated that they should not be opened until after the Sabbath. Also I stationed some of my servants at the gates to see that no burdens were brought in on the Sabbath day. <sup>20</sup>As a result, the merchants and sellers of the various types of wares lodged outside of Jerusalem once or twice.<sup>p</sup> <sup>21</sup>But I warned them, saying to them, "Why are you remaining here outside the wall? If you do so again I shall arrest you." From that time on they did not come on the Sabbath. <sup>22</sup>Then I gave command to the Levites that they should purify themselves and come and guard the gates that the Sabbath might be kept holy. Remember me, my God, also concerning this and have compassion on me according to the abundance of Thy lovingkindness.

"You shall not give your daughters to their sons, nor shall you take from their daughters for your sons or for yourselves. <sup>26</sup>Was it not in this same way that Solomon king of Israel sinned? Among the many nations there was not a king like him and he was beloved of his God<sup>r</sup> so that God made him king over all Israel, and yet even he was caused to sin by foreign wives. <sup>27</sup>Must we hear about you that you commit this great wickedness of marrying foreign women and are unfaithful to God?"

<sup>30</sup>Thus I cleansed them from all foreigners, and established the duties of the priests and of the Levites, each according to his own task; <sup>31</sup>and I provided for the supplying of wood at the appointed times of sacrifice, and of the first-fruits. Remember me, my God, benevolently.

THE BOOK OF ESTHER

482 B.C.

royal palace. <sup>10</sup>On the seventh day, when the king was in a happy mood from the wine, he ordered Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar and Carcas, the seven eunuchs who waited most intimately on King Ahasuerus, <sup>11</sup>to bring Queen Vashti, with her royal crown, into the king's presence, so as to display her beauty to the people and to the princes; for she was lovely to look upon. <sup>12</sup>But Queen Vashti refused to come at the king's orders which the eunuchs conveyed to her; for this the king grew furious, and his anger burned hotly. <sup>13</sup>The king said to the wise men,<sup>c</sup> who understood the customs of their period—for the king habitually so laid his affairs before all who knew law and justice <sup>14</sup>and were close to him, Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan, the seven princes of Persia and Media, who were on familiar footing with the king and enjoyed first place in the realm—<sup>15</sup>"How should Queen Vashti be handled legally, since she has failed to carry out the king's orders, sent her through the eunuchs?"

princes and all the peoples that dwell in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus; <sup>17</sup>because this conduct of the queen will be broadcast to all the women, so that they will look down on their husbands, saying, 'King Ahasuerus gave orders to bring Queen Vashti before him, and she would not come.' <sup>18</sup>This very day the princesses of Persia and Media who learn of the queen's behavior will so respond to all the king's princes, and there will be plenty of contempt and bad temper. <sup>19</sup>If it pleases your majesty, may a royal edict be issued and let it be written into the laws of Persia and Media, so that it cannot be repealed, that Vashti must no more appear in the presence of King Ahasuerus and that your majesty will transfer her position as queen to another better than she. <sup>20</sup>When the edict which your majesty issues is heard throughout your realm, great as it is, then all the women, high and low, will respect their husbands.<sup>3</sup>

2 AFTER THESE EVENTS, THE ANGER of King Ahasuerus calmed down, and his thoughts reverted to Vashti, what she had done and what had been decided against her. <sup>2</sup>The king's valets then suggested to him, "Have a search made for young girls for your majesty, beautiful virgins; <sup>3</sup>let your majesty appoint deputies in all the provinces of his realm, who shall gather into the women's quarters of the Shushan palace all the young, beautiful maidens, under supervision of Hege, the king's eunuch in charge of the women, where the beautifying cosmetics will be made available for them. <sup>4</sup>Then let the young lady whom your majesty considers most lovely become queen in the place of Vashti." The suggestion appealed to the king, and he acted accordingly.

<sup>12</sup>When for each girl the turn came to go to King Ahasuerus, after she had for twelve months undergone the prescribed treatment for women — for the preparatory period was proportioned this way: six months with oil of myrrh and six months with balms and perfumes for beautifying the women — <sup>13</sup>thus prepared, the girl came to the king. Anything she wanted to take along from the harem to the royal palace was given her. <sup>14</sup>She entered in the evening and came back in the morning to a second harem, under supervision of the king's eunuch Shaash-gaz, the overseer of the concubines. She must not visit the king again, unless the king took a liking to her and called for her by name.

<sup>16</sup>When the turn came for Esther, the daughter of Abihail, uncle to Mordecai who had adopted her, to go to the king, she requested nothing but what Hege, the king's eunuch in charge of the women, suggested, and Esther won the hearts of all who saw her. <sup>16</sup>When in the tenth month, the month Tebeth, in the seventh year of the reign of King Ahasuerus,<sup>1</sup> Esther was taken to his royal palace, <sup>17</sup>the king felt more love for Esther than for all the women.<sup>m</sup> She gained more attachment and kindness from him than did all the girls, so that he placed the royal crown on her head and made her queen in the place of Vashti. <sup>18</sup>The king then gave a great banquet in Esther's honor to his princes and servants. He also exempted the provinces from tribute and awarded donations with regal liberality.

3 FOLLOWING THESE EVENTS KING Ahasuerus promoted Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite. He advanced him and seated him higher than all his fellow princes. <sup>2</sup>Then all the king's courtiers, who were in the royal gate, bowed low and knelt to Haman; for such were the king's orders respecting him; but Mordecai neither bowed deeply nor knelt to him.<sup>o</sup> <sup>3</sup>So the king's courtiers who were at the royal gate, said to Mordecai, "Why do you act contrary to the king's orders?" <sup>4</sup>And when day after day they spoke to him and he would not listen to them, they told Haman, to see whether Mordecai's behavior would stand; for he had let them know that he was a Jew. <sup>5</sup>When Haman saw that Mordecai neither bowed nor knelt, he swelled up with anger, <sup>6</sup>but he considered it beneath him to apprehend Mordecai singly,<sup>p</sup> for they had told him of Mordecai's nationality, and he intended to destroy all the Jews, Mordecai's people, in all the realm of Ahasuerus.

and so are the people; do with them as you please."

<sup>12</sup>On the thirteenth day of the first month, the royal scribes were summoned and, in full agreement with Haman's orders, a letter was addressed to the king's deputies, to the provincial governors, and to the princes of all the peoples, to every province according to its style of writing and to each people in their language. It was written in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed with the king's signet ring.<sup>a</sup> <sup>13</sup>The letters were sent by swift post to all the royal provinces to wipe out, to kill, and to destroy all the Jews, young and old, children and women, in one day, the thirteenth of the twelfth month, the month Adar, and to take their property for plunder. <sup>14</sup>A copy of the edict must be proclaimed as law in every province and made known to all the peoples, so they might be ready against that day. <sup>15</sup>Speedily the swift posts set out at the king's orders, and the edict was given out at the Shushan stronghold. Then the king and Haman sat down to drink; but the city of Shushan was in confusion.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>4</sup>When Queen Esther's maids and eunuchs came and told her, the queen was deeply shocked. She sent clothes to dress Mordecai and to displace his sackcloth; but he would not accept them. <sup>5</sup>Then Esther summoned Hat-

ach, one of the king's eunuchs, whom he had assigned to wait on her, and she charged him to find out from Mordecai the what and the wherefore of it. <sup>6</sup>So Hatach went to Mordecai at the city square, facing the royal gate, <sup>7</sup>and Mordecai told him everything that had occurred; also the exact amount of money that Haman had pledged to pay into the royal treasury for the destruction of the Jews. <sup>8</sup>He handed him a copy of the written edict too, that had been issued from Shushan to annihilate them, to show it to Esther, so that she might understand the situation, and to charge her to call on the king, to beg for his mercy and to plead for her people face to face with him. <sup>9</sup>So Hatach went in and conveyed Mordecai's message to Esther.

<sup>10</sup>Esther then charged Hatach to tell Mordecai, <sup>11</sup>"All the king's courtiers and all the residents in the provinces know that for every person, man or woman, who enters the king's inner court uninvited, there is one penalty, execution. Only the person to whom the king extends the golden scepter survives. But for thirty days now I have not been called in to the king."<sup>w</sup>

<sup>12</sup>When they conveyed this message from Esther to Mordecai, <sup>13</sup>Mordecai gave instructions to answer Esther, "Do not imagine that because you are inside the royal palace, you alone of all the Jews will escape; <sup>14</sup>for if you at this time keep still, deliverance and rescue for the Jews will originate from some other quarter, while you and your family shall be destroyed.<sup>x</sup> And who knows but you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" <sup>15</sup>Then Esther told them to give Mordecai this answer, <sup>16</sup>"Go and gather all the Shushan Jews that are available and fast for me; do not eat or drink for three days, night or day. I, too, and my maids will similarly fast. Then, in spite of the injunction, I will go to the king; and if I perish, I perish." <sup>17</sup>Mordecai then went out and carried out all of Esther's instructions.

<sup>6</sup>As they were drinking wine, the king said to Esther, "What is your petition? It will be granted you. And what is your request? It will be met, if it were half the kingdom." <sup>7</sup>Esther responded, "My request, my wish is, <sup>8</sup>if I have won your majesty's favor and if the king takes pleasure in granting my request, then will your majesty with Haman attend the banquet I shall prepare for him tomorrow, and I will do as the king suggests."

"What is more, today Queen Esther invited me alone beside the king to the banquet she had prepared, and for tomorrow, too, she has asked me to come with the king. <sup>13</sup>Yet, all this remains unsatisfactory to me, so long as I see Mordecai the Jew seated in the royal gate."<sup>z</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Zeresh, his wife, and all his friends told him, "Have a gallows erected 75 feet high, and tell the king the first thing in the morning that Mordecai should be hanged on it; then you can happily accompany the king to the banquet." The idea appealed to Haman, and he ordered a gallows to be constructed.

6 ON THAT NIGHT SLEEP VANISHED from the king;<sup>a</sup> so he ordered the record book of memorable events to be brought out, which was read to the king. <sup>2</sup>When they found written what Mordecai had reported about Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's door-keeping eunuchs, how they had plotted to assassinate King Ahasuerus, <sup>3</sup>the king asked, "What honor or distinction has been rendered Mordecai for this?" The courtiers who waited on him, replied, "Not a thing has been done for him." <sup>4</sup>The king said, "Who is there at court?"

Just then Haman had entered the outer court to tell the king he should hang Mordecai on the gallows which he himself had erected for him. <sup>5</sup>So the king's eunuchs told him, "Look, Haman is standing in the front court." The king said, "Let him come in." <sup>6</sup>When Haman had entered, the king asked him, "What should be done to the man whom the king is glad to honor?" Haman said to himself, "To whom would the king be glad to render honor more than to me?" <sup>7</sup>He therefore answered the king, "For the man whom the king delights to honor, <sup>8</sup>let them fetch a royal cloak which the king himself has worn, and a horse on which the king rides, its head adorned with a royal crown. <sup>9</sup>Let that cloak and that horse be entrusted to one of your majesty's most noble princes; let him dress the man whom your majesty is glad to honor and have him ride that horse through the city square and proclaim before him, 'Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king is delighted to honor!'"

<sup>10</sup>The king said to Haman, "Hurry! Get that robe and that horse as you suggested, and do so to Mordecai the Jew who sits at the royal gate. Let nothing be omitted of all you have said."<sup>b</sup> <sup>11</sup>Haman then secured the robe and the horse, dressed Mordecai and had him ride through the city square, while he shouted before him, "Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king is delighted to honor." <sup>12</sup>Mordecai went back to the royal gate, but Haman went home, lamenting and with his face veiled. <sup>13</sup>And when Haman had rehearsed to Zeresh, his wife, and to all his friends all that had happened to him, his wise men<sup>c</sup> and Zeresh, his wife, said to him, "If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is of the Jewish race, then you are powerless against him; instead of facing him you will be downed completely."<sup>d</sup> <sup>14</sup>While they were still conversing with him, the king's eunuchs arrived and conducted Haman quickly to the banquet that Esther had prepared.

7 THE KING AND HAMAN WENT TO Queen Esther's banquet, <sup>2</sup>and again on the second day, while they were drinking wine, the king asked Esther, "What is your petition, Queen Esther? It will be granted you. What is your request? If it were half the kingdom, it shall be executed."

<sup>3</sup>Queen Esther replied, "If I have won your favor, O king, and if it pleases your majesty, then may my life be granted me at my petition and my people at my request; <sup>4</sup>because we have been sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be killed, to be obliterated. Had we merely been sold as male and female slaves, I would have kept still; although the enemy cannot compensate for the damage this will work to the king."<sup>e</sup>

"Hang him on it," said the king. <sup>10</sup>So they hanged Haman on the gallows he had set up for Mordecai. And the king's anger calmed down.

8 ON THAT SAME DAY KING AHASUERUS transferred to Queen Esther the belongings of Haman, the Jew-hater, and Mordecai became the king's right-hand man; for Esther had made known how they were related. <sup>2</sup>The king took off his signet ring, which he had taken back from Haman and gave it to Mordecai; while Esther appointed Mordecai in charge of the Haman affairs.<sup>h</sup>

b) The king was no "babe in malice"; he almost surely suspected Haman's self-confidence.

c) Most likely the men who had cast the lot for him.

d) The exiled Jews had taken their discipline and were showing character. They had turned to God and thus grew abler than most natives.

e) She seems to have known of the twenty million silver dollars Haman had offered for the royal treasury. f) The king had not felt flattered with Haman's company at the banquet; he would have preferred to go alone.

g) Haman had made many enemies by his haughty demeanor after his promotion.

h) Mordecai became Prime Minister, and the wealth Haman had accumulated while in politics became Esther's.

<sup>9</sup>The royal scribes, therefore, were immediately summoned, that twenty-third day of the third month, the month Sivan. As Mordecai ordered, so the dispatch was written to the Jews, to the deputies, to the governors and to the princes of the provinces from India to Ethiopia, 127 provinces, to each province in its own script, to each people in their own language, and to the Jews, too, in their own writing and tongue. <sup>10</sup>They wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus, sealed it with his signet ring and sent the letters by swift posts riding on royal horses and mules, raised from young mares, <sup>11</sup>to the effect that the king gave the Jews in all cities permission to unite for the defense of their lives; also to destroy, kill, and exterminate all forces of peoples and provinces that armed against them, including women and children,<sup>k</sup> and to take over their property, <sup>12</sup>all on an appointed day in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, the month Adar.<sup>1</sup> <sup>13</sup>A copy of this letter, which in all the provinces must be executed as law, must be brought to the knowledge of all the peoples, and the Jews must be ready against that day to get the better of their enemies. <sup>14</sup>So the swift posts, riding royal horses, sped forth, hastened by the king's command, when the mandate had been proclaimed from the Shushan palace.

9 SO ON THE THIRTEENTH OF ADAR, which is the twelfth month, when the king's mandate and decree were to be enforced, the day on which the Jew-haters expected to overpower them, it turned about to be a day in which the Jews themselves gained the upper hand over their adversaries. <sup>2</sup>The Jews united in their cities throughout all the provinces of King Ahasuerus to seize<sup>m</sup> those who planned their ruin, and none could withstand them, because the dread of them had possessed all the peoples. <sup>3</sup>Besides, all the princes of the provinces, also the viceroys, the governors, and the officers of the king supported the Jews, because they stood in fear of Mordecai; <sup>4</sup>for Mordecai was prominent in the royal palace, and his reputation spread through all the provinces; for this man Mordecai grew steadily more powerful.

<sup>13</sup>Esther replied, "If it is agreeable to your majesty, then allow the Jews in Shushan tomorrow to act according to today's edict, and have Haman's ten sons hanged on the gallows."<sup>14</sup>The king so ordered it to be done; an edict was proclaimed in Shushan, and Haman's ten sons were hanged. <sup>15</sup>The Jews also mustered in Shushan on the fourteenth day of the month Adar and slew in Shushan three hundred men,<sup>p</sup> but they did not touch the loot. <sup>16</sup>The other Jews, in the king's provinces got together on the thirteenth day of the month Adar, defended their lives, and secured rest from their adversaries. They killed seventy-five thousand of their enemies, but the loot they did not touch. <sup>17</sup>On the fourteenth day they rested, making it a day of feast and frolic.

<sup>18</sup>The Shushan Jews, however, mustered on the fourteenth day, as well as on the thirteenth of the month, and rested on the fifteenth day, which they made a day of feast and frolic. <sup>19</sup>For this reason the rural Jews, who do not live in walled cities, memorialize the fourteenth of the month Adar for a day of feast and frolic, a day on which they send each other presents.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>23</sup>The Jews accepted for an annual observance what they had begun and what Mordecai had prescribed; <sup>24</sup>because Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the Jew-hater, had planned to destroy all the Jews; so he had cast the pur, that is, the lot, to annihilate, to exterminate them. <sup>25</sup>But when the matter came before the king, he ordered in writing that the wicked plot which he had schemed against the Jews should turn upon his head, and that he and his sons be hanged on the gallows. <sup>26</sup>These days, therefore, they called Purim, from the word Pur.<sup>r</sup> Due to the message of the letter<sup>s</sup> and what they had personally seen and experienced, <sup>27</sup>the Jews ordained and assumed as an institution for themselves, for their descendants and for all who joined them, that they would without omission celebrate these two days annually, according to the written orders and at the appointed time. <sup>28</sup>These days must be memorialized and celebrated in every generation, in each family, in every province and town, so that these Purim days may not lapse among the Jews, nor their remembrance be eliminated from their descendants.

mandate confirmed these directions for Purim, and they were compiled in a book.

t) To add a fourth annual feast to the three that had been instituted by Moses, definitely at God's command, required strong backing; but Mordecai, with Esther's aid, got it done. However, it never became a compulsory feast as were the other three.

THE BOOK OF # JOB

1 THERE WAS A MAN IN THE LAND of Uz,<sup>a</sup> whose name was Job, a man of integrity, and upright,<sup>b</sup> one who revered God and turned away from evil. <sup>2</sup>There were born to him seven sons and three daughters. <sup>3</sup>He owned seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen, five hundred she-donkeys and many servants; so that this man was greater than all those of the East.

<sup>4</sup>His sons were accustomed to hold a feast in the house of each in turn, and they would invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. <sup>5</sup>Each time when the days of their feasting were completed, Job would summon and dedicate them, rising up early in the morning and offering burnt offerings for each of them in turn; for Job said, "Perhaps my sons have sinned and renounced<sup>c</sup> God in their hearts." This Job did every time.

is none like him on the earth, a man of integrity and upright, a man who reveres God and turns away from evil?

<sup>9</sup>Then Satan answered the LORD, "Is it for nothing that Job reveres God? <sup>10</sup>Hast Thou not put a hedge around him and his house and all that he has on every side? Thou hast blessed the labor of his hands, and his holdings have increased in the land. <sup>11</sup>However, put forth Thy hand, and lay it on everything he has, and he will deny Thee to Thy face!" <sup>12</sup>The LORD answered Satan, Take note! All that he has is in your power; only do not lay hands on his person. Then Satan withdrew from the presence of the LORD.

b) Ezekiel mentions Job as a man of unusual piety, Ezek. 14: 14, 20. The book is anonymous. c) Barak in Hebrew is the common verb meaning to "bless," but also "blaspheme," cf. I Kings 21:10, 13; here it implies less than blaspheming, but rather "renouncing" God, "bidding Him farewell."

was still speaking when another came and said, "The Chaldeans formed three bands, made a raid on the camels and captured them, slaying the servants with the edge of the sword, and I alone have escaped to tell you." <sup>18</sup>He was still speaking when another came and said, "Your sons and daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brother's house, <sup>19</sup>when suddenly a mighty wind came from across the desert, struck the four corners of the house, and it collapsed upon the young people and they are dead, and I alone have escaped to tell you."

2 ANOTHER DAY WHEN THE SONS OF God came to stand and present themselves before the LORD, Satan also came among them to present himself before the LORD. <sup>2</sup>The LORD said to Satan, Whence have you come? And Satan answered the LORD, "From roaming about on the earth, and walking up and down on it." <sup>3</sup>Then the LORD said to Satan, Have you considered My servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a man of integrity and uprightness, who reveres God and turns away from evil? He still holds fast to his integrity, though you did incite Me against him to consume him without cause.

of the LORD and struck Job with loathsome boils<sup>h</sup> from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head. <sup>8</sup>So he took broken pottery with which to scrape himself and sat down in the ashes. <sup>9</sup>Then his wife said to him, "Do you still hold fast to your integrity? Bid God farewell and die." <sup>10</sup>But he replied to her, "You talk as one of the foolish women would talk. Are we to receive only what is good from God, and are we to receive no misfortune?" In all this Job did not sin with his lips.

Now <sup>11</sup>when Job's three friends<sup>i</sup> heard of all this misfortune which had befallen him, they came each from his place, Eliphaz the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite. They met by appointment and came to sympathize with him and to comfort him. <sup>12</sup>But when they caught sight of him from a distance, and did not recognize him, they raised their voices and wept; they rent every one his robe and sprinkled dust on his head toward heaven. <sup>13</sup>Then they sat down with him on the ground for seven days and seven nights, no one speaking a word to him, for they saw that his suffering was very great.

3 AFTER THIS, JOB OPENED HIS mouth and cursed the day of his birth.<sup>j</sup> <sup>2</sup>Job said, <sup>3</sup>"May the day perish on which I was born and the night that said, 'A man-child is conceived.' <sup>4</sup>Let that day be darkness; may God above not inquire after it, and may no light shine upon it. <sup>5</sup>Let darkness and the shadow of death own it. May black clouds settle upon it; may the eclipse of the sun terrify it. <sup>6</sup>As for that night, let utter gloom seize it; let it no longer be among the days of the year; let it not be counted in the number of the month. <sup>7</sup>Yes, let that night be barren, and no joyful sound be heard in it. <sup>8</sup>Let those curse it who curse the day, who are skilled in rousing up Leviathan.<sup>k</sup> <sup>9</sup>Let the stars of the dawn<sup>l</sup> be dark; let the morning wait in vain for the light; may that day never see the eyelids of the morning;<sup>m</sup> <sup>10</sup>because it did not shut the doors of my mother's womb nor hide trouble from my eyes.

4 THEN ELIPHAZ THE TEMANITE ANSWERED:<sup>q</sup> <sup>2</sup>"If one should venture a word with you, would it distress you? Yet who can refrain from speaking? <sup>3</sup>Truly you have admonished many and drooping hands you have strengthened. <sup>4</sup>Your words have often upheld the stumbling, and you have made feeble knees firm. <sup>5</sup>But now, when affliction comes upon yourself, you lose heart; it touches you, and you grow dismayed. <sup>6</sup>Is not your reverence for God your confidence, and the integrity of your ways your hope?

<sup>8</sup>"But as for me, I would seek God, and I would commit my cause to God, <sup>9</sup>who does great and unsearchable things, marvelous works without number: <sup>10</sup>He gives rain upon the earth and pours water upon the fields. <sup>11</sup>He lifts the lowly up high, and He raises the sufferers to positions of safety. <sup>12</sup>He thwarts the schemes of the crafty, so that their hands achieve no success. <sup>13</sup>He snares the wise in their own craftiness,<sup>w</sup> and the plottings of the wily are frustrated. <sup>14</sup>Even in the daytime they meet with darkness; at noon they grope as in the night. <sup>15</sup>But He saves the fatherless from the sword of their mouth, and the needy from the clutch of the mighty. <sup>16</sup>So the lowly gain hope, and injustice shuts her mouth.

be afraid; <sup>23</sup>for you will be in league with the stones of the field, and the beasts of the field will be in harmony with you.<sup>y</sup> <sup>24</sup>You will know that your tent is secure, and when you inspect your pasture, you will miss nothing. <sup>25</sup>You will know too that your offspring will be numerous and your descendants as the grass of the earth. <sup>26</sup>You will go down to your grave in fulness of years, as a sheaf of grain is harvested in its season. <sup>27</sup>This is what we have searched out. It is true. Listen to it, and take it personally to heart."

<sup>8</sup>"Oh, that my request might be fulfilled, that God might grant what I hope for; <sup>9</sup>that it would please God to crush me, that He would reach out His hand and cut me off! <sup>10</sup>This would still be comfort to me; yes, I would leap for joy in unsparing pain, for I have not denied the commands of the Holy One.<sup>c</sup> <sup>11</sup>What strength have I left to hold out, and what will result if I remain patient? <sup>12</sup>Have I the strength of a rock, or is my body of bronze? <sup>13</sup>Am I not completely helpless, and is not recovery driven from me?

<sup>24</sup>"Instruct me, and I shall be still; cause me to see where I have erred. <sup>25</sup>How forceful are upright words! But what does your reproving reprove? <sup>26</sup>Do you intend to censure a man's words, when the utterances of a desperate man are as wind? <sup>27</sup>You would cast lots over an orphan and strike a bargain over a friend. <sup>28</sup>But now, please look at me; surely I would not lie to your face. <sup>29</sup>Reflect, I beg of you, and let there be no injustice; yes, reflect again, for I am still in the right. <sup>30</sup>Is there iniquity on my tongue? Cannot my taste discern what is perverse?

7 "DOES NOT MAN HAVE TO STRUGGLE hard on earth, and are not his days like those of a hired man? <sup>2</sup>Like a slave who sighs for the shadow, and like a day laborer who longs for his wages, <sup>3</sup>so I am allotted months of misery, and nights of trouble are apportioned to me. <sup>4</sup>When I lie down I say, 'When can I get up?' But the night is long, and I am occupied with tossing until the day stirs. <sup>5</sup>My body is covered with worms and dirt; my skin hardens and then breaks out afresh. <sup>6</sup>My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle, and they come to a hopeless end.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>7</sup>"Remember that my life is but a breath; my eye shall never again see anything good. <sup>8</sup>He who sees me now will not look at me again; Thy eyes will be turned to me and I am no more. <sup>9</sup>As a cloud dissolves and disappears, so he who descends to the underworld<sup>g</sup> will come up no more; <sup>10</sup>he shall not return to his house, nor will his dwelling see him again.

<sup>11</sup>"So then, I will not now restrain my mouth; I will speak in the anguish of my spirit; I will complain in the bitterness of my soul.<sup>h</sup> <sup>12</sup>Am I the sea or a dragon, that Thou settest a guard over me?<sup>i</sup> <sup>13</sup>When I say, 'My bed will console me, my couch will help me bear my grievance,' <sup>14</sup>then Thou dost frighten me with dreams and disquiet me with visions, <sup>15</sup>so that I would choose strangling and prefer death to my torments. <sup>16</sup>I am tired of it; I would not live always. Leave me alone, for my days are fleeting. <sup>17</sup>What is man, that Thou shouldst magnify him and be so concerned about him, <sup>18</sup>visiting him every morning and testing him every moment? <sup>19</sup>Wilt Thou never look away from me, or leave me alone till I swallow my spittle?<sup>j</sup> <sup>20</sup>If I have sinned, what harm have I done Thee, O Thou watcher of men? Why hast Thou made me Thy target so that I have become a burden to Thee? <sup>21</sup>Why then dost Thou not pardon my transgression and remove my iniquity? For shortly I shall lie down in the dust, and when Thou seekest me, I shall be no more."

on talking this way, your words being like a strong wind? <sup>3</sup>Does God twist justice? Would the Almighty pervert righteousness? <sup>4</sup>If your children sinned against Him, then He recompensed them according to their transgression. <sup>5</sup>So, if you will diligently seek God and implore mercy from the Almighty, <sup>6</sup>then if you are pure and upright,<sup>1</sup> He will surely bestir Himself for you and restore your rightful dwelling. <sup>7</sup>Although your beginning may seem small, He will make your later years very great. <sup>8</sup>For inquire regarding previous generations, and give heed to the findings of the fathers.<sup>m</sup> <sup>9</sup>We are only of yesterday and know nothing; our days on earth are like a shadow. <sup>10</sup>Will they not instruct and speak words to you out of their hearts?

wicked alike.<sup>s</sup> <sup>23</sup>When a scourge slays suddenly, He mocks at the despair of the innocent. <sup>24</sup>The earth He has handed over to the wicked; He veils the faces of corrupt judges; if it is not He, who then is it?

<sup>25</sup>"My days are passing swifter than a runner; they speed on, without seeing any good. <sup>26</sup>They flit by like papyrus boats, like eagles swooping on their prey. <sup>27</sup>When I say, 'I will forget my grievance; I will change my downcast face and look cheerful,' <sup>28</sup>then I fear lest more sorrows may befall me, for I know that Thou dost not regard me guiltless. <sup>29</sup>As I am bound to be declared guilty, why should I weary myself in vain? <sup>30</sup>Were I to wash myself with snow and clean my hands with lye, <sup>31</sup>yet Thou wouldst plunge me into a slough, and my own clothes would abhor me. <sup>32</sup>For God is not a mere man, as I am, that I could answer Him, that we should meet in court for trial; <sup>33</sup>neither is there any umpire between us, who might lay his hand upon us both. <sup>34</sup>Oh, that He would take His rod away from me and that His terror would no longer threaten me. <sup>35</sup>Then I would speak without fear of Him, for personally I have no guilty qualms.

10 "MY SOUL IS SADDENED WITH life; I will explain my complaint without reserve and reveal the bitterness of my soul. <sup>2</sup>I would say to God, 'Do not treat me as guilty, without formulating Thy charge against me. <sup>3</sup>Does it benefit Thee to oppress, thus to reject the work of Thine own hands, and to shine on the plottings of the wicked? <sup>4</sup>Hast Thou human eyes? Canst Thou not see more than man? <sup>5</sup>Are Thy days as the days of a human being, Thy years as those of a man, <sup>6</sup>that Thou seekest for my guilt and searchest for my sin? <sup>7</sup>Thou knowest that I am not guilty, and that no one can deliver from Thy hand. <sup>8</sup>Thy hands completely framed me and fashioned me, and now wilt Thou destroy me? <sup>9</sup>Remember that Thou madest me of clay; wilt Thou now turn me back into dust? <sup>10</sup>Didst Thou not pour me out like milk, and curdle me like cheese? <sup>11</sup>With skin and flesh Thou didst clothe me, and with bones and sinews Thou didst knit me together. <sup>12</sup>Thou didst bestow upon me life and compassion; and Thy care has preserved my spirit. <sup>13</sup>Yet all this Thou hast hidden in Thy heart; I know this was Thy purpose. <sup>14</sup>When I sin, Thou dost observe me and wilt not absolve me from my iniquity. <sup>15</sup>If I am guilty, woe betide me; if righteous, I cannot lift up my head, being filled with disgrace and seeing my misery. <sup>16</sup>If I lifted myself up, Thou wouldst hunt me like a lion and show Thyself once more mighty against me. <sup>17</sup>Thou wouldst renew Thy proofs against me, increase Thine anger toward me, and bring fresh hosts against me.

<sup>18</sup>"Why didst Thou bring me forth from the womb? Would that I had died before any eye had seen me! <sup>19</sup>Then I would have been as though I had never existed; borne from the womb directly to the tomb! <sup>20</sup>Are not my remaining days few? Leave me alone, so I may have a little comfort, <sup>21</sup>before I go whence I shall not return, <sup>22</sup>to the land of darkness and blackness; to the land of thick darkness, where there is no light, only chaos, and the light as gloom."<sup>t</sup>

11 THEN ANSWERED ZOPHAR<sup>u</sup> THE Naamathite: <sup>2</sup>"Should a deluge of words remain unanswered? Must a glib talker be right? In view of your boastings should people remain silent? <sup>3</sup>Should you be permitted to scoff without being made ashamed? <sup>4</sup>You have said, 'My doctrine is pure, and I am clean in thy sight.' <sup>5</sup>But, oh! that God would speak and open His lips to you; <sup>6</sup>that He would show you the secrets of wisdom, doubling your power of in-

s) God does not discriminate between the good and the wicked in times of calamity.

t) Job's soul, in this retort to Bildad, oscillates between his memory of blessed fellowship with God and a feeling of God's injustice toward him now. He had trusted God, but now feels as one betrayed. Later Job sees more clearly and repents of his accusations.

u) Eliphaz had emphasized the purity, chs. 4-5; Bildad, the justice, ch. 8; and now Zophar, the wisdom of God, ch. 11.

sight! You would then see that God holds against you less than your iniquities deserve.

<sup>13</sup>"If, however, you will prepare your heart and reach out your hands toward Him; <sup>14</sup>if you will banish sin far from your life, and allow no wrong to dwell in your tents, <sup>15</sup>then you will be able to lift your face without shame, to be steadfast and fearless. <sup>16</sup>You will forget trouble, remembering it as a flood which has passed away. <sup>17</sup>Your life will arise more radiant than noonday, and your shadows like the morning dawn. <sup>18</sup>You will feel confident, because you have hope; you will look around and lie down without fear. <sup>19</sup>You will sleep and no one will alarm you, and many will appeal to you for favor. <sup>20</sup>But the eyes of the wicked shall fail; they will see no way of escape; their only hope remaining is to breathe their last."

12 BUT JOB REPLIED: <sup>2</sup>"NO DOUBT you are the people, and wisdom will die with you.<sup>v</sup> <sup>3</sup>I have understanding as well as you; I am not inferior to you. Who does not know all you say? <sup>4</sup>I am a laughingstock to my friends; I, whom God heard when I called to Him, a just and upright man, am a laughingstock. <sup>5</sup>Those who prosper and live in ease have contempt for those in misfortune, which awaits those whose feet are ready to slip. <sup>6</sup>The tents of robbers do prosper; those who provoke God may live securely, their wants being supplied by God's hand.

<sup>7</sup>"For, ask the animals, and they will teach you; the birds of the air, and they will tell you; <sup>8</sup>or speak to the earth, and it will instruct you; even the fish of the sea will inform you! <sup>9</sup>For who among these does not see that the hand of the LORD is bringing this about? <sup>10</sup>Under His control is the life of all that lives, the spirit of every mortal. <sup>11</sup>Does not the ear test the words just as the palate tastes food? <sup>12</sup>With the aged there is wisdom, and days prolonged bring insight. <sup>13</sup>With Him are wisdom and might; He has counsel and understanding. <sup>14</sup>Observe, when He pulls down, it can not be built again, and when He imprisons one, there is no release. <sup>15</sup>Behold, He withholds the waters, and they dry up; again He sends them out, and they overwhelm the earth. <sup>16</sup>With Him are wisdom and might; the misled and the misleader are His. <sup>17</sup>He leads counselors away barefoot, and judges He makes fools. <sup>18</sup>He loosens the bonds (made by) kings and binds a waistcloth about their loins. <sup>19</sup>He sends priests away barefoot and overthrows those well established. <sup>20</sup>Those trusted He deprives of speech, and He takes away the discernment of the elders. <sup>21</sup>He pours contempt on princes and loosens the belt of the strong.<sup>w</sup> <sup>22</sup>He uncovers the deep things out of darkness and brings to light black gloom. <sup>23</sup>He makes the nations great, and He turns them down. He spreads their peoples abroad, and He moves them out. <sup>24</sup>He takes away the intelligence of the chiefs of the earth's people and makes them wander in a jungle. <sup>25</sup>There they grope around in unlit darkness; He makes them wander about like a drunken man.

13 "LOOK! MY EYE HAS SEEN IT ALL, my ear has heard and has grasped it. <sup>2</sup>What you know, I know too; I am not inferior to you. <sup>3</sup>Yet, I would speak to the Almighty; I wish to argue my case with God. <sup>4</sup>As for you, you are forgers of lies; you are all quack doctors.<sup>x</sup> <sup>5</sup>Oh! that you would altogether hold your peace; that would be your wisdom! <sup>6</sup>Hear my defense, and listen to the pleadings of my lips. <sup>7</sup>Will you speak unfairly on behalf of God and talk deceitfully for Him? <sup>8</sup>Will you choose His side, posing as special pleaders for God? <sup>9</sup>Will it be well when He examines you, or can you deceive Him as one deceives a man?<sup>y</sup> <sup>10</sup>He will severely discipline you if you secretly practice partiality. <sup>11</sup>Should not His majesty make you afraid, and should not your awe for Him come upon you? <sup>12</sup>Your precepts are proverbs of ashes; your shields are shields of clay.

<sup>13</sup>"Be silent before me, that I may speak; let happen to me what may."<sup>z</sup> <sup>14</sup>I will take my flesh in my teeth and hazard my life in my hand. <sup>15</sup>Although He slay me, yet I keep hoping.<sup>a</sup> Yes, I will maintain my ways before Him. <sup>16</sup>This will be in my favor, for no godless man shall stand in His presence. <sup>17</sup>Listen attentively to what I say, and let my plea enter your ears. <sup>18</sup>As I have prepared my defense, I am sure that I shall be vindicated. <sup>19</sup>Who will refute me? If now I kept silent I would expire.

<sup>20</sup>"Spare me two things, then I will not hide myself from Thee. <sup>21</sup>Remove Thy hand from me, and cease overwhelming me by Thy terror! <sup>22</sup>Then call Thou, and I will answer; or let me speak, and do Thou answer me. <sup>23</sup>How many are my transgressions and my sins? Help me to know my offenses and my sin. <sup>24</sup>Why dost Thou hide Thy face and consider me Thy enemy? <sup>25</sup>Wilt Thou frighten a drifting leaf? Wilt Thou chase dry stubble? <sup>26</sup>For Thou writest bitter charges against me and makest me inherit the sins of my youth.<sup>b</sup> <sup>27</sup>Thou putttest my feet in the stocks<sup>c</sup> and markest all my paths, setting bounds to my footsteps. <sup>28</sup>I am like the severed root of a tree which soon decays, like a moth-eaten garment.

14 "MAN, BORN OF WOMAN, IS OF few days and full of trouble.<sup>d</sup> <sup>2</sup>He unfolds like a flower and fades; he is fleeting like a shadow and does not remain. <sup>3</sup>Yet upon such a one Thou dost open Thy eyes, and Thou dost bring me into judgment with Thee. <sup>4</sup>Oh, that there were one pure among the impure! But there is none. <sup>5</sup>If man's days are determined and the number of his months is in Thy mind, if Thou hast appointed his bounds that he cannot pass, <sup>6</sup>then look away from him, and let him rest, so that, like a hired man, he may enjoy his day.

<sup>7</sup>"For there is hope for a tree, if it is felled, that it will sprout again and that its shoots will flourish.<sup>e</sup> <sup>8</sup>Though its roots age in the earth and its stump dies in the ground, <sup>9</sup>at the scent of water it will bud and branch out like a young plant. <sup>10</sup>But when a man dies, he is laid prostrate; he expires, and where is he? <sup>11</sup>As waters evaporate from a lake, as a river drains and dries up, <sup>12</sup>so man lies down, not to rise again till the heavens be no more; he will not awaken or be roused out of his sleep. <sup>13</sup>Oh, that Thou wouldst hide me in Sheol<sup>f</sup> and conceal me until Thy wrath has quieted; that Thou wouldst set me a time and then think of me again.

<sup>14</sup>"When a person dies, shall he live again? All the days of my service I would wait till my release should come.<sup>g</sup> <sup>15</sup>Thou wouldst call, and I would answer Thee; Thou wouldst yearn after Thy handiwork! <sup>16</sup>But now that Thou art watching my every step and art

y) Flattery is like perfume, it may be smelled, but should not be swallowed.

z) Job is indifferent to any punishment his rashness might provoke. John Knox wrote round his study ceiling: "Conscience bids me speak the truth, therefore, the truth I speak; impugn it whoso list!" a) "Though He slay me, yet will I trust in Him," [A. V.], is the godly and Christian attitude.

b) Judicial sentences were written and recorded. Cf. Isa. 10:1.

d) Even as a patriarch, Job regards himself as short-lived and doomed to sorrow. Cf. Gen. 47:9.

e) What is granted to a tree should not be denied to a man. Science admits, man may live anew; philosophy hopes he may; ethics says he ought to; Christ says he shall; He brought life and immortality to light. f) To the Hebrews, death was not the end of personal existence.

g) "If a man may live again," Job seems to say, "I can bear my affliction longer."

recording my every sin, <sup>17</sup>I would that my transgressions were sealed up in a sack, and that Thou wouldst cover my iniquity. <sup>18</sup>As mountains disintegrate and crumble away, as rocks are moved out of their place, <sup>19</sup>as waters wear smooth great stones<sup>h</sup> and as torrents wash the soil of earth away, so Thou destroyest the hope of man. <sup>20</sup>Thou overpowerest him, and he departs forever. Thou changest his looks and sendest him away. <sup>21</sup>His sons achieve honor, but he is unaware of it; or they are humbled, but he does not notice. <sup>22</sup>He senses only the pains of his own body, and his soul bemoans himself."<sup>i</sup>

ens are not pure in His eyes; <sup>16</sup>how much less one who is loathsome and foul, a man who drinks wickedness like water!"<sup>l</sup>

k) In India they have a saying, "Oh, he is the first man; no wonder he is so wise!"

l) Eliphaz, in his first speech, ch. 4:17-19, had voiced sentiments similar to those here in vv. 14-16.

m) In the Law, long life is promised those who honor their parents, Ex. 20:12.

n) The olive tree is prodigal of its blossoms, not more than one in a hundred coming to maturity.

o) By Job's repeated complaints, Eliphaz has become convinced that challenging God's purity renders him a blasphemer.

16 THEN JOB ANSWERED: <sup>2</sup>"I HAVE often heard such things; you are all miserable comforters. <sup>3</sup>Will your empty words have no end?" What incites you to answer? <sup>4</sup>I, too, could speak as you speak. If you were in my place, I could compose words against you and shake my head at you. <sup>5</sup>I might encourage you with my mouth and bring you comfort with my lips.

<sup>6</sup>"If I speak, my sorrow is not lessened, and if I do not speak, does it leave me? <sup>7</sup>Surely He has deprived me of strength; He has disbanded my whole family. <sup>8</sup>He has made me wrinkle; my malady testifies against me; it testifies to my face. <sup>9</sup>His wrath tears me, and His anger pursues me; He gnashes on me with His teeth. My enemies look sharply at me; <sup>10</sup>they gape at me with their mouth, and with insolence they smite my cheeks; they are all joined against me. <sup>11</sup>God is delivering me over to the villains and is casting me into the hands of the godless.<sup>r</sup> <sup>12</sup>I was living at ease, and He shattered me; He grabbed me by the neck and broke me down; He set me up for His target; <sup>13</sup>His arrows encircled me. He cleaves my reins asunder and pours out my gall on the ground. <sup>14</sup>He breaks me with breach upon breach and rushes upon me like a warrior. <sup>15</sup>I have sewed sackcloth upon my skin and have laid my horn in the dust. <sup>16</sup>My face is red from weeping,<sup>s</sup> and blackness hangs over my eyelids, <sup>17</sup>though my hands are guilty of no violence and my prayer is pure.

neighbor. <sup>22</sup>For in a few more years I shall walk the path along which I shall not return.

17 "MY LIFE IS RUINED; MY DAYS are extinguished; the grave is yawning for me! <sup>2</sup>Surely mockers surround me; my eye gazes on their contention. <sup>3</sup>Give me a pledge;<sup>u</sup> be surety for me; who will strike hands with me? <sup>4</sup>But their heart Thou hast closed to reason; therefore Thou wilt not let them triumph.

<sup>10</sup>"But you, come on again, all of you, though I shall not find one wise man among you. <sup>11</sup>My days are passing; my purposes, my heart's desires are foiled. <sup>12</sup>They would turn night into day, saying that light is near when there is darkness. <sup>13</sup>But if I look to Sheol as my abode, if I have spread my couch in darkness, <sup>14</sup>if I have said to the pit, 'You are my father,' and to the worms 'My mother and my sister,' <sup>15</sup>where then is my hope, and my expectation, who can discover it? <sup>16</sup>Will they descend with me into Sheol? Shall we go down together into the dust?"<sup>w</sup>

we stupid in your sight? <sup>4</sup>You are tearing yourself in your rage. Shall the earth be depopulated for your sake and the rock be moved from its place? <sup>5</sup>The light of the wicked shall be extinguished;<sup>y</sup> the glow of his fire shall not be kept shining. <sup>6</sup>The light in his tent darkens, and the wick above it is extinguished.<sup>z</sup> <sup>7</sup>His manly steps are shortened; his own design downs him. <sup>8</sup>He gets into the net by his own feet, and he treads on a lattice-covered pit. <sup>9</sup>A trap catches him by the heel, and a snare holds him fast. <sup>10</sup>A noose is hidden in the ground for him, and a trap in the path. <sup>11</sup>Terrors threaten him from every direction, hounding him at his heels. <sup>12</sup>Calamity is hungry for him, and ruin stands ready for his stumbling. <sup>13</sup>By disease his skin is eaten up; the first-born of death<sup>a</sup> eats away his limbs. <sup>14</sup>He is dragged from the safety of his tent and is led to the king of terrors.<sup>b</sup> <sup>15</sup>Nothing his own remains in his tent; sulphur is scattered over his dwelling. <sup>16</sup>His roots are dried up underneath him, and his branches above him wither. <sup>17</sup>Remembrance of him perishes from the earth and his name does not linger in the street. <sup>18</sup>He is driven from light into darkness and chased out of the habitable world. <sup>19</sup>He leaves no offspring or descendant among his people, nor any survivor in his old home. <sup>20</sup>At his fate men of sunset years<sup>c</sup> are appalled, and they of sunrise years<sup>d</sup> are filled with horror. <sup>21</sup>Surely such are the dwellings of the impious and such is the place of him who does not acknowledge God."

19 THEN JOB ANSWERED:<sup>e</sup> "HOW long will you vex my soul and crush me with words? <sup>3</sup>These ten times<sup>f</sup> you have derided me, feeling no shame about wronging me. <sup>4</sup>And if indeed I have erred, my error remains with me. <sup>5</sup>If you would assume a superior attitude toward me and reproach me for my misery, <sup>6</sup>then know that God has misjudged me and has encircled me with His net. <sup>7</sup>Note this: I cry out because of violence, yet I am not answered; I shriek for help, but I receive no justice.<sup>g</sup> <sup>8</sup>My path He has fenced in, so that I cannot advance, and upon my paths He spreads darkness. <sup>9</sup>He has robbed me of my honor; He has removed the crown from my head. <sup>10</sup>He has broken me down on every side, and I am finished; my hope He has uprooted like a tree. <sup>11</sup>He has kindled His indignation against me and considers me His enemy. <sup>12</sup>Unitedly all His troops come on and build their road against me; they camp around my tent.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>13</sup>My brothers I<sup>i</sup> have moved far from me, and my acquaintances are completely estranged from me. <sup>14</sup>My relatives stay away, and my friends have forgotten me. <sup>15</sup>Those living in my house, and my maids, regard me as a stranger; in their view I am become an alien.<sup>j</sup> <sup>16</sup>I summon my servant, and he does not answer; humbly I must entreat him. <sup>17</sup>My breath is obnoxious to my wife and my body loathsome to my brothers. <sup>18</sup>Even young boys despise me; when I get up, they speak against me.<sup>k</sup> <sup>19</sup>All my intimate friends avoid me and those whom I specially loved are turned against me.<sup>k</sup> <sup>20</sup>My bones cleave to my skin and to my flesh, and I have escaped by the skin of my teeth. <sup>21</sup>Have pity on me, have pity on me, O you my friends, for the hand of God has stricken me!<sup>l</sup> <sup>22</sup>Why do you persecute me, as does God? Why are you not satisfied with my flesh?

<sup>23</sup>"Oh, that my words were recorded, that they were inscribed in the book! <sup>24</sup>Oh, that with an iron pen they were engraved on a rock and sealed with

20 THEN ZOPHAR THE NAAMATHITE replied: <sup>2</sup>"My thoughts urge me to reply; I am stirred up. <sup>3</sup>I have heard your presumptuous warning to censure you no more; but a spirit prompts me to inquire of you: <sup>4</sup>Do you not know from of old, since the time man was put upon the earth, <sup>5</sup>that the triumph of the wicked is brief,<sup>p</sup> and the joys of the godless are but for a moment? <sup>6</sup>Though his pride may mount up to the heavens and his head reach to the clouds, <sup>7</sup>yet he perishes forever like his own dung;<sup>q</sup> so that they who have seen him say, 'Where is he?' <sup>8</sup>Like a dream he shall fly away and not be found; he disappears like a vision of the night. <sup>9</sup>Eyes that once saw him, see him no more; nor does his home see him again. <sup>10</sup>His children will curry the favor of the poor, and his own hands will give back his wealth. <sup>11</sup>While his bones still enjoy youthful vigor, they lie down with him in the dust. <sup>12</sup>Though wickedness is sweet in his mouth, kept hidden under his tongue, <sup>13</sup>and though he retains it, loath to let it go, holding it back with his palate, <sup>14</sup>yet the food in his stomach turns to poison and becomes the gall of asps within him. <sup>15</sup>He swallows down riches, but vomits them up again; God rejects them from his stomach. <sup>16</sup>He shall suck the poison of asps; the tongue of a viper shall slay him. <sup>17</sup>He will not look with delight at the streams, the brooks flowing with honey and curds.

<sup>18</sup>"What he labored for and earned, he must give up; he cannot swallow it; what he acquired by trading will afford him no joy; <sup>19</sup>because he has crushed and neglected the poor and has seized houses which he had never built. <sup>20</sup>Because his greed enjoyed no rest within him, he will not save anything that he desires. <sup>21</sup>As nothing is left after he has eaten, his prosperity will not last. <sup>22</sup>With all his wealth, he finds himself weighed down by those in misery, and he is in straits. <sup>23</sup>When he is about to gorge himself, God lets His anger loose at him and rains it upon him as his food. <sup>24</sup>He may flee from an iron weapon, but the bronze bow shall pierce him through; <sup>25</sup>the arrow comes through at his back, its point having punctured his entrails; terrors close in upon him. <sup>26</sup>Utter darkness settles on his treasures. A fire not fanned<sup>r</sup> consumes him and burns up all that is left in his tent. <sup>27</sup>The heavens reveal his iniquity, and the earth rises up against him. <sup>28</sup>All that was accumulated in his house is moved out in the day of His wrath. <sup>29</sup>This is the wicked man's lot from God and the legacy allotted him of God."<sup>s</sup>

wrong. <sup>28</sup>For you say, 'Where is the prince's palace and where the tent in which the wicked dwelt?' <sup>29</sup>Have you never inquired of travelers? Is not their report trustworthy, <sup>30</sup>that the evil man is spared in the day of calamity and that in the day of wrath he is allowed to escape? <sup>31</sup>Who rebukes a man to his face, or who repays him for his behavior? <sup>32</sup>When he is borne to the grave, a watch is kept over his tomb. <sup>33</sup>Softly the clods of the valley cover him, and all men follow him, while countless numbers are ahead of him. <sup>34</sup>How then do you expect to comfort me, seeing that falsehood lingers in your answers?'<sup>y</sup>

22 THEN ANSWERED ELIPHAZ THE Temanite:<sup>z</sup> <sup>2</sup>"Can a man be of service to God? No, but surely he who is wise is helpful to himself. <sup>3</sup>Is it of any advantage to the Almighty that you are righteous? Is it any profit to Him that you keep your ways perfect? <sup>4</sup>Is it because of your piety that He rebukes you; that He passes judgment upon you? <sup>5</sup>Is not your wickedness great? Are not your iniquities endless? <sup>6</sup>For without reason you have required pawn of your brothers; you have stripped the naked of their clothes; <sup>7</sup>you have not supplied water to the fainting to drink, and you have withheld food from the hungry. <sup>8</sup>But the man of great influence obtained the land,<sup>a</sup> and the eminent man got the dwelling. <sup>9</sup>Widows you have sent away empty-handed, and the arms of the orphans have been broken. <sup>10</sup>Therefore, snares are around you, and sudden panic confounds you. <sup>11</sup>Your light is blacked out so that you cannot see, and a deluge of water covers you.

But when people grew convinced that misfortune must be due to bad behavior, God undertook to teach its falsity. Job, unaware of God's concession to Satan, became God's agent to correct the error. Job's friends argue: All wicked men end in ruin; Job has gone to ruin; Job is therefore a wicked man.

y) In the second cycle, ch. 15-21, Job's friends have implied that conscience, earth, and heaven all condemn him.

heaven? Observe the farthest stars, how high they are! <sup>13</sup>But you say, 'What does God know? Can He judge through the oppressive darkness? <sup>14</sup>Thick clouds veil Him, so that He cannot see; He walks on the arch of heaven. <sup>15</sup>Will you keep to the old way which wicked men have walked, <sup>16</sup>who were untimely snatched away, their foothold washed out by a deluge? <sup>17</sup>They said to God, 'Leave us alone,' and 'What can the Almighty do for us?' <sup>18</sup>Yet it was He who filled their houses with abundance. But the planning of the wicked is far from me.<sup>b</sup> <sup>19</sup>The righteous see it and are glad, and the innocent mock at them, <sup>20</sup>saying, 'Surely our enemies are eliminated, and what they had left the fire has destroyed.'

<sup>21</sup>'Acquaint now yourself with Him, and enjoy peace, by which great gain will come to you. <sup>22</sup>Accept the instruction from His mouth, and treasure His words in your mind. <sup>23</sup>If you will return to the Almighty you will be built up; if you will put away unfairness from your tents, <sup>24</sup>throw your precious treasure to the dust,<sup>c</sup> regard your gold of Ophir as valueless as the stones of the brook, <sup>25</sup>and make the Almighty your gold nuggets and your silver ore, <sup>26</sup>then you will delight in the Almighty, and you will lift up your face to God. <sup>27</sup>You will pray to Him; He will hear you, and you will pay your vows to Him. <sup>28</sup>When you come to a decision, it will be established, and light will shine upon you all the way. <sup>29</sup>For God abases the high and mighty, but He exalts the humble man whom He will save. <sup>30</sup>He will even deliver one not guiltless; through the cleanness of your hands you will be delivered."<sup>d</sup>

bellious. His hand is heavy upon me in my groaning.<sup>e</sup> <sup>3</sup>Oh, that I knew where I might find Him, that I might approach His tribunal, <sup>4</sup>present my case before Him with my mouth full of proofs, <sup>5</sup>learn what He would reply, and understand what He would say! <sup>6</sup>Would He contend with me in the greatness of his power? No, but He would pay attention to me. <sup>7</sup>Then an upright person could plead with Him and gain acquittal from my Judge for all time.

<sup>8</sup>"Behold, I go eastward, but He is not there; and westward, but I do not see Him; <sup>9</sup>to the north where He works, but I cannot find Him; He covers Himself in the south so I do not observe Him.<sup>f</sup> <sup>10</sup>But He knows the way which I take, and when He has tested me I shall come forth as gold. <sup>11</sup>My feet have stayed steady in His path; I have kept His way and have never swerved aside. <sup>12</sup>Nor have I strayed from the orders of His lips; rather I have treasured within me the words of His mouth.<sup>g</sup> <sup>13</sup>But He remains true to Himself, and who can turn Him? He does what He wants to do; <sup>14</sup>He will carry out what He has planned for me, and of many such matters He is mindful.<sup>h</sup> <sup>15</sup>I am therefore awed at His presence; when I reflect on it, I tremble before Him. <sup>16</sup>God has made my heart faint; the Almighty has dismayed me. <sup>17</sup>I am hemmed in by the darkness; thick darkness covers my face.

wretched of the earth all huddle out of sight. <sup>5</sup>Like wild donkeys in the desert, they go out to work, looking for prey which the wilderness may yield as food for their children. <sup>6</sup>They gather provender from the field and glean the wicked man's vineyard. <sup>7</sup>They pass the night naked for lack of clothes, having no covering against the cold; <sup>8</sup>drenched by the rains in the mountains and lacking shelter, they cling close to the shelter of overhanging rocks. <sup>9</sup>Some wrest fatherless infants from their mothers' breasts and hold them as security for unpaid debts. <sup>10</sup>Having no clothes they are made to go about naked; and though hungry themselves, they are forced to carry sheaves. <sup>11</sup>Between the rows of olive trees of the wicked they press oil and they are compelled to tread the wine presses, while dying of thirst.

their children; worms alone find satisfaction in them; they are not long remembered, wickedness having been broken like trees. <sup>21</sup>They live off the barren and childless and fail to do good to the widow. <sup>22</sup>Yet He prolongs the lives of the mighty by His power and restores those who are despairing of life. <sup>23</sup>He gives them confidence; they are sustained, and His eyes are upon their ways. <sup>24</sup>They are exalted for a little while and then are gone; they wither and fade like the mallow leaf, and are cut off like the heads of grain. <sup>25</sup>If it is not so, who can prove me false and disqualify my statement?"<sup>o</sup>

26 BUT JOB ANSWERED:<sup>r</sup> <sup>2</sup>"How well you have aided the powerless and sustained the feeble arm! <sup>3</sup>How well you have counseled him who has no wisdom, and how abundantly you have supplied him with sound insight! <sup>4</sup>To whom are you indebted for such words, and by whose spirit were you inspired? <sup>5</sup>The shades below quake, the waters and their inhabitants. <sup>6</sup>Sheol lies exposed before Him, and Death has no cover. <sup>7</sup>He stretches out the north<sup>s</sup> over empty space and hangs the earth on nothing. <sup>8</sup>He binds up the waters together in

p) Bildad is completely overwhelmed at Job's persistent claim of innocence and only repeats what Eliphaz had said [4:17-21; 15:14-16]. We readers must keep in mind that Job was ignorant of Satan's insinuations and God's permission to test Job, and so were his friends.

27 THEN JOB RESUMED<sup>w</sup> HIS DIS-course, saying: <sup>2</sup>"As God lives, who has taken away my right, and the Almighty, who has embittered my soul, <sup>3</sup>as long as I live and God's breath is in my nostrils, <sup>4</sup>my lips will not speak an untruth, neither shall my tongue utter deceit. <sup>5</sup>Be it far from me that I should acknowledge you to be right; till I die I will not sacrifice my integrity. <sup>6</sup>I hold on to my integrity and will not let it go; my conscience<sup>x</sup> does not accuse me, not one single day. <sup>7</sup>May my enemy fare as the wicked, and may my opponent be as the perverse. <sup>8</sup>For what is the hope of the godless when God cuts him off and requires his soul? <sup>9</sup>Will God hear his cry, when trouble befalls him? <sup>10</sup>Will he delight himself in the Almighty? Will he call upon God at all times?

join in the lamentation. <sup>16</sup>Though a man heap up silver as the dust and accumulates garments as plentiful as clay, <sup>17</sup>he may store them up, but the righteous shall wear them, and the innocent will divide the silver. <sup>18</sup>The house which he builds is as a spider's web and as the booth which a watchman builds.<sup>y</sup> <sup>19</sup>He lies down rich but cannot do so again; when he opens his eyes, all is gone! <sup>20</sup>Terrors<sup>z</sup> overtake him like a flood; in the night a whirlwind carries him away. <sup>21</sup>The east wind takes him up, and there he goes; a hot wind sweeps him out of his place; <sup>22</sup>it hurls at him without mercy;<sup>a</sup> from its force he flees in haste. <sup>23</sup>Men clap their hands at him and hiss after him from his dwelling.<sup>b</sup>

in me'; and the sea says, 'It is not with me.' <sup>16</sup>Pure gold can not purchase it; neither can silver be weighed as its price. <sup>16</sup>It can be valued neither in the gold of Ophir,<sup>d</sup> nor in the precious onyx nor in the sapphire. <sup>17</sup>Neither can gold or glass<sup>e</sup> equal it, nor can jewels of refined gold be exchanged for it. <sup>18</sup>Coral and crystal are not worthy of comparison. The acquisition of wisdom is above that of pearls; <sup>19</sup>the topaz of Ethiopia does not equal it; no weight of pure gold can buy it.

were bathed in cream, and the near-by rock<sup>j</sup> poured out brooks of oil; <sup>7</sup>when I walked to the city gate and took my seat in the broad way.<sup>k</sup> <sup>8</sup>Young men seeing me stepped back; the aged got up and remained standing; <sup>9</sup>princes stopped their conversation and put their hand on their mouth; <sup>10</sup>nobles hushed and stood dumb, their tongue cleaving to the roof of their mouth. <sup>11</sup>The ear that heard me called me blessed, and the eye that saw me spoke well of me. <sup>12</sup>For I delivered the wretched who appealed for help, the orphan and him who had no helper. <sup>13</sup>Those who would have perished, blessed me, and I made the widow's heart sing with joy. <sup>14</sup>Thus I put on righteousness and my fairness dressed me as robe and turban.<sup>l</sup>

not answer me; I stand up, but Thou takest no notice of me. <sup>21</sup>Thou hast turned harsh to me: with Thy mighty hand Thou dost oppose me." <sup>22</sup>Thou liftest me up on the wind, making me to ride on it, and I am blown away by a tempest. <sup>23</sup>I know indeed that Thou wilt convey me to death, to the assembly place appointed for all the living.

<sup>24</sup>"Yet, will not a falling man stretch out his hand? In his calamity will he not cry out for help? <sup>25</sup>Have I not wept for him who went through a heavy day? Has not my soul grieved for the needy? <sup>26</sup>But as for me, when I looked for good, evil came; and when I expected light, darkness entered. <sup>27</sup>My inside boils and never comes to rest; only days of affliction have overtaken me." <sup>28</sup>In black I go about without sunshine; I stand up in the congregation and cry for help. <sup>29</sup>I am become a brother to jackals and a companion of ostriches. <sup>30</sup>My skin has grown black on me and is peeling off. My bones burn with fever. <sup>31</sup>The music of my harp has turned to mourning, and the harmonies of my flute to bitter lamentation.

31 "I MADE A COVENANT WITH MY eyes; how then could I ogle at a girl? <sup>2</sup>For what could I expect from God as recompense; or what heritage from the Almighty on high? <sup>3</sup>Should not calamity befall the wrongdoer and disaster the workers of iniquity? <sup>4</sup>Does not He<sup>s</sup> observe my path and count every step I take?

<sup>5</sup>"If<sup>t</sup> I have walked with lies, or my foot has hastened to deceit, <sup>6</sup>then let Him weigh in a just balance, and God will know my integrity! <sup>7</sup>If my step has strayed out of the way, or my thoughts have followed my eyes, or a stain<sup>u</sup> sticks to my hands, <sup>8</sup>then let me sow, and let another eat, and let my grown crops be uprooted.

o) "The misbeggetting having been misbegotten!"

p) Keeping me alive, in order to afflict me with new pain every day!

q) Job's disease was most painful and of long duration. Unaware of Satan's challenge and God's agreement to it, Job could not reason out why he must suffer so; neither could his friends judge correctly.

r) Ch. 31 is not a series of boastings, but a catalogue of serious assertions.

s) The pronoun "He" in v. 4 is emphatic.

t) Sixteen clauses are introduced by "If"; he repudiates, and rightly so, implications of dishonesty in any form. u) Of greed.

<sup>9</sup>"If my heart has been enticed by some woman; if I have lurked about my neighbor's door; <sup>10</sup>then let my wife grind for another, and let others bend down over her. <sup>11</sup>For that would be a shameful sin, a crime to be punished by the judge; <sup>12</sup>that would be a fire which would consume to destruction and would burn all that I possess. <sup>13</sup>If I ignored the rights of my servant or of my maid, when they had a claim against me, <sup>14</sup>what then could I do when God rises up, and when He comes to inquire, what shall I answer Him? <sup>15</sup>Did not He who made me in the womb, make him, too? Did not One prepare both of us in the womb?

<sup>24</sup>"If I have made gold my hope and have said to fine gold, 'You are my confidence'; <sup>25</sup>if I have rejoiced because my wealth was great and because my hand secured so much; <sup>26</sup>if I have looked at the sun when it shone, or the moon moving along in splendor <sup>27</sup>and by them have been secretly seduced, my hand kissing my mouth;<sup>x</sup> <sup>28</sup>this also would have been a heinous enormity, punishable by the judges, for I would then have been false to God above.

<sup>29</sup>"If I have felt happy at the calamity of him who hated me, or exulted when misfortune hit him (<sup>30</sup>I did neither commit the sin of cursing my enemy, nor pray God to cause him to die); <sup>31</sup>if my tent fellows have not so witnessed, there never was a man whom I did not generously supply with meat; <sup>32</sup>nor did I ever allow a stranger to lodge in the street; I always opened my doors to wayfarers;

<sup>33</sup>"If I have concealed my transgressions, as Adam's son, hiding my guilt in my bosom, <sup>34</sup>because I was afraid to face the crowd and was scared of the contempt of the tribes, staying at home and keeping quiet indoors — <sup>35</sup>Oh, that someone would hear me! Here is my signature! Let the Almighty answer me! Oh, that my adversary would write out his indictment!<sup>y</sup> <sup>36</sup>I would surely carry it on my shoulder; I would wind it about my head as a crown. <sup>37</sup>I would count out to him the number of my steps,<sup>z</sup> and as a prince I would approach him.

<sup>38</sup>"For if my land has cried out against me and its furrows have wept together; <sup>39</sup>if I have eaten its fruits without payment, or caused the souls of its owners sorrows, <sup>40</sup>then let thistles grow instead of wheat and cockles<sup>a</sup> instead of barley!"

The words of Job are ended.

Job because they were older than he; <sup>5</sup>but when Elihu saw that there was no answer in the mouth of the three men, his anger flared up.<sup>c</sup> <sup>6</sup>And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered: "I am still young in years, and you are old; therefore I hesitated and dared not show you my views. <sup>7</sup>I said, 'Let age speak, and added years announce wisdom.' <sup>8</sup>But it is the spirit in man and the breath of the Almighty that gives him understanding. <sup>9</sup>It is not the aged who are wise, nor the elders who understand what is justice; <sup>10</sup>therefore, listen to me, and I too will show what I think.

<sup>15</sup>"Dismayed they stand, having no further answer. Their verbosity has gone; they are silent. <sup>16</sup>Shall I wait longer? Because they are stricken dumb, shall I too remain silent? <sup>17</sup>No! I will give my answer, too; I will tell what I know. <sup>18</sup>For I am full of words, and the spirit within me constrains me; <sup>19</sup>my thoughts are like wine that has no vent; like new wineskins so filled they are about to burst! <sup>20</sup>I must speak to obtain relief, my lips open to reply. <sup>21</sup>I will not be partial to any man, nor flatter anyone. <sup>22</sup>Indeed I can not flatter, lest my Maker should put an end to me.<sup>d</sup> spirit of God has made me, and the breath of the Almighty gives me life. <sup>5</sup>Answer me, if you can. Draw up before me; marshal your words; take your stand. <sup>6</sup>See! before God, I am like you; I too was formed out of clay. <sup>7</sup>Let no fear of me terrify you; my hand on you will not be heavy.

c) He eventually persuades Job to change his attitude to God, to take down his fist of defiance, with which he had closed his concluding monologue.

d) Elihu intends to speak as an umpire, not as a partisan; Job had longed for an arbiter [Job 9:33, 34]. e) Elihu calls Job by name cf. 34:5, 7, 35f; 35:16; the friends never did.

f) Job had said, "How forcible are honest words!" ch. 6:25.

to the days of youthful vigor.' <sup>26</sup>He prays to God, and He accepts him; he beholds God's face and is joyful; the man is restored to his normal living; <sup>27</sup>he tells others how God has saved him; he sings with joy and says, 'I sinned and twisted what was straight; but He requited me not according to my iniquity. <sup>28</sup>He has redeemed my life from going down into the pit, and my soul sees the light.'

34 ELIHU CONTINUED: <sup>2</sup>"HEAR MY words, you wise men, and you who have knowledge, give ear to me; <sup>3</sup>for the ear tests speech as the palate tastes food. <sup>4</sup>Let us choose for ourselves what is right; let us determine among us what is good. <sup>5</sup>For Job has claimed that he is innocent; that God has taken away his right; <sup>6</sup>that, in spite of being right, he seems to be a liar; that his wound is incurable, though he is without transgression. <sup>7</sup>What man is there like Job, who drinks down blasphemy like water; <sup>8</sup>who keeps company with evildoers and walks with wicked men? <sup>9</sup>For he has said, 'It profits a man nothing to be in fellowship with God!'

<sup>10</sup>"Therefore, listen to me, you men of discernment. Far be it from God that He should work ungodliness, and from the Almighty that He should do wrong. <sup>11</sup>For according to the deeds of a man will He requite him, and as by his behavior he deserves. <sup>12</sup>Surely God will not do wickedly, nor will the Almighty pervert justice. <sup>13</sup>Who deputed to Him authority over the earth, or who has established the whole world? <sup>14</sup>If God were to withdraw His spirit and gather to Himself His spirit and His breath, <sup>15</sup>all flesh would expire together, and man would return to the dust.

m) By "wisdom" Elihu means the disciplinary value of suffering and affliction.

n) Injustice and good government are incompatible.

o) God is no viceroy; as Creator He is supreme over all the world and accountable to no man.

p) Those who turn from God have no regard for human suffering, so that those suffering have no resort but God.

<sup>36</sup>Would that Job were tried all the way, because he answers like wicked men; <sup>37</sup>he adds rebellion to his sin, yet keeps on clapping his hands in our presence, and at the same time he multiplies his verbal charges against God."<sup>q</sup>

<sup>2</sup>"Do you think it right to claim that you are more righteous than God? <sup>3</sup>And to ask, 'What profit is there in being good; in what respect have I gained advantage above sinners?' <sup>4</sup>I will answer you and also your friends with you. <sup>5</sup>Look up to the heavens and see; gaze at the clouds high above you! <sup>6</sup>If you have sinned, how does that affect Him, and if your transgressions are repeated, what have you done to Him? <sup>7</sup>If you are righteous, what gain is that to Him? Does He receive anything from your hand? <sup>8</sup>But your wickedness affects your own self and your righteousness a human being.

36 ELIHU<sup>a</sup> SAID FURTHER: <sup>2</sup>"BEAR with me a little longer, and I will instruct you; for I have more to say on behalf of God. <sup>3</sup>I will fetch my knowledge<sup>t</sup> from afar and justify my Maker. <sup>4</sup>For truly my words are not false; He who is perfect in knowledge is with you.

<sup>5</sup>"Behold! God is mighty, and yet He regards nothing as trivial. He is mighty in power of understanding. <sup>6</sup>He will not prolong the life of the wicked, but He will give the wronged one his right. <sup>7</sup>He does not withdraw His eyes from the righteous, but places them forever with kings upon the throne, so they are exalted. <sup>8</sup>If they are bound in fetters, and caught in the cords of affliction, <sup>9</sup>then He makes known to them their deeds and their transgressions, and shows them that they have inflated themselves. <sup>10</sup>He also opens their ears for admonition and bids them to renounce iniquity. <sup>11</sup>If they listen and obey Him, then they live out their days in prosperity and their years in joyousness; <sup>12</sup>but if they give no heed, then they perish by the sword, to die in ignorance. <sup>13</sup>But those pretending in heart harvest anger; they cry for no help when He has bound them. <sup>14</sup>They die in youth; their lives end in dissipation. <sup>15</sup>The afflicted He delivers through their miseries, and through their distress He opens their ears. <sup>16</sup>Yes, He would still allure you out of distress into a broad place, where there is no restraint and set upon your table the abundance of fatness.

<sup>17</sup>"But you fully deserve the judgment that befalls the wicked; judgment and justice have caught up with you. <sup>18</sup>Beware lest wrath entice you to scorn; and do not let the heavy ransom of your personal losses turn you aside. <sup>19</sup>Would your wealth have saved you without suffering, or would all your resources have given you back your strength? <sup>20</sup>Foster no longing for the night when people are overwhelmed where they are. <sup>21</sup>Beware! Do not turn to evil; for this you were tested by suffering! <sup>22</sup>Observe! God is exalted in His might; who is a teacher<sup>u</sup> like Him? <sup>23</sup>Who would assign to Him

q) Elihu shares the attitude of Job's three friends, and he uses language exceeding in harshness almost anything they had said. r) Job's great sin; cf. 33:17, with note.

s) This chapter is Elihu's chief contribution. He was inspired with a solution of Job's dilemma and points out that affliction is not merely punitive, but also disciplinary. Job should regard it as the warning of love. t) The phrase "perfect in knowledge" is ascribed by Elihu to God.

u) Elihu speaks repeatedly of God as a teacher. Cf. 33:14ff.; 34:32; 35:11, through the operations of His providence.

His way, and who dares to say, "Thou hast dealt unfairly?" <sup>24</sup>Remember to glorify His works, which have moved so many to sing. <sup>25</sup>All men look on it, but a mortal sees it only from afar.

37 "AT THIS TOO MY HEART TREMBLES; it leaps out of its place. <sup>2</sup>Listen to the rolling of His voice, the thunder that comes out of His mouth. <sup>3</sup>He lets it loose under the whole heaven, and His lightning to the ends of the earth. <sup>4</sup>After it His voice roars; He thunders with His majestic voice, and He does not restrain them" when His voice is heard. <sup>5</sup>God thunders wondrously with His voice; He does great things we cannot understand. <sup>6</sup>For He commands the snow, Fall on the earth; and to the lesser and the greater rains, Be strong! <sup>7</sup>He seals the hands of all men," so that all men may recognize His doings. <sup>8</sup>Then the wild beasts enter their lairs and rest in their dens. <sup>9</sup>From the south comes the whirlwind and out of the north the cold. <sup>10</sup>By the breath of God ice is formed, and the broad waters are congealed. <sup>11</sup>Yes, He loads the thick clouds with moisture, and from them He disperses the lightnings. <sup>12</sup>Under

His control they circle about and do what He commands them throughout the whole inhabited world; <sup>13</sup>whether sent on the earth for correction or as acts of mercy, He directs it to its goal.

38 THEN THE LORD ANSWERED JOB out of a whirlwind: <sup>2</sup>Who is this that obscures purpose by thoughtless words?<sup>a</sup> <sup>3</sup>Gird up your loins like a man; I will question you, and you shall answer Me.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Where were you when I founded the earth? Tell me, if you have insight. <sup>5</sup>Who determined its measurements? You surely know! Or who stretched the builder's line upon it? <sup>6</sup>Upon what were its foundations sunk, or who laid its cornerstone, <sup>7</sup>while the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy? <sup>8</sup>Who fixed the boundaries of the sea, when it burst forth from the womb? <sup>9</sup>When made I the clouds its clothes, and thick darkness its swaddling bands, <sup>10</sup>prescribing for it bars and doors, <sup>11</sup>and saying, Thus far you may come but no farther; here shall your proud waves be stayed?

<sup>3</sup>Then Job answered the LORD: <sup>4</sup>"See, I am of small account; what can I say? I lay my hand upon my mouth. <sup>5</sup>Once I have spoken, but I will not repeat, yes, twice, but I will not do so again."<sup>i</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Then the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind: <sup>7</sup>Gird up now your loins like a man; I will question you, and you must inform Me. <sup>8</sup>Will you discredit My justice? Will you condemn Me and claim that you are righteous? <sup>9</sup>Have you an arm like God, and can you thunder with a voice like His? <sup>10</sup>Cover yourself now with honor and majesty;<sup>j</sup> clothe yourself with dignity and splendor. <sup>11</sup>Pour out the rage of your wrath; look at everyone who is proud, and abase him. <sup>12</sup>Look at everything that is haughty, and throw it down; crush the wicked where they stand. <sup>13</sup>Bury them all in the dust together, and shut them all up in the nether region. <sup>14</sup>Then will I also praise you, because your own right hand can save you.

issues as steam from a boiling pot over burning rushes. <sup>21</sup>His breath sets coals on fire; a flame issues from his mouth.<sup>n</sup> <sup>22</sup>Such strength dwells in his neck that panic moves before him. <sup>23</sup>The folds of his flesh close in on each other, firmly and immovably cast upon him. <sup>24</sup>His heart is as hard as a rock; solid as a nether millstone. <sup>25</sup>When he raises himself up, the mighty are afraid; beside themselves with panic. <sup>26</sup>To hit him with a sword is useless; so with a spear, a dart, or a javelin. <sup>27</sup>To him iron is as straw and copper as rotten wood. <sup>28</sup>Arrows do not rout him; slingstones he treats as stubble. <sup>29</sup>Clubs are counted by him as reeds, and he mocks the rattle of javelins. <sup>30</sup>His nether parts are like potsherds; they leave threshing-sledge grooves in the mire. <sup>31</sup>He makes the deep to boil as a pot, the sea like a vessel of ointment. <sup>32</sup>Behind him he leaves a foaming wake; one wonders if the sea might be growing hoary! <sup>33</sup>On earth there is not his equal, a creature devoid of fear! <sup>34</sup>He looks down on all that is high; he is king over all the sons of pride.<sup>o</sup>

42 THEN JOB ANSWERED THE LORD: <sup>2</sup>"I know that Thou canst do all things, and that no plans of Thine can be foiled. <sup>3</sup>Who is he who veils counsel without knowledge?" I then have expressed what I did not understand, things too wonderful for me. <sup>4</sup>Now therefore hear me, and I will speak. Shall I question Thee any more? Thou hast informed me. <sup>5</sup>Heretofore I had heard of Thee by the hearing of the ear, but now My eye sees Thee: <sup>6</sup>wherefore, I retract and repent in dust and ashes."<sup>p</sup>

<sup>7</sup>After the LORD had spoken these words to Job, the LORD said to Eliphaz the Temanite: My indignation is kin-

1) Egypt's crocodile, an animal of superior strength. The Egyptians deified it. Its home is in Upper Egypt and the Sudan, though Arabs and European travelers report that it has been seen in the Kishon River of Palestine. Mentioned, Ps. 104:26, as formed to play in the sea; as having its head broken and its carcass eaten at the Red Sea, Ps. 74:14; as the world-power dragon afflicting God's people, Isa. 27:1. m) God is speaking! He made the crocodile.

n) Oriental poetry is full of hyperbole.

o) "Pride" is one of the great concerns of the book; it is rebuked.

p) Thus Job has been moved to confess. By the Lord's speech, he is humbled and completely divested of his pride and his misunderstanding of God. Now Job can identify God of the present with God of the past. By His first speech [38:1-40:2], Job had been brought to silence [40:3-5], which was not enough. The LORD spoke further [40:6-41:34], and Job repents in dust and ashes [42:6].

dled against you and against your two friends; for you have not, as My servant Job, spoken the truth about Me. <sup>8</sup>Now then, take seven bullocks and seven rams, go to My servant Job and offer them up, a burnt offering for yourselves; and my servant Job shall pray for you, for I will accept his plea that I deal not with you according to your misdemeanor; for you have not spoken the truth about Me, as My servant Job has. <sup>9</sup>So Eliphaz the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went and did as the LORD had ordered them; and the LORD had regard for Job.<sup>a</sup>

and ate bread with him in his house; they also bemoaned him and comforted him for all the affliction, which the LORD had brought upon him, and every one gave him a piece of money and a gold ring.

<sup>12</sup>Thus the LORD blessed the latter days of Job more than the earlier; so that he had fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, one thousand yoke of oxen, and one thousand she-donkeys. <sup>13</sup>He had also seven sons and three daughters. <sup>14</sup>He called the first Jemimah; the second Keziah and the third Keren-happuch.<sup>r</sup> <sup>15</sup>In all the land there were no women as beautiful as Job's daughters, and their father had them inherit on a par with their brothers. <sup>16</sup>After this Job lived 140 years and saw his sons and his sons' sons, four generations. <sup>17</sup>Job died, an old man, after a full life.<sup>s</sup>

q) In Job's experiences God taught humanity that material prosperity is no assurance of divine approval and that misfortune proves no divine displeasure. And since, for their remarks, Job's friends needed forgiveness, we Bible readers should carefully sift their words before accepting them as coming from God.

r) Significant names: "Dove," "Cinnamon," and "Horn of Eye-paint," respectively.

s) Job died satisfied. His many years suggest the period of Abraham. Four generations means not only grandchildren, but also great-grandchildren. His experiences taught that there is the good life, independent from earthly compensation, and that Satan's accusation of him was divinely shown to be false, a new vindication of divine justice in the presence of evil.

The Godly and the Ungodly<sup>b</sup>

1 Oh, the joys of the man who walks
not after the advice of the wicked,
nor stands in the path of sinners,
nor sits in the seat of scoffers!

and His law he ponders day and night.

<sup>3</sup>He is like a tree planted by streams
of water,

that yields its fruit in its season,

whose leaf does not wither;

and everything he does shall prosper.

<sup>4</sup>The godly are not so but are like chaff which the wind blows away.

<sup>5</sup>Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment,<sup>c</sup>

nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous;<sup>d</sup>

righteous;<sup>d</sup>

but the way of the ungodly shall end

The Lord and His Anointed Are Supreme<sup>t</sup>

2 Why do the nations make a tumult
and the peoples devise an empty scheme?

and the rulers consult together

against the LORD and His anointed,
saying,

<sup>3</sup>"Let us tear their restraining bands
apart,

and let us cast their shackles from us."<sup>e</sup>

laughs: the LORD derides them.

<sup>5</sup>Then He speaks to them in His indignation

and terrifies them by His fury;<sup>j</sup>

<sup>6</sup>I have indeed set My King upon Zion,
My holy mountain.

<sup>7</sup>I will tell of the decree:
The LORD said to Me, Thou art My Son;
this day have I begotten Thee.

a) From the Greek word, meaning a song accompanied by stringed instruments. See Ps. 150:3-5. The title in the Hebrew Bible, Tehillim, "praises," refers to the content rather than to the form.

b) Jesus made similar contrasts: sheep and goats, wise and foolish virgins, broad and narrow way; for our Bible recognizes only two classes, the godly and the ungodly.

c) The sinner shall experience judgment but shall not be approved.

d) Especially in the New Jerusalem after God's final judgment [Rev. 21].

e) God knows what the ungodly do, but He knows favorably His own people. Commonly in the Old Testament, "to know" has that favorable and intimate meaning. Cf. Amos 3:2.

f) By David. See Acts 4:25 about the futility of opposition to Christ, for the Hebrew for "Anointed" is Messiah. g) Man has continually rebelled against God.

h) Thought divisions occur at vss. 4, 7 [where Christ Himself speaks], and 10.

i) Or, "sits," watching such ridiculous behavior.

j) God "laughs" that men should attempt to challenge Him, but He brings punishment because such challenging is rebellion.

PSALMS 2-5

<sup>8</sup>Ask it of Me, and I will make the nations Thy inheritance, and the ends of the earth Thy possession.

for soon shall His wrath be kindled.

But, oh, the joy of all who take refuge in Him!

Trust God in the Morning

A Psalm of David, when He Flew From Absalom, His Son<sup>1</sup>

3 O LORD, how many are my foes! How many have risen up against me!

<sup>3</sup>But Thou, O LORD, art a shield about me; my glory and the One who lifts my head.

I woke again, for the LORD sustains me.

<sup>7</sup>Arise, O LORD; save me, O my God;

for Thou hast struck all my enemies on the cheek;

Thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

Prayers of Trust and for Guidance

Trust God in the Evening

For the Chief Musician; on Stringed Instruments. A Psalm of David

4 Answer me when I call, O God of my righteousness!<sup>o</sup>

Thou hast given relief when I was in distress;

be gracious to me and hear my cry.

How long will you love futility and pursue falsehood? Selah

<sup>3</sup>But know that the LORD has set apart the redeemed for Himself; the LORD will hear when I call to Him.

commune in your heart upon your bed, and be still. Selah

Lift the light of Thy countenance upon us, O LORD.

<sup>7</sup>Thou hast put gladness in my heart — more than is present when their grain and wine abound.

<sup>8</sup>In peace I will both lie down and sleep; for Thou, O LORD, alone makest me dwell in safety.<sup>r</sup>

A Morning Prayer

For the Chief Musician; with the Nehiloth.<sup>s</sup> A Psalm of David

5 Hear my words, O LORD, give heed to my meditation.

<sup>2</sup>Listen to the voice of my cry for help, my King and my God, for to Thee I pray.

in the morning I will set in order<sup>t</sup> before Thee my prayer, and will look up.

k) The forces of God will triumph in due time [Phil. 2:10].

l) Described in II Samuel 15-18. A psalm of great comfort, especially for those similarly oppressed.

m) "Selah" may indicate a musical accompaniment or doxology or rest; but it always comes after an impressive thought, thus deserving special notice.

n) David's trust enabled him to sleep even though in flight from his own son.

o) David is aware that he has no righteousness except from God. Cf. Isaiah 45:24,25.

p) Christ Himself demonstrated righteous indignation [Mark 3:5]. Paul's exhortation along similar lines is indicated in Ephesians 4:26. q) The skeptic's attitude.

r) We would do well to make this a part of our evening prayer. s) Probably "wind instruments."

t) Hebrew suggests the picture of arranging a sacrifice.

Thou hatest all who practice the wrong.

I will enter Thy house;

at Thy holy temple I will worship in reverence of Thee.

<sup>8</sup>O LORD, lead me in Thy righteousness because of those who watch me;

make Thy way straight before me.

their heart is a destructive chasm; their throat is an opened grave;

they deceive with their tongue.

for the mass of their transgressions

thrust them away,

because they have rebelled against Thee.

Let them ever shout for joy since Thou dost make a covering over them.

Let all who love Thy name be glad in Thee;

as with a shield Thou dost surround him with favor.

A Prayer for Mercy

For the Chief Musician; on Stringed Instruments; according to the Sheminith.<sup>v</sup>

A Psalm of David

<sup>6</sup>O LORD, do not rebuke me in

Thy anger;

do not discipline me in Thy hot displeasure.

<sup>2</sup>Have mercy on me, O LORD, for I am faint:

heal me, O LORD, for my bones are troubled,

in the grave<sup>x</sup> who shall render praise to Thee?

<sup>8</sup>Depart from me, all you who practice the wrong; for the LORD has heard the voice of my weeping.

they shall turn back; they shall be put to shame in a moment.

Prayer for Deliverance

A Shiggaion<sup>y</sup> of David, Which He Sang to the LORD concerning the Words of

Cush,<sup>z</sup> a Benjamite

<sup>7</sup>O LORD, my God, in Thee have I put my trust:

save me from all who pursue me, and deliver me,

<sup>2</sup>lest like a lion he tear my soul, dragging me away while there is none to deliver.

<sup>3</sup>O LORD, my God, if I have done this,

if there is injustice on my hands,

<sup>4</sup>If I have rendered evil to him who was at peace with me,<sup>a</sup>

u) Intending to dispatch David when they have a chance.

v) Or, "the eighth," an eight-stringed instrument; or an octave lower than alamoth.

w) How long until the LORD returns in mercy?

x) Hebrew Sheol, sometimes translated "hell" [Prov. 15:11], but here simply parallel to "death."

y) Possibly an irregular song.

z) There is no mention of a Cush in David's biography as we have it. Possibly he was one of Saul's company in the attack on David.

a) This enemy seems to have accused David unfairly, and David knows that God is fair in His dealings.

PSALMS 7, 8

Prayers in Praise of God's Glory

or, without cause, have plundered him who was my enemy,<sup>b</sup>

<sup>5</sup>let the enemy pursue and overtake
my soul;

let him trample my life to the ground
and lay my honor in the dust. Selah

<sup>6</sup>Arise, O LORD, in Thy anger, raise Thyself against the rage of my
enemies;
awake for me, Thou who hast ordained
judgment.

<sup>7</sup>Let the assembly of the people be gathered to Thee,

<sup>8</sup>and over them return on high.

May the LORD judge the people.

Vindicate me, O LORD, according to my righteousness

and according to the integrity that is upon me.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Let the evil of the wicked cease, I beseech Thee,

and establish Thou the righteous;
for Thou, who triest hearts and emotions,<sup>d</sup> art a righteous God.

<sup>10</sup>My shield depends upon God,
who saves the upright in heart.

<sup>11</sup>God is a righteous judge,
a God who is indignant every day.

<sup>12</sup>If a man will not repent, He will sharpen His sword:<sup>e</sup>

He has strung His bow and made it ready.

<sup>13</sup>He has prepared for him weapons of
death,
making His arrows fiery shafts.

<sup>14</sup>Behold, he who writhes with iniquity
has conceived wrongdoing and brings forth falsehood.

<sup>15</sup>He has dug a pit, having hollowed it out,
and has fallen into the hole even while making it.

<sup>16</sup>His wrongdoing returns upon his own
head,
and his violence comes down on the top of his head.

<sup>17</sup>I will give thanks to the LORD
according to His righteousness, and I will sing praise to the name of the LORD most high.

The Glory of the Lord
For the Chief Musician; upon the Gittith<sup>f</sup>
A Psalm of David

8 O Jehovah, our LORD, how glorious is Thy name in all the earth!<sup>g</sup> Thou hast displayed Thy majesty above
the heavens.

<sup>2</sup>From the mouth of children, even the
unweaned,
Thou hast ordained strength<sup>h</sup>
on account of Thy foes,
that the enemy and revengeful might
be silenced.

<sup>3</sup>When I observe Thy heavens, the work of Thy fingers,
the moon and the stars which Thou hast
established:<sup>i</sup>

of him,
or the son of man that Thou carest for
him?

<sup>5</sup>Yet Thou hast made him little less than heavenly beings,
and Thou dost crown him with glory
and honor.

<sup>6</sup>Thou givest him dominion over the works of Thy hands;
Thou hast placed all things under his feet,

<sup>7</sup>all sheep and oxen,
the beasts of the field also,

<sup>8</sup>the birds of the air and the fish of the sea,
whatever passes along the paths of
the seas.

b) From his own personal vindication, David looks forward to God's coming for the final judgment. David had indeed cut off the hem of Saul's robe in the cave [I Sam. 24:4], but with ample justification and it could hardly be called "plundering."

c) A possible reference by David to God's imputed righteousness.

d) Or "kidneys." Often the "heart" in the Old Testament means our "thinking powers."

e) God punishes the unrepentant. f) Possibly an instrument or a tune from Gath.

g) Here is a prayer without petition — just telling God how wonderful He is.

h) Children testify to God's glory. Jesus quoted this when children in the temple courts sang Him their praises [Matt. 21:15-16].

i) The glory of the heavens seems to make man insignificant, except that God ordained him to be ruler on the earth [Gen. 1:28-30]. When Adam sinned, man lost much of his dominion [Heb. 2:7-8]; but Jesus Christ came as the last Adam and won back what the first Adam had lost. Hence this is a Messianic psalm, applying basically to Him [Heb. 2:9], but also to all men who stand in Him.

The Lord Is Judge

For the Chief Musician; according to Muth-labben.<sup>j</sup> A Psalm of David

9 I will praise the LORD with my whole heart;
I will tell of all Thy marvelous works.
<sup>2</sup>I will be glad and rejoice in Thee,
I will sing praise to Thy name, O Most High.

<sup>3</sup>When my enemies are turned back,
they stumble and perish before Thee.

Thou dost occupy the throne, a righteous judge.

Thou hast destroyed the wicked;
Thou hast blotted out their name for ever and ever.

Thou hast overthrown the cities;
even the memory of them has vanished.

<sup>7</sup>But the LORD abides for ever,<sup>k</sup>
He has established His throne for judging.

<sup>8</sup>And He will judge the world in righteousness;
He will minister justice to peoples in uprightness.

<sup>9</sup>So shall the LORD be a stronghold for the oppressed,
a stronghold in times of trouble.<sup>l</sup>

for Thou, O LORD, hast not forsaken those who seek Thee.

declare among peoples His works.

He does not forget the cry of the afflicted.

<sup>13</sup>Be gracious to me, O LORD,
see what I suffer from those who hate me,
O Thou who dost lift me up from the gates of death, <sup>14</sup>that I may recount all Thy praises, that in the gates of the daughter of Zion I may rejoice in Thy deliverance.

<sup>15</sup>The nations have sunk into the pit which they made;
in the net which they hid have their own feet been caught.

<sup>16</sup>The LORD has made Himself known,
He has executed judgment;
in the work of His own hands have the wicked been snared. Higgaion.<sup>m</sup>

Selah
<sup>17</sup>The wicked shall be turned into Scol, all the heathen that forget God.
nor the hope of the poor be lost for ever.

let the nations be judged before Thee!
Let the nations know that they are but human. Selah

A Prayer for Judgment on the Wicked

10 Why dost Thou stand at a distance, O LORD?
Why dost Thou hide Thyself in times of trouble?

let them be taken in the schemes which they have devised.

the greedy one curses and spurns the LORD.

all his thoughts are that there is no God.<sup>n</sup>

j) Hebrew Muth-labben means "death of the son," perhaps title of a tune.

k) What contrast! Nations rise and fall, but God, their Judge, continues for ever.

l) This same great God never forsakes His own!

m) Higgaion coming from a word meaning "to meditate," probably has reference to a solemn sound [Ps. 92:3] in the music intended to induce a contemplative mind.

n) Notice the emphasis in this psalm on the manner in which the wicked person thinks [vss. 4, 6, 11, and 13].

Thy judgments are on high, beyond his sight;<sup>a</sup>

as for all his foes, he sniffs at them.

I shall never<sup>b</sup> come to adversity."

deceit, and oppression;
under his tongue<sup>a</sup> are trouble and sin.

<sup>8</sup>He sits in ambush in the villages;
in hiding places he murders the innocent;

his eyes watch stealthily for the unfortunate.

<sup>9</sup>He lies in wait in the hiding place like a lion in his thicket;

he lies in wait to catch the afflicted;
by drawing him into his net, he catches the afflicted,

<sup>10</sup>who is crushed and sinks down;
thus do the unfortunate fall by his powers.

<sup>11</sup>He says to himself that God has forgotten, that He has hidden His face and will never see.

<sup>12</sup>Arise, O LORD; lift up Thy hand,
O God;
forget not the afflicted.

<sup>13</sup>Why does the wicked spurn God
and say to himself that Thou wilt not call to account?

that Thou mayest repay it with Thine own hand.

The unfortunate commits himself to Thee;

for the orphan Thou hast been a helper.

seek out the wickedness of the sinner
till Thou findest no more.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>16</sup>The LORD is King for ever and ever;
the heathen will have perished out of His land.

Thou dost establish their heart;

Thou dost incline Thine ear

<sup>18</sup>to render justice to the orphan and the oppressed, so that no earthly mortal<sup>t</sup> may terrify them any more.

Confidence in the Lord

For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

11 In the LORD I take refuge;
how can you say to my soul,
"Flee as a bird to your mountain"?

<sup>2</sup>For see, the wicked are bending the bow,
they have fitted their arrow to the string
to shoot in the dark at the upright in heart.

<sup>3</sup>When the foundations are torn down, what can the righteous do?<sup>u</sup>

the LORD's throne is in heaven.

but His soul abhors the wicked and anyone who loves violence.

<sup>6</sup>Upon the wicked He will rain snares:
fire, burning sulphur;
and a scorching wind will be the portion of their cup.

<sup>7</sup>For the LORD is righteous; He loves acts of righteousness;
His countenance beholds the upright.

The Lord Will Judge the Wicked

For the Chief Musician; according to the Sheminith.<sup>w</sup> A Psalm of David

12 Do help, O LORD, for godly men have come to an end;
for the faithful have vanished from among the descendants of man.

<sup>2</sup>Men speak falsehood with each other;
with flattering lips and a double heart<sup>x</sup>
they speak.

<sup>3</sup>May the LORD cut off all flattering lips,
and the tongue that talks so proudly;

<sup>5</sup>Because of the oppression of the poor and the groaning of the needy, I will now arise, says the LORD; I will grant him the safekeeping for which he longs.

*Prayer for Deliverance
To the Chief Musician
A Psalm of David*

13 How long, O LORD? Wilt Thou forget me for ever?<sup>a</sup>
How long wilt Thou hide Thy face from me?

and experience a daily sorrow of heart?
How long shall my enemy be higher than I?

<sup>3</sup>Consider and answer me, O LORD, my God;
enlighten my eyes,<sup>c</sup> lest I sleep in death;

<sup>4</sup>Lest my enemy say, "I have overpowered him";
lest my foes rejoice that I am overthrown.

my heart rejoices in Thy deliverance.

<sup>6</sup>Let me sing to the LORD
because He has dealt generously with me.<sup>d</sup>

The Wickedness of Mankind

For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

14 The fool has said in his heart,
"There is no God."

They have corrupted their behavior and made it abominable.

There is none who does right.

<sup>3</sup>All have turned aside; together they have become corrupt.

There is none who does good, not even one.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Do not any evildoers understand, who eat up my people as if they ate bread,<sup>f</sup>

and who do not call on the LORD?

but the LORD is his refuge.

<sup>7</sup>Oh, that the salvation of Israel were come out of Zion!<sup>g</sup>

When the LORD shall turn back the captivity<sup>h</sup> of His people, may Jacob rejoice; may Israel be glad!

Description of the Godly

A Psalm of David

15 O LORD, who shall stay in Thy tabernacle: Who shall dwell on Thy holy hill?<sup>i</sup>

and who speaks the truth in his heart;
<sup>3</sup>who does not slander with his tongue,
who works no evil against his friend,
and who does not carry scandal concerning his neighbor;

<sup>4</sup>in whose eyes a reprobate person is disdained,

y) Hebrew, "with us"; how characteristic of the wicked! z) Completely.

a) David had lost his fellowship with God: time seemed so long!

b) David's contrivances for escape were insufficient. c) In a physical sense; cf. I Sam. 14:27.

d) Restoration to fellowship enables him to say this.

e) In keeping with the thought of Ps. 12:1; also of Elijah when it seemed to him that all had forsaken God. f) With as much indifference to the people's misfortune.

g) God's earthly dwelling, in the Holy of Holies.

h) Captivity to sin, as at Absalom's revolt [II Sam. 15].

i) Zion, where David brought the ark of the covenant.

but who esteems those who revere the
 LORD;
 who, though swearing<sup>j</sup> to his own
 detriment, does not change; <sup>k</sup>who does not give his money for interest,<sup>k</sup>
 and who will not take a bribe against the innocent.

He who does these things shall never be moved.<sup>l</sup>

A Psalm of Refuge

A Miktam<sup>m</sup> of David

16 Preserve me, O God, for I have looked to Thee for refuge.
<sup>n</sup>I said to Jehovah, "Thou art my LORD;
 I have no good beside Thee."
<sup>o</sup>As for the godly that are in the land,
 they are the glorious in whom is all my delight.

<sup>p</sup>The sorrows of those who choose otherwise shall be multiplied;
 I will not pour out their drink offerings
 of blood,
 nor take their names upon my lips.
<sup>q</sup>The LORD is my assigned portion and my cup:
 Thou dost maintain my lot.
<sup>r</sup>The lines<sup>n</sup> have fallen to me in pleasant [places];
 indeed, a good inheritance is mine.

<sup>s</sup>I will bless the LORD who has counseled me:
 even in the night my emotions
 admonish me.
<sup>t</sup>I have placed the LORD before me
 continually;
 because He is at my right hand, I shall not be moved.
<sup>u</sup>Therefore my heart was glad and my glory<sup>o</sup> rejoiced;
 my body too shall dwell securely.
<sup>v</sup>For Thou wilt not leave My soul in the realm of the dead nor allow Thy Holy One to see corruption.<sup>p</sup>

 path of life;
 in Thy presence is fulness of joy;
 in Thy right hand are pleasures for evermore.

Prayer for Protection

A Prayer of David

17 Do hear what is right, O LORD;
 listen to my cry!
 Give ear to my prayer, from lips free of deceit.

<sup>2</sup>Let my judgment of vindication come forth from Thy presence.

May Thine eyes see what is equitable.

<sup>3</sup>Thou hast tested my heart; Thou hast visited me in the night;
 Thou hast tried me and hast found no
 evil intention in me;
 neither does my mouth transgress.

<sup>4</sup>In respect to the acts of men, by the words of Thy lips
 have I guarded myself against the course of the violent.

<sup>5</sup>My steps have held closely to Thy paths;<sup>q</sup>
 my feet have not slipped.

<sup>6</sup>I have called on Thee, O God, for Thou wilt answer me.

Incline Thine ear to me; hear my words.

 unfailing love,

O Thou, who savest those who look for refuge from their adversaries
 at Thy right hand.

 hide me in the shadow of Thy wings

<sup>9</sup>from wicked men who have maltreated me,
 my deadly enemies who surround me.

<sup>10</sup>They are enclosed in their own fat;<sup>s</sup>

they speak proudly with their mouth.

<sup>11</sup>Wherever we go, they have surrounded us;
 they fix their eyes to cast us to the
 ground.

j) Hebrew, "he swears to..."

k) The Law prohibited taking interest [which was high] from other Israelites [Exod. 22:25].

l) An excellent standard for God's children.

m) Miktam means "covering," hence, perhaps a psalm of refuge. n) Boundary lines.

o) Refers to the soul, as in Gen. 49:6, where Jacob calls it "mine honour" [KJV].

p) David's hope for eternity lay in Christ's resurrection, concerning which David speaks here [Acts 2:30-31]. q) Literally "tracks of one who has gone on before."

r) Such are we to our loving Father, as in Christ we trust in Him.

s) Depicts gluttonous living without feelings for others. Cf. Deut. 32:15.

as a young lion waiting in ambush.

put him down!
Deliver my soul from the wicked by Thy sword,

<sup>14</sup>from men by Thy hand, O LORD,
from men of the world,
whose portion is in this life;
whose stomach Thou dost fill with what Thou hast stored for them,
so that their children are filled,
who leave the remainder to their young ones.

<sup>15</sup>As for me, with righteousness
shall I behold Thy face;
I shall be satisfied when I awake with Thy likeness.<sup>t</sup>

The Lord Cares for His Own
For the Chief Musician. A Psalm<sup>u</sup> of David, the servant of the LORD, who addressed the words of this song to the LORD on the day that the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul. He said:

18 Fervently do I love Thee,<sup>v</sup>
O LORD, my strength.

<sup>2</sup>The LORD is my stronghold, my fortress, and my deliverer;
my God is my rock, in whom I take
refuge,
My shield and the horn of my salvation,
my high tower.

<sup>3</sup>I call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised,
and so I am delivered from my enemies.

<sup>4</sup>Cords of death encompassed me
and the floods of ungodliness
assailed me;

<sup>5</sup>Cords of Sheol surrounded me,
snares of death confronted me.

<sup>6</sup>In my distress I called on the LORD;
to my God I cried for help;
He heard my voice from His temple;<sup>w</sup>
my cry before Him reached His ears.

<sup>7</sup>Then<sup>x</sup> did the earth quiver and shake
and the foundations of the mountains
trembled

and rocked, because He was indignant.

and fire from His mouth devoured;
coals were kindled by it.

<sup>9</sup>He bowed the heavens and came down;
thick darkness was under His feet.

<sup>10</sup>He rode upon a cherub and flew.
He soared on the wings of the wind.

Him;

His shelter, clouds of the sky dark
with water.

clouds issued forth

hailstones and coals of fire.

<sup>13</sup>The LORD thundered in the heavens;
The Most High uttered His voice;
there were hailstones and coals of fire.

<sup>14</sup>He sent forth His arrows and scattered them;
He shot forth His lightnings and confounded them.

<sup>15</sup>Then the channels of the water became visible
and the foundations of the world were laid bare at Thy rebuke, O LORD, at the blast of the breath of Thy nostrils.

<sup>16</sup>He reached from on high; He took me;
He drew me out of great waters.

<sup>17</sup>He delivered me from my strong
enemy,
and from them that hated me;
for they were too strong for me.

<sup>18</sup>They came upon me in the day of my calamity,
but the LORD was my support.

<sup>19</sup>He brought me out into a roomy place;<sup>y</sup>

He was delivering me because He delighted in me.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>w</sup>) God appeared between the cherubim above the mercy seat of the ark, for which David had erected a place in Jerusalem, II Sam. 6:17. But the "temple" here, v. 6, seems to be heaven, cf. Ps. 11:4.

according to my righteousness,
according to the cleanness of my hands
He recompensed me.

<sup>21</sup>For I have kept the ways of the LORD, and have not wickedly departed from
my God.

<sup>22</sup>For all His ordinances were before me, and His statutes I did not put away
from me;

<sup>23</sup>So I was faultless toward Him, having guarded myself against my sinfulness.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>24</sup>Therefore the LORD recompensed me
according to my righteousness,
according to the cleanness of my hands
in His sight.

Thyself merciful;

with the perfect man Thou showest

Thyself perfect;

pure;

and with the perverse Thou showest
Thyself opposed.

<sup>27</sup>For Thou deliverest an afflicted
people,
but haughty eyes Thou bringest down.

<sup>28</sup>For Thou causest my lamp to shine;
the LORD, my God, illumines my
darkness.

<sup>29</sup>For by Thee I can attack a troop,
and by my God I can leap a wall.

The word of the LORD is proven;
a shield is He to all who trust in Him.

<sup>31</sup>For who is God but the LORD and who is a rock besides our God?

<sup>32</sup>The God who girds me with strength,
and makes my way perfect;

<sup>33</sup>who makes my feet like those of a doe,<sup>c</sup>

and causes me to stand on the heights;<sup>d</sup>

<sup>34</sup>who trains my hands for war,
so that my arm can bend a bow of brass.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>35</sup>Thou hast given me the shield of Thy salvation;
Thy right hand sustains me,

Thy gentleness<sup>f</sup> has made me great.

<sup>36</sup>Thou hast enlarged my steps under me,<sup>g</sup>
my feet have not slipped.

<sup>37</sup>I pursued my enemies and overtook them,

I did not turn back until they were consumed.

<sup>38</sup>I smote them so that they could not rise,
they fell under my feet.

<sup>39</sup>For Thou hadst girded me with strength for the battle.

Thou didst subdue my assailants
under me;

<sup>40</sup>Thou didst cause my enemies to turn
their backs to me,

so that I destroyed those who hated me.

<sup>41</sup>They cried for help, but there was
none to deliver;

even to the LORD, but He answered
them not.

<sup>42</sup>I crushed them as dust before the wind;

like dirt of the streets, I emptied them
out.<sup>h</sup>

strivings of the people;

Thou hast made me the head of nations;
people I knew not serve me.

<sup>44</sup>At the hearing of the ear, they obey me;<sup>i</sup>

outsiders submit<sup>j</sup> themselves to me;

<sup>45</sup>foreigners fear and come trembling
from their strongholds.

<sup>46</sup>The LORD lives; blessed be my
rock,

and exalted be the God of my
salvation;

<sup>47</sup>the God who executes retribution
for me,

and subdues peoples under me;

<sup>48</sup>My deliverer from my enemies.

Indeed, Thou dost exalt me higher than my assailants;

Thou savest me from men of violence.

<sup>49</sup>Therefore I will extol Thee
among the nations, O LORD,
and will sing praises to Thy name,

a) How important in our daily walk! b) Strong emotion here expressed.

c) Light and swift in battle, sure of footing. d) Symbolizing position of victory.

e) Indicating great strength. f) Or, condescension. g) Given room to take an unhindered step.

h) Contemptuously disposed of them. i) For example II Sam. 8:9-12.

j) Hebrew indicates a cringing submission, one given necessarily, not voluntarily.

and shows lovingkindness to His anointed,
to David and his posterity forever.

God's Glory in Nature and in His Word

For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

19 The heavens are telling the glory of God, and the firmament is showing His handiwork.

and night after night declares knowledge.

<sup>3</sup>There is no speech, nor are there words;

their voice is not heard.

and their words to the ends of the world.

In them He has placed a tent for the sun,

and like a mighty man rejoicing to run a race.

and its circuit to its other end;
nothing is hid from its heat.

restoring the soul;

the testimony of the LORD is sure,
making wise the simple;<sup>o</sup>

rejoicing the heart;

the commandment of the LORD is pure,
enlightening the eyes;

<sup>9</sup>The reverence of the LORD is clean,
enduring forever;

the judgments of the LORD are true and altogether righteous.

<sup>10</sup>More to be desired they are than gold,
than much fine gold;

sweeter too than honey, and the drippings of the comb.

in keeping them there is great reward.

From those that are secret pardon me;<sup>p</sup>

let them not rule over me;
then I shall be upright and innocent from gross transgression.

<sup>14</sup>Let the words of my mouth and the thoughts of my heart<sup>q</sup> be pleasing in Thy sight, O LORD, my rock and my redeemer.

Prayer for Victory<sup>r</sup>

For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

20 May the LORD answer you in the day of trouble;
May the name of the God of Jacob set you up on high;

<sup>2</sup>may He send you help from the sanctuary,
and sustain you from Zion.

<sup>3</sup>May He remember all your offerings,
and accept your burnt sacrifices.

Selah

<sup>4</sup>May He grant you what your heart desires, and fulfill all your plans.<sup>s</sup>

and in the name of our God wave our banners;

may the LORD fulfill all your petitions.

He answers him from His holy heaven with the saving might of His right hand.

<sup>7</sup>Some boast of chariots and some of horses,
but we boast of the name of Jehovah, our God.

<sup>8</sup>They have bowed down and fallen;<sup>v</sup>

k) As a flowing stream of water.

l) Sufficiently, says Paul, Rom. 1:20, 21, for all humanity to know there is a Creator, worthy of worship. m) Measuring line showing extent of influence.

n) A change here from natural to written revelation. o) One open-minded for either good or evil.

p) Unintentional or unconscious sins in distinction from those presumptuous, of v. 13.

q) Both what we say and what we think is to be pure before God. r) Prayer for Israel's king.

s) Presumed, of course, that they are in agreement with God's plan and program.

t) Or, "deliverance." u) David himself with assured conviction, as if already accomplished.

v) Answers in v. 8 correspond to the thoughts of v. 7.

but we have risen and stand erect.

<sup>9</sup>Save, LORD! May the king
answer us when we call.

Praise for Deliverance

For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

21 In Thy strength, O LORD, the king is made glad,
in Thy saving grace how greatly he rejoices!

<sup>2</sup>Thou hast given him the desire of his heart,
and hast not refused the request of
his lips.

<sup>3</sup>For Thou dost meet him<sup>w</sup> with blessings of goodness;
Thou dost place a crown of pure gold
on his head.

<sup>4</sup>He asked life of Thee; Thou gavest it
to him;
even length of days forever and ever.

<sup>5</sup>His glory is great because of Thy deliverance;<sup>x</sup> honor and majesty Thou dost bestow
upon him.

<sup>6</sup>Yes, forever Thou dost make him most blessed;
Thou dost delight him with joy by Thy presence.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>7</sup>For the king trusts in the LORD;
and because of the covenant-love of the Most High he shall not be moved.

<sup>8</sup>Your<sup>z</sup> hand will contact all your
enemies;
your right hand will contact those who hate you.

<sup>9</sup>You will make them like a blazing furnace when you appear;<sup>a</sup>
the LORD will swallow them up in His anger, and fire will devour them.

<sup>10</sup>You will destroy their offspring from
the earth
and their children from the sons of men.

<sup>11</sup>For they have intended evil
against you;

they have devised a plot: they will be unable to put it into practice.

<sup>12</sup>For you will make them turn their back;
you will aim at their faces with your bows.

<sup>13</sup>Be Thou exalted, O LORD, in Thy strength;
we will sing and praise Thy power.

Great Suffering Followed by Deliverance

For the Chief Musician, according to "the Hind of the Morning."<sup>b</sup> A Psalm of David

22 My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me,<sup>c</sup> so far from helping me and from the words of my groaning?

<sup>2</sup>O my God, I call by day, but Thou dost not answer,
and by night, but I find no rest.

enthroned upon the praises of Israel.

they trusted, and Thou didst deliver
them.

<sup>5</sup>To Thee they cried and were delivered;
in Thee they trusted and were not disappointed.

<sup>6</sup>But I am a worm and not a man,
a reproach of men and despised by the
people.

<sup>7</sup>All who see me, mock me;
they open the mouth;<sup>e</sup> they wag the
head:

<sup>8</sup>He<sup>f</sup> trusted in the LORD, let Him
deliver him;
let I Him save him, since he has delighted in Him.

out of the womb,
who made me trust when upon my mother's breast.

<sup>10</sup>Upon Thee have I been cast from my birth;
since my mother bore me, Thou hast
been my God.

w) Such grace as to meet the king with these blessings!

x) The king's success was due to God's help, cf. v. 7. y) True joy is found in God alone.

z) In vv. 8-12 the king is addressed, probably by himself. a) As if they were in a blazing furnace.

b) Perhaps the title of a tune.

c) This cry fulfilled in Matt. 27:46. This is one of the striking Messianic psalms, depicting marked details of the sufferings of Christ.

d) God's holiness remains, even though we are unable to understand His ways; cf. v. 9.

e) In derision; cf. Ps. 35:21; Job 16:10.

f) V. 8 gives what these deriders say; fulfilled, Matt. 27:43.

and there is none to help.

<sup>12</sup>Many bulls have surrounded me,
strong bulls of Bashan have encompassed me.

and all my bones are out of joint.
My heart is like wax melted within me;
<sup>15</sup>my strength is dried up like a potsherd,
and my tongue cleaves to my jaws;
Thou dost lay me in the dust of death.

<sup>16</sup>For dogs have surrounded me;
a crowd of wicked men have encircled me;
they have pierced<sup>h</sup> my hands and my feet;

They look, they stare at me;

<sup>18</sup>they divide my garments among them,
and for my clothing do they cast lots.<sup>1</sup>

O my Strength, hasten to help me.

<sup>20</sup>Deliver my soul from the sword,
my lonely self<sup>j</sup> from the power of the dog.

Even from the horns of the wild oxen,
Thou hast answered me.<sup>k</sup>

in the midst of the congregation I will praise Thee.

<sup>23</sup>You who revere the LORD, praise I Him;
all you sons of Jacob, glorify Him;
and stand in awe of Him, all you sons of Israel.

<sup>24</sup>For He has neither despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted, nor has He hid His face from him,
but when he cried to Him, He heard.

I will pay my vows before those who revere Him.

those who seek the LORD shall praise I Him.

May your heart live forever!

all the families of the nations shall bow down before Thee.

He rules over the nations.<sup>n</sup>

indeed all who go down to the dust shall bow before I Him,
even he who is unable to keep his soul alive.

<sup>30</sup>Posterity shall serve Him; it shall be told of the LORD to the coming generation;

<sup>31</sup>they will come and they will tell of His righteousness

to a people yet to be born, for I He has performed it.

Shepherd, Guide and Host

A Psalm of David

23 The LORD is my Shepherd; I shall not lack;<sup>p</sup>

<sup>2</sup>He makes me to lie down in green pastures;

He leads me in paths of righteousness for His name's sake.<sup>q</sup>

I will fear no harm; for Thou art with me:

Thy rod and Thy staff, they comfort me.

<sup>5</sup>Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of my adversaries;

g) Vv. 11-21 vividly describe the suffering experienced. h) Or, like a lion.

i) Fulfilled, Matt. 27:35. j) Refers to His aloneness in suffering.

k) In this concluding note to the description, confidence that God has heard is strongly expressed.

l) Vv. 22-31 give the song of deliverance.

m) Not only is praise of God, but it is also from God.

n) How reassuring to remember this in time of suffering.

o) Even the prosperous and haughty will someday bow.

p) One reason this psalm is so deeply loved is that it comes warm from the heart of a man who knew the meaning of sheep and shepherd and who knew the LORD as thus related to him.

q) To grow aware of God's care and to feel secure for the future one must willingly follow the Shepherd.

PSALMS 23-25

Thou hast anointed my head with oil;
my cup runs over.

<sup>6</sup>Surely, goodness and unfailing love
shall follow me all the days of my life and I shall dwell in the house of the LORD forever.

*The True Worshiper
of the King of Glory
A Psalm of David<sup>r</sup>*

24 The earth and all its fulness are the LORD's,
the world and all who live in it;
<sup>2</sup>for He has founded it upon the seas,
and established it upon the floods.

<sup>3</sup>Who shall go up into the mountain of the LORD;
who shall stand in His holy place?

<sup>4</sup>He who has clean hands and a pure
heart,
who has not lifted up his soul to falschood,

who has not sworn deceptively;
<sup>5</sup>he shall receive a blessing from the LORD,
and righteousness from the God of his
salvation.

<sup>6</sup>Such is the generation of those who inquire for Him;
who seek Thy face, like Jacob.<sup>s</sup> Selah

<sup>7</sup>Lift up your heads, O ye gates,
and be ye raised, ye ancient doors,
so that the King of glory may enter!

<sup>8</sup>Who is the King of glory?
The LORD, strong and mighty, the LORD, mighty in battle.

<sup>9</sup>Lift up your heads, ye gates,
and be raised, ye ancient doors,
so that the King of glory may enter!

<sup>10</sup>Who is he then, the King of glory?
The LORD of hosts, He is the King of glory. Selah

*Prayer for Salvation and Forgiveness
A Psalm of David*

25 To Thee, O LORD, I lift up my soul;<sup>t</sup>

Worship, Salvation and Forgiveness

<sup>2</sup>my God, in Thee I trust, let me not be ashamed,

let not my enemies triumph over me.

<sup>3</sup>Yes, none who wait for Thee shall be ashamed;
those shall be ashamed who are vainly disloyal.

teach me Thy paths.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Guide me in Thy truth and instruct me;
for Thou art the God of my salvation;
for Thee I wait all day.

<sup>6</sup>Remember, O LORD, Thy tender
mercies and Thy lovingkindnesses,
for they are from everlasting.

<sup>7</sup>Remember not the sins of my youth,
nor my transgressions;
remember me according to Thy lovingkindness.<sup>v</sup>
for Thy goodness' sake, O LORD.

<sup>8</sup>Good and upright is the LORD;
therefore He will instruct sinners in the way.

<sup>9</sup>He guides the humble in what is right
and teaches the humble His way.

<sup>10</sup>All the paths of the LORD are lovingkindness and truth to such as keep His covenant and His testimonies.

<sup>11</sup>For Thy name's sake, O LORD, pardon
my sin, for it is great.

<sup>12</sup>Who is the man who reveres the
LORD?

His He shall instruct in the way that he shall choose.

<sup>13</sup>His soul shall dwell in prosperity,
and his offspring shall inherit the land.

<sup>14</sup>The companionship of the LORD
is with them that revere Him;
and He will show them His covenant.

<sup>15</sup>My eyes are ever toward the LORD,
for He will release my feet from the net.

<sup>16</sup>Turn to me and be gracious to me,<sup>w</sup>
for I am desolate and afflicted.

r) This psalm seems to have been written by David in connection with bringing the ark of the covenant into a tent or tabernacle at Jerusalem, for public worship [II Sam. 6:17].

s) At the brook Jabbok [Gen. 32:22f.], Jacob wrestled face to face with God [Gen. 32:30; Hos. 12:4, 5], in seeking a blessing [Gen. 32:26].

t) Each verse of this psalm begins with its proper letter from the Hebrew alphabet, which has 22 letters. u) We need instruction and God provides it.

v) We are glad God forgets forgiven sins of our youth; but to understand today's youth, we do well to recall our youthful weaknesses. w) Most of our troubles are due to our sins.

Oh, bring me out of my distresses!

<sup>18</sup>Consider my affliction and my trouble,
and forgive all my sins.

<sup>19</sup>Consider my enemies, for they are many
and they hate me with cruel hatred.

<sup>20</sup>Keep my soul and deliver me, let me not be ashamed, for I trust in Thee.

<sup>21</sup>Let integrity and uprightness preserve me,
for I wait on Thee.

<sup>22</sup>Redeem Israel, O God,<sup>x</sup> out of all his troubles!

Self-Examination before Worship

A Psalm of David

26 Vindicate me, O LORD, for I have walked in my integrity,<sup>y</sup> and in the LORD I have trusted without wavering.

<sup>2</sup>Examine me, O LORD, and test me;
test my soul and my attitude.

my eyes,
and I have walked in Thy truth.

<sup>4</sup>I have not associated with deceptive men,
nor do I fellowship with pretenders.

<sup>5</sup>I hate the gathering of evil-doers and will not fellowship with the wicked.

<sup>6</sup>I will wash my hands in innocence<sup>z</sup>
and would go about Thy altar, O LORD, <sup>7</sup>that I may publish with a voice of thanksgiving
and tell of all Thy wondrous works.

<sup>8</sup>O LORD, I love the habitation of Thy house
and the place where Thy glory dwells.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Gather not my soul with sinners,
nor my life with bloodthirsty men, <sup>10</sup>in whose hands is wickedness,
and their right hand is full of bribes.

<sup>11</sup>As for me, I will walk in my
integrity;

redeem me and be merciful to me!
<sup>12</sup>My foot stands on even ground;
in the congregations I will praise
the LORD.

Assurance in the Lord

A Psalm of David

27 The LORD is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear?
The LORD is the stronghold of my life;
of whom shall I be afraid?<sup>b</sup>

<sup>2</sup>When the wicked came at me to eat
my flesh,<sup>c</sup>

my adversaries and my foes, they stumbled and fell.

<sup>3</sup>Though an army should encamp
against me, my heart shall not fear:
though war should rise against me, I would still be confident.

<sup>4</sup>One thing I have asked of the LORD; that will I look for,
that I may live in the house of the LORD all the days of my life,<sup>d</sup> to observe the LORD's loveliness, and to meditate in His temple.

<sup>5</sup>For in the day of trouble He conceals
me in His tabernacle;
He hides me in the shelter of His tent,
He lifts me up on a rock.

<sup>6</sup>Thus shall my head be exalted above
my enemies around me;
in His tent I will offer sacrifices of triumph;

I will sing, yes, I will sing praises to
the LORD.

<sup>7</sup>Hear, O LORD, when I cry aloud;
be gracious to me and answer me.

<sup>8</sup>In Thy behalf my heart proclaims,
"Seek ye My face";

Thy face, LORD, I will seek.

<sup>9</sup>Hide not Thy face from me, put not Thy servant away in anger.

Thou art my help; reject me not,
neither forsake me,
O God of my salvation.

<sup>10</sup>For though my father and my mother forsake me, the LORD will take care of me.

x) Our prayers must not be selfish; we include others who also need God's help.

y) We may freely pray for deliverance and vindication when we are in right relations with God and with men.

z) This attitude we show by sincere faith, a consecrated life, aversion to sinful ways, godly behavior.

a) Especially His Presence above the ark of the covenant, between the cherubim, in the Holy of Holies. b) Seeing how God helps us, we can be confident among enemies.

c) "Eat my flesh" may mean, "slander me."

d) Be able to say, "Thou art my dwelling place," Ps. 90:1.

<sup>11</sup>Teach me, O LORD, Thy way; and lead me in an even path

because of those who lie in wait for me.

<sup>12</sup>Hand me not over to the will of my opponents;<sup>e</sup>

for false witnesses are risen against me,
and such as breathe cruelty.

<sup>13</sup>What if I had not believed to see the LORD's goodness

in the land of the living!<sup>f</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Wait for the LORD; take courage, and He will give strength to your heart;
yes, wait for the LORD.<sup>g</sup>

An Appeal to God as Judge

A Psalm of David

28 To Thee, O LORD, do I call; my rock, be not deaf to me.<sup>h</sup>

If Thou be silent to me, I become like those who go down into the pit.<sup>i</sup>

when I cry to Thee,
when I lift up my hands toward Thy inner sanctuary.<sup>j</sup>

ungodly, and with those engaged in wrong,
who speak peace with their neighbors,
while malice is in their hearts.

<sup>4</sup>Repay them according to their work,
according to the wickedness of their actions.

According to the work of their hands
repay them;

give them what they deserve.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Because they do not observe the LORD's doings,
nor the work of His hands,
He shall demolish them and not rebuild them.

<sup>6</sup>Blessed be the LORD, because He has heard the voice of my supplication.<sup>l</sup>

<sup>7</sup>The LORD is my defense and my shield;
my heart trusted in Him, and I am helped.

Therefore my heart rejoices, and with my song I will praise Him.

<sup>8</sup>The LORD is their protection;
He is the saving defense of His anointed.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Save Thy people, and bless Thy heritage;
nourish them and carry them forever.

Heartfelt Praise

A Psalm of David

29 Give to the LORD, O you sons of
the mighty,
give to the LORD glory and strength.

<sup>2</sup>Ascribe to the LORD the glory of His
name;

worship the LORD in sacred adornment.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>3</sup>The voice of the LORD is upon
the waters;
the God of glory thunders; the LORD
is upon great waters.

<sup>4</sup>The voice of the LORD is powerful;
the voice of the LORD is full of majesty.

<sup>5</sup>The voice of the LORD breaks the
cedars;

yes, the LORD breaks the cedars of Lebanon.

<sup>6</sup>He makes them to skip like a calf,
Lebanon and Sirion like an antelope.

<sup>7</sup>The voice of the LORD splits flames of fire;

<sup>8</sup>The voice of the LORD makes the wilderness to tremble;
the LORD shakes the wilderness of Kadesh.

<sup>9</sup>The voice of the LORD makes the hinds to labor
and strips the forests,
while in His temple all chant, Glory!

<sup>10</sup>The LORD sat enthroned over
the flood;
the LORD sits enthroned King forever.

<sup>11</sup>The LORD will give strength to His people;<sup>o</sup>

the LORD will bless His people with
peace.

e) It has never been easy to live a consecrated life; for the unconverted cannot believe our godly motives. f) "Think what trouble I would have been in," seems the concluding thought.

g) He is worth waiting for and He responds.

h) We confess our utter and blessed dependence on Him. i) The grave. j) The Holy of Holies.

k) The ungodly shall not miss their reward. l) Prayer in agreement with His will is heard.

m) Of the writer, who had been anointed to be king.

n) Consider God's nature — His wisdom, power, holiness, fairness, mercy into infinity; it helps us to adore Him and to feel our dependence on Him.

o) The forces of nature witness to His sovereignty, and His grace is greater still. Thunder is a voice of God, with lightning that strikes and consumes.

Gratitude for Divine Rescue
A Song for the Dedication of the Temple<sup>p</sup>

A Psalm of David
30 I will extol Thee, O LORD, because Thou hast lifted me,
and hast not let my enemies rejoice
over me.
<sup>2</sup>O LORD, my God,<sup>q</sup> I cried to Thee,
and Thou hast healed me.
<sup>3</sup>LORD, Thou hast brought my soul up
from Sheol;

Thou hast revived me from among those who go down to the grave.

<sup>4</sup>Sing praise to the LORD, you His saints,
and praise His sacred memory.

in His favor is life.

At eventide weeping may come in to lodge for the night,
but in the morning — shouts of joy.

<sup>6</sup>As for me, I said in my prosperity, "I shall never be moved."<sup>r</sup>

<sup>7</sup>LORD, by Thy favor Thou hast made
my mountain to stand strong;
Thou didst hide Thy face; I felt disaster.

<sup>8</sup>I cried to Thee, O LORD; to the LORD I made supplication:

<sup>9</sup>"What profit is there in my blood, when I go down to the grave?
Shall the dust praise Thee? Shall it declare Thy truth?

<sup>10</sup>Hear, O LORD, and be gracious to me; O LORD, be Thou my helper."

<sup>11</sup>Thou hast turned my lamenting for me into a procession;
Thou hast discarded my sackcloth, and
hast girded me with gladness,

<sup>12</sup>So that my soul may sing praise to Thee and not be silent.

O LORD, my God, I will praise Thee
forever.

God Our Protector
To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

31 In Thee, O LORD, I take refuge;
let me not be put to shame

forever; in Thy righteousness deliver me.

<sup>2</sup>Incline Thy ear to me, speedily
deliver me;

be Thou to me a strong rock, a fortified house to save me.

<sup>3</sup>For Thou art my rock and my fortress;
for Thy name's sake lead me and guide me.

<sup>4</sup>Draw me out of the net, which they have hid for me,
for Thou art my stronghold.

<sup>5</sup>Into Thy hand I commit my spirit;<sup>a</sup> Thou hast redeemed me, LORD God of truth.

<sup>6</sup>I have abhorred the worshipers of vain idols;
but I trust in the LORD.

<sup>7</sup>I will exult and rejoice in Thy
lovingkindness,
because Thou hast seen my distress;
Thou hast known the afflictions of
my soul

<sup>8</sup>and Thou hast not handed me over into the hand of the enemy;
Thou hast established my feet in a large place.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Have mercy on me, O LORD,
for I am in anguish;
my eye, my soul and my body are consumed with grief.

<sup>10</sup>For my life wastes away with sorrow
and my years with sighing.
My strength has failed because of my sin,<sup>u</sup>

Even my bones have languished.

<sup>11</sup>To all my enemies I am become a reproach,
most of all to my neighbors; even a dread to my acquaintances.

Those who see me on the street run away from me.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>12</sup>I am lost to memory like one dead;
I am discarded like a worn-out utensil.

<sup>13</sup>For I have heard the slander of
many;

there was terror on every side.

When they plotted together

against me,

they schemed to take my life.

<sup>p</sup>) Temple may refer to the tabernacle David had built, or David may have written this for future use, since he prepared for Solomon's temple.

PSALMS 31-33

Praise, Compassion and Joy

<sup>14</sup>But I trust in Thee, O LORD;
I said, "Thou art my God;
<sup>15</sup>my times are in Thy hand;<sup>w</sup> free me from my foes, and from my pursuers.
<sup>16</sup>Cause Thy face to shine upon Thy servant;<sup>x</sup>
in Thy lovingkindness save me.
<sup>17</sup>Let me not be put to shame, O LORD, for on Thee do I call."
The wicked shall be ashamed; they shall be silenced in the realm of the dead.
<sup>18</sup>Lying lips shall be silenced, that speak insolently against the righteous with pride and contempt.

<sup>19</sup>How great is Thy goodness,
which Thou hast reserved
for those who revere Thee;
which Thou hast prepared for those who take refuge in Thee in the presence of the sons of men!
<sup>20</sup>In the shelter of Thy presence Thou shalt protect them
from the conspiracies of men;
Thou shalt hide them in a pavilion
from the strife of tongues.<sup>y</sup>

for He has shown me His loving-kindness as in an entrenched city.
<sup>22</sup>As for me, I had said in my alarm,
"I am cut off from before Thy eyes."
Yet Thou didst hear the voice of my supplication when I cried to Thee.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>23</sup>Love the LORD, all ye godly;
the LORD preserves the faithful and fully repays the proud doer.

<sup>24</sup>Be strong and let your heart take courage, all ye who wait for the
LORD.

The Joy of Confession and Forgiveness

A Psalm of David, for Instruction

32 Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven,
whose sin is covered.

<sup>2</sup>Blessed is the man to whom the LORD

does not charge iniquity,
and nothing in his spirit is deceit.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>3</sup>When I kept silent, my bones wasted away in my groaning all
the day.

<sup>4</sup>For day and night Thy hand was heavy upon me;
my marrow dried up as in a summer
drought. Selah

<sup>5</sup>I acknowledged my sin to Thee
and my iniquity I did not hide.
I said, "I will confess my transgressions
to the LORD,"

and Thou didst forgive the iniquity
of my sin. Selah

<sup>6</sup>For this let all the godly pray to Thee
betimes,
when Thou mayest be met.<sup>b</sup> Surely, the flood of great waters shall not touch him.

<sup>7</sup>Thou art my hiding place; Thou wilt preserve me from trouble, Thou wilt surround me with songs of deliverance. Selah

<sup>8</sup>I will instruct you and train you in the way you shall go;<sup>c</sup>
I will counsel you with My eye
on you.

<sup>9</sup>Be not as the horse, as the mule, without judgment;<sup>d</sup>
whose temper must be curbed with bit
and bridle,
else they come not near to you.

<sup>10</sup>Many sorrows are to the ungodly,
but he who trusts in the LORD shall be encircled with lovingkindness.

<sup>11</sup>Be glad in the LORD and exult, ye righteous;
shout joyfully, ye upright in heart.

Heavenly Joy

33 Rejoice, ye righteous, in the LORD; praise becomes the upright!<sup>e</sup>

with a ten-stringed harp sing Him
praises.

w) Quoted by Browning in his "Rabbi Ben Ezra."

x) Help me so to love, that Thou art pleased with me.

y) When His presence grows real to us, their hands cannot touch us and their noises cannot harm us. z) God's mercy and goodness go beyond our faith.

a) David has fully confessed and has been completely forgiven; now he is spiritually clean; which can be our experience. b) A time when God is nearer, Isa. 55:6. c) Vv. 8, 9 God speaks.

d) God has distinguished us from animals by the gift of reason and a sense of God for right or wrong — our conscience. e) All our good qualities spring from our Creator.

He places the deeps in store-houses.

<sup>8</sup>Let them be in awe before the LORD, all the earth;

let all the inhabitants of the world be reverent before Him.

the purposes of His heart from generation to generation.

<sup>12</sup>Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD,<sup>i</sup>

the people He has chosen for His personal inheritance.

at all the inhabitants of the earth,

<sup>15</sup>He who fashions their hearts to be human;<sup>j</sup>

He who takes note of all their works.

no mighty man is preserved by great strength.

<sup>22</sup>Let Thy lovingkindness, O LORD, be upon us, according as we hope in Thee.<sup>m</sup>

God Cares

A Psalm of David, when he feigned his behavior before Abimelech,<sup>n</sup> so that he drove him away and he departed.

34 I will bless the LORD at all times; His praise shall continually be in my mouth.

let the humble hear it and be glad.

<sup>4</sup>I sought the LORD and He answered me,

and freed me from all my fears.

and saved him out of all his troubles.

but those who seek the LORD shall lack in nothing good.

f) Nothing of sin and sorrow in this psalm. As in heaven, so here is only joy and praise.

g) This is applied to our Redeemer, John 1:1-3. h) As sung in Ps. 2.

i) People who can and do say from the heart. "In God we trust."

j) Such was God's creation of man in His image.

k) Napoleon said: "God is with the greatest battalions."

l) We may forget Him; how wonderful that He never forgets us.

m) Twenty-two verses, not alphabetic.

n) Achish, of I Sam. 21:10-15. As Pharaoh was the title of Egyptian kings, so was Abimelech that of leading Philistine kings. o) Joint worship is essential.

p) David himself who had escaped death. q) The Redeemer, of the New Testament.

<sup>11</sup>Come, sons and daughters,
listen to me,
I will teach you reverence for
the LORD.
<sup>12</sup>Who is the man desiring life, loving days to see good—:
<sup>13</sup>Keep your tongue from evil and your lips from speaking deceit;
<sup>14</sup>turn away from evil and practice
good;
seek peace and keep after it.
<sup>15</sup>The eyes of the LORD are toward the righteous,
and His ears open to their cry.
<sup>16</sup>The face of the LORD is against the evil-doers;
to root up their memory from off the
earth.
<sup>17</sup>The righteous cried and the LORD heard
and saved them out of all their troubles.<sup>r</sup> <sup>18</sup>The LORD is close to the broken-hearted, and rescues those whose spirit is crushed.<sup>s</sup> <sup>19</sup>Many are the afflictions of the
righteous;
but out of them all the LORD
delivers him.
<sup>20</sup>He protects his every bone; not one of them is broken.<sup>t</sup> <sup>21</sup>Calamity shall slay the wicked
and the haters of the righteous shall be penalized.
<sup>22</sup>The LORD redeems the soul of His
servants;
all those taking refuge in Him shall go free.<sup>u</sup>

Prayer for Safety from Enemies

A Psalm of David

35 Contend, O LORD, with my contenders; war against those who war against me.<sup>v</sup> <sup>2</sup>Lay hold of shield and covering and stand up for my help.
<sup>3</sup>Draw out the spear and step in to encounter my pursuers;

say to my soul: I am your salvation.
<sup>4</sup>Let them be confounded and ashamed, who seek after my soul;
let them be turned back and abashed
who intend my hurt.
<sup>5</sup>Let them be as chaff before the wind,
the Angel of the LORD driving them.
<sup>6</sup>Let their path be pitch-dark and most slippery,
the Angel of the LORD pursuing them.
<sup>7</sup>For without provocation they hid their net for me;<sup>w</sup> without cause they have digged (a pit)
for my soul.
<sup>8</sup>Let ruin come upon him unawares,
and may his net, which he hid,
catch himself;
with destruction let him fall into it.

<sup>9</sup>But my soul shall rejoice in the LORD, shall exult in His salvation.
<sup>10</sup>All my bones<sup>x</sup> shall say: "LORD, who is equal to Thee,
delivering the afflicted from one stronger than he
and the poor and needy from him who robs him."

<sup>11</sup>False witnesses rise up; they ask of me what I do not know.
<sup>12</sup>They reward me harm in return for help; bereavement has come to
my soul.
<sup>13</sup>But I—when they were ill, my clothing was sackcloth—
I humbled my soul with fasting;
but my prayer rebounded to my own bosom.<sup>y</sup> <sup>14</sup>As though it were my friend or a brother, I went about;
I bowed down mourning as in sorrow
for a mother.
<sup>15</sup>But in my stumbling they rejoiced;
slanderers gathered themselves
against me
and I did not know it. Unceasingly
they reviled.<sup>z</sup> <sup>16</sup>Among the profanest of the mockers
of a feast,
they gnashed their teeth against me.

<sup>v</sup>) Only when we live loyally God's way, may we pray like this, and then in the New Testament spirit of seeking salvation. <sup>w</sup>) Without any decent reason and by deceit trying to trap him.

look on?
Rescue my soul from their destructions;
my only one<sup>a</sup> from the young lions.
<sup>18</sup>I will thank Thee in a great congregation;<sup>b</sup> among a mighty people I will praise
Thee.

<sup>19</sup>Let not those who are wrongfully my opponents rejoice
over me;
let not those wink the eye, who hate
me without provocation.
<sup>20</sup>For they do not talk peace; but against the quiet ones
of the land they plot treacheries.
<sup>21</sup>They open their mouth wide
against me,
they say, "Aha! aha! Our eye has seen it!"

<sup>22</sup>Thou hast observed, O LORD;
be not silent;
O LORD, be not far from me!
<sup>23</sup>Arouse Thyself and awake to my
judgment;
to my cause, my God and my LORD.
<sup>24</sup>Judge me according to Thy righteousness, O LORD my God,<sup>c</sup>
and let them not rejoice over me.
<sup>25</sup>Let them not say in their heart,
"Aha! There is our desire";
let them not say, "We have swallowed him up."
<sup>26</sup>Let them be ashamed and confounded together who rejoice
at my misfortune;
Let them be clothed with shame and dishonor who puff themselves up against me.

<sup>27</sup>Let those shout with joy and be glad<sup>d</sup> who favor my righteous cause, and say continually, "Let the LORD be magnified,
who has pleasure in the peace of His servant!"
<sup>28</sup>And my tongue shall speak of Thy righteousness,
Thy praise all the day.

Life False Without God
To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David, the Servant of the LORD

36 Sin appeals to the wicked deep in his heart;<sup>e</sup> no dread of God is present before his
eyes;

<sup>2</sup>for he flatters himself in his own eyes
until his sin is found out and hated.

<sup>3</sup>The words of his mouth are falsehood
and deceit;

he has ceased to act wisely, to do good.

<sup>4</sup>He concocts mischief upon his couch;
he takes his stand upon a path that is not good;

he does not loathe evil.

<sup>5</sup>O LORD, high as the heavens is Thy lovingkindness;<sup>f</sup>
up to the clouds Thy faithfulness!

<sup>6</sup>Thy righteousness is like the mountains of God;
Thy judgments are a great deep;
LORD, Thou dost preserve man and beast.

O God,
so the children of men take refuge in the shadow of Thy wings!

<sup>8</sup>They are perfectly satisfied with the abundance of Thy house; Thou shalt give them to drink of the stream of Thy delights;

<sup>9</sup>for with Thee is the fountain of life;
in Thy light we see light.

those who know Thee
and Thy righteousness to the upright
of heart.

<sup>11</sup>Let not the proud foot approach me,<sup>g</sup>
or the hand of the wicked drive me out.

<sup>12</sup>There are the evil-doers fallen;
they are cast down and shall not be able to rise.

a) The only soul or life I have.

b) As God's cause is his cause, deliverance is rightly acknowledged among fellow worshippers.

c) Not according to his own righteousness, which is fragile.

d) Very different experiences; the godly can jubilate in view of God.

e) A marvelous picture of the sinner, trying to make sin worth while — of course without God.

f) The hymn of praise to our merciful, ever dependable Creator, the source of all real living.

g) Let me keep free from the company of a proud person!

Count on God

A Psalm of David

37 Do not get fretful on account of evil-doers;

be not envious of the workers of wickedness,

<sup>2</sup>for like the grass they shall be quickly cut down;

and as the green sprout they shall wilt.

<sup>5</sup>Commit your way to the LORD; trust in Him, too, and He will bring it about.

<sup>8</sup>Quit being angry, and dismiss fury; do not get heated; it leads only to evil.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>10</sup>For yet a little while and the evil-doer shall be no more; you will look for his location and it shall be gone.

to cast down the poor and needy, to slay those upright in conduct.

but the LORD upholds the righteous.

<sup>18</sup>The LORD knows the days of the upright<sup>m</sup>

and their inheritance shall be for ever.

<sup>19</sup>They shall not be put to shame in time of trouble;

even in days of famine they shall be satisfied.<sup>n</sup>

but the righteous is generous and donates.

He establishes him and delights in his way.

<sup>24</sup>When he falls, he shall not be down and out;

for the LORD upholds his hand.

<sup>25</sup>I have been young; now I am old;

but I have not seen the righteous forsaken or his offspring begging bread.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>26</sup>All day long he deals graciously and lends;

and his offspring are for a blessing.

h) Simple and eternal: Learn God's will, live it and progress is inevitable.

i) One cannot even think straight when furious.

j) With our Father owning the earth, of course we share in its resources; fretting over the apparent prosperity of the ungodly means distrusting our Father.

k) As in Ps. 2, He laughs at whole nations for their folly.

l) Our righteous God remains sovereign.

m) Their immortal self is God-centered.

n) Looks upon them with favor, as in Ps. 1:6.

o) A personal testimony to a divine order.

<sup>27</sup>Depart from evil and do good,
and abide for evermore;
<sup>28</sup>for the LORD loves fairness and will not forsake His saints;
they are preserved forever;
but the offspring of the evil-doers is eliminated.

<sup>29</sup>The righteous shall inherit the earth and shall dwell on it forever.

<sup>30</sup>The mouth of the righteous
utters wisdom,
and his tongue speaks what is right.

his steps shall not waver.<sup>p</sup>

righteous

and seeks to put him to death.

<sup>33</sup>The LORD will not leave him in his hand,

nor condemn him when he is judged.

<sup>34</sup>Wait on the LORD and keep His way, and He will exalt you to inherit the
earth;

you shall look upon the destruction of the wicked.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>35</sup>I have seen a lawless evil-doer spreading himself like a native green tree;

<sup>36</sup>yet, he passed away and, look, he was no more;

I sought him and he was not to be found.

<sup>37</sup>Watch the upright and observe the righteous,
for there is a future to the man of
peace;

<sup>38</sup>but transgressors shall be destroyed
together;

the offspring of the evil-doers shall be cut off.<sup>r</sup>

<sup>39</sup>But the salvation of the righteous is
from the LORD,

their fortress in a time of trouble.

<sup>40</sup>The LORD helps them and delivers
them;

He rescues them from evil-doers;

He will save them because they trust
in Him.<sup>s</sup>

From Gloom to Confidence

A Psalm of David, to Bring Remembrance

38 O LORD, in Thy indignation do not rebuke me,
neither in Thy hot displeasure
chasten me;

<sup>2</sup>for Thy arrows have sunk into me and Thy hand comes down upon me.

<sup>3</sup>There is no soundness in my body in the presence of Thy anger;
there is no peace in my bones in the presence of my sin;<sup>t</sup>

<sup>4</sup>for my iniquities have gone over my
head;
as a heavy load they are too weighty
for me.

<sup>5</sup>My wounds are repulsive; they are festering because of my folly.

<sup>6</sup>I am bent, I am bowed down greatly;
all the day I go mourning;

<sup>7</sup>for my loins are charged with inflammation

and in my body there is no soundness.

<sup>8</sup>I am benumbed and sorely bruised;
I groan because of my heart murmur-ings.

<sup>9</sup>LORD, all my longing is known to Thee<sup>u</sup>

and my sighing is not hidden from
Thee.

<sup>10</sup>My heart beats fast; my strength
fails me,

even the light of my eyes; — I have to do without it.

<sup>11</sup>My loved ones and my friends stand
aloof from my illness;

even my kinsmen stand at a distance,
<sup>12</sup>and they who seek after my soul lay snare;

yes, they who seek my hurt talk mischief;

they think up treacheries all day.

<sup>13</sup>But I am like a deaf man, who does not listen;

like the dumb man, who does not open
his mouth.

<sup>14</sup>Yes, I am like a man who does not hear

p) As in v. 5, his steps are divinely guided.

q) Viewed from His standpoint the ungodly "is not in it."

r) Psalm after psalm reiterates the favorable contrast for the godly; for it remains eternally true and is so readily forgotten.

s) This psalm is a double acrostic, each letter used twice to start a verse.

t) Sin committed by one who knows better has a disastrous effect on the body, for which there is no healing without complete confession.

u) Where there is a longing for God there is help in store.

PSALMS 38-40

and in whose mouth there are no arguments.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>15</sup>For in Thee, LORD, I hope; Thou wilt answer, O LORD, my God.

<sup>16</sup>For I say: "Let them not rejoice over me, who, when my foot wavers, would puff themselves up against me."

A Prayer for Silent Assurance To the Chief Musician, for Praise. A Psalm of David

39 I said: "Let me guard my ways from sinning with my tongue; let me keep my mouth as with a muzzle, while the evil-doer is around."

<sup>3</sup>My heart was hot within me; in my musing the fire burned;<sup>x</sup>

I pled with my tongue:

<sup>4</sup>Make me to know, O LORD, my end, and the length of my days, what it is. Let me know how transient I am.

<sup>5</sup>Behold, as handbreadths Thou hast measured my days, my lifetime is as nothing in Thy presence;

Surely, all mankind, so self-confident, is as a breath. Selah

<sup>6</sup>Only as a shadow each man walks about; truly, in vanity they are greatly disquieted;

Prayer for Assurance and Godliness

each stores up riches, not knowing who shall gather them.

<sup>9</sup>I am speechless; I will not open my mouth,

for Thou hast done it.

<sup>10</sup>Remove from me Thy blow; by the power of Thy hand I am spent.

<sup>11</sup>When with rebukes because of iniquity Thou dost correct a person then Thou dost consume his winsomeness like a moth;

truly, all mankind is as a vapor. Selah

<sup>12</sup>O LORD, hear my prayer; listen to my cry; reply to my tears; to my tears be not speechless; for I am a passing guest with Thee,<sup>z</sup> a transient, as were all my fathers.

<sup>13</sup>Oh, spare me and let me rally, before I depart and vanish.

A Christlike Attitude

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

40 I waited and waited for the LORD;

then He bent over to me and heard my cry.

<sup>2</sup>He brought me up from a destructive pit, from the miry clay, and set my feet on a rock, steadying my steps.<sup>a</sup>

Many shall see it and revere and trust the LORD.

<sup>4</sup>Blessings the man enjoys who makes the LORD his trust, and does not turn to those defiant, lying apostates.

<sup>5</sup>Thou hast made numerous, O LORD my God, Thy wonders and Thy thoughts toward us; there is none to compare with Thee; were I to declare and tell them, they are too many to be numbered.<sup>b</sup>

v) An example we may well follow; silence rarely nourishes a quarrel.

w) A fact good to know if we also know God's help.

x) He took time to think things through; which served him to reach wholesome conclusions.

y) Life being like a breath, our only certainty is in our gracious God.

z) A guest in the Near East enjoyed childlike privileges — safety, food and shelter. Such is the assurance of the godly. a) "I steadier step when I recall, that though I slip, God does not fall."

b) Count your blessings and find that they are countless.

<sup>6</sup>Sacrifice and offering Thou hast not desired;
a responsive ear Thou hast prepared for me;<sup>c</sup>
burnt-offering and sin-offering Thou hast not required.
<sup>7</sup>Then I said, "Behold, I come;
in the volume of the Book it is written of me."

<sup>8</sup>I delight to do Thy will, my God—
Thy law is deep within my heart.
<sup>9</sup>I have proclaimed glad tidings of righteousness in the great congregation;
see, my lips I will not close; O LORD, Thou knowest.
<sup>10</sup>Thy righteousness I have not hid away in my heart;
Thy faithfulness and Thy salvation I have proclaimed;
I have not concealed Thy lovingkindness and Thy truth from the great assembly.<sup>d</sup>

Thy lovingkindness and Thy truth shall continually preserve me.
<sup>12</sup>For evils without number have surrounded me;
my iniquities have overtaken me, even beyond my discerning;
They are more than the hairs of my head, and my heart has failed me.<sup>e</sup> <sup>13</sup>Be pleased, O LORD, to deliver me;
O LORD, make haste to help me!

<sup>14</sup>Let them be ashamed and confounded together,
who seek my soul to destroy it.
Let those be turned back and put to shame who desire my hurt.
<sup>15</sup>Let them be confounded as a reward for their shame;
they who say to me, "Aha, aha!"
<sup>16</sup>Let all those seeking Thee rejoice and be glad in Thee;
let those who love Thy salvation say continually, "The LORD be magnified!"<sup>f</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Though I am poor and needy, the LORD thinks of me;
Thou art my help and my deliverer.
O my God, delay not.

The Friend Divine

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

41 Blessings are his, who considers the weak;
in the day of misfortune the LORD will deliver him.
<sup>2</sup>The LORD will preserve him and keep him alive;
he shall be counted blessed in the land;
Thou shalt not hand him over to the desires of his enemies.
<sup>3</sup>The LORD will uphold him on his bed of sickness;
to all his illness on his bed Thou wilt bring a change.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>4</sup>As for me, I said, "O LORD, be gracious to me;
heal my soul, for I have sinned against Thee."

<sup>5</sup>My enemies speak evil of me: "When will he die and his name vanish?"

<sup>6</sup>And if one comes to visit, he speaks falsehood;
his heart gathers up to itself malice; going out, he tells his tale.

<sup>7</sup>Together they whisper against me, all they who hate me;
they plan harm against me:

<sup>8</sup>"A fatal plague is poured out upon him,
so that, when he lies down, he may not rise again."<sup>h</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Even a friend of mine on whom I relied,
who ate my bread, lifted up the heel against me.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>10</sup>But Thou, O LORD, be gracious to me; raise me up and let me repay them.

<sup>11</sup>By this I know that Thou delightest in me,

c) Only by divine grace do we respond to God's call.

d) God reveals Himself to us; we, made in His likeness, are to reveal our experiences with Him to others.

e) Our troubles do not spring from surroundings and neighbors as much as from our own weaknesses. f) A glorious contrast to the godless.

g) Imparting a sense of His presence; infusing physical health.

h) When one is helpless, he discovers who are his real friends.

i) Quoted by Jesus in the upper room regarding Judas, John 13:18.

because my enemy does not exult
over me.

<sup>12</sup>As for me, in my integrity Thou hast upheld me,
and dost set me before Thy face for ever.

<sup>13</sup>Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, from everlasting to everlasting! Amen and Amen!<sup>1</sup>

A Soul's Longing for God
To the Chief Musician. Instructive, by the Sons of Korah

42 As a deer pants for water brooks
so my soul longs for Thee,
O God.

<sup>2</sup>My soul thirsts for God, for the living
God;
when shall I come and appear before
God?

<sup>3</sup>My tears have been my food day and night,
while they keep on saying to me,
"Where is your God?"

<sup>4</sup>These things I would remember and pour out my inner soul,
for I used to walk on with the throng
in their van
to the house of God,<sup>k</sup>
with the voice of joy and praise, a multitude that kept festival.

<sup>5</sup>Why are you bowed down, O my soul; why so restless within me?
Hope in God, for I shall yet thank
Him

for the help of His countenance.
<sup>6</sup>O my God, my soul is cast down
within me,
therefore, I remember Thee from Jordan-land and the Hermon ranges;
from the Mizar hills.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Deep calls out to deep at the sound of Thy cataracts;<sup>m</sup> all Thy waves and Thy billows have passed over me.

<sup>8</sup>By day the LORD will confirm His
lovingkindness
and in the night His song shall be
with me,

a prayer to the God of my life.

<sup>9</sup>I will say to God, my refuge: "Why hast Thou forgotten me?
Why do I go mourning because of the oppression of the enemy?"

<sup>10</sup>As a crushing in my bones my adversaries reproach me,
while they keep on saying to me,
"Where is your God?"<sup>n</sup>

<sup>11</sup>Why are you bowed down, O my soul
and why do you groan within me?
Hope in God, for I shall yet praise
Him,
my face-healer and my God.<sup>o</sup>

An Appeal for Fairness
43 Treat me justly, O God, and plead my cause against a merciless people;
from the man of deceit and wickedness
deliver me.<sup>p</sup>

hold; why hast Thou cast me off?
Why must I go about mourning because of the oppression of the
enemy?

<sup>3</sup>Send out Thy light and Thy truth; let them lead me;<sup>q</sup> let them bring me to Thy holy hill
and to Thy dwellings.

<sup>4</sup>Then I will go to the altar of God,
to God, the joy of my exultation,
and praise Thee with the harp, O God,
my God.

<sup>5</sup>Why are you bowed down, O my soul,<sup>r</sup>
and why do you groan within me?
Hope in God, for I shall yet praise
Him,
my face-saver and my God.

j) With the benediction of verse 13, the First Book of Psalms closes. Note also Ps. 72, Ps. 89, Ps. 106 and all of Ps. 150 for similar endings.

k) As Jesus often worshiped the Father alone, so should we, and as Jesus attended congregational worship regularly, Luke 4:16, so should we. David wanted to worship with many others.

l) Faith in God means confidence in trial.

m) Soul wants to commune with soul; spirit with the Spirit.

n) Their sneer intimated, "God forsakes you because you are not really godly," as Job so sharply experienced.

o) Man's satisfaction is attained in a right relationship with God.

p) Like Job, misunderstood by men, he turns to the Supreme Judge.

q) Deservedly this verse is basic to one of our great anthems.

r) This psalm may have been part of Ps. 42; it seems to spring from a similar occasion.

A Defeated People's Prayer

To the Chief Musician. Instructive by the
Sons of Korah

44 O God, with our ears we have heard; our fathers have told us what work Thou didst perform in their days, in the days of old.<sup>s</sup>

nations and didst plant them;<sup>t</sup>

Thou didst scatter nations and Thou didst spread them out.

<sup>3</sup>For not by their own sword did they possess the land,<sup>u</sup>

neither did their own arm gain
deliverance for them;

but it was Thy right hand and Thy arm and the light of Thy face,
because Thou didst favor them.

<sup>4</sup>Thou art He, my King, O God, who didst command the setting free of Jacob.

<sup>5</sup>Through Thee we shall push down our foes;

through Thy name we shall tread
down those who rise up against us.

<sup>6</sup>For I will not trust in my bow; nor shall my sword deliver me;

<sup>7</sup>but Thou hast freed us from our
enemies,
and those who hate us Thou hast put
to shame.

<sup>8</sup>In God we have made our boast
all day,

and Thy name we shall forever praise.
Selah

<sup>9</sup>But now Thou hast cast us off and put us to shame;

nor dost Thou go forth with our armies.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>10</sup>Thou didst make us turn back from
the enemy,
and they who hated us take plunder
for themselves.

<sup>11</sup>Thou hast surrendered us as slaughter-sheep,

and didst scatter us among the nations.

<sup>12</sup>Thou didst sell Thy people dirt-cheap
and hast made no profit by their price.

<sup>13</sup>Thou didst make us a taunt to our neighbors,
a scorn and a derision to those around us.

<sup>14</sup>Thou didst make us a byword among the Gentiles,
a shaking of the head among the peoples.

<sup>15</sup>All day long my reproach
faces me,
and the shame of my face covers me, <sup>16</sup>because of the voice of the scoffer
and the scorner,
at the sight of the enemy and the avenger.

<sup>17</sup>All this is come upon us, but we have not forgotten Thee;<sup>w</sup> no, we have not been false to Thy covenant.

<sup>18</sup>Our heart is not turned back, neither has our step declined from Thy
way.

<sup>19</sup>Yet Thou hast crushed us in the wild-dogs region;
yes, Thou hast covered us with the shadow of death.

<sup>20</sup>If we have forgotten the name
of our God,
and spread out our hands to a strange
god,

<sup>21</sup>will not God search this out?
For He knows the secrets of the heart.

<sup>22</sup>Truly for Thy sake we are slain
all day long;<sup>x</sup>
we are accounted as sheep for slaughter.

<sup>23</sup>Awake! Why sleepest Thou, O
LORD? Arise, cast us not off forever!

why dost Thou forget our affliction and oppression?

<sup>25</sup>For our soul is bowed down to the dust,
our body cleaves to the earth.

<sup>26</sup>Rise up as a help to us and deliver us because of Thy loving-kindness.<sup>y</sup>

s) In the godly family Hebrew history was kept alive, to be retold and relived in new homes.

t) God drove out the Canaanites and planted Israel; He scattered other nations and enlarged Israel's boundaries. u) True globally; but specially of Israel.

v) This suggests a lost battle rather than the great exile.

w) The godly must share sufferings with the ungodly, then and now.

x) In his triumphal hymn of Rom. 8:35-39, Paul quotes this verse as his own experience.

y) Not because the supplicant is so good, but because God is so good; which is the poet's conclusion.

PSALMS 45, 46

The Love of God and His People
To the Chief Musician. The Tune of the Lilies. An Instruction by the Sons of Korah
A Song of Love

45 My heart overflows with a goodly theme;
I speak my poem before a king;
my tongue is (like) the pen of a skilled writer.

<sup>2</sup>Thou art fairer than the children of men;<sup>2</sup> graciousness is poured upon Thy lips, therefore God has blessed Thee
forever.

O mighty One,
with Thy glory and Thy majesty, <sup>4</sup>and in Thy majesty ride forth triumphantly
for the cause of truth, humility and
righteousness;
Thy right hand shall guide Thee to
awe-inspiring deeds.
<sup>5</sup>Peoples shall fall under Thee; Thy arrows are sharp
in the heart of the King's enemies.

<sup>6</sup>Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever,
a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre
of Thy kingdom.

<sup>7</sup>Thou hast loved righteousness and hated injustice,
therefore God, Thy God has anointed
Thee
with the oil of gladness above Thy companions.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>8</sup>Myrrh, aloes and cassia are on all Thy robes;
stringed instruments out of ivory
palaces delight Thee.

<sup>9</sup>Daughters of kings are among Thy honorable women;
the queen has set herself at Thy right
hand
wearing gold of Ophir.

<sup>10</sup>Listen, O daughter, see and incline your ear;

The Love of God; His Strength

forget your people and your father's house,
<sup>11</sup>and the king will delight in your beauty, —
for He is your LORD; yes, revere Him.<sup>b</sup> <sup>12</sup>Then the daughter of Tyre, the rich
of the people
shall seek your favor with gifts.

<sup>13</sup>All glorious is the king's daughter within (the palace),
inwrought with gold is her clothing.
<sup>14</sup>In embroidered work she shall be led to the king;
virgins, her companions, accompanying
her,
are brought to Thee.

<sup>15</sup>They shall be led with joy and exultation;
they shall enter into the palace of the king.

<sup>16</sup>Instead of your fathers shall be your sons,<sup>c</sup> whom you shall make princes in all
the earth.

<sup>17</sup>I will cause Thy name to be remembered in every generation, therefore the peoples shall praise Thee
for ever and ever.

God Our Strength
To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of the Sons of Korah, According to Alamath.
A Song

46 God is for us a refuge and a fortress; found to be a mighty help in troubles.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Therefore we do not fear though the earth is displaced,
though the mountains reel into the midst of the sea;

<sup>3</sup>though its waters roar and foam;
though the mountains shake at its swelling. Selah

<sup>4</sup>There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God,
the holy dwelling of the Most High.

z) No Hebrews were allowed to read "The Song of Songs" until they were 30, for fear they might misunderstand it. This song summarizes it for everyone to read.

a) The one addressed is man plus, God among men, the Godman.

b) As Christ is the Bridegroom and the Church His bride, so God was the Husband and Israel the Wife, Isa. 54:5; Hos. 2:15. Idolatry was adultery.

c) Our richest legacy is our offspring trained to live with and for God.

d) This psalm, together with the Wartburg Castle in which the Saxon king protected him against Emperor and Pope, inspired Luther to compose "A Mighty Fortress." The psalm itself was probably inspired when the Angel of the Lord had slain 185,000 Assyrians, who besieged Jerusalem, II Kings 19:35.

at morning's dawn God shall help her.
<sup>6</sup>Nations rage, kingdoms fall;
He raises His voice, the earth dissolves.
Selah

<sup>7</sup>The LORD of hosts is with us;
the God of Jacob is our fortress.
<sup>8</sup>Come, see the works of the LORD!
Who brings desolations in the earth;

<sup>9</sup>Who makes wars to cease to the ends of the earth;
He breaks the bow into pieces and snaps the spear in two.
He burns the chariots in the fire.

<sup>10</sup>Be still and know that I am God;
I will be exalted among the nations,
I will be exalted on the earth.

<sup>11</sup>The LORD of hosts is with us;
The God of Jacob is our fortress. Selah

Our Sovereign Lord
For the Chief Musician. A Psalm
by the Sons of Korah

47 All you peoples, clap your hands;
raise a shout to God with a triumphant note.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>5</sup>God has ascended with a shout, the LORD with trumpet-peals.

<sup>6</sup>Sing praises to God, sing praises;

sing psalms to our King, sing psalms;

<sup>7</sup>for God is the King of all the earth;
sing praises with a thoughtful psalm.

<sup>8</sup>God rules over all the nations;
God sits upon His holy throne.

<sup>9</sup>The nobles of the Gentiles are gathered, a united people for the God of Abraham;
for the shields of the earth belong to God; He is highly exalted.

The Beauty of God's Church
A Song, a Psalm by the Sons of Korah
48 Great is the LORD and greatly to be praised in the city of our God, His holy mountain.

is Mount Zion, the side of the north,<sup>b</sup>
the city of the great King.

<sup>8</sup>As we have heard, so we have seen in the city of the LORD of Hosts,
in the city of our God;<sup>d</sup>

God will establish it forever. Selah

God, so is Thy praise to the ends of the earth;

Thy right hand is full of Thy righteousness.

because of Thy just decisions.

e) Not God, but sinners bring about these desolations.

f) In the hour of prayer, moments of silent meditation are helpful.

g) This psalm continues the teaching of God, the almighty and sovereign God, who rules all nations, but has selected Abraham's offspring to be His special servants under the covenant privileges.

h) The northern portion of Jerusalem.

i) On the Spanish coast; not to be confused with Tarsus, where Paul was born.

j) The essence of Zion's beauty was neither its location, nor its architecture, but the presence of God, especially the Holy of Holies with the ark of the covenant.

PSALMS 48-50

Immortality and Godliness

<sup>13</sup>Notice well her defence-walls; walk through her palaces, so you may tell the next generation.
<sup>14</sup>For this God is our God, for ever and ever;
 He will guide us until death.<sup>k</sup>

A Mortal Body; an Immortal Spirit
 For the Chief Musician. A Psalm, by the Sons of Korah

49 Hear this, all you peoples; give ear, all inhabitants of the world,

<sup>4</sup>I will incline my ear to a parable, I will disclose my riddle upon the harp:

<sup>5</sup>Why should I fear in the evil days, when the iniquity of those who would supplant me surrounds me completely?

<sup>8</sup>For such redemption of their life is costly and can never suffice, <sup>9</sup>so that he should live forever, so that he should not see the pit.
<sup>10</sup>For he shall notice that wise men die, that the fool and the brutish similarly perish, leaving their wealth to others.

he is like the animals that perish.

so that there is no habitation for it.

<sup>15</sup>But God will redeem my soul from the hand of Sheol;

for He will receive me. Selah

True Godliness

A Psalm of Asaph<sup>r</sup>

50 The Mighty One, God the LORD, speaks and calls the earth from where the sun rises to where the sun goes down.

before Him a fire consumes and around Him a fierce tempest rages.

<sup>4</sup>He calls to the heavens above and to the earth, to judge His people:
<sup>5</sup>Gather to Me My holy ones,

k) A bride and groom might wisely write v. 14 on the flyleaf of their Bible, to be their motto to the end.

l) Ideally humanity is a great democracy; physically of the animal world, of brief existence; spiritually immortal. m) From death. n) The realm of the dead.

o) To the wealthy oppressor, death is the end of habitual activity; to the righteous it is a new beginning. p) An obvious fact. q) Wealth, honor and flattery deceive the careless soul.

r) Also Ps. 73-83. Asaph, a Levite, sounded cymbals in David's time, leading the choir.

s) God had promised His special Presence in the Holy of Holies.

t) God is ever active; if He were not, the universe would cease existing.

who made a covenant with Me by sacrifice.<sup>u</sup>

for God Himself is Judge. Selah

<sup>7</sup>Hear, O My people, and I will speak,
O Israel, and I will testify against you:
I am God, your God.

<sup>8</sup>Not for your sacrifices will I reprove you,
and your burnt offerings are always before Me.

<sup>9</sup>I will not take a bullock out of your house,<sup>v</sup>
nor he-goats from your folds;

<sup>10</sup>for every animal of the forest is Mine,
and cattle by the thousands on the hills.

<sup>11</sup>I know all the birds of the mountains,
and the animals of the field are before Me.

<sup>12</sup>If I were hungry, I would not tell you, for the world and its fulness are Mine.<sup>w</sup>

and pay your vows to the Most High.

<sup>15</sup>Call on Me in the day of trouble;
I will deliver you, and you shall honor Me.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>16</sup>But to the wicked God says:
Why are you reciting My statutes with praise,
and taking My covenant upon your lips,

<sup>17</sup>though you hate correction and cast My words behind you?

<sup>18</sup>When you see a thief, you delight to associate with him,
and you take part with adulterers.

on the son of your mother you bring ruin.

<sup>21</sup>These things you have done and I kept silent;
you thought I was altogether like you.
I will censure you and put the case in order before your eyes.

<sup>22</sup>Now consider this, you who forget God, lest I tear you up and there be none to deliver.

<sup>23</sup>He who offers a sacrifice of praise honors Me:
to him who prepares his way I will show the salvation of God.

A Prayer of Confession

For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David,
when Nathan the Prophet Came to Him,
after He had Gone in to Bathsheba<sup>y</sup>

51 I have mercy upon me, O God,
according to Thy loving-kindness:

according to the greatness of Thy compassion blot out my transgressions.

<sup>2</sup>Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin,

<sup>3</sup>for I am conscious of my transgressions,
and my sin is ever in mind.

and done what is evil in Thy sight;
so that Thou art justified in Thy sentence
and pure in Thy judging.

<sup>5</sup>Behold, in sinful state I was born and in sin did my mother conceive me.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Surely, Thou desirest truth in the inner self,
and Thou makest me to understand hidden wisdom.

<sup>7</sup>Purify me with hyssop and I shall be clean;
wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

u) God accepts the sacrifice of gratitude and sense of dependence.

v) But He does not stand in need of them.

w) Quoted by Paul, I Cor. 10:26, to show our Christian liberty in matters of eating.

x) Sacrifices then and gifts now for His service are in their nature much like presents we offer loved ones and friends: "The gift without the giver is bare." y) II Sam. 12:10.

z) Crime is against man; sin is against God.

a) My mother was sinful; so am I. No teaching here that conception is sin.

<sup>8</sup>Cause me to hear joy and gladness,
so that the bones which Thou hast broken may rejoice.

<sup>9</sup>Hide Thy face from my sins and blot out all my iniquities.

<sup>10</sup>Create in me a clean heart, O God,
and renew a steadfast spirit within me.

<sup>11</sup>Cast me not away from Thy
presence,

and take not Thy Holy Spirit from me.

<sup>12</sup>Restore to me the joy of Thy
salvation,

and uphold me with a willing spirit;

<sup>13</sup>then I will teach transgressors Thy ways,

and sinners shall be converted to Thee.

Thou God of my salvation;

and my tongue shall sing aloud of Thy
righteousness.

<sup>15</sup>O LORD, open Thou my lips and my mouth shall declare Thy praise.

<sup>16</sup>For Thou delightest not in sacrifice, else would I give it, burnt-offering Thou dost not desire.<sup>c</sup>

spirit;

a broken and penitent heart, O God,
Thou wilt not despise.

<sup>18</sup>Do good in Thy good pleasure to Zion; build Thou the walls of Jerusalem.

<sup>19</sup>Then shalt Thou delight in sacrifices of righteousness,

in burnt-offering and whole burnt-offering;

then shall bullocks be offered upon Thy altar.

Deceit Is Self-Destructive

For the Chief Musician. A Meditation of David, when Doeg the Edomite Came and Told Saul, David Had Come to the House of Ahimelech<sup>d</sup>

52 Why do you boast of mischief,
you tyrant?

The lovingkindness of God is exercised
continually.

<sup>2</sup>Your tongue devises wickedness like a sharpened razor, working deceit.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>3</sup>You love evil more than good, lying more than speaking the truth. Selah

<sup>4</sup>You love all destroying words, O deceitful tongue.

<sup>5</sup>God will likewise strike you down
forever;

I he will lay hold of you, pluck you out of the tent

and uproot you from the land of the living. Selah

<sup>6</sup>The righteous shall see and be in awe;

but about him they shall laugh,
(saying),

<sup>7</sup>"Look, this is the man who did not make God his stronghold,

but trusted in the abundance of his wealth

and sought security through his misdemeanor."

<sup>8</sup>But I am like a green olive tree in the house of God;<sup>f</sup>

I trust in God's lovingkindness for ever and ever.

<sup>9</sup>I will give Thee thanks forever,
because Thou hast done it;

And I will hope in Thy name, for it is good, in the presence of Thy followers.

The Folly of Atheism

*For the Chief Musician; upon Mahalath.<sup>g</sup>
A Meditation of David*

53 The fool says to himself: "There is no God."

They are corrupt and do abominable
evil;

there is none who does good.

<sup>2</sup>God looked out from the heavens
at the children of men,

to see if there were any who understood, who looked for God.

<sup>3</sup>They have all backslidden; they are all corrupt;

there is none well-behaved; no, not
one.

<sup>4</sup>Have the workers of iniquity no understanding.<sup>h</sup>

b) The murder of Uriah, for an outstanding example of highhanded sin, as distinguished from sins of error [Numbers 15:27-31]. c) Obedience is preferred, I Sam. 15:22.

d) Incident reported in I Sam. 22:9, 10.

e) Doeg had told Saul a partial truth with a false accusation.

f) In faith yet to be realized; in fact he was in serious trouble.

g) Which means "grief," so, probably to be sung in a minor key.

h) To think they can accomplish it without penalty.

who devour my people as if they ate bread?

They do not call on God.

<sup>5</sup>They were in dread where there was nothing to fear;<sup>1</sup>
for God scatters the bones of your besiegers;
you will put them to shame, because God has rejected them.

<sup>6</sup>Oh, that from Zion Israel's deliverance might come!
When God returns the captivity of His people,
Jacob shall rejoice; Israel shall be glad.

Men Fail Us; God Never

For the Chief Musician; on Stringed Instruments. A Meditation of David, when the Ziphites Came and Said to Saul, "Is Not David Hiding with Us?"<sup>1</sup>

54 O God, in Thy name deliver me and in Thy power vindicate me.
<sup>2</sup>O God, hear my pleading; give ear to the words of my mouth.

they do not keep God in sight. Selah

<sup>5</sup>He will return the damage upon my enemies.

Cut them off in Thy faithfulness!

I will praise Thy name, O LORD, for it is good.

<sup>7</sup>For He has delivered me from every distress,

And my eyes have looked with satisfaction at my enemies.

Prayer Because of a False Friend

For the Chief Musician, on Stringed Instruments. A Meditation of David

55 Hear, O God, my prayer; hide not Thyself from my petition.

<sup>2</sup>Observe me and answer me.<sup>1a</sup>
In restlessness I groan and am distracted

<sup>3</sup>because of the enemy's noisiness; because of the threatenings of the wicked.

For they engulf me with their mischief and in anger they assault me.

<sup>4</sup>My heart is distressed within me,
and terrors of death come down on me.
<sup>5</sup>Fear and trembling get hold of me and horror overpowers me.

<sup>6</sup>So I said, "Oh, had I the wings of a dove,
then I would fly away and be at rest.
<sup>7</sup>Yes, then I would wander far away, and lodge in the desert. Selah
<sup>8</sup>I would hasten to my place of refuge, from this raging wind and storm."

<sup>9</sup>Destroy, O LORD, confuse their speeches,<sup>o</sup>
for I have seen violence and strife in the city.
<sup>10</sup>Day and night they go about on the walls;
damage and trouble are in its center;
<sup>11</sup>violence is within her,
and from her market place oppression and deceit are never absent.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>12</sup>For it is not an enemy who reproaches me;
that I could bear;
it is not a hater, who vaunts himself against me;
then I could hide myself from him;
<sup>13</sup>but you, a man regarded as an equal with me,<sup>q</sup>
my companion and my familiar friend, <sup>14</sup>we who together held sweet fellowship;
to the house of God we walked in the festive throng.

i) With nothing and no one to fall back on, the ungodly is likely to turn panicky. But to deny the existence of God is to classify oneself with fools. j) Incident related in I Sam. 23:19,20.

k) To have God as our Helper, we must walk in His truth.
l) Our response for rescue must be as freely offered as was our petition.

m) No one to appeal to except God; fortunately He suffices.

n) Another Babel seems required, but usually God-haters are man-haters, too, and get to quarreling.

p) Without God earth becomes hell. It all sounds like a period of rebellion.

q) In rank none was equal with King David; but in counsel Ahithophel was not below him,

II Sam. 15:12, but sided with Absalom against him.

PSALMS 55-57

for wickedness is in their dwelling, in their heart.

<sup>16</sup>As for me, I will call on God and the LORD will save me.

<sup>17</sup>Evening, morning and noon I will lament and sigh;<sup>r</sup> and He will hear my voice.

<sup>18</sup>He will rescue my soul to have peace from those who war against me; for they who oppose me number many.

Because in them there has been no change<sup>t</sup> and they do not revere God.

he violated his covenant.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>21</sup>His mouth is sleeker than butter, but in his heart there is war: his words are softer than oil, yet they are drawn swords.

<sup>22</sup>Cast your burden on the LORD, and He will sustain you:<sup>v</sup>

He will never allow the righteous to be pushed over.

<sup>23</sup>But Thou, O God, wilt bring them down into the pit of destruction; bloody and deceitful men shall not live out half their days.

But I will trust in Thee.

Confide in God

For the Chief Musician; to the Tune, A Silent Dove among Strangers. By David, a Psalm of Refuge, when the Philistines Seized Him in Gath.<sup>w</sup>

56 Have mercy upon me, O God; for man would walk over me; all day long the enemy oppresses me.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Daily would my enemies devour me; for many are they who proudly fight against me.

Confidence in God; His Sufficiency

<sup>3</sup>In the day when I am afraid, I will have confidence in Thee.

<sup>4</sup>In God, I will praise His word; in God I trust,<sup>y</sup> I will not fear; what can flesh do to me?<sup>z</sup>

In Thy indignation cast down the people, O God.

<sup>8</sup>Thou takest note of my roaming; put my tears into Thy bottle; are they not in Thy book?

<sup>9</sup>Then shall my enemies fall back in the day of my crying out; this I know, because God is for me.

<sup>10</sup>In God I will praise the word, in the LORD I will praise the word.

<sup>11</sup>In God I trust, I will not fear; what can man do to me?<sup>a</sup>

yes, my feet from stumbling too, so that I might walk before God in the light of life.

No Hope but God, Who Suffices

For the Chief Musician, to the Tune, Do Not Destroy, By David, a Refuge Psalm, when He Fled from Saul into the Cave<sup>d</sup>

57 Be merciful to me, O God, be merciful to me, for in Thee my soul takes refuge, and in the shadow of Thy wings I will shelter until these calamities<sup>e</sup> have passed.

r) Hebrew prayer periods, Dan. 6:10; 9:4.

s) Usually "hear" means a favorable response. Here it would result in their being humbled.

t) Continued prosperity renders them ever less godly.

u) His loyalty pledge as officer of the king and of the state.

v) As butter comes from the churning of milk, so comes this sentence out of the writer's experience. It is not always God's will to remove the trial, but rather to sustain the righteous in it.

w) I Sam. 21:10-15.

x) In the first line man is collective and in the second line "he" retains the plural significance.

y) "In God we trust," is our national motto. May we all practice it.

z) Flesh in the presence of God and opposed to Him stands for weakness. In the N.T. it usually stands for absence of His Spirit, therefore sinfulness. a) His God-related self no man can touch.

b) From birth there is the covenant-vow, signified by circumcision.

c) Ps. 116:8 gives identical reason for gratitude; in response to deliverance, to walk with God.

d) I Sam. 22:1. e) The threatening dangers occasioned by the crimes of others.

<sup>2</sup>I will cry to God Most High,
to God who completes (all things)
for me.

<sup>3</sup>He will send from heaven and save me from the slanderers
of him who would swallow me. Selah
God will send forth His mercy and His truth.

<sup>4</sup>My soul is among lions;
I lie among those sons of men who breathe fire,
whose teeth are spears and arrows, and their tongues a sharp sword.<sup>f</sup>

heavens,
Thy glory over all the earth.

<sup>6</sup>They have prepared a net for my steps;
my soul is bowed down.
They dug a pit before me,
but they themselves have fallen into the center of it. Selah

<sup>7</sup>My heart is confident, O God;
my heart is confident,<sup>g</sup>
I will sing, yes, I will sing praises.

<sup>8</sup>Awake, my glory, awake psalter and harp;

I will awaken the dawn.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>9</sup>I will give thanks to Thee, O LORD,
among the peoples;

I will praise Thee among the Gentiles.

<sup>10</sup>For Thy lovingkindness reaches to the heavens, Thy faithfulness to the clouds.<sup>i</sup>

ens; Thy glory over all the earth.

An Appeal for Fair Judges

For the Chief Musician; to the Tune, Do
Not Destroy, by David, a Refuge Psalm

58 Do you indeed speak righteousness, O you judges,
do you judge the children of men fairly?
<sup>2</sup>No, at heart you work iniquity;
you deal out the violence of your hands
in the land.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>3</sup>The godless are perverse from
the womb;

they go astray from birth, they are falsifiers,

<sup>4</sup>Their poison is like a serpent's venom,
like a deaf adder that stops its ear,

<sup>5</sup>that will not listen to the voice of charmners

casting spells skilfully.

<sup>6</sup>O God, break the fangs in their mouths;

shatter Thou the eyeteeth of young lions, O LORD!

<sup>7</sup>Let them melt away like outrunning water;<sup>k</sup>

as he aims his arrows, let those be as split apart,

<sup>8</sup>as a snail that dissolves as it moves on;
as an untimely birth that never sees
the sun.

<sup>9</sup>Before your pots get the touch of the thorns,<sup>l</sup>

whether green or ablaze, He will sweep them away with a whirlwind.

<sup>10</sup>The righteous will rejoice when
he sees the fair punishment;
he will wash his feet in the blood of the wicked.

<sup>11</sup>And men will say, Surely there is a reward for the righteous; surely there is a God judging in the earth.

The Persecuted Turns to God

For the Chief Musician; to the Tune, Do
Not Destroy; by David, a Refuge Psalm, when Saul Sent and They Watched the House to Kill Him<sup>m</sup>

59 Deliver me from my enemies, O
my God;

keep me away from those who rise
against me.

<sup>2</sup>Deliver me from the workers of
iniquity,
and save me from bloodthirsty men.

<sup>3</sup>For, behold, they lie in wait for my life;

strong men are banding together to attack me,

not for my transgression, nor for my
sin, O LORD.<sup>n</sup>

trained them. <sup>g</sup>) Confident: the state of perfect certainty. <sup>h</sup>) Up before daybreak.

<sup>4</sup>Without any wrong of mine, they run
and prepare themselves.
Arise to my aid and take a look!

<sup>5</sup>Thou, O LORD God of hosts, God of Israel,
arise to visit all the nations;<sup>o</sup>
spare none of those who treacherously
plot evil. Selah

<sup>6</sup>They return at evening; they snarl like dogs and go about the city.

<sup>7</sup>See, they foam at their mouth; swords
are in their lips;

for who, they think; will hear us?

<sup>8</sup>but Thou, O LORD, wilt laugh at
them;

Thou shalt mock at all the nations.

<sup>9</sup>O my Strength, I will wait on Thee, for God is my stronghold.

<sup>10</sup>My God in His covenant-love will meet me;

God will let me look at my enemies
with satisfaction.

<sup>11</sup>Slay them not, lest my people forget;<sup>p</sup> scatter them by Thy power and bring them down, O LORD, our shield.

<sup>12</sup>The sin of their mouth is the word of their lips;
they shall be taken in their pride
for the curses and lies which they utter.

<sup>13</sup>Destroy in indignation, destroy, that they may be no more,
and let them know that God rules in Jacob<sup>a</sup> to the ends of the earth. Selah

<sup>14</sup>They return at evening; they snarl like dogs<sup>r</sup>
and go about the city.

<sup>15</sup>They wander around for food;
they stay out all night, if they are not filled.

<sup>16</sup>But I will sing of Thy strength,<sup>s</sup>
and will sing aloud of Thy righteousness in the morning;
for Thou hast been a stronghold
for me,

a refuge in the day of my distress.

<sup>17</sup>I will sing to Thee, O my strength, for God is my stronghold, my merciful
God.

Prayer for Victory

Lily of Testimony, a Refuge Psalm by David, for Instruction, when He had Striven with the Arameans of Mesopotamia and the Arameans of Zoba, and when Joab Returned and Killed Twelve Thousand of Edom in the Salt Valley<sup>t</sup>

60 O God; Thou hast cast us off,
Thou hast scattered us;
Thou hast been angry; O restore us again.

<sup>2</sup>Thou hast made the land to quake;
Thou hast rent it;
heal its fissures, for it is shaken.

<sup>3</sup>Thou hast made Thy people to endure hardness;
Thou hast made us drink wine that makes us reel."

<sup>4</sup>Thou hast given a banner to those who revere Thee,
so it may display itself, because of Thy truth. Selah

<sup>5</sup>So that Thy loved ones may be delivered,
save with Thy right hand and answer us.

<sup>6</sup>God has spoken in His holiness:<sup>v</sup>
I will exult; I will divide Shechem and measure out the valley of Succoth.

<sup>7</sup>Gilead is mine, Manassah is mine;
Ephraim is the defense of My head;
Judah is My lawgiver;<sup>w</sup> <sup>8</sup>Moab is My washbasin;

over Edom I will throw My shoe; over Philistia I shout in triumph.

<sup>9</sup>Who will bring me into the fortified city,
who will lead me into Edom?

<sup>10</sup>Hast Thou not cast us off, O God,
but wilt Thou not go forth, O God,
with our armies?

<sup>q</sup> Prayer for their destruction is not Christ's idea; however, those who persist in evil must end in ruin, as Jesus warned the Galilean cities, which did not repent.

<sup>11</sup>Grant us help because of trouble, for vain is the help of man.

<sup>12</sup>With God we shall do valiantly;<sup>x</sup>
it is He who will tread down our
enemies.

Confidence in the Lord's Protection
For the Chief Musician; on Stringed Instruments, by David

61 Hear, O God, my pleading;
attend to my prayer.
<sup>2</sup>From the end of the earth I will call to Thee,<sup>y</sup>
when my heart is overwhelmed;
lead me to the rock that is higher than I.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>3</sup>For Thou art a refuge to me,
a strong tower from the presence of
the enemy.

<sup>4</sup>Let me dwell in Thy tent forever;
let me take refuge under the covering of Thy wings. Selah

<sup>5</sup>For Thou, O God, hast heard my vows,
Thou hast given a heritage to those who revere Thy name.

<sup>6</sup>Thou wilt add days to the days of the king,<sup>a</sup>
so his years shall equal many generations.

<sup>7</sup>He shall remain forever before God;
ordain lovingkindness and truth to keep him.

<sup>8</sup>Then I will ever sing praises to Thy
name,
so I may daily pay my vows.<sup>b</sup>

Calm in His Friendship

For the Chief Musician; According to Jeduthun.<sup>c</sup> A Psalm of David

62 Truly my soul looks in stillness
to God;
from Him is my salvation.

<sup>2</sup>He alone is my rock and my health,
my fortress; I shall not be greatly shaken.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>3</sup>How long will you assail a person
to break him down, all of you,
like a leaning wall, a tottering fence?
<sup>4</sup>They consult only to cast him down
from his height;
they cherish falsehood;<sup>e</sup>
with their mouth they bless, but at heart they curse. Selah

<sup>5</sup>Truly, my soul, look in stillness to God,
for my expectation is from Him.

<sup>6</sup>He alone is my rock and my health,<sup>f</sup>
my sure defence; I shall not be shaken.

<sup>7</sup>My salvation and my glory depend on God;
the rock of my defence, my refuge is in God.

<sup>8</sup>Trust in Him at all times, ye people;
pour out your heart before Him;
God is to us a refuge. Selah

<sup>9</sup>Lowly man is but a breath; the sons of nobles are only lies;
in the scales they go up, altogether
lighter than emptiness.

<sup>10</sup>Put no trust in oppressing;
do not vainly hope in robbery.
If riches increase, do not set your heart on them.

<sup>11</sup>Once God has spoken,<sup>g</sup> twice
have I heard this,
that strength belongs to God.

<sup>12</sup>And to Thee, O LORD, belongs
covenant-love,
for Thou rewardest every man
according to his work.

A Soul Thirsting for God

A Psalm of David, when He Was in the Wilderness of Judah<sup>h</sup>

63 O God, Thou art my God, I seek Thee earnestly;

x) Faith in the promises of God inspires confidence of coming victory.

y) Wherever he may be; and we know from Ps. 23 that David communed with God most intimately when he felt at ease.

z) The rock he could not climb without divine help. The words have become part of a lovely church anthem. a) King Saul.

b) Vows made with petitions must be fulfilled with praise when the prayers are answered.

c) Earlier mentioned as Ethan, a Levite musician.

d) Quietly David relates life to God and forms a practical philosophy that rests on God.

e) He is not fooled by appearances; godlessness is sham; it is illness.

f) God alone is the source of health.

g) When we worship God humbly, we may converse with Him. Observe silence, to hear Him make Himself and His will known to us, and read His Word. h) I Sam. 22:5 and 23:1-3.

my soul thirsts for Thee; my flesh longs for Thee<sup>1</sup> in a dry and worn-out land, where there is no water.

<sup>2</sup>So have I beheld Thee in the
sanctuary,
to see Thy power and Thy glory.
<sup>3</sup>Because Thy lovingkindness is better than life,
my lips shall praise Thee.
<sup>4</sup>So will I bless Thee as long as I live;
I will lift up my hands in Thy name.
<sup>5</sup>My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness,
and my mouth shall praise Thee with joyful lips.

<sup>6</sup>When I remember Thee on my bed in the night watches, I meditate on Thee.
<sup>7</sup>For Thou hast been my help,
and in the shadow of Thy wings I will sing joyfully.
<sup>8</sup>My soul follows close behind Thee;<sup>j</sup>
Thy right hand upholds me.

<sup>9</sup>But those who seek to ruin my
soul
shall go into the lower parts of the earth.<sup>k</sup> <sup>10</sup>They shall be handed over to the power of the sword;
they shall be a prey for foxes.
<sup>11</sup>But the king shall rejoice
before God;
all who swear by Him shall jubilate;
for the mouth of those who speak lies
shall be stopped.

Divine Judgment on the Wicked
For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David
64 Hear my voice, O God, in my complaint;
guard my life against the terror of the
enemy.
<sup>2</sup>Hide me from the conspiracy of wicked men,

from the noisy gangs of the evil-doers,<sup>1</sup> <sup>3</sup>who sharpen their tongue like a sword,
who aim poisoned words like arrows.<sup>m</sup> <sup>4</sup>To shoot from ambush at the innocent
they shoot unexpectedly and without self-reproach.

<sup>5</sup>They confirm for themselves an evil agreement;
they talk of laying snares secretly;
they say, "Who shall detect them?"
<sup>6</sup>They work out wicked schemes;
they are ready with a well-conceived plan;<sup>n</sup>
for the inner man and the heart are fathomless.

<sup>7</sup>But God will shoot an unlooked-for arrow at them;<sup>o</sup> they will be wounded.
<sup>8</sup>They will be made to stumble, their own tongue being against them;
all who see them shall wag the head.
<sup>9</sup>Then shall all men be in awe, proclaim the act of God
and learn to know His work.
<sup>10</sup>The righteous shall be glad in the Lord, and trust in Him;
and all the upright in heart shall offer
praise.<sup>p</sup>

How Great Thou Art!
For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.
A Song

65 Silence is praise to Thee, O God, in Zion;<sup>q</sup>
and to Thee the vow shall be fulfilled.
<sup>2</sup>O Thou who hearest prayer, to Thee shall all flesh come.<sup>r</sup>

<sup>3</sup>Iniquities got the better of me;
our transgressions Thou forgivest.
<sup>4</sup>Blessed is the man whom Thou choosest
and bringest near to dwell in Thy courts.
We shall be satisfied with the goodness
of Thy house,
Thy sacred temple.

i) A soul longs for God when aware of belonging to God. Attending worship with others helped him to understand God better. j) The longing soul wants to stay near Him.
k) Is there a greater sin than ruining another's soul? Correspondingly there is no greater service than to lead a soul to Christ.
l) Like a few frogs in a pond, so those on the wrong side manage to seem many.
m) Poisoned arrows are usually fatal if they hit.
n) The godly must have a definite plan, being "wise as serpents."
o) They get what is coming to them.
p) The finals are always with God, to whom praise is due.
q) We must be silent, and be receptive. r) Weak man and mighty God.

<sup>5</sup>With awesome deeds Thou dost
respond to us in righteousness,
O God of our salvation,<sup>a</sup> who art the confidence of all the ends
of the earth
and of the remotest seas.

<sup>6</sup>Who by Thy might hast founded the mountains,
being clothed with power.
<sup>7</sup>Who dost still the roaring of the seas,
the moaning of their waves, and the clamor of the nations.

<sup>8</sup>Those who live farthest away,
stand in awe at Thy signs.
Thou makest the morning dawn and
the evening sunset to shout for joy.
<sup>9</sup>Thou visitest the land and watercrest it, Thou greatly enrichest it; God's river
is brimful of water.<sup>c</sup>
Thou providest them grain, for so Thou hast ordained it;
<sup>10</sup>watering the furrows, softening its ridges,
Thou makest it soft with showers;
Thou dost bless its vegetation.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>11</sup>Thou crownest the year with Thy goodness,<sup>v</sup>
and Thy footsteps drop abundance.
<sup>12</sup>The pastures of the wilderness drip
and the hills are girded with rejoicing.
<sup>13</sup>The meadows are clothed with flocks
and the valleys are covered with grain;
they shout for joy; they also sing.

How Great Thy Goodness!
For the Chief Musician. A Song. A Psalm 66 Shout joyfully to God, all the
earth;

<sup>2</sup>Sing out to glorify His name; render Him glorious praise.
<sup>3</sup>Say to God, "How awe-inspiring are Thy works;
for Thy great power Thy enemies
submit to Thee.
<sup>4</sup>All the earth shall do Thee homage and shall sing to Thee; they shall sing
to Thy name."<sup>w</sup> Selah

<sup>5</sup>Come and see what God has done;
in His work He is awesome toward
the children of men.
<sup>6</sup>He turned the sea into dry land;
they passed through the river on foot;<sup>x</sup>
there we rejoiced in Him.
<sup>7</sup>He rules by His power forever; His eyes observe the nations;
let not the rebellious exalt themselves.
Selah

<sup>8</sup>Bless our God, O ye peoples, and sound His praise abroad,<sup>y</sup> <sup>9</sup>who keeps our soul in life,
and does not allow our foot to slip.
<sup>10</sup>For Thou hast tested us, O God,<sup>z</sup> Thou hast refined us as silver is purified.
<sup>11</sup>Thou hast brought us into the net;
Thou hast laid a heavy burden on our hips.<sup>a</sup> <sup>12</sup>Thou hast made men to ride over
our head;
we went through fire and through water,
and Thou hast brought us to an overflowing abundance.

<sup>13</sup>I will enter Thy house with burnt-offerings;<sup>b</sup>
I will pay Thee my vows, <sup>14</sup>which my lips have uttered and my mouth has spoken when I was in distress.
<sup>15</sup>Burnt-offerings of fat sheep I will offer
with the incense of rams;
I will offer bullocks with he-goats.
Selah

<sup>16</sup>Come and hear, all who revere God,
and I will declare what He has done
for my soul:
<sup>17</sup>I called out to Him with my mouth, and praise was in my tongue.<sup>c</sup> <sup>18</sup>If I regard iniquity in my heart the Lord will not hear;
<sup>19</sup>But God certainly has heard;

s) If we will listen, God's mighty acts answer many questions.

t) The irrigation canal, supplying untold acres.

u) God provides the moisture; He also causes the growth for which the farmer hopes.

v) From here on we have an up-to-date hymn, parts of which we use in our Thanksgiving anthems.

w) For which the psalmist prepares them. x) At the Red Sea and the Jordan.

y) As lined in one of our great hymns. z) Plenty of testing, leading to victory.

a) Carrying loads on the hip was customary.

b) None but priests entered tabernacle or temple; here as usual the courts outside the holy place and the Holy of Holies are meant.

c) No sooner had he invoked the LORD than he had reason to praise Him.

He has attended to the voice of my prayer.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>20</sup>Blessed be God, who has turned away neither my prayer nor His covenant-love from me.

The God of the Nations

For the Chief Musician, on Stringed Instruments. A Psalm. A Song

67 God be merciful to us and bless us, and cause His face to shine upon us,<sup>e</sup>

Selah

<sup>2</sup>so that Thy way may be known upon earth, Thy saving health among all nations.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>4</sup>May the nations be glad and sing for joy; for Thou shalt judge the people fairly and guide the nations upon earth.

<sup>5</sup>May the peoples thank Thee, O God; may the peoples praise Thee, all of them.

<sup>6</sup>The earth has yielded her harvest;

God, our God, will bless us.

<sup>7</sup>God will bless us and all the ends of the earth will revere Him.

Our God Victorious

For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David. A Song

68 God shall arise; His enemies shall be scattered;<sup>g</sup> those who hate Him shall flee before His face.

<sup>2</sup>As smoke is driven away, so Thou shalt drive them away; as wax melts before the fire, so the wicked shall perish before God.

<sup>3</sup>But the righteous shall exult; they shall rejoice before God;

yes, they shall rejoice with mirth-making.

<sup>4</sup>Sing to God, sing to His name: raise a highway for Him who rides through the wilderness; the LORD is His name; be jubilant before Him.

<sup>5</sup>A father to the fatherless and a champion of the widows<sup>h</sup> is God in His holy habitation,

<sup>6</sup>God who makes the lonely to live in a home; who brings out prisoners into prosperity; but the rebellious dwell in a parched land.

<sup>7</sup>O God, when Thou didst go forth before Thy people,<sup>i</sup> when Thou didst move through the wilderness,

Selah

<sup>8</sup>the earth trembled; even the heavens dropped before God; Sinai (quaked) before God, the God of Israel.

<sup>13</sup>Did you camp among the sheep-folds? The dove's wings are covered with silver, and her feathers with glistening gold.<sup>k</sup>

d) Proof that his heart was clean.

e) For communion with God we need more than forgiveness. Pardon is in a way negative; we need His blessing. Then we should so live that God is pleased with us; His face shines on us. f) Following this we are ready to tell everyone about our wonderful God, praying that they, too, may find Him, so bringing thanksgiving to all.

g) This is a victory song, God being the Victor, a joy for the righteous, a dread to the wicked.

h) Of whom men so readily took advantage. i) From Egypt to Canaan. j) The Promised Land.

k) After horrible war experiences, luxury. l) Zalmon is a hill in central Palestine.

a mountain studded with peaks is the Bashan range.

<sup>16</sup>Why do you gaze with envious hostility, O many-peaked mountains, at the mountains which God has chosen for His abode?<sup>m</sup>
Yes, the LORD will dwell there forever.

<sup>17</sup>The chariots of God are twice ten thousand, thousands upon thousands;
the LORD came from Sinai into the holy place.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>19</sup>Blessed be the LORD; day by day He carries us,
the God of our salvation. Selah

<sup>20</sup>Our God is a God of rescuings; from the LORD God are escapes from death.

<sup>21</sup>Yes, God will strike the head of His enemies,
the hairy scalp of him who goes on in his guilty doings.

<sup>22</sup>The LORD said, I will bring back from Bashan;
I will restore from the depths of the sea.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>23</sup>so that your foot may bathe in blood and the tongue of your dogs may have a portion of your enemies.

<sup>24</sup>They have seen Thy procession, O God,
the procession of my God, my King, into the sanctuary.

<sup>25</sup>Singers in the van; musicians in the rear,
in the center maidens playing on timbrels.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>26</sup>Praise ye God in the congregations, the LORD,
you who are from Israel's fountain.<sup>r</sup>

the princes of Judah in their crowd; the princes of Zebulun; the princes of Naphtali.

<sup>28</sup>Your God has commanded your strength.

O God, display Thy strength, Thou who hast achieved for us.

<sup>30</sup>Rebuke the beasts of the reeds,<sup>s</sup> the herd of bulls, with the calves of the peoples,<sup>t</sup> prostrating themselves with pieces of silver.

He has scattered the peoples that delight in war.

<sup>32</sup>Sing to God, ye kingdoms of the earth; sing praises to the LORD;

<sup>33</sup>to Him who rides upon the heavens, the ancient heavens:
Behold, He sends forth His voice, His mighty voice.

His might is in the clouds.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>35</sup>Awe-inspiring art Thou, O God, from Thy sanctuary;
the God of Israel,
who bestows strength and fulness of might to His people.<sup>v</sup> Blessed be God!

Prayer for God's Fatherly Protection
For the Chief Musician, to the Tune, The Lilies. By David

69 O God, save me; for the waters come up to my lips;<sup>w</sup>

<sup>2</sup>I am sinking in deep mire and there is no place for me to stand;
I have come to deep waters and a flood overwhelms me.

<sup>3</sup>I have cried until I am exhausted;
my eyes grow dim while I wait for my God.

m) Zion. n) Zion.

o) Quoted by Paul, Eph. 4:8, applied to the gifts God has granted Christian workers to serve in His church. p) From the heights and from the depths.

q) Like Miriam and the women, Ex. 15:20. r) Jacob's descendants, the tribes of Israel.

s) Crocodiles, so referring to Egypt. t) Bulls represent leaders; calves, the people.

u) Sensed strongly during a thunderstorm.

v) In His strength alone can Israel stand, and He suffices.

w) This is prayer, beginning with telling God of the plight he is in. To know that and to talk it over with God is the beginning of release.

<sup>4</sup>They<sup>x</sup> that hate me without a reason are more numerous than the hairs on my head. Those who wish to destroy me are powerful; they are my enemies wrongfully; I have to replace what I did not steal.

<sup>6</sup>May those who have their hope in Thee not be put to shame because of me.<sup>y</sup> May it never happen that those who seek Thee be brought to dishonor on my account, O God of Israel!

<sup>8</sup>I have become a stranger to my brothers, an alien to my mother's children.
<sup>9</sup>Because the zeal for Thy house has consumed me,<sup>z</sup> and reproach falls on me from those who affront Thee.

<sup>11</sup>When I put on sackcloth for my clothing, I became a laughingstock to them.
<sup>12</sup>Those who sit by the gate talk about me; I have become the song of the drinkers.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>13</sup>But as for me, my prayer is to Thee, LORD;
at an opportune moment, O God, in Thy plenteous grace,
answer me with the truth of Thy salvation.
<sup>14</sup>Do not allow me to sink, but save me from the mire;<sup>b</sup> rescue me from my enemies and from the deep waters.

<sup>15</sup>Keep the flood waters from overwhelming me; do not let the deep swallow me up, or the pit close its mouth over me.

<sup>16</sup>Answer me, O LORD, for Thy grace is good; turn to me according to Thy plenteous mercy.

<sup>19</sup>Thou knowest my reproach, my shame and my dishonor; all my adversaries stand before Thee.

<sup>20</sup>Reproach has broken my heart and I feel depressed; I looked for sympathy, but there was none; and for comforters, but I found no one.
<sup>21</sup>They gave me gall for my food; and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>26</sup>For him who is smitten of Thee, they persecute, they gossip of the pain of Thy pierced ones.

<sup>28</sup>Let them be blotted out of the book of life, and not be recorded with the righteous.

x) Being misunderstood is basic to many of our difficulties.

y) We, too, may well pray daily not to be stumbling blocks. Paul in Romans 14 shows his great concern along that line. z) Fulfilled in Jesus, John 2:17.

a) The leaders meeting in council as well as the riffraff are against him.

b) Similar to Jeremiah's experiences, Jer. 38:6, with whom it was literal.

c) So he is driven to God.

d) In each of the Gospels our Lord's drinking vinegar on the cross is reported.

e) These curses are not in the N. T. spirit. We should consider, though, that the writer felt his cause to be God's cause and his foes God's foes. f) Peter quotes this regarding Judas, Acts 1:20.

<sup>29</sup>But I am afflicted and in pain,
let Thy salvation, O God, set me
on high.

<sup>30</sup>I will praise the name of God with
a song
and will magnify Him with
thanksgiving.

<sup>31</sup>It will please the LORD better than any ox,
or bullock with horns and hoofs.

<sup>32</sup>The humble shall see it, and be glad:

you who seek God, let your heart revive!

<sup>33</sup>For the LORD hears the needy, and does not despise His prisoners.

<sup>34</sup>Let heaven and earth
praise Him,
the seas and everything that moves
in them;

<sup>35</sup>For God will save Zion and build
the cities of Judah;
that people may dwell there and
possess it.

<sup>36</sup>The offspring of His servants shall inherit it,
and they who love His name shall abide in it.<sup>g</sup>

A Prayer for Speedy Aid
For the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David;
to Bring to Remembrance

70 O God, to my rescue,<sup>h</sup>
O LORD, to my help make haste.

<sup>2</sup>Let those be ashamed and confounded who seek my soul;
let those be turned back and put to shame who desire my hurt.

<sup>3</sup>Let those turn back as a reward of their shame,
who say: "Aha, aha!"<sup>i</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Let all those who seek Thee rejoice and be glad in Thee;
and let those who love Thy salvation
say continually,
"Let God be magnified."

<sup>5</sup>But I am poor and needy, O God,
hasten to me:

Thou art my help and my deliverer;
O LORD, do not tarry.

The Prayer of an Aged Worshiper

71 In Thee, O LORD, I take refuge: let me never be put to shame.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Through Thy righteousness, deliver me
and set me free;

incline Thy ear to me and save me.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>3</sup>Be Thou to me a rock for a dwelling, to which I may always resort;

Thou hast ordered to save me, for Thou art my rock and my stronghold.

<sup>4</sup>Deliver me, O my God, from the hand of the wicked, from the hand of the unjust and ruthless;

<sup>5</sup>for Thou art my hope, O LORD God; Thou art my trust from my youth.

<sup>6</sup>Upon Thee I have leaned from birth; it was Thou who took me from the maternal womb. My praise is continually of Thee.

<sup>7</sup>I have been a marvel to many, but Thou art my strong refuge.

<sup>8</sup>My mouth is filled with Thy praise
and with Thy glory all day.

<sup>9</sup>Cast me not off in my old age;
forsake me not now that my strength is spent.

<sup>10</sup>For my enemies talk of me; those who watch my life consult together,

<sup>11</sup>saying, "God has forsaken him;
chase and seize him, for there is
none to deliver."

<sup>12</sup>O God, be not far from me; O
my God, make haste for my help.

<sup>13</sup>Let them be ashamed and consumed,
who waylay my life;

with reproach and dishonor may they
be covered, who seek my hurt.

<sup>14</sup>But I will hope continually and praise Thee more and more.

<sup>15</sup>My mouth shall tell of Thy righteousness and Thy salvation all
the day;

g) Present rescues encourage the saints and inspire them to expect future security.

h) This psalm is nearly identical with Ps. 40:13-17, also ascribed to David; both plead in different ways and with assurance of God's help. i) May they turn to join the singers of the next verse.

j) Ps. 31:1, 2 is almost identical with vv. 1, 2 of this psalm. Remarkable in both is the plea resting on God's righteousness, in which they felt they had a share.

k) Here is witness to a godly training.

for they are beyond my numbering.

<sup>16</sup>I will go in the strength of the Lord God; I will make mention of Thy righteousness, Thine alone.

<sup>17</sup>O God, Thou hast taught me from my youth and I still declare Thy wonders.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>18</sup>So even to old age and gray hairs, O God, do not forsake me, till I proclaim Thy might to this generation and Thy power to all descendants.

<sup>19</sup>Thy righteousness, O God, is most high, and Thou hast done great things, O God; Who is Thy equal?

<sup>20</sup>Thou, who hast made me experience troubles great and sore,<sup>m</sup> wilt revive me again and wilt bring me up again from the depths of the earth.

<sup>22</sup>I will also praise Thee with the harp for Thy faithfulness, O my God;

I will sing praise to Thee with the lyre, O Holy One of Israel.

<sup>23</sup>My lips will shout for joy when I sing praise to Thee; and my soul, which Thou hast redeemed.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>24</sup>My tongue also shall mention Thy righteousness all day long; for those who sought my hurt have been shamed and disgraced.

Prayer for Righteous Ruling

By Solomon

72 O God, grant the king Thy justice and Thy righteousness to the king's son.

<sup>4</sup>May he judge the poor among the people, save the children of the needy and crush the oppressor.

as long as the moon, to all generations.

<sup>6</sup>May He come down like rain upon the mown grass, as showers that refresh the earth.

<sup>7</sup>In His days shall the righteous flourish,

and abundance of peace till the moon be no more.

<sup>8</sup>May He have dominion from sea to sea and from the river<sup>q</sup> to the bounds of the earth.

and His enemies shall grovel in the dust.

all nations shall serve Him.

<sup>12</sup>For He will deliver the needy, when he calls, and the poor, who has no helper.

<sup>13</sup>He will have pity on the weak and needy

and will save the souls of the needy;<sup>r</sup>

<sup>14</sup>from oppression and violence He shall redeem their soul;

and precious is their blood in His sight.

<sup>15</sup>He shall live and to Him shall be given of the gold of Sheba, and they shall pray for Him continually;<sup>s</sup>

1) If he keeps on seeing God's wonders, he will never grow old in attitude.

m) He accepted adversities for what they are — divine discipline.

n) His whole soul was in it when he sang or played.

r) The Euphrates, which was the eastern boundary of lands promised to Israel and conquered by David.

s) How accurate a picture the poet draws of the Messiah's character! This King is more than human. s) As now we pray for the spread of His kingdom.

they shall bless Him all the day.

<sup>16</sup>May there be abundance of grain in the land on top of the mountains;<sup>t</sup> may its fruit wave like Lebanon, and may they of the city flourish like grass of the earth.

<sup>17</sup>May His name endure for ever; may His reputation flourish before the sun.

May men be prospered in Him; may all nations call Him blessed.

<sup>18</sup>Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel,<sup>u</sup> who alone does wondrous things.

<sup>19</sup>And blessed be His glorious name for ever; may the whole earth be filled with His glory! Amen and Amen.<sup>v</sup>

Two Kinds of Life; Two Destinies
A Psalm of Asaph

73 Surely God is good to Israel, to those whose hearts are pure;<sup>2</sup> but as for me, my feet had almost stumbled, my steps had nearly slipped.

and their tongue ranges the earth.

<sup>10</sup>Therefore His people turn this way and that,<sup>x</sup>

and like profuse waters are gulped down<sup>y</sup> by them.

<sup>11</sup>And they say, "Does God know? Is there knowledge in the Most High?"

<sup>12</sup>Truly such are the wicked; they are secure and their riches increase.

<sup>13</sup>Uselessly then I have cleansed my heart and have washed my hands in innocence,

<sup>14</sup>(for all day long I have been beaten and chastened every morning.

<sup>15</sup>Had I said, "So I will speak," I would indeed have played false to Thy children.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>16</sup>Yet, when I pondered to understand this,

it was too overwhelming for me,<sup>a</sup>

<sup>17</sup>until I went into God's sanctuary and perceived their ending.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>18</sup>Truly, Thou dost set them in slippery places;

Thou dost make them tumble to ruin.

<sup>19</sup>How they are brought to desolation in a moment,

wiped out, annihilated through terrors!

Thou dost hold my right hand;<sup>c</sup>

and afterward Thou wilt receive me to glory.<sup>d</sup>

t) The least likely place for a grain crop.

u) Literally we cannot bless God, for, Heb. 7:7, "The less is blessed of the better." In Scripture, blessing God means ascribing to Him the highest possible praise.

v) This completes the second Book of Psalms. *) For this Second Book of the Psalms.

w) They mouth they set in heaven; i.e., they speak with supposed heavenly authority, and they blaspheme God. x) Confused in their thinking.

y) They swallow the philosophy and thinking of the ungodly as a thirsty man drinks water.

z) Had the psalmist spoken his thoughts to others, he would have misled God's people.

a) It was labor to my eyes. b) The sad end of evildoers.

c) By faith vivid enough to be felt as an experience.

d) Glory here is not merely a place, but a Presence that will be sensed when afflictions cease and the end of life has come.

<sup>25</sup>Whom have I in heaven
[but Thee]?
And besides Thee there is none on earth whom I desire.
<sup>26</sup>Though my flesh and my heart
fail,
God is the strength of my heart and
my portion for ever.
<sup>27</sup>For see, those who are far from Thee
shall perish;
Thou wilt destroy all who play Thee
false.
<sup>28</sup>But as for me, drawing near<sup>e</sup> to God is good for me;
I have made the LORD my refuge,
so that I may announce all Thy works.

Prayer for God's Help

A Psalm of Asaph. An Instruction

74 O God, why hast Thou cast us off for ever? Why does Thy anger burn
against the sheep of Thy pasture?
<sup>2</sup>Remember Thy congregation, which Thou hast acquired of old,
which Thou hast redeemed as the tribe
of Thy heritage,
this Mount Zion, where Thou art dwelling.

<sup>3</sup>Direct Thy steps to this perpetual ruin; the enemy has destroyed everything in the
sanctuary.
<sup>4</sup>In the midst of Thy appointed place
the adversaries roared and erected their emblems for signs.
<sup>5</sup>It looks as if one had brought down
the axe on brushwood;
<sup>6</sup>all its carved work, too, they have broken down with axe and hammer.
<sup>7</sup>They have set Thy sanctuary on fire;
they have profaned to the ground the dwelling to Thy name.<sup>f</sup> <sup>8</sup>They said to themselves, "Let us subdue them completely";
they burned all God's meeting places
in the land.
<sup>9</sup>We do not see our symbols; there is no longer a prophet,

and none among us knows for how long.

<sup>10</sup>How long, O God, shall the adversary reproach?
Shall the enemy disdain Thy name
forever?
<sup>11</sup>Why dost Thou hold back Thy hand,
even Thy right hand?
[Draw it] out of Thy bosom; make an end.

<sup>12</sup>Still, God is my King from of old,
who has worked salvation in the midst
of the earth.

<sup>13</sup>It was Thou who didst divide the sea by Thy power;
It was Thou who didst crush the heads of the dragons on the waters.<sup>h</sup> <sup>14</sup>It was Thou who didst smash the heads of the Leviathan, giving him as food to the animals of
the desert.

<sup>15</sup>It was Thou who didst break open fountain and brook;<sup>i</sup>
It was Thou who didst dry up ever-flowing rivers.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>16</sup>Thine is the day as well as the
night;
Thou hast established the starlight and
the sun.

<sup>17</sup>It was Thou who didst fix all the boundaries of the earth;
summer and winter are the work of Thy hand.

<sup>18</sup>Remember, LORD, that the enemy scoffs;
a foolish people reviles Thy name.
<sup>19</sup>Do not deliver to the wild beasts the life of Thy turtle dove;<sup>k</sup>
do not forget the life of Thy afflicted ones for ever.
<sup>20</sup>Remember the covenant,<sup>l</sup> because the dark places of the land are full of caves of violence.

<sup>21</sup>Let not the downtrodden return
in shame;
let the oppressed and needy praise Thy
name.

e) Drawing near and being in the presence of God.

g) Temple burning is mentioned only at the beginning of the Babylonian captivity. There is no mention of houses of Jehovah's worship until after the captivity, but there may have been such earlier. h) Dragons and Leviathan — the crocodile — typify the Egyptians destroyed at the Red Sea.

i) Water from the rock in the desert. j) The Jordan through which the Israelites passed.

k) So precious was Israel to God.

l) The old pledge between God and Abraham, confirmed at Sinai.

Thanksgiving and Praise

PSALMS 74-77

<sup>22</sup>Arise, O God, plead Thy cause;
remember the insults which the fools
have hurled at Thee all day long.<sup>m</sup> <sup>23</sup>Do not forget the clamor of Thy
enemies,
the noise of Thy adversaries that keeps
on increasing.

*Thanks to God, the Righteous Judge
To the Chief Musician, to the Melody of
"Destroy Not." A Psalm of Asaph. A Song*

75 We praise Thee, O God, we praise Thee;
for that Thy name is near Thy wondrous works declare.

<sup>2</sup>At the time which I have appointed I will render fair judgments.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>3</sup>The earth is quaking with all its inhabitants;

I have set firm its pillars. Selah

<sup>4</sup>I said to the boastful, "Do not boast;" and to the wicked,
"Do not lift up your horn.

<sup>5</sup>Do not lift your horn up high, and do not talk with an insolent throat."<sup>o</sup>

<sup>6</sup>For neither from the east nor from the west nor from the desert does promotion come;

<sup>7</sup>but God is the Judge. He puts down one and promotes another.

<sup>8</sup>For there is a cup in the LORD's hand; the wine is foaming, thoroughly mixed.

He pours out from it; yes, the wicked of the earth must swallow it and drink its dregs.

<sup>9</sup>As for me, I will declare for ever; I will sing psalms to the God of Jacob.

<sup>10</sup>All the horns of the ungodly I will strike down; but the horns of the righteous shall be highly exalted.

God, His People's Protector

To the Chief Musician on Stringed Instruments. A Psalm of Asaph. A Song

76 In Judah God has renown; His name is great in Israel.

m) What they did against God's worshipers they were doing against God, as Jesus taught concerning His disciples [Matt. 25:40, 45]. n) The Judge of all sets His own time.

o) The bowed head is more befitting. p) Abbreviation for Jerusalem.

q) He breaks battles, too, as Ps. 46:9 teaches.

r) "The everlasting mountains," the Septuagint translates it.

s) "Praise," either indicating the song's content or the name of a musician appointed by David [I Chron. 16:41; 25:16]. t) Repetition indicates extreme seriousness.

u) Palm up, hoping to receive divine help.

dwelling place in Zion.

<sup>3</sup>There He broke the fiery arrows of
the bow,
the shield, the sword, and the battle.<sup>q</sup>
Selah

<sup>4</sup>Glorious Thou art, more glorious and more excellent than the mountains of prey.<sup>r</sup>

<sup>5</sup>The stouthearted have their loot taken;

they have slept their sleep.
None of the men of might could use their hands.

<sup>6</sup>At Thy rebuke, O God of Jacob, both charioteer and horse lie sunk in sleep.

<sup>7</sup>Thou, even Thou, art to be revered, and who can stand before Thee when Thou art indignant?

<sup>8</sup>From heaven Thou didst cause
judgment to be heard;

the earth feared and was still

<sup>9</sup>when God arose for judgment to save all the meek of the earth. Selah

<sup>10</sup>Surely the wrath of man shall praise
Thee;

further wrath wilt Thou restrain.

<sup>11</sup>Make vows to the LORD your God, and perform them;

let all around Him bring gifts to Him,
who is to be revered,

<sup>12</sup>who cuts off the breath of princes, who is dreadful to the kings of the
earth.

Encouraging Memories

To the Chief Musician, to Jeduthun.<sup>s</sup> A Psalm of Asaph

77 My voice is to God; I call; my voice is to God,<sup>t</sup>
that He may listen to me.

<sup>2</sup>I sought the LORD in the day of my distress;

in the night my hand was stretched out
and did not weary;<sup>u</sup>

my soul refused to be comforted.

<sup>3</sup>When I was moaning, I thought of God;

when my spirit was faint, I pondered.
Selah

<sup>4</sup>Thou holdest my eyelids waking;<sup>v</sup> I am so disturbed I am speechless.

<sup>5</sup>I think about the days of old, the years of ancient times.

<sup>6</sup>In the night I remember my song;
with my heart I meditated
and my spirit made diligent search.

<sup>7</sup>Has the LORD rejected me for ever?<sup>w</sup> Will He never again be favorable?

<sup>8</sup>Has His love ended eternally? Has His promise failed to all generations?

<sup>9</sup>Has God forgotten to be merciful?
Has He in indignation locked away
His compassion? Selah

<sup>10</sup>I said, "This grieves me;
the right hand of the Most High changes."

<sup>11</sup>I brought to mind the works of the LORD,

for I remembered Thy miracles of old.

<sup>12</sup>I will think of all Thy works and consider well all Thy wonders.

<sup>13</sup>Thy way, O God, is holy.<sup>x</sup>
Who is so great a god as God!

<sup>14</sup>Thou art the God who workest wonders; Thou hast revealed Thy power.

<sup>15</sup>With a mighty arm Thou hast redeemed Thy people,<sup>y</sup>
the sons of Jacob and Joseph.<sup>z</sup> Selah

<sup>16</sup>The waters saw Thee, O God; the waters saw Thee, they shuddered;<sup>a</sup>
the deep shuddered, too.

<sup>17</sup>The clouds poured down water; the skies rumbled with thunder;
Thy lightning arrows zigzagged.

<sup>18</sup>The voice of Thy thunder was in the whirlwind;
the lightnings illumined the world; the earth trembled and shook.

<sup>19</sup>Thy ways are in the sea, Thy paths in the great waters;
Thy footprints are untraceable.

<sup>20</sup>Thou hast led Thy people as a flock
by the hand of Moses and Aaron.<sup>b</sup>

God in the Nation's History
A Meditation of Asaph

78 My people, give ear to my instruction;

listen to the words of my mouth,

<sup>2</sup>as I open my lips in a parable,
as I utter lessons from ancient times,

<sup>3</sup>which we have heard and known, for our fathers related them to us.

<sup>4</sup>We do not conceal them from their children,

recounting to the following generation
the praises of the LORD and His might, yes, the wondrous works He has performed.

<sup>5</sup>For He established a testimony
with Jacob;

He appointed a law in Israel,
which He commanded our fathers to disclose to their sons,<sup>c</sup>

<sup>6</sup>in order that the succeeding generation might know, that the children still to be born might arise and recount it to their sons,

<sup>7</sup>so as to put their confidence in God
and not to forget God's works,

but to keep His commandments.
<sup>8</sup>That they might not be like their fathers,

a generation of obstinacy and rebellion,
a generation which did not prepare
its heart;

and its spirit was not faithful to God.

<sup>9</sup>The sons of Ephraim, equipped with the bow,
retreated in the day of battle.

<sup>10</sup>They did not keep God's covenant
and refused to walk in His Law.

<sup>11</sup>They forgot His deeds and His wonders

which He had shown them.

<sup>12</sup>He performed miracles before the eyes of their fathers in the land of Egypt in the field of Zoan.<sup>d</sup>

v) God's nearness never doubted.

w) While this psalm sounds personal, it also represents the nation.

x) The conclusion upon devout observation. y) Also impression of His might.

z) Jacob, as father of all Israel; Joseph through his saving the family.

a) The Red Sea and the Jordan. b) In the exodus and desert journeys.

c) The godly Israelites taught lessons to their children. The textbook was the Word which God had revealed. Their purpose was to bring up the children as worshipers of God, adoring Him and keeping His covenant. The method was narration of the saving acts of God for His people. The school was the home where the fathers took time and pains to teach the children.

d) A town in the eastern part of the Nile Delta now known as San.

<sup>13</sup>He divided the sea and had them pass through;
yes, He made the waters stand up like a heap.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>14</sup>By day He guided them with a cloud
and all night with a burning light.
<sup>15</sup>He split the rocks in the wilderness and gave them drink as from the great deep.

<sup>16</sup>He made streams gush from the rock
and caused waters to run down like rivers.

<sup>17</sup>But they sinned still more against Him
by showing disobedience
to the Most High in the wilderness.

<sup>18</sup>Indeed, they tested God in their hearts
by asking for flesh as they craved it.

<sup>19</sup>They even spoke against God. They said,

"Does God have power to set a table
for us in the wilderness?"

<sup>20</sup>Behold, He struck a rock, so that the waters gushed out
and streams overflowed.

Is He also able to give bread?
Will He prepare meat for His people?"

<sup>21</sup>Therefore, when the LORD
heard, He was provoked;
a fire was kindled against Jacob and anger arose against Israel,

<sup>22</sup>because they put no faith in God;
neither did they trust in His salvation, <sup>23</sup>although He had ordered the clouds
from above

and opened the doors of heaven; <sup>24</sup>although He had rained manna upon them to eat

and had given them heavenly grain.

<sup>25</sup>Man ate the bread of the mighty;
He furnished them food in abundance.

<sup>26</sup>He set loose an east wind in the
heavens,
and in His might He brought in a south wind.

<sup>27</sup>He rained flesh upon them as dust, yes, winged fowl as the sand of the sea.

<sup>28</sup>He let them fall in the midst of their camp all around their tents.

<sup>29</sup>So they ate and were fully satisfied, for He sent them what they had craved.

<sup>30</sup>But scarce had they stilled their craving,
their food still being in their mouths, <sup>31</sup>when God's indignation came upon them and He slaughtered their sturdiest
and felled the choicest of Israel.

<sup>32</sup>In spite of all this, they sinned still more
and had no confidence in His wondrous works.

<sup>33</sup>So He made their days disappear like
a fog, made their years end in sudden
disaster.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>34</sup>When He ruined them, they inquired for Him;
they returned and sought God diligently.

<sup>35</sup>They remembered that God was their Rock,
the most high God, their Redeemer.

<sup>36</sup>They flattered Him with their mouth,<sup>g</sup>
they lied to Him with their tongue;
<sup>37</sup>for their heart was not sincere with Him,
they were not faithful in His covenant.

<sup>38</sup>But He, the merciful One, forgave their sin and did not destroy
them.

Many a time He restrained His anger and did not give vent to His indignation.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>39</sup>He remembered that they were flesh,
a wind that leaves and does not return.

<sup>40</sup>How often they disobeyed Him
in the wilderness
and grieved Him in the desert!

<sup>41</sup>Repeatedly they tested God and provoked the Holy One of Israel.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>42</sup>They did not remember His hand,
the day when He delivered them from
the enemy;

e) Such a heap of water as a mighty wind had formed.

f) Severe discipline was needed and proved effective for those who witnessed it.

g) By the same discipline, some obeyed; others rebelled, as in our day.

h) At Moses' earnest pleading.

i) Blessings God was so ready to bestow were withheld because the people were not receptive.

<sup>43</sup>how He worked His signs in Egypt and His wonders in the field of Zoan.

and their streams so that they could not drink.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>45</sup>He sent among them swarms of flies
that ate them;

frogs, too, that devastated them.

<sup>46</sup>He gave their crops to locusts and their produce to grasshoppers.

<sup>47</sup>With hail He broke down their vines
and with sleet their sycamores.

<sup>48</sup>He gave up their cattle to hail and their herds to thunderbolts.

<sup>49</sup>Sending forth evil spirits, He cast
upon them bursting anger,
His overflowing wrath, indignation,
and distress.

He did not spare their soul from death,
but He caused their lives to be delivered to the plague.

<sup>51</sup>Yes, He smote all the first-born of Egypt,
the prime of their strength in the tents
of Ham.

<sup>52</sup>But He moved out His people like sheep
and guided them like a flock in the desert.

<sup>53</sup>He led them in safety, so they were not afraid;
but their enemies He covered with the <sup>54</sup>He brought them to His holy domain,

to the mountain which His right hand
had gained.

<sup>55</sup>He drove out peoples before them
and allotted them a measured
inheritance;
He settled the tribes of Israel in their tents.

<sup>56</sup>But they tested and embittered
the Most High God

and did not observe His testimonies.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>57</sup>They turned away and acted unfaith-
fully like their fathers;

they twisted like a warped bow.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>58</sup>They made Him angry with their high places,
and with their idols they provoked His jealousy.

<sup>59</sup>God heard it and His anger burned; He deeply abhorred Israel.

<sup>60</sup>He forsook the dwelling at Shiloh,
the tabernacle which He had pitched
among men;

<sup>61</sup>Yes, He delivered His ark into captivity
and its glory<sup>n</sup> into the hand of the foe.

<sup>62</sup>He abandoned His people to the sword and poured His anger on His inheritance.

<sup>63</sup>The fire consumed their young men
and their maidens were not serenaded.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>64</sup>Their priests fell by the sword, and their widows made no mourning.

<sup>65</sup>Then the LORD was aroused as one from sleep,
like a strong man heated from wine.

<sup>66</sup>He beat His enemies back; He caused them unending disgrace.

<sup>67</sup>He rejected the tabernacle of Joseph and did not choose the tribe of Ephraim;

Mount Zion, which He loved.<sup>p</sup>

to the integrity of his heart;
he guided them by the skilled workings of his hands.

A Prayer for Retribution on Jerusalem's Destroyers

A Psalm of Asaph

79 O God, the Gentiles have invaded Thy heritage;<sup>r</sup>

they have profaned Thy holy temple; they have turned Jerusalem into ruins.<sup>s</sup>

to the birds of the heavens for food, the flesh of Thy worshipers to the beasts of the earth.

<sup>4</sup>We have become a reproach to our neighbors, a derision and a mockery to those around us.

<sup>5</sup>How long, O LORD? Wilt Thou be angry for ever?

Shall Thy jealousy burn like a fire?

<sup>6</sup>Pour out Thy fury on the Gentiles who do not acknowledge Thee, and on the kingdoms that do not call upon Thy name,

<sup>7</sup>for they have devoured Jacob and laid waste his dwelling.

<sup>8</sup>Remember not against us the guilt of our fathers;

let Thy compassion speedily meet us, for we are greatly weakened.

<sup>9</sup>Help us, O God of our salvation, for the glory of Thy name.<sup>t</sup>

Deliver us and forgive our sins<sup>u</sup> for Thy name's sake.

Let there be manifested among the nations before our eyes, the avenging of the blood of Thy servants which is shed.

according to the greatness of Thy arm<sup>v</sup> spare the children of death.

<sup>12</sup>Return sevenfold into the bosom of our neighbors their reproach, with which they have scorned Thee, O LORD.

<sup>13</sup>And we Thy people, the flock of Thy pasture, shall give Thee thanks for ever; we shall publish Thy praise to successive generations.<sup>w</sup>

A Prayer for Salvation

To the Chief Musician; to the Tune, "The Lilies." A Testimony of Asaph. A Psalm

80 O Shepherd of Israel, give ear, Thou who leadest Joseph like a flock!

Thou who art enthroned above the cherubim, shine forth!

<sup>2</sup>Before Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh,<sup>x</sup>

arouse Thy strength and come to our rescue.

<sup>3</sup>O God, restore us, cause Thy face to shine, and we shall be saved.

<sup>4</sup>O LORD God of hosts, how long wilt Thou be angry

in the face of Thy people's prayers?<sup>y</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Thou hast fed them with the bread of tears, and Thou hast furnished them tears to drink in triple measure.

<sup>6</sup>Thou makest us a contention to our neighbors; our enemies mock us among themselves.

<sup>7</sup>O God of hosts, restore us; cause

Thy face to shine, and we shall be saved.

<sup>8</sup>Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt;

Thou hast driven out nations and planted it.

r) The Promised Land remained God's property; the Israelites received it in lease.

s) So far as we know, the Chaldean and much later Syrian invasion are the only occasions of city destruction or temple profanation.

t) According to our LORD's parable [Luke 15:8-10], all salvation is to God's glory.

u) Sin brings the need of personal and national discipline.

v) The arm stands for might, so spoken of regarding God and man.

w) They would so deeply and constantly impress God's greatness on their children that the children, when mature, would perpetuate the godly instructions.

x) The supplication concerns northern Israel particularly. Ephraim, Manasseh, and Benjamin had camped together during the desert journey.

y) The worshipers of God were few among the northern Israelites. Only seven thousand are mentioned to encourage Elijah [I Kings 19:18]. As a nation the people had rejected God, and for these people the psalmist was praying.

<sup>9</sup>Thou didst clear [the land] before it,<sup>z</sup>
so it took root and filled the land.

<sup>10</sup>The mountains were clothed with its shadows,

the cedars of God with its boughs.

<sup>11</sup>It spread its branches to the sea and its shoots to the River.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>12</sup>Why hast Thou broken down
its fences,

so that all who pass by pluck from it?

<sup>13</sup>The boar from the forest devours it, and the beasts of the field feed on it.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>14</sup>O God of hosts, do return;
look from heaven and observe and visit
this vine.

<sup>15</sup>Protect what Thy right hand has planted,<sup>c</sup>

the son whom Thou hast raised for Thyself.

<sup>16</sup>Burned with fire, cut down,
they perish at the rebuke of Thy appearance.

<sup>17</sup>May Thy hand be on the man of Thy right hand,
upon the son of man whom Thou hast chosen for Thyself.

<sup>18</sup>Then we shall not depart from Thee;
revive us and we shall call upon Thy
name!

<sup>19</sup>O LORD God of hosts, restore us, cause Thy face to shine, and we shall be saved!

How to Worship Acceptably

To the Chief Musician, to a Gittite Instrument or Tune. By Asaph

81 Sing joyfully to God our strength; shout for joy to Jacob's God!

<sup>2</sup>Start a psalm, sound the timbrel, the lovely lyre with the harp.

<sup>3</sup>Blow the trumpet at the new moon,
at the full moon on our feast day.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>4</sup>For this is a statute for Israel, an ordinance of the God of Jacob.

<sup>5</sup>He assigned it in Joseph for a testimony

when He went forth against the land of Egypt.<sup>e</sup>

The speech of those I knew not, I heard.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>6</sup>I freed his shoulder of the burden;
his hands were freed from the freight basket.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>7</sup>You called in distress, and I delivered
you;

I answered you in the hiding place of thunder;<sup>h</sup>

I tested you at the waters of Meribah.
Selah

<sup>8</sup>Hear, O My people, and I will testify to you,

O Israel, if you will listen to Me!

<sup>9</sup>There shall be no strange god among
you;

neither shall you worship any alien
god.

<sup>10</sup>I, the LORD, am your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt.<sup>i</sup>

Open your mouth wide, and I will fill it.

<sup>11</sup>But My people did not listen to My voice;

Israel would not obey Me.

<sup>12</sup>So I left them to the hardness of their hearts;<sup>j</sup>

they walked in their own deliberations.

<sup>13</sup>Oh, that My people would listen to Me,<sup>k</sup>

that Israel would walk in My ways!

<sup>14</sup>Readily I would subdue their
enemies

and turn My hand against their oppressors.

<sup>15</sup>Those who hate the LORD would cringe before Him;
and their time [of retribution] would
last for ever.

<sup>16</sup>But He would feed you with the choicest of the wheat,

<sup>z</sup>) As pioneers clear forests for cultivation, so God had cleared Canaan for His people.

<sup>j</sup>) Had God left us to ourselves, no matter how well we were trained, what sort of character would we have developed?

<sup>k</sup>) From here on to the end of the psalm, it is all "IF" — supposition contrary to fact, for the people would not listen to poet or prophet; they moved on to their captivity.

and with honey out of the rock I would satisfy you.

God, the Judge of Judges

A Psalm of Asaph

82 God stands in the congregation
of God;
in the midst of the judges He gives judgment:<sup>1</sup>

<sup>2</sup>How long will you judge
unjustly and favor the wicked?

<sup>3</sup>Dispense justice to the weak and the orphan;

vindicate the wretched and needy!<sup>m</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Deliver the lowly and the oppressed, rescue them from the hand of the wicked!

<sup>5</sup>They neither know nor understand;
in darkness they go;
All the foundations of the earth are shaking.

<sup>6</sup>I said, "You are gods," indeed, you are all sons of the Most High.

<sup>7</sup>Yet you shall die as men and fall as one of the princes!<sup>n</sup>

<sup>8</sup>Arise O God! Judge the earth, for Thou dost possess all the nations!

A Prayer for Help Against the Ungodly

A Song, A Psalm of Asaph

83 O God, do not stand idly by, mute and inactive, O God!

<sup>2</sup>For Thy enemies are ranting, and they who hate Thee carry their heads high.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>3</sup>They shrewdly forge a plot
against Thy people;
they consult together against Thy precious ones.

<sup>4</sup>They say, "Come, let us wipe them out as a nation,

so that the name of Israel may no longer be remembered."

<sup>5</sup>For they have conspired with a united heart;<sup>q</sup>

against Thee they make an alliance—

Moab and the Hagrites,

<sup>7</sup>Gebal, Ammon, and Amalek,<sup>r</sup>

Philistia jointly with those who live in Tyre.

<sup>8</sup>Even Assyria has joined them;
they have meant a strong support for the children of Lot. Selah

<sup>9</sup>Do to them as Thou didst to Midian,

as to Sisera and Jabin at the brook
Kishon,<sup>s</sup>

<sup>10</sup>who were destroyed at Endor, who became fertilizer for the ground.

<sup>11</sup>Make Thou their nobles like Oreb and Zeeb,<sup>t</sup>

all their princes like Zebah and Zalmunna,<sup>u</sup>

<sup>12</sup>who say, "Let us take possession for ourselves of the pastures of God."

<sup>13</sup>O my God, make them like the whirling dust, like stubble before the wind.

<sup>14</sup>As fire consuming a forest,
as flames setting the mountains ablaze,

<sup>15</sup>so do Thou pursue them with Thy
wind,

and terrify them with Thy tornado.

<sup>16</sup>Fill their faces with shame,
and let them seek Thy name,<sup>v</sup> O
Lord.

<sup>17</sup>Let them be ashamed and terrified
for ever;

yes, let them be disgraced and perish.

<sup>18</sup>And let them acknowledge that Thou alone

whose name is the Lord, art the Most High over all the earth.

PSALMS 84, 85

Thanks to God for His Church
To the Chief Musician, on a Gath Instrument. Of the Sons of Korah.
A Psalm

84 How lovely are Thy dwellings,<sup>w</sup>
O LORD of hosts!

<sup>2</sup>My soul longs, yes, is homesick for
the courts of the LORD;
my heart and my flesh shout hopefully
to the living God.

<sup>3</sup>Even the sparrow has found a home
and the swallow a nest
for herself where she may lay her young,

at Thy altars, O LORD of hosts, my King and my God.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Blessed are they who live in Thy
house;
they shall ever sing Thy praise.

Selah
<sup>5</sup>Blessed is everyone who is strong in Thee,
in whose heart are Thy ways.

<sup>6</sup>Passing through the valley of weeping, they regard it a place of springs;<sup>y</sup>
also with blessings it is covered, as with early rain.

<sup>7</sup>They go on from strength to strength;<sup>z</sup>
each appears before God in Zion.

<sup>8</sup>LORD God of hosts, hear my prayer; give ear, O God of Jacob.

Selah
<sup>9</sup>O God, our shield, observe and see the face of Thine anointed.

<sup>10</sup>For better is a day in Thy courts
than a thousand [elsewhere];

I would rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God
than to live in the tents of wickedness.

<sup>11</sup>For the LORD God is a sun and
shield;

the LORD bestows mercy and honor.
He holds back nothing good from those who walk uprightly.

<sup>12</sup>O LORD of hosts, blessed is the man who trusts in Thee.<sup>a</sup>

Thanksgiving and Mercy

Prayer for Continued Mercies
To the Chief Musician. Of the Sons of Korah. A Psalm

85 Thou didst show favor to Thy land, O LORD;

Thou didst turn Jacob's captivity.

<sup>2</sup>Thou didst forgive the iniquities of Thy people;

Thou didst cover all their sin.<sup>b</sup>

Selah

<sup>3</sup>Thou didst take back all Thine
indignation;

Thou didst turn away from Thy blazing anger.

<sup>4</sup>Turn to us, O God of our
salvation,
and put an end to Thy vexation
toward us.

<sup>5</sup>Wilt Thou be angry with us for ever?
Wilt Thou prolong Thy anger to distant generations?

<sup>6</sup>Wilt Thou not revive us again,
so that Thy people may rejoice in
Thee?

<sup>7</sup>Show us Thy loving-kindness, O
LORD, and grant us Thy salvation.

<sup>8</sup>I will hear what God the LORD will say,<sup>c</sup>

for He will speak peace to His people
and to His worshipers;

but let them not turn again to folly.

<sup>9</sup>Surely His salvation is near to those who revere Him,
so that glory may dwell in our land.

<sup>10</sup>Loving-kindness and truth have met together;
righteousness and peace have kissed
each other.

<sup>11</sup>Truth sprouts forth from the earth, and righteousness looks down from heaven.

<sup>12</sup>Yes, the LORD will give what is good,
and our land will yield its produce.

<sup>13</sup>Righteousness will go before Him and make His footsteps into a way.<sup>d</sup>

w) God had given definite orders to make the house of worship lovely.

x) No bird nests on or against the altars; fires and sacrifices would hinder that; but near them, unmolested. y) Only as the traveler trusts in God.

z) The believer who prays, works, and advances, grows stronger on the way.

a) As we trust in Him, we are neither anxious nor self-seeking. Countless blessings come our way, undeserved, yet promised. b) The past is witness for divine grace in the present.

c) Our prayer life would be more fruitful and enjoyable if we, too, would take time to listen to His response when we pray. d) That we may keep in step with Him.

David's Trust in a Self-Revealing God

A Prayer of David

86 Incline Thy ear, O LORD, reply to me, for I am distressed and needy.

<sup>2</sup>Oh, keep my life, for I am dedicated;<sup>e</sup> save Thy servant, O Thou my God, as he trusts in Thee.

<sup>3</sup>Be merciful to me, O LORD, for to Thee I cry all day long.

<sup>4</sup>Gladden the soul of Thy servant, for I lift my soul to Thee, O LORD.

<sup>5</sup>Truly, Thou, O LORD, art good and ready to forgive, rich in loving-kindness to all who call on Thee.

<sup>6</sup>Give ear, O LORD, to my prayer; take note of my cry of entreaty.

<sup>7</sup>In the day of my anxiety I call on Thee, for Thou wilt answer me.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>8</sup>There is none like Thee among the gods, O LORD, nor are there any works like Thine.

<sup>9</sup>All the nations which Thou hast made shall come and bow down before Thee, O LORD, and they shall glorify Thy name;

<sup>11</sup>Teach me Thy way, O LORD; I will walk in Thy truth;

unite my heart to revere Thy name.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>12</sup>I will praise Thee, O LORD my God, with all my heart, and I will glorify Thy name for ever!

<sup>13</sup>for Thy loving-kindness was great toward me;

indeed, Thou didst rescue my soul from the lower world beyond.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>14</sup>O God! arrogant men have risen up against me;

a gang of brutal men seek my life, and they do not place Thee before them.

<sup>15</sup>Yet Thou, O LORD, art a compassionate and gracious God, slow to anger and rich in loving-kindness and truth.

<sup>16</sup>Turn to me and be gracious to me; grant strength to Thy servant.

<sup>17</sup>Give a sign of favor to me,<sup>i</sup> so that those who hate me may see and be ashamed because Thou, LORD, didst help me and comfort me.

The Great Glory of Zion

Of the Sons of Korah. A Psalm. A Song
87 What He founded stands on the holy mountains;

<sup>4</sup>I mention Egypt and Babylon as those who know Me.<sup>j</sup>

Behold, Philistia and Tyre, together with Ethiopia —

[they say], "This one was born there."<sup>k</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Yes, of Zion it will be said, "This one and that one were born in her"; and the Most High Himself establishes her.

<sup>6</sup>The LORD will count as He registers the peoples:

This one was born there. Selah

<sup>7</sup>And in processions they are singing, "All my fountains are in you."

A Prayer in Severe Illness

A Song. A Psalm of the Children of Korah. To the Chief Musician, to Chant Mournfully. An Instruction of Heman the Ezrahite

88 LORD, God of my salvation, by day I cry for help;

at night I am in Thy presence.

c) When we are truly devoted to Him [which is one meaning of being holy] then His preserving us assures our continued worship of, and service to, Him.

f) God alone is able to meet our spiritual needs and shortcomings.

g) For genuine dedication to God, thought, will, emotions, every element of our being must be harmonious and in tune with Him. A genuine Christian is no divided personality.

h) Saved him from dreaded harm or healed him from seemingly fatal illness.

i) He knows, but his foes are not aware that they are fighting God when they work against His servant.

j) In the Bible, for God to know persons or for persons to know God always means a favorable feeling between them.

k) This is Gospel; all those Gentiles who know Him [v. 4] are being divinely registered as natives of the Kingdom of God. God's temple means life to them — still our encouragement for missions abroad. l) Distressed but not in despair, for he directs his prayer to God who hears and helps.

<sup>8</sup>For my soul is filled with troubles and my life is nearing death's portals.

<sup>4</sup>I am reckoned among those who go down to the pit.<sup>m</sup>

I am as a man without manly strength,

<sup>5</sup>left to himself among the dead,
like the slain who lie in the grave,
whom Thou no longer dost remember;<sup>n</sup>
they are removed from Thy help.

<sup>6</sup>Thou hast put me in the pit of the lowest, in dark places, in deep regions.

<sup>7</sup>Thy indignation rests heavy on me,
and with all Thy waves Thou art
keeping me down. Selah

<sup>8</sup>Thou hast put my acquaintances far
from me;

Thou hast made me an object of loathing to them.

I am shut in and I cannot escape.

<sup>9</sup>My eye grows dim because of sorrow;
to Thee I cry daily, O LORD.

I stretch out my hands to Thee.

<sup>10</sup>Wilt Thou do wonders for the dead?

Will the dead rise and praise Thee? Selah

<sup>11</sup>Is Thy loving-kindness declared in
the grave,
Thy faithfulness in the place of destruction?

<sup>12</sup>Can Thy wonders be known in the
darkness,
or Thy righteousness in the land of no
remembrance?

<sup>13</sup>Therefore, O LORD, I cry to Thee for
help;
in the morning my prayer comes before
Thee.

<sup>14</sup>Why, LORD, dost Thou reject
my soul

and hide Thy face from me?

<sup>15</sup>I am wretched and close to death from my youth up;

I bear Thy terrors, I am helpless.

<sup>16</sup>Thy blazing anger passes over me;
Thy terrors destroy me;

<sup>17</sup>they surround me like water all day long; together they encircle me.

<sup>18</sup>Thou hast put friend and companion
far from me,
my familiar friends into darkness.<sup>o</sup>

God's Promises to David

An Instruction. Of Ethan the Ezrahite<sup>p</sup>

89 I will sing<sup>a</sup> of the mercies of the LORD forever;

I will make known Thy faithfulness
with my mouth

from generation to generation.

<sup>2</sup>For I said, "Forever shall Thy loving-kindness be built up;
in the heavens Thou wilt establish Thy faithfulness."

<sup>3</sup>Thou didst say: I have made a covenant with My chosen one;
I have sworn to David, My servant:

<sup>4</sup>Your offspring I will make secure
forever,

and I will build your throne to all generations.<sup>r</sup> Selah

<sup>5</sup>The heavens shall celebrate Thy wonders, O LORD,

Thy faithfulness shall be praised in the assembly of the holy ones.

<sup>6</sup>For who in the heavens is comparable
to the LORD?

Who is like the LORD among the sons
of the mighty?

<sup>7</sup>God is greatly revered in the council of the holy ones,
revered above all who are around Him.

<sup>8</sup>LORD God of hosts, who is like Thee, Thou mighty LORD?

And Thy faithfulness surrounds Thee.

<sup>9</sup>Thou rulest over the proud swelling of the sea;

when its billows surge, Thou stillest
them.

<sup>10</sup>Thou hast crushed Rahab<sup>s</sup> as someone slain;

with Thy mighty arm Thou hast scattered Thy enemies.

<sup>11</sup>Thine are the heavens; Thine is the earth, too;

the world and its fulness, Thou hast
founded them.

m) The grave. n) Until Christ's resurrection, there was little thought of a joyful life hereafter.
o) Rarely does a psalm end on this negative note. The title suggestion — to chant mournfully — seems to suit a funeral dirge.

p) In David's arrangement of choirs, Ethan was appointed a leader [I Chron. 6:44; 15:17, 19];
but in ch. 25:1, his name seems changed to Jeduthun, so mentioned with Ps. 39, 62, and 77.

q) A song of faith when divine promise seems to fail. r) The last two lines state God's promise.
s) Rahab, meaning insolence, stands for Egypt, typical of all who rise against God.

12The north and the south, Thou hast created them;
Tabor and Hermon rejoice in Thy name.

13Thine is an arm with might;
strong is Thy hand and high Thy right hand.

14Righteousness and justice are the foundation of Thy throne;<sup>t</sup> loving-kindness and faithfulness are at Thy service.

15Blessed are the people who recognize the festal call.<sup>u</sup>
they walk, O LORD, in the light of Thy countenance;

16in Thy name they rejoice all day long,
and through Thy righteousness they are exalted.

17For the glory of their strength art Thou, and through Thy favor shall our horn be raised high.<sup>v</sup>

18For our shield is of the LORD,
and our king of the Holy One of Israel.

19Once Thou didst speak to Thy devoted one in a vision, saying:
I bestowed help on a hero; I have elevated a chosen one of the people.<sup>w</sup>

20I have found David My servant;
with My holy oil I have anointed him
21with whom My hand shall be steadfast, and My arm shall strengthen him.

22The enemy shall not exact from him,
and no villain shall oppress him.

23Rather, I will crush his adversaries before him,
and I will smite those who hate him.

24My faithfulness and my loving-kindness are with him,
and in My name shall his horn be exalted.

25I will also place his hand on the sea
and his right hand on the rivers.

26He will call to me, "Thou art my Father,

my God, and the rock of my salvation."

27Yes, I will appoint him first-born,<sup>x</sup>
the highest of the kings of the earth.

28Forever shall I maintain My loving-kindness toward him;

My covenant shall be unshakeable with him.

29His offspring I will establish forever,
and his throne as the days of heaven.

30If his children forsake My law,<sup>y</sup>
if they deviate from My judgments,

31if they profane My statutes
and do not keep My commandments,

32then I shall punish their transgressions with the rod and their iniquity with stripes.

33But My loving-kindness I will not retract from him,

nor will I be false to My faithfulness.

34I will not desecrate My covenant,
nor will I change what went forth from My lips.

35Once I have sworn by My holiness: I will not lie to David.

36If his offspring shall endure forever, and his throne shall be like the sun before Me.<sup>z</sup>

37As the moon it shall always remain reliable,
and the witness in the sky is faithful.

Selah

38But now Thou hast rejected and abhorred;

Thou hast become indignant with Thy anointed one.

39Thou hast spurned the covenant of Thy servant;

Thou hast defiled his crown to the dust.

40Thou hast broken down all his walls;<sup>a</sup>

Thou hast laid his forts in ruins.

41All who pass on the road plunder him;

he has become the scorn of his neighbors.

t) Our sovereign God, the infinitely righteous, who judges with fairness.

u) Joining in the annual festivals helped to keep alive spiritual fellowship with God and with one another. v) The horn [of ram or bull] symbolizes strength.

w) God's dealings with David from the sheep to the throne.

x) Neither David nor any other mortal could literally be God's first-born; but Christ, David's offspring, could.

y) "Ifs" on man's part. Discipline and punishment follow disobedience; the sinner disqualifies himself. z) In Christ the covenant with David was amply fulfilled.

a) The king is mentioned as representing the people. Disobedience has brought on national disaster.

<sup>42</sup>Thou hast exalted the right hand of
his antagonists;
Thou hast made all his enemies to rejoice.

<sup>43</sup>Besides, Thou hast turned the edge
of his sword,
and Thou hast not made him stand in battle.

<sup>44</sup>Thou hast caused all his splendor to vanish
and hast hurled his throne to the ground.

<sup>45</sup>Thou hast shortened the days of his prime;
Thou hast covered him with disgrace.

<sup>46</sup>How long, O LORD? Wilt Thou hide Thyself forever?

Shall Thy wrath burn like fire?

<sup>47</sup>Remember how brief my time is,
for what emptiness Thou hast created
all the sons of men.

<sup>48</sup>What man is there so strong that he shall live and not see death,
so as to deliver his soul from the grip
of the grave?

<sup>49</sup>Where are Thy loving-kindnesses of old, O LORD, which Thou didst pledge to David in Thy faithfulness?<sup>b</sup>

<sup>50</sup>Remember, LORD, the reproach of Thy servants,
how I carry it in my bosom among all great nations

<sup>51</sup>with which Thy enemies have taunted, O LORD,
with which they have taunted the footsteps of Thy anointed.

<sup>52</sup>Praised be the LORD for ever!
Amen and Amen.<sup>c</sup>

Mortal Man's Eternal God

A Prayer of Moses, the Man of God
90 LORD, Thou hast been our home in successive generations.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Before the mountains were given birth,<sup>e</sup>

or Thou didst bring forth the earth
and the world,
yes, from age to age, Thou art God.

<sup>3</sup>Thou turnest mortal man back to
dust
and sayest: Return, ye children of men.

<sup>4</sup>For in Thy sight a thousand years
are as yesterday when it is past,
and as a watch in the night.

<sup>5</sup>Thou carriest them away as with a flood;<sup>f</sup> they are like a sleep.

In the morning they are as the grass
that springs up;

<sup>6</sup>in the morning it flourishes and springs up;
by evening it is mown and it withers.

<sup>7</sup>For we are consumed by Thy anger,
yes, terrified by Thy indignation.

<sup>8</sup>Thou hast set our iniquities before
Thee,
our secret sins in the light of Thy countenance.

<sup>9</sup>For all our days pass away in Thy
indignation;
we spend our years as a sighing.

<sup>10</sup>The days of our years — there are seventy of them,<sup>g</sup>
and if there is great strength, eighty years —

yet their best involves toil and grief,
for it is soon gone, and we vanish.

<sup>11</sup>Who knows the force of Thy anger,
and Thy awesomeness according to Thy indignation?

<sup>12</sup>Teach us so to number our days,<sup>h</sup>
that we may acquire discerning minds.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Return, O LORD, how long?
Have compassion on Thy servants.

<sup>14</sup>Satisfy us in the morning with Thy
loving-kindness,
so that we may rejoice and be glad all
our days.

b) God's pledge involved the continuance of the Davidic monarchy [II Sam. 7:11-16], on which most of this psalm is based. Persistent sin of prince and people fouled the covenant, which was fulfilled in Jesus, the offspring of David. c) This ends the third Book of Psalms.

d) So we live in God as all our fathers. Do we sense it?

e) What marvelous painting of creation — mountains appearing from the womb of the earth. Not merely poetry; it is fact.

f) If you witnessed one of our great floods and saw roofs, cattle, people sweeping by, this duly registers.

g) Only those twenty or under at the exodus entered Canaan, except Caleb and Joshua; all others were taken during the desert wanderings. h) Consider each day of value.

i) The Hebrew's word for "mind" is our "heart."

<sup>17</sup>May the grace of the LORD our God rest upon us and confirm the work of our hands upon us; yes, the work of our hands, confirm Thou it.

Divine Security

91 He who lives in the secret shelter of the Most High lodges in the shadow of the Almighty.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>2</sup>I will testify of the LORD, "He is my refuge and my fortress, my God, in whom I am trusting."

His faithfulness is a shield and armor.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>7</sup>A thousand may fall right beside you and ten thousand at your right hand, but it shall not come near you.

<sup>8</sup>You will merely see it with your eyes and witness the sinners' reward.

<sup>9</sup>For Thou, O LORD, art my refuge.<sup>m</sup> Since you, too, have established the Most High as your shelter,

<sup>10</sup>no harm shall befall you,

nor shall any plague come near your tent.

<sup>11</sup>For He gives His angels orders regarding you, to protect you wherever you go.

<sup>12</sup>They will support you with their hands

lest you strike your foot against a stone.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>13</sup>You will trample on the lion and the adder;

you shall tread upon the lion cub and on the snake.

<sup>14</sup>Because he has anchored his love in Me,<sup>o</sup> I will deliver him.

I will place him securely on high, for he has faith in My name.

<sup>15</sup>When he calls upon Me, I will answer him;

I will be with him in trouble; I will rescue him and honor him.

<sup>16</sup>I will satisfy him with a long life and show him My salvation.

Our Faithful God

A Psalm to Sing on the Sabbath Day

92 It is good to give thanks to the LORD,<sup>p</sup>

to sing praises to Thy name, O Most High,

<sup>2</sup>to proclaim Thy loving-kindness in the morning and Thy faithfulness into the night

<sup>3</sup>on a ten-stringed instrument and a lute,

along with music on a harp.

<sup>4</sup>For Thou hast made me glad by Thy doings, LORD;

I shall rejoice in what Thy hands have accomplished.

j) Make us and especially our children aware of Thy active benevolent Presence.

k) This song of trust is precious to Bible readers, and many have memorized portions of it. It was probably sung in responses, with vs. 2 as a solo.

l) The whole psalm is God-centered with the believer assured because God is so dependable. m) Read Ps. 121:7 in this connection, where being kept from harm is equivalent to our soul being kept safe, if our trust is in God.

n) Quoted by Satan [Matt. 4:6], to tempt Jesus, but true for all believers. God's angels are around us now.

o) From here to the end of this psalm God speaks of us, who sense our need of Him; it is a personal promise.

p) The LORD gives us His day as a joyous day; not as a sad and dreary succession of hours. The first three verses are a call to worship.

How deep are Thy thoughts!

<sup>6</sup>An unthinking person does not understand;
a fool cannot grasp this.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Though sinners spring up like grass and those who practice evil flourish, it is that they shall be eternally destroyed;<sup>r</sup>

all those who habitually sin shall bring about their own separation.

<sup>10</sup>But Thou hast magnified my horn like that of the wild ox;<sup>s</sup>
I am anointed with invigorating oil.

<sup>11</sup>My eye has spotted those who insidiously watch me, my ears shall detect those who rise up against me with evil intentions.

<sup>12</sup>The righteous shall thrive like the palm tree;
he shall become mighty like the cedar of Lebanon.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Those who have been transplanted into the LORD's household, they shall flourish in the courtyards of our God.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>14</sup>In old age they shall still be bearing fruit.

They shall be full of life and vitality,

<sup>15</sup>thus testifying that the LORD is upright,
my Rock, in whom there is no unrighteousness.

In Exaltation of the Lord

93 The LORD reigns; He has robbed Himself with majesty;
the LORD is clothed with strength; thus has He girded Himself.

The world also is firmly established; it cannot be moved.

Thou art from everlasting.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>3</sup>The rivers have risen, O LORD;
the streams have swirled up with their roar;
the floods are surging high.

<sup>4</sup>Above the sound of expansive waters, of mighty ocean breakers, the LORD on high stands supreme.

<sup>5</sup>Thy testimonies are trustworthy;
holiness is the mark of Thy house,
O LORD, forevermore.

The Folly of Opposing the Lord

94 O LORD, Thou God of retribution,
Thou God of retribution, shine forth!

<sup>2</sup>Rise up, O Judge of the earth;
give to the proud their due reward.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>3</sup>O LORD, how long shall sinners,
how long shall the wicked be jubilant?

<sup>4</sup>They boast freely; they speak arrogantly;
all the wrongdoers brag about themselves.

<sup>5</sup>They trample on Thy people,
O LORD;
they oppress Thy heritage.

<sup>6</sup>They kill the widow and the immigrant;
they murder orphans.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>7</sup>For they say, "The LORD is not looking;
the God of Jacob pays no attention."

<sup>8</sup>You pay attention, you stupid among the people!
You fools, when will you become wise?

<sup>9</sup>He who makes the ear, is He deaf?

He who forms the eye, is He blind?

<sup>10</sup>He who disciplines the nations, shall He not correct?

Is He not the One who teaches man all he knows?

<sup>11</sup>The LORD discerns the thoughts of man that they are futile.<sup>y</sup>

q) Those so smart they would get along without God are justly termed senseless, foolish.

r) They are wilfully following a path that ends in destruction. s) A horn typified strength.

t) Where the wicked grow like grass [vs. 7], the righteous grow stately, graciously, and strongly.

u) If this verse occurred in the N.T., "transplanted" would intimate regeneration. Possibly a new, a heavenly way of living, is in the writer's mind.

v) Whatever wholesome certainty we enjoy on earth has its basis in God's eternal faithfulness.

Even vs. 3 and 4 leave us secure in Him.

w) God repays. One great reason Immanuel Kant saw for believing in God's existence was that otherwise the wicked might carry out their unfair behavior without retribution.

x) God maintains special interest in widows, orphans, and foreigners because the evil-minded find it easiest to take advantage of them.

y) Our Father's omniscience is among the most encouraging facts of life and is not sufficiently considered by us, His children. Ps. 139 is almost completely devoted to this teaching.

<sup>12</sup>Blessed is the man whom Thou dost discipline, whom Thou dost instruct from Thy Law, O LORD, <sup>13</sup>that he may enjoy security during the days of distress, till a pit be dug for the wicked.
<sup>14</sup>For the LORD will not forsake His people
nor ever abandon His heritage.
<sup>15</sup>But justice will be applied to the righteous,
and all whose hearts are right will subscribe to it.
<sup>16</sup>Who will arise for me against the evildoers?
Who will take his stand with me against the workers of iniquity?

<sup>17</sup>Unless the LORD had been my help,
my soul would soon have dwelt in silence.
<sup>18</sup>When I said, "My foot is slipping,"
Thy loving-kindness, LORD, supported me.<sup>a</sup>
<sup>19</sup>Whenever perplexing cares crowd my inmost self,
Thy consolations cheer my soul.

<sup>20</sup>Can a corrupt government be allied with Thee,
one that organizes oppression under the pretense of law?
<sup>21</sup>They join forces against the life of the righteous;
they convict innocent people.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>22</sup>But the LORD has been my high retreat,
my God, my impregnable rock of safety.
<sup>23</sup>He has made them pay for their crime,
and He will destroy them in their sin;
the LORD our God will make an end of them.

Praise and Obedience to God
95 Come, let us sing to the LORD;
let us cheer in honor of the Rock of our salvation.

<sup>2</sup>Let us come into His presence with thanksgiving;<sup>b</sup>
let us joyfully sing to Him with psalms.
<sup>3</sup>For the LORD is a great God,
a mighty King above all gods.
<sup>4</sup>The depths of the earth are at His finger tips;
the tallest summits belong to Him.
<sup>5</sup>The sea is His, for He made it;
His hands formed the dry land.
<sup>6</sup>Come, let us worship and bow down;
let us kneel before the LORD, our Maker!
<sup>7</sup>For He is our God, and we are the people of His pasture, the flock which He tends.

Oh, if you would only listen to His voice today!
<sup>8</sup>Do not stiffen your heart as at Meribah,
at the time of testing in the wilderness, <sup>9</sup>when your fathers tried My patience and tested Me though they had witnessed what I had done.<sup>c</sup> <sup>10</sup>For forty years I was disgusted with that generation and said, They are a people whose heart strays, who do not acknowledge My ways.
<sup>11</sup>Therefore I vowed in My indignation,
They shall never enter My rest.

Render Praise to God's Majesty
96 Sing a new song to the LORD;<sup>d</sup> sing to the LORD, all the earth!
<sup>2</sup>Sing to the LORD, bless His name;
proclaim His salvation from day to day.
<sup>3</sup>Publish His glory among the nations,
His marvelous works among all peoples.

<sup>4</sup>For the LORD is great and greatly to be praised;
He is to be revered above all gods.

z) God not only knows and cares, but He helps — with advice to go right and with strength to move on.

a) In I Kings 21, we have the morbid story of Naboth's vineyard, which could not have occurred if the rulers of Israel had been God-minded. This psalm suggests that idolatry had permeated the southern kingdom, too, but His worshippers turned the tide.

b) Thanksgiving is the chief motive of devotion.

c) Meribah means contention, strife, described in Ex. 17:2-7, where the Hebrews complained bitterly for lack of water, prophetic of their repeated discontent with God's dealings.

d) With new experience, we need new songs and the church should teach them to young and old, lest we vegetate.

PSALMS 96-98

<sup>5</sup>For all the gods of the nations are idols, but the LORD made the heavens.<sup>a</sup> <sup>6</sup>Honor and majesty are before Him;
strength and beauty are in His sanctuary.

<sup>7</sup>Ascribe to the LORD, O families of the nations, ascribe to the LORD glory and strength!
<sup>8</sup>Ascribe to the LORD the glory due His name;
procure an offering, and come into His courts!<sup>f</sup> <sup>9</sup>Oh, worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness!

Stand in His presence with awe, all the earth.
<sup>10</sup>Proclaim among the nations that the LORD is reigning;<sup>g</sup>
the world is established, it cannot be overthrown, and He judges peoples with uprightness.

<sup>11</sup>Let the heavens be glad and the earth rejoice;
let the sea in its vastness continually roar;
<sup>12</sup>let the fields and all they contain give glory;
all the trees of the forest rustle with praise <sup>13</sup>before the LORD, for He is coming,
for He is coming to judge the earth.
He will judge the world with justice,
the nations with His faithfulness.

God's Power and Justice
97 The LORD reigns; let the earth rejoice;
let the many islands be glad!<sup>h</sup> <sup>2</sup>Clouds and darkness surround Him;
righteousness and justice are the foundation of His throne.
<sup>3</sup>A fire issues from His presence and consumes His enemies on every side.

God's Majesty, Power and Justice

<sup>4</sup>His lightnings illumine the world;
the earth looks on and trembles.
<sup>5</sup>The mountains melt like wax before the LORD, before Him who is LORD of all the earth.<sup>i</sup> <sup>6</sup>The heavens proclaim His righteousness;
all nations see His glory.

<sup>7</sup>All who serve images shall be ashamed,
who brag about the worthless idols;
bow before Him in worship, all ye gods!

<sup>8</sup>Zion heard and was glad; the cities of Judah rejoiced because of Thy justice, O LORD.
<sup>9</sup>For Thou, O LORD, art most high above all the earth;
Thou transcendest far above all gods.
<sup>10</sup>You who love the LORD, hate evil;
He faithfully preserves the lives of His devoted ones;
He rescues them from the grasp of sinners.<sup>j</sup> <sup>11</sup>Light is sown for the righteous and joy for those whose hearts are right.
<sup>12</sup>You who are righteous, rejoice in the LORD;
be thankful for the consciousness of His holiness.

God Saves; Worship Him
98 O sing to the LORD a new song
because He has performed wondrous things!<sup>k</sup>
His right hand and His holy arm have gained Him victory.
<sup>2</sup>The LORD has made known His salvation;
He has unveiled His righteousness in the sight of the nations.<sup>l</sup> <sup>3</sup>He has remembered His loving-kindness and His faithfulness to Israel's descendants.

e) Therefore, crown Him LORD of all!

f) The offering to express [for this applies to us] acknowledgment of our utter dependence on Him and His loving care over us.

g) The Hebrews had been chosen, not merely to enjoy divine blessings, but to share them with all nations [Gen. 12:3 to Abraham; 26:4 to Isaac; 28:14 to Jacob].

h) And how glad we are that He whom we worship is in control; but all people everywhere should know it.

i) The LORD on Mount Sinai is not forgotten; His law is a covenant with believers and a threat to evildoers, like the column of darkness and light in the desert.

j) This psalm is full of quotations; its writer knew the Scriptures and used them well.

k) In the physical and in the spiritual world. "The undevout astronomer is mad."

l) So well has God shown His greatness in nature that all human beings of normal mind could know enough of Him to make them believe [Rom. 1:20].

Worship, Reverence and Thanksgiving

All the ends of the earth have witnessed the salvation of our God.

<sup>4</sup>Make a joyful sound to the LORD, all ye lands;
break forth in joyful song; yes, sing
praises!

<sup>5</sup>Make music on a harp for the LORD,
with the harp and melodious song.

<sup>6</sup>With trumpets and sound of the horn shout ye before the King, even the
LORD!

<sup>7</sup>Let the sea in its vastness roar in praise,
the world and its inhabitants!

<sup>8</sup>Let the rivers clap their hands .
and the mountains sing praises

<sup>9</sup>before the LORD, for He is coming to judge the earth.

He will judge the world with justice,
the peoples with unfaltering fairness.<sup>m</sup>

Revere God's Authority and His Holiness

99 The LORD is King; let the nations tremble!

He is enthroned between the cherubim;<sup>n</sup> let the earth quiver!

<sup>2</sup>The LORD is majestic in Zion;
He is supreme above all the nations.

<sup>3</sup>Let them revere Thy wonderful and awe-inspiring name; it is holy!<sup>o</sup>

<sup>4</sup>The King's energy is keenly set
on justice;
Thou dost establish equity;
Thou dost guarantee justice and truth
in Jacob.

<sup>5</sup>Exalt the LORD, our God; bow in worship at His footstool; He is holy!

<sup>6</sup>Moses and Aaron were among His priests,
Samuel, too, among those who called on His name.

They petitioned the LORD and He granted their request.

<sup>7</sup>He instructed them from the pillar
of cloud;

PSALMS 98-101

they observed His injunctions and the statutes He gave them.

<sup>8</sup>O LORD, our God, Thou didst answer
them;

Thou wast a forgiving God to them
although Thou didst make them pay for their evil practices.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Exalt the LORD our God, and worship
at His holy mountain,
for the LORD our God is holy!

A Psalm for the Thank Offering

100 Make a joyful sound to the LORD, all ye lands!

<sup>2</sup>Serve the LORD with gladness!

Come into His presence with singing.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>3</sup>Acknowledge that the LORD, He is God!

It is He who made us, and we belong
to Him;

we are His people and the sheep of
His pasture.

<sup>4</sup>Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise.

Give thanks to Him; bless His name!

<sup>5</sup>For the LORD is good; His loving-kindness shall continue forever,
His faithfulness throughout all generations.<sup>r</sup>

Aiming for Perfection

A Psalm of David

101 I will sing of loving-kindness
and justice;

I will make melody to Thee, O LORD.

<sup>2</sup>I will carefully observe the path of the perfect.

When wilt Thou come to me?<sup>s</sup>

I will behave in my home with heartfelt integrity.

<sup>3</sup>I will not allow a base thought to attract my attention.

I despise crooked practices;

They shall not gain hold on me.

<sup>4</sup>A perverse nature shall be absent
from me;

I will not entertain evil.

m) Confirmed by Jesus in His parable of sheep and goats [Matt. 25:31 ff.].

n) Within the Holy of Holies, above the mercy seat, His Shekinah.

o) An echo, as in vss. 5 and 9, of the threefold Holy of Isaiah 6.

p) Forgiveness does not eliminate the consequences of sin in this life, as David learned.

q) That we may commune with God is reason for untold joy.

r) God keeps His covenant with us; do we live up to our obligations?

s) He senses the need of divine help to live that ideal life.

<sup>5</sup>I will silence him who secretly
slanders his neighbor;
I will not tolerate one who is conceited and arrogant.

<sup>6</sup>I look to the trustworthy in the land to be my associates.
He who walks the path of integrity,
he shall work for me.

<sup>7</sup>He who practices deceit shall not stay in my home;
he who habitually tells lies shall not be secure in my sight.

<sup>8</sup>Morning after morning I will do away with all criminals within the country
that I may eliminate from the city of the LORD all those who practice sin.<sup>t</sup>

Cry of An Afflicted Soul

A Prayer of One Afflicted when He Is Spent and Pours out His Complaint
to the LORD

102 Listen to my prayer, O LORD;
let my plea for help reach
Thee.

<sup>2</sup>Do not hide Thy face from me when I have a distressful day.
Turn Thy ear toward me;
on the day when I call, answer me readily,

<sup>3</sup>for my days go up in smoke;
my bones are inflamed as a bonfire.

<sup>4</sup>Like grass my heart is crushed and withered<sup>u</sup>
so that I have neglected my regular
food.

<sup>5</sup>I am nothing but skin and bones
because of the sound of my sighing.

<sup>6</sup>I am like a pelican in the wilderness,
like an owl among the ruins.

<sup>7</sup>I lie awake and feel like a sparrow alone on the roof.

<sup>8</sup>All day long my enemies
insult me;
those who are angry with me
curse me.

<sup>9</sup>For I have eaten ashes like bread and have mixed tears with my drink

<sup>10</sup>because of Thy indignation and wrath,
for Thou hast taken me up and thrown
me down.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>11</sup>My days are like the evening shadow
that fades away;
I wither away like the grass.

<sup>12</sup>But Thou, O LORD, art
enthroned forever;
Thy fame shall last throughout all generations.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Thou shalt arise and have mercy on Zion,
for it is time to pity her.

Yes, the set time has come,
<sup>14</sup>for Thy servants hold dear her stones;
they show sympathy for her dust.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>15</sup>The nations, too, shall revere the name of the LORD
and all the kings of the earth Thy
glory.

<sup>16</sup>For the LORD has rebuilt Zion;
He has appeared in His glory.

<sup>17</sup>He regarded the prayer of the destitute;
He did not slight their petition.

<sup>18</sup>This shall be recorded for a generation to come;
a people yet to be born shall praise the
LORD.

<sup>19</sup>For He has kept watch from the height of His sanctuary;
from heaven the LORD kept vigil over
the earth,

<sup>20</sup>to detect the groaning of the prisoners,
to release those who are destined
to die;

<sup>21</sup>that the name of the LORD may be proclaimed in Zion,
His praise throughout Jerusalem, <sup>22</sup>when the nations, even the kingdoms,
are brought together
for the purpose of serving the LORD.

<sup>23</sup>He has lessened my strength on the
way;
He has shortened my days.

t) Beginning with himself, he will clean house morally.

u) Like growing grass trampled on until lifeless.

w) Discouragement followed encouragement.

x) No genuine worshiper of God grows hopeless, for He remains faithful.

y) Jerusalem and the temple seem to be in ruins, but about to be restored, not merely for their help but for His honor.

24I plead, "O my God, take me not away in middle age;<sup>2</sup> O Thou whose years endure
through all generations!"
25Thou didst found the earth of old,
and the heavens are the work of Thy
hands.
26They shall perish, but Thou
remainest.
They all shall wear out like a garment;
like a coat Thou shalt change them,
and they shall be changed.
27But Thou art the same;
Thy years shall never end.<sup>3</sup> 28The children of Thy servants shall dwell safely,
their offspring is established in Thy
presence.

God's Great Goodness

A Psalm of David

103

Bless the LORD, O my soul,
and all that is within me,
bless His holy name!<sup>b</sup> 2Bless the LORD, O my soul,
and forget none of His benefits, 3who forgives all your iniquities, who heals all your diseases, 4who redeems your life from the grave,
who crowns you with loving-kindness
and mercy,
5who satisfies you throughout life with good things,
so that your youth is renewed like the eagle's.<sup>c</sup>

6The LORD administers justice and fairness
to all who are oppressed.
7He revealed His ways to Moses,
His dealings to the people of Israel.
8The LORD is merciful and gracious, patiently considerate and abounding in mercy.
9He will not always show hostility
nor maintain it forever.

10He has not dealt with us to the measure of our sins,

nor rewarded us as our iniquities
deserve.
11For as high as the heavens are above
the earth,
so great is His mercy toward those who revere Him.
12As far as the east is from the west,<sup>d</sup>
so far has He removed our transgressions from us.
13As a father has compassion for his
children,
so the LORD tenderly sympathizes with
those who revere Him.
14For He knows what we are made of;
He keeps in mind that we are dust.

15A man's days resemble grass.
He blossoms like a flower in the field;
16the wind blows over it, and it is gone,
with not a sign that it has ever been there.

17But the LORD's faithful love rests eternally upon those who revere Him<sup>e</sup>
and His righteousness on the children's
children,
18on those who are faithful to His
covenant,
who remember to carry out His instructions.
19The LORD has established His throne
in heaven,
and His kingdom rules over all.

20Bless the LORD, you His angels
who abound with strength, who carry out His orders, listening to the sound of His Word!
21Bless the LORD, all you His armies,
you His servants who continually do
what pleases Him!
22Bless the LORD, all His works in all places of His dominion!<sup>f</sup>
Bless the LORD, O my soul!

God's Care for His Creation

104

Bless the LORD, O my soul!
O LORD my God, Thou art
very great!

z) The singer has not fully worked out his life program as God's servant; he needs more time.

a) This magnificent section is fully quoted [Heb. 1:10-12 and 13:8].

b) Addressing our own soul is a wholesome exercise, especially when our whole being is so engaged.

c) All this is said to the poet's soul — and to ours, summing up Isaiah 61:1, on which Jesus preached at Nazareth [Luke 4:18-19] and which He showed the Baptist to be fulfilled in Him [Matt. 11:2-6]. d) A symbol of infinity.

e) How insignificantly brief a human life and how inconceivably unending God's sustaining grace!

f) Even in the old covenant, the worshiper of God feels kinship with all humanity.

Thou art clothed with honor and majesty,<sup>g</sup> 2 covering Thyself with light as with
a robe,
and stretching out the skies like a tent.
3 He lays the beams of His upper chambers in the waters,
he uses the clouds for His chariot,
he marches on the wings of the wind,
4 making the spirits His messengers,
flames of fire His servants.
5 He established the earth on its foundation,
so that it should never be overthrown.

6 Thou didst cover it with the ocean depth for a garment.<sup>h</sup>
Above the mountains stood the waters, 7 which surged in retreat at Thy rebuke,
at Thy thunderous command swirled
away,
8 while the mountains sprang up and the valleys descended to the place which Thou didst
reserve for them.
9 Thou hast set a boundary which they cannot pass;
they shall never return to cover the
earth.

10 He causes springs to gush forth into valleys;<sup>i</sup>
they wind their way down through the hills.
11 They provide drink for every animal
of the field;
the wild donkeys quench their thirst.
12 The birds of the air nest beside them;
they sing among the branches.

13 He waters the mountains from His lofty chambers;
the earth abounds with the fruit of Thy works.<sup>j</sup> 14 He causes the grass to spring up for
the cattle,
fruits and vegetables for man to cultivate,
that he may derive sustenance from the
land,
15 wine to elate the spirit of man,
oil to brighten his facial appearance,

and bread to improve a man's health.
16 The LORD's trees are full of sap, the cedars of Lebanon which He planted.
17 In them the birds build their nests;
the stork's home is the fir tree.
18 He made the mountain heights
for the wild goats,
the rocky crags for the rock-badger's
refuge.
19 He formed the moon to mark out the seasons;<sup>k</sup>
the sun knows the time of its setting.
20 Thou makest darkness settle down,
so that during the night
all forest animals may roam about.
21 The young lions roar for their prey and look to God for their feed.<sup>l</sup> 22 When the sun rises, they slink back and lie down in their dens.
23 But man then starts out to his work
and remains at his task until evening.

24 O LORD, how innumerable are Thy works;
in wisdom Thou hast made them all!
The earth is full of Thy well-made creations.
25 Yonder is the sea, vast and broad;
in it are swarms too many to number,
creatures tiny and large.
26 There sail the ships; in it the sea mammal Thou madest to play.

27 All these look to Thee
to furnish their timely feed.
28 When Thou providest for them, they gather it.
Thou openest Thy hand, and they are satisfied with good things.
29 When Thou hidest Thy face, they are struck with despair.
When Thou cuttest off their breath,
in death they return to their dust.<sup>m</sup> 30 Thou sendest Thy Spirit and more
are created,
and Thou dost replenish the surface
of the earth.

31 May the glory of the LORD
remain forever;

g) This song tells of nature created and ruled for God's glory.

h) The story of creation is generally followed as told us in Genesis.

i) Now the song celebrates nature as man enjoys it in daily life.

j) Interchange of "His" and "Thy" — alternating testimony and prayer.

k) Not so much annual seasons as monthly periods, so that we still use the name "month" from the moon. l) As dependent on God as we are. m) Physically similar to us.

may the LORD be pleased with His works.

<sup>32</sup>As He looks at the earth, it trembles; when He touches the mountains, they smoke.

<sup>33</sup>I will sing to the LORD through all my life;

I will praise my God as long as I have being.

<sup>34</sup>May my meditation please Him; I will be glad in the LORD.

<sup>35</sup>The sinners shall perish from the earth and the ungodly be no more.

Bless the LORD, O my soul!
Hallelujah!

God's Care for Israel

105 O give thanks to the LORD;
invoke His name;
proclaim His doings among the nations.

<sup>2</sup>Sing to Him; yes, sing praises to Him;
tell of all His wondrous works!

<sup>3</sup>Glory ye in His holy name;
may the heart of the LORD's worshipers
be joyful.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Seek the LORD and His strength;
seek His presence perpetually.

<sup>5</sup>Remember His marvelous deeds
which He has performed,
His miracles and the judgment which
He has pronounced,

<sup>6</sup>O you who are the offspring of Abraham, His servant,
you children of Jacob, His chosen ones!<sup>o</sup>

<sup>7</sup>He, the LORD, is our God;
His judgments reach over the whole world.

<sup>8</sup>He has remembered His covenant forever,
the promise which He authorized to a thousand generations,

<sup>9</sup>the covenant He made with Abraham and His oath to Isaac.

<sup>10</sup>He also confirmed it to Jacob by decree,
to Israel as an eternal covenant,<sup>p</sup>

<sup>11</sup>stating, To you will I give the land of Canaan
as your inherited portion.

<sup>12</sup>When there were just a few of
them —
in fact, very few, and there as strangers—

<sup>13</sup>they wandered about from nation to nation,<sup>q</sup>

from one kingdom to another people.

<sup>14</sup>Yet He allowed no person to harm
them;

He rebuked kings on their behalf:

<sup>15</sup>Do not touch My anointed ones;
see that no harm comes to My prophets.

<sup>16</sup>He called for a famine upon
the land,
depriving them of their bread, the staff of life.

<sup>17</sup>Therefore He sent a man to precede
them,

Joseph, who was sold as a slave.

<sup>18</sup>They bound his feet tightly with chains;<sup>r</sup>

his person was laid in the irons,

<sup>19</sup>till the time his word came true,
when the LORD's word showed him
right.

<sup>20</sup>The king sent and had him released;

the ruler of many people set him free.

<sup>21</sup>He appointed him manager of his estate

and ruler over all his possessions

<sup>22</sup>with authority to imprison his princes
as he pleased
and to instruct his elders in the ways
of wisdom.

<sup>23</sup>When Israel had come to Egypt and Jacob was a migrant in the land
of Ham,

<sup>24</sup>there He greatly increased His people and made them stronger than their oppressors.

<sup>25</sup>He then changed their heart to hate His people,
to deal deceitfully with His servants.

n) Surrounded by pagans and their idols, the godly Hebrew sensed his ineffable privilege of having God to worship and serve.

o) Their history was then as we now regard it, sacred history.

p) No covenant is one-sided; there are at least two covenanters, in this case God and Abraham and his offspring through Isaac and Jacob.

q) When they and their households moved about in Canaan with their herds and flocks.

r) No chains are mentioned in Genesis 39; but they were certainly put on Joseph until he earned the jailer's confidence.

<sup>26</sup>He sent Moses His servant,
and Aaron whom He had chosen.
<sup>27</sup>They carried out His orders for signs against them,
His miracles against the land of Egypt.

<sup>28</sup>He ordered darkness, and it grew black;
and they did not disobey His command.<sup>s</sup>

<sup>29</sup>He turned their waters into blood.<sup>t</sup>
He killed their fish.

<sup>30</sup>He made their country swarm with frogs,
even in their kings' private rooms.

<sup>31</sup>He commanded; the flies came in swarms
and lice throughout their land.

<sup>32</sup>He showered them with hail instead of their rain,
coupled with lightning that flamed on
their land.

<sup>33</sup>He ruined their vines and their fig
trees.

He destroyed their outlying forests.

<sup>34</sup>He spoke and along came the locusts and grasshoppers in countless numbers;

<sup>35</sup>they consumed all their country's vegetation
and devoured the produce of their land.

<sup>36</sup>He killed all the first-born in the
land,
the first fruits of all their strength.

<sup>37</sup>He then led them out with silver and gold,
there were no invalids among His tribes.

<sup>38</sup>Egypt was pleased at their leaving for dread of them had seized them.

<sup>39</sup>He spread a cloud for a shade
and a fire to give light in the darkness.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>40</sup>They requested, and He brought in quails
and refreshed them with bread from heaven.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>41</sup>He opened the rock and water
gushed forth;
in the desert areas it flowed like a stream.

<sup>42</sup>For He remembered His sacred promise
to Abraham His servant.

<sup>43</sup>He brought forth His people
with joy,
His chosen ones with singing.

<sup>44</sup>He gave them the lands of the heathen;<sup>w</sup>
they reaped the fruit of their labors <sup>45</sup>that they might be faithful to His statutes
and diligently keep His laws.
Hallelujah!

God's Mercies and Israel's Rebellion
106 Hallelujah! O give thanks to the LORD, for He is good;
for His loving-kindness lasts forever.

<sup>2</sup>Who can put into words the mighty deeds of the LORD?

Who can make known all His praise?

<sup>3</sup>Blessed are they who faithfully observe justice,<sup>x</sup>
who practice righteousness at all times!

<sup>4</sup>Remember me, LORD, with the favor Thou showest Thy people.

Visit me with Thy salvation, <sup>5</sup>that I may share in the welfare of Thy chosen,

enjoy the happiness of Thy nation,
and glory with Thy heritage.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>6</sup>We and our fathers have sinned;
we have willfully done wrong;
we have behaved wickedly.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Our fathers did not appreciate Thy miracles in Egypt;
they did not consider the endless tokens
of Thy loving-kindness.

Instead, they rebelled near the sea,
by the Red Sea.

<sup>8</sup>Yet He delivered them for His own sake
that He might exhibit His power.

s) The poet draws on the last twelve chapters of Genesis, then turns to Exodus.

t) Here follows a summary of the ten plagues.

u) The column that led the Hebrews all the way from Egypt to the Jordan, assuring them of God's presence and guidance.

v) Called manna, for the question each asked of his neighbor, "What is it?"

w) The seven native and colonizing peoples in Canaan.

x) Essentially those who treat others with fairness.

y) The poet, mainly occupied with Israel's sacred history, takes time out to consider his own relationship with God, his personal salvation, his appreciation of being in the covenant.

z) Not simply as but with our fathers. These covenant people were united from generation to generation, so that parental behavior hurt or blessed their offspring — as it does today.

He led them through the depths as through a desert.
<sup>10</sup>He rescued them from hostile hands;
He redeemed them from the enemies' grasp;
<sup>11</sup>For the waters engulfed their enemies;
not one of them survived.

<sup>12</sup>Then they believed His promises;
they sang of His glory.
<sup>13</sup>But they speedily forgot His doings;
they would not wait for His counsel.<sup>a</sup> <sup>14</sup>For they lusted excessively in the desert
and tempted God in the wilderness, <sup>15</sup>so He let them have what they wanted,
but sent leanness within their soul.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>16</sup>They were jealous of Moses in the camp, of Aaron, the holy one of the LORD.
<sup>17</sup>The earth opened and swallowed Dathan;
it covered up Abiram's company.<sup>c</sup> <sup>18</sup>A fire broke out among their assemblage,
and the flame consumed the wicked.

<sup>19</sup>They fashioned a calf at Horeb,
then worshiped the molten image.
<sup>20</sup>They exchanged their glory<sup>d</sup>
for the image of an ox that munches grass.
<sup>21</sup>They forgot God, their Deliverer,
who had done such marvelous things in Egypt, <sup>22</sup>such miracles in the land of Ham,
such awe-inspiring deeds at the Red Sea.

<sup>23</sup>Then He said He would destroy them — had not Moses, His chosen, stepped into the breach before Him,
to turn Him from wiping them out in His anger.

<sup>24</sup>They then spurned the desirable land;
they would not rely on His promise.
<sup>25</sup>They complained while in their tents
and would not listen to the voice of the LORD.
<sup>26</sup>Accordingly, He solemnly swore to them that He would let them fall in the wilderness, <sup>27</sup>would scatter their offspring among the nations,
and disperse them throughout the world.

<sup>28</sup>They joined themselves to Baal of Peor
and ate the sacrifices to lifeless idols.
<sup>29</sup>They thus made the LORD angry by their practices
so that a plague broke out among them.
<sup>30</sup>But when Phinehas got up and intervened,
the plague was checked.
<sup>31</sup>This action was counted to him for righteousness to successive generations for ever.

<sup>32</sup>They angered Him at the waters of Meribah,<sup>e</sup>
which made it hard for Moses on their account; <sup>33</sup>for when they aroused his temper,
he spoke indiscreetly with his lips.

<sup>34</sup>They did not exterminate the nations<sup>f</sup>
as the LORD had commanded them; <sup>35</sup>but they associated with those pagans
and acquired their habits.
<sup>36</sup>And they offered sacrifice to their idols,
which became a seductive bait to them.
<sup>37</sup>Yes, they even sacrificed their sons
and their daughters to the demons.
<sup>38</sup>They shed innocent blood, the blood of their sons and daughters, whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan

a) Divine suggestions retained to this day in the Pentateuch.

b) How rarely material prosperity is accompanied by spiritual advance!

c) Korah, the leader in that rebellion [Num. 16:1, 5, 6, 31, 32]; who died with them is not mentioned here. Descendants of his became noted writers and leaders of music and song.

d) God was Israel's glory.

e) At least seven delinquencies recorded in this psalm [vss. 7, 14, 16, 19, 24, 28, and 32], all during the forty years of travel.

f) Now four delinquencies after crossing the Jordan are enumerated [vss. 34, 35, 37, and 39].

till the land was polluted with blood.
<sup>39</sup>They were defiled by what they did;
 they were immoral in their practices;

<sup>40</sup>Therefore the LORD's anger burned against His people;
 He regarded His heritage with disgust.
<sup>41</sup>He turned them over to the control of the nations.<sup>g</sup>
 Those who hated them ruled over
 them.
<sup>42</sup>Their enemies severely oppressed
 them;
 they were put to submission under
 their power.
<sup>43</sup>Many a time He delivered them, but they repeatedly reverted to their rebellious ways,
 so they went down in their sinfulness.

<sup>44</sup>As He observed their anguish
 and heard their lamenting, <sup>45</sup>He remembered His covenant in their behalf and felt grieved
 according to His loving-kindness.
<sup>46</sup>He caused them to find sympathy from those who had made them
 prisoners.

<sup>47</sup>Deliver us, O LORD our God;
 bring us together from among the nations, so we may render thanks to Thy holy name and exult in praising
 Thee.
<sup>48</sup>Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, from everlasting to everlasting!
 And let all the people say, "Amen!"
 Hallelujah!*

The Song of the Redeemed

107 Give thanks to the LORD for He is good;
 for His loving-kindness is everlasting!<sup>h</sup> <sup>2</sup>Let the LORD's redeemed say so,
 those He has delivered from trouble <sup>3</sup>and gathered in from all lands,
 from the east and from the west,
 from the north and from the south.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Some wandered in desert wastes,
 finding no road to a residence city.
<sup>5</sup>Hungry and thirsty,
 their souls became faint within them.
<sup>6</sup>When they cried out to the LORD in their distress
 He delivered them from their plight, <sup>7</sup>guiding them by a straight course
 to the residence city they sought.
<sup>8</sup>Let them give thanks to the LORD for His mercy
 and for His wonderful deeds to the children of men!<sup>j</sup> <sup>9</sup>For He satisfies the thirsty soul
 and provides the hungry with good.
<sup>10</sup>Some sat in darkness and deep gloom,
 prisoners in irons and in misery,
<sup>11</sup>for they had rebelled against God's commands
 and scorned the counsel of the Most High.
<sup>12</sup>He, therefore, brought them low in trouble and sorrow
 and they stumbled from weakness with none to help.
<sup>13</sup>They, too, in their straits called out
 to the LORD,
 and He delivered them from all their
 trials,
<sup>14</sup>bringing them out of their darkness
 and dire despair,
 snapping their bands apart.
<sup>15</sup>Let them give thanks to the LORD
 for His loving-kindness and His wonderful works to the children of men!
<sup>16</sup>For He has shattered gates of bronze and has broken the iron bars.
<sup>17</sup>Some developed illness because of their wicked ways
 and were afflicted on account of sin;<sup>k</sup> <sup>18</sup>to them their food became abhorrent, and they were close to the gates of
 death.
<sup>19</sup>But they cried out to the LORD in their sore distress

g) Divine discipline administered [vss. 41 and 43]. *) Here ends the Fourth Book.

h) This is a striking song of thanksgiving used chiefly in the celebration of the great festivals at the Jerusalem temple. Vss. 1-3 are introductory; then in vs. 4 instances of peril and rescue are cited. In each, Israel is in dire straits, cries out to the LORD, is delivered, and gives thanks.

i) Clearly the psalm was composed in the time when the Jews gathered from all the known world for the annual feasts.

j) Each of the four sections of the psalm begins with the word "some" and closes near the end with the refrain, "Let them give thanks."

k) In Israel it was the common belief that sickness was due to sin. This concept runs through many psalms. In good part, the Book of Job was written to dispel this view, but the notion was deep seated and was scarcely shaken. However, sin and sickness are related.

and He delivered them from their troubles.

<sup>26</sup>they mounted to heaven, then sank back to the depths, their courage melting in anguish.

<sup>27</sup>They went reeling and staggering like a drunken man, all completely at their wits' end.

<sup>30</sup>And the men were glad at the hushing of the waves, and the LORD brought them to their longed-for haven.

<sup>34</sup>a fruitful land He makes a salty marsh on account of the wickedness of those who live there.

<sup>35</sup>He changes desert places into pools of water and dry ground into springs.

<sup>39</sup>Again they become few and are brought low

by oppression, misfortune, and sorrow.

<sup>42</sup>Upright men will see this and rejoice, while all wrongdoers will be silent.

<sup>43</sup>Let the wise man think this over and mark well the LORD's benevolent doings.

Thanksgiving and Petition

A Song, A Psalm of David

108 My heart, O God, is steadfast.

I will sing, yes, I will make melody with my soul.

I will chant praises to Thee among the nations.

<sup>4</sup>For Thy loving-kindness is higher than the heavens, and Thy faithfulness soars to the skies.

<sup>5</sup>Be Thou exalted, O God, beyond the heavens, and may Thy glory tower over all the earth!

<sup>6</sup>To the end that Thy beloved be delivered, save by Thy right hand, O God, and respond to me!

<sup>7</sup>God spoke in His holiness: With rejoicing I will apportion Shechem and measure the valley of Succoth.<sup>m</sup>

m) Thus through the divine triumph, Canaan became Israel's land.

<sup>8</sup>Gilead is Mine, Manasseh, too, is Mine; Ephraim is the defense of My head,<sup>o</sup>
 while Judah is My scepter.
<sup>9</sup>Moab is My washbasin;
 upon Edom I cast My shoe;<sup>p</sup>
 over Philistia I will shout in victory.

<sup>10</sup>Who will lead me to the fenced city?

Who will bring me into Edom?
<sup>11</sup>Hast Thou not cast us off, O God?
 Thou dost not go out, O God, with our armies.

<sup>12</sup>Oh, grant us help against the enemy,
 for vain is the help of man.

<sup>13</sup>With God we shall do valiantly,
 for He will tread down our foes.<sup>q</sup>

Petition of One Betrayed

To the Choirmaster. A Psalm of David

109 Do not remain silent, O God
 of my praise;

<sup>2</sup>for evil men have opened wicked mouths against me
 and charged me with a lying tongue, <sup>3</sup>besetting me around with words of hatred,
 attacking me without cause.<sup>r</sup>

<sup>4</sup>For my love they return enmity
 even while I am at prayer.

<sup>5</sup>In such manner they repay me evil
 for good,
 hatred for my affection.

<sup>6</sup>Set a wicked judge over him,
 I pray,<sup>s</sup>
 and let a perverse accuser<sup>t</sup> stand at his right hand!

<sup>7</sup>And when his case is tried, let him
 come off guilty,
 and let his prayer pass for sin!

<sup>8</sup>May his days be few,
 and may another take his office!

<sup>9</sup>May his children be fatherless
 and his wife become a widow;

<sup>10</sup>his children wandering off, begging bread and driven out from home.

<sup>11</sup>May creditors seize all he has
 and strangers plunder the fruits of his toil!

<sup>12</sup>Let no one show him kindness
 or even pity his fatherless little ones!

<sup>13</sup>Instead, let his sons be cut off and his name be blotted out in the following generation!

<sup>14</sup>May the evil deeds of his father
 be remembered before the LORD and the sins of his mother never once be forgotten!

<sup>15</sup>May all these things come before the LORD continually,
 and the recollection of him be rooted
 out from the earth;

<sup>16</sup>Let it be recalled that it never occurred to him to show kindness;
 instead, he persecuted the poor, the needy,
 and the brokenhearted even unto
 death.

<sup>17</sup>He loved cursing; so may cursing overtake him!

He had no concern for blessing; so may blessing be far from him!

<sup>18</sup>He dressed himself with cursing as
 with his coat;
 so may it sink into his flesh like water
 and to his bones like oil!

<sup>19</sup>May it then be as the robe he wraps around him
 and like the girdle he buckles on daily!

<sup>20</sup>May this be the recompense from the LORD to my accusers and to those who threaten my life with evil!

<sup>21</sup>But Thou, O God, my LORD, for Thy name's sake, deal Thou
 with me;
 rescue me for the sake of the goodness of Thy love.

<sup>q</sup>) In need of help, Israel can put her trust in the LORD alone. For further comment, see Psalms 57 and 60. This psalm has one striking peculiarity; vss. 1-5 come from 57:7-11 and vss. 6-13 from 60:5-12.

<sup>r</sup>) Vss. 1-5 and 21-31 present a plaint of the psalmist couched in beautiful poetic speech. In 6-20, the imprecation comes with a bit of a shock to us; for the psalmist, the principles of Jesus had not come yet.

<sup>s</sup>) The singular here means that the psalmist has the worst man among his enemies, a particular individual, in mind.

<sup>t</sup>) In a court trial, the one who brought the charges was called the satan, the accuser. He stood at the right hand of the offender. The word "satan" is never used as a proper name in the O.T.

<sup>22</sup>For I am needy and afflicted, and my heart is pierced within me.

<sup>25</sup>I have become a laughingstock to others; they look at me and shake their heads.

<sup>26</sup>Help me, O LORD, my God!
Save me in Thy loving-kindness,
<sup>27</sup>so they may acknowledge that this is Thy hand.

Thou, the LORD, hast done it.

<sup>28</sup>They may curse, but do Thou bless!
Let them that stand against me be confounded,

and let Thy servant rejoice!

<sup>29</sup>Let my accusers be clothed in disgrace, and let them wrap themselves in their shame as in a mantle!

<sup>30</sup>I will give thanks to the LORD in a loud voice;
in a great congregation I will praise Him.

<sup>31</sup>For He stands at the right hand of the needy
to save him from those who would judge his soul.

The Divine Priest-King

A Psalm of David

110 The LORD has said to my Lord:

Sit at my right hand
until I make Thy<sup>v</sup> enemies
a footstool for Thy feet.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>2</sup>The scepter of Thy strength<sup>x</sup>
the LORD sends forth from Zion.
Rule, then, in the midst of Thy foes.

<sup>3</sup>Thy people will offer themselves freely in the day of Thy power.

In consecrated array at early dawn,
Thine is the flower of Thy young men.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>4</sup>The LORD has sworn and will not change:

Thou art priest forever
after the order of Melchizedek.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>5</sup>The LORD is at Thy right hand
and will shatter kings in the day of His indignation.

<sup>6</sup>He will execute judgment among the nations;

He will fill them with corpses,
and their chieftains He will shatter
over a broad land.

<sup>7</sup>He will drink from the brook on the way;
therefore He lifts up the head.

Thanks for Blessings

111 Hallelujah!

With all my heart I give thanks to the LORD
in the gathering of the upright and in the congregation.

<sup>2</sup>Great are the doings of the LORD,
sought out by all who delight in them.

<sup>3</sup>Majestic and glorious are His acts,
and His righteousness stands for ever.

<sup>4</sup>He has made His wondrous deeds to be remembered,
for the LORD is gracious and merciful.

<sup>5</sup>He provides for those who revere Him and will remember His covenant
forever.

<sup>6</sup>His mighty deeds He made known to His people

when He gave them the nations for their heritage.

<sup>7</sup>The works of His hands are faithful and right

and all His decrees are trustworthy, <sup>8</sup>standing firm for ever and ever,
done in faithfulness and uprightness.

<sup>9</sup>He sent His people redemption and commanded His covenant to be
for ever.

Holy and awe-inspiring is His name.

<sup>10</sup>For reverence of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom.

u) The psalmist is ill, that is why he has become the laughingstock of others. They believe it is punishment for sin, a common belief in Israel, as already pointed out.

v) Jesus quotes this verse as referring to Himself [Mt. 22:42-44, etc.], hence we capitalize "Thy."

w) This is a royal psalm, in which God speaks directly to the king inviting him to sit at His right hand while God makes him victorious over all his foes. God gives him another office, that of priest, like the priest-king, Melchizedek. This psalm receives extensive mention in the N.T. and was early regarded as Messianic.

x) The king regularly carried a hallowed staff, symbol of his God-given rule; he used it in battle, and God gave him victory. The first line of vs. 3 belongs with vs. 2.

y) In Israel, the morning dew was life-giving to man as well as to vegetation.

There is insight in all who observe it.
His praise is everlasting.<sup>2</sup>

The Blessed Righteous

112 Hallelujah!
Oh, the bliss of the man who
reveres the LORD,
who greatly delights in His ordinances!<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup>His offspring shall be the mighty in
the land;
a blessing shall attend the race of the upright.
<sup>3</sup>Wealth and riches are in his house,
and his righteousness shall stand firm
for ever.

<sup>4</sup>Light rises for the upright in times of darkness;
gracious and merciful is the good man.
<sup>5</sup>It is well with him who is generous and ready to lend,
the man who conducts his business
with fairness.

<sup>6</sup>Such a man will never be laid low,
for the just shall be held in remembrance for ever.

<sup>7</sup>He need never fear any evil report;
his heart will remain firm,
fully trusting in the LORD.

<sup>8</sup>He will be joyful and unafraid
while he looks upon his adversaries.
<sup>9</sup>He distributes freely to the poor and his righteousness will stand firm
for ever;
his horn mounts high in honor.

<sup>10</sup>The wicked will see this with vexation;
he will gnash his teeth, but he will
disappear,
and the hope of the wicked shall come
to naught.

The Lord Raises the Lowly

113 Hallelujah!
Praise the LORD, you servants

of His, praise the LORD's name!<sup>b</sup> <sup>2</sup>Blessed be the name of the LORD
from now to all eternity and for evermore!

<sup>3</sup>From where the sun rises to where
it sets,
the name of the LORD shall receive
praise!

<sup>4</sup>High above all nations is the
and His glory is exalted above the
heavens.

<sup>5</sup>Who is like the LORD our God,
who is enthroned on high, <sup>6</sup>who looks down upon the heavens and the earth?

<sup>7</sup>He raises up the poor from the
dust
and lifts the needy out of the ash
heap,

<sup>8</sup>to have him sit by the side of princes,
with the noblest of His people.

<sup>9</sup>He gives the barren wife a home to live in,
now the joyous mother of children.
Hallelujah!<sup>c</sup>

An Exodus Memorial

114 When Israel came forth from Egypt,<sup>d</sup>

the house of Jacob from a people of alien speech,

<sup>2</sup>Judah became His holy place,
Israel His dominion.

<sup>3</sup>The sea saw it and fled,
the Jordan flowed backwards.

<sup>4</sup>The mountains skipped like rams and the hills like lambs.

<sup>5</sup>What ailed you, sea, that made you flee?

And you, Jordan, that made you turn back in your course?

<sup>6</sup>You too, mountains, that you skipped like rams?

Or you, hills, like lambs?

z) Psalms 111 and 112 are acrostic in form, each line beginning with the appropriate letter of the Hebrew alphabet. Eight of the psalms follow this acrostic form of poetic production.

a) Psalm 112 belongs among the "wisdom psalms," like Psalms 1, 14, and many others; wisdom in the O.T. plays a great role; see the books of Proverbs, Job, etc. He is wise who honors the will of God.

b) Psalms 113-118 are known as the Hallel. In the Jewish church, they were used especially for the great festivals of Passover, Tabernacles, and the feast of Weeks. Psalm 113 reminds us of the LORD's prayer: "Hallowed be Thy name."

c) In the Hebrew text, "Hallelujah" is added at the end of Psalm 113; in the Greek, it is found before verse 1 of 114.

d) For the events, see the following passages: the sea fled [Ex. 14:21]; Jordan turned back [Josh. 3:13, 16 and 4:7, 22, 23]; mountains trembling [Ex. 19:18, Judg. 5:5]; rocks turned into a pool [Ex. 17:1-6].

<sup>7</sup>Go on, earth, tremble at the presence of the LORD,
at the presence of the God of Jacob, <sup>8</sup>who turned the rock into a water pool,
the flint into a fountain of water!

To God Alone the Glory

115 Not to us, O LORD, not to us, but to Thy name give
glory
because of Thy loving-kindness and Thy truth.

<sup>2</sup>Why should the pagan peoples
say,
"Where now is their God?"
<sup>3</sup>But our God is in the heavens;
whatsoever pleased Him, He has
done.
<sup>4</sup>Their idols are silver and gold;
they are the work of human hands.
<sup>5</sup>Mouths have they, but they cannot speak;
eyes, too, but they do not see.
<sup>6</sup>Ears they have, but they cannot hear;
and noses, but they cannot smell.
<sup>7</sup>They have hands, as well, but they cannot feel;
and feet, but they cannot walk;
neither do they produce any sound in their throats.
<sup>8</sup>Those who make them and all putting their trust in them shall become like
them.

<sup>9</sup>O house of Israel, trust in the
LORD!
Their help and shield is He.
<sup>10</sup>O house of Aaron, trust in the LORD!
Their help and shield is He.
<sup>11</sup>All you who revere the LORD, put your trust in the LORD!
Their help and shield is He.
<sup>12</sup>The LORD has been mindful of us;
He will bless us.
He will bless the house of Israel;
He will bless the house of Aaron;
<sup>13</sup>the LORD will bless those who revere
Him, both small and great.
<sup>14</sup>May the LORD give you increase,

both you and your children!
<sup>15</sup>You are blessed of the LORD,
who made heaven and earth.
<sup>16</sup>The heavens are the LORD's heavens, but the earth He has given to the
children of men.

<sup>17</sup>The dead do not praise the
LORD,
nor do any who go down into the silence.
<sup>18</sup>But we, we will bless the LORD, from now and for ever. Hallelujah!<sup>e</sup>

A Saved Soul Is Grateful

116 I love the LORD for He hears my voice, my supplications.
<sup>2</sup>Because He has inclined His ear
to me,
therefore I will call on Him as long as I live.
<sup>3</sup>The cords of death were around me;
the terrors of the grave had laid hold
of me;
I suffered anguish and grief.<sup>f</sup>
<sup>4</sup>Then I called on the name of the
LORD:
"I beseech Thee, O LORD, save my life!"

<sup>5</sup>Gracious is the LORD and
righteous;
indeed, our God is merciful.
<sup>6</sup>The LORD takes care of the helpless;
I was brought low, and He saved me.
<sup>7</sup>Return to your rest, O my soul,
for the LORD has dealt bountifully with
you.
<sup>8</sup>For Thou hast saved my soul from death, my eyes from tears,
and my feet from stumbling.
<sup>9</sup>I will walk before the LORD
in the land of the living.
<sup>10</sup>I clung to my faith, even when I said,
"I am sorely afflicted."
<sup>11</sup>I said in my alarm,
"Men are all deceitful."<sup>h</sup> <sup>12</sup>What return shall I make to the LORD
for all His bounties to me?

e) Psalm 115 stands out in three ways: it stresses pure monotheism; it impresses upon Israel the necessity of putting her trust in God, and it illustrates the place of singing in the temple service.

f) A remarkable confession. The psalmist had passed through some almost fatal experience in which he cried out to the LORD and was delivered.

h) Not so much that they are evil-minded, but that they lack wisdom; if you put hope in them, you will be misled. Vss. 10 and 11 are difficult; we cannot be sure we have caught their full meaning. However, it seems that the psalmist is returning in vss. 10-19 to review again his terrible experience from which God had delivered him, asking how he can requite the LORD for His marvelous deed in saving him from the grave, and the following verses are his answer.

<sup>13</sup>I will take the cup of salvation
and call on the name of the LORD.
<sup>14</sup>I will pay my vows to the LORD
in the presence of all His people.

<sup>15</sup>Precious in the eyes of the LORD<sup>i</sup> is the death of His saints.
<sup>16</sup>O LORD, I am Thy servant; I am Thy servant,
the son of Thy handmaid.

Thou hast loosed my bonds.<sup>j</sup> <sup>17</sup>I will offer to Thee the sacrifice of
thanksgiving

and call on the name of the LORD.

<sup>18</sup>I will pay my vows to the LORD
in the presence of all His people,

<sup>19</sup>in the courts of the house of the LORD,

in the midst of you, O Jerusalem.
Hallelujah!

World Praise to God

117 Praise the LORD, all you nations!

Laud Him, all you peoples!

<sup>2</sup>For His mercy toward us is great and the truth of the LORD is everlasting.<sup>k</sup>

Praise the LORD!

Our Everlasting Redeemer

118 Give thanks to the LORD,
for He is good;
for His loving-kindness is everlasting!

<sup>2</sup>Let the house of Israel say,
"For His loving-kindness is everlasting."

<sup>3</sup>Let the house of Aaron say,
"For His loving-kindness is
everlasting."

<sup>4</sup>Let those who worship the LORD say,
"For His loving-kindness is
everlasting."<sup>l</sup>

<sup>5</sup>In my distress I cried out to my LORD,
and He answered me with release.

<sup>6</sup>The LORD is for me; I shall not fear.

What can man do to me?

<sup>7</sup>The LORD is for me; He is my help, and I look in triumph on them that hate me.

<sup>8</sup>It is better to rely on the LORD
than to put confidence in man.

<sup>9</sup>It is better to rely on the LORD
than to put confidence in princes.

<sup>10</sup>All nations encircled me, and in the name of the LORD I<sup>m</sup>
beat them down.

<sup>11</sup>They encircled me, yes, they were all about me,

but in the name of the LORD I beat
them down.

<sup>12</sup>They swarmed around me as bees;
they are burned out as a fire of thorns;
in the name of the LORD I beat
them down.

<sup>13</sup>I hard pressed, about to fall was I,
but the LORD came to my help.

<sup>14</sup>The LORD is my strength and my song;

He has become my salvation.

<sup>15</sup>The shout of joy and victory
is in the tents of the righteous;
the right hand of the LORD is doing
valiantly.

<sup>16</sup>The right hand of the LORD is lifted up;
the right hand of the LORD does
valiantly.

<sup>17</sup>I shall not die, but live, and tell of the LORD's deeds.

<sup>18</sup>The LORD has chastened me sorely, but He has not given me over unto
death.

<sup>19</sup>Open to me the gates of
righteousness;
through them I will enter in and give thanks to the LORD.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>20</sup>This is the gate of the LORD, and through it the righteous shall enter in.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>21</sup>I will give thanks to Thee for Thou

i) That is, the death of His saints is of great concern to Him; He does not lightly permit it.
j) Loosed me from the bonds of death.

k. This is the shortest chapter in the Bible, and near the center.

l) Psalm 118 is the last of the Hallel Psalms [Psalms of Thanksgiving]. It was clearly intended to be sung in the ritual service of the Temple. Luther called this his psalm because it came to his help in so many grave situations. During later centuries, it was employed particularly at the Feast of Tabernacles.

m) The "I" here is the nation. The celebrating congregation is involved, represented at times by the leading soloist, at times by the choir, at times by the congregation.

n) The procession has reached the gate of the temple and, halting, calls to the Levites within to open it.

o) A Levite within answers the call that comes from without the gate. Who may enter the house of the LORD? See Psalm 15 for the answer.

hast answered me
and hast become my deliverer.

<sup>22</sup>The stone which the builders rejected

has become the head of the corner;

<sup>23</sup>This is the LORD's doing, and it is marvelous in our eyes.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>24</sup>This is the day which the LORD has made;

let us rejoice and be glad in it.

<sup>25</sup>O LORD, do grant salvation;

O LORD, do grant prosperity!

<sup>26</sup>Blessed is he who comes in the
name of the LORD!

We bless you from the LORD's house.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>27</sup>The LORD is God; He has supplied us with light.

Bind the festal offering with woven strands to the horns of the altar.

<sup>28</sup>Thou art my God, and I will give Thee thanks;

my God, and I will extol Thee.

<sup>29</sup>Give thanks to the LORD, for He is
good,

for His loving-kindness is everlasting.

Aleph<sup>r</sup>

119 Blessed are those whose way is upright,<sup>a</sup> who walk<sup>t</sup> in the law<sup>u</sup> of the LORD!

<sup>2</sup>Blessed are those who keep His testimonies,<sup>v</sup> who seek Him wholeheartedly,<sup>w</sup>

<sup>3</sup>who also commit no unrighteousness;
they walk in His ways.

<sup>4</sup>Thou hast prescribed Thy precepts to be observed diligently.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Oh, that my ways may be established in keeping Thy statutes!<sup>y</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Then I shall not be brought to confusion when I respect all Thy commandments.

<sup>7</sup>I will give thanks to Thee with integrity of heart when I learn Thy righteous judgments.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>8</sup>I will keep Thy statutes; oh, do not forsake me completely!

Beth

<sup>9</sup>How can a young man<sup>a</sup> cleanse
his way? By living in agreement with Thy word.

<sup>10</sup>Wholeheartedly I will seek Thee;
oh, do not let me stray<sup>b</sup> from Thy commandments!

<sup>11</sup>Thy word have I stored<sup>c</sup> up in my heart, that I might not sin against
Thee.

<sup>12</sup>Blessed art Thou, O LORD;
teach me Thy statutes!

<sup>13</sup>With my lips<sup>d</sup> I have declared all the ordinances of Thy mouth.

<sup>14</sup>I have rejoiced in the way of Thy testimonies, as much as in all riches.

<sup>15</sup>I will meditate<sup>e</sup> on Thy precepts and have respect for Thy ways.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>16</sup>I take great delight<sup>g</sup> in Thy statutes;
I will not forget Thy word.

Gimel<sup>h</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Deal generously with Thy servant, that I may live and observe Thy word.

<sup>18</sup>Open my eyes,<sup>i</sup> that I may contemplate the wonders of Thy law.

<sup>19</sup>I am a stranger on earth; do not hide Thy commandments from me.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>20</sup>My soul is breaking with longing for Thy ordinances at all times.

p) A reference to Isaiah 28:16 where God lays the cornerstone of His Kingdom in Zion. The modern builders, the heathen nations, have rejected Zion, but they reckon without the LORD. His kingdom is sure; it is the day of the LORD.

q) The procession is inside the gate now, and they move in a sacred dance or march around the altar, waving palm branches and shouting their joy.

r) The twenty-two chapters of this psalm each have eight sentences beginning with the same letter of the Hebrew alphabet, beginning with Aleph, our "A", the Beth, our "B", and so successively, so there are 22 times 8 or 176 verses.

s) Perfection is evidenced by godly behavior.

t) By the revealed will of God, they order their conduct and conversation.

u) Torah — the whole code of God's revealed will.

v) Another name for the Law [see Psalm 78:5]; commands to do right and to shun wrong.

w) An expression characteristic of this psalm. Cf. vss. 10, 34, 58, 69, 145.

x) With strict attention and constancy. y) Properly applied to public law.

z) Decrees, laws issuing in acts — no punishments implied, but possible.

a) Especially exposed to temptation. b) Step aside, either in ignorance or in willfulness.

c) As personal and jealously guarded treasure — "no merely outward rule of conduct, but a power and a life within." d) Medium for commending God's law to others.

e) Could mean "converse about." f) The paths of life marked out by the law.

g) "Find my chief pleasure in."

h) Gimel stands for our "G". There is no "C" in Hebrew. We need none, either, having "K" and "S" as do the Hebrews. i) Deep treasures of God's word are spiritually discerned.

j) Having no experience or knowledge of the world; hence, in special need of divine guidance.

the accursed, who err from Thy commandments.

<sup>24</sup>Yes, Thy testimonies are my delight and are my counsellors.

Daleth

<sup>25</sup>My soul cleaves to the dust; revive<sup>k</sup> me according to Thy word.

<sup>32</sup>I will run<sup>o</sup> in the way of Thy commandments when Thou dost open up my heart.<sup>p</sup>

He

<sup>33</sup>Teach me, O LORD, the way of Thy statutes, and I shall keep them to the end.<sup>q</sup>

hast said, which is for those who revere Thee.

<sup>40</sup>Truly, I yearn for Thy precepts; give me life according to Thy righteousness.

Vav

<sup>41</sup>May Thy loving-kindness come to me, O LORD, even my salvation,<sup>v</sup> according to Thy word;

<sup>42</sup>then I shall have a word to answer the one reproaching me, for I trust in Thy word.

<sup>43</sup>Do not take the word of truth completely out of my mouth, for I am awaiting Thy ordinances.

<sup>46</sup>I will also speak of Thy testimonies before kings,<sup>x</sup> and I shall not be put to shame.

<sup>48</sup>I will lift up my hands<sup>y</sup> also to Thy commandments, which I love, and I will meditate on Thy statutes.

Zayin

<sup>49</sup>Remember the word to Thy servant, because Thou hast made me hope.

<sup>50</sup>This is my comfort in my affliction; what Thou hast said has brought life to me.

<sup>51</sup>The arrogant have had me in complete derision, yet I have not deviated from Thy law.

<sup>52</sup>As I remember Thy ordinances of old, O LORD, I am comforted.

<sup>54</sup>Thy statutes have been my songs in the house of my pilgrimage.

<sup>55</sup>I remember Thy name, O LORD, in the night,<sup>z</sup> and I observe Thy law.

Kheth

<sup>57</sup>The LORD is my inheritance; I promised that I would keep Thy words.

<sup>63</sup>I am a companion of all who revere Thee and of those who keep Thy precepts.

<sup>64</sup>The earth, O LORD, is full of Thy loving-kindness; teach me Thy statutes.

Teth

<sup>71</sup>It is good for me that I was afflicted, so that I may learn Thy statutes.

<sup>72</sup>The law from Thy mouth is better to me than thousands of gold and silver pieces.

Yodh

<sup>73</sup>Thy hands have made and prepared me; give me understanding, that I may learn Thy commandments.

<sup>74</sup>Those who revere Thee shall see<sup>g</sup> me and be glad, because I have hoped in Thy word.

<sup>75</sup>I know, O LORD, that Thy judgments are righteous and that in faithfulness Thou hast afflicted me.

<sup>76</sup>Let, I beseech Thee, Thy loving-kindness be for my comfort, according to what Thou didst say to Thy servant.

<sup>77</sup>Let Thy compassion come upon me, that I may live; for Thy Law is my delight.

<sup>78</sup>Let the arrogant be put to shame; they have distorted my cause deceitfully;<sup>h</sup> but I will meditate on Thy precepts.

<sup>79</sup>Let those who revere Thee turn to me,<sup>i</sup> and they shall know Thy testimonies.

<sup>80</sup>Let my heart be healthy<sup>j</sup> in Thy statutes, that I may not be ashamed.

Kaph

j) Sincerity, wholeness is an O. T. ideal. k) With long and eager watching. See Psalm 84:3.

l) Weary from watching for the fulfillment of God's promise.

m) Shriveled and blackened by the smoke in which it hangs. n) Used to ensnare animals.

<sup>87</sup>They almost finished me in the land,
but I did not forsake Thy precepts.
<sup>88</sup>Revive me according to Thy loving-kindness; then I shall keep the testimony of Thy mouth.

Lamedh

<sup>89</sup>For ever, O LORD, Thy word<sup>o</sup>
standeth firm in the heavens.
<sup>90</sup>Thy faithfulness is from generation to generation; Thou hast established
the earth, and it stands.
<sup>91</sup>They stand today in accordance with Thy ordinances; all things are Thy servants.

<sup>92</sup>Unless Thy Law had been my delight, I would have perished<sup>p</sup> in my affliction.

<sup>93</sup>I will never forget<sup>q</sup> Thy precepts; with them Thou hast granted me
life.

<sup>94</sup>I am Thine, save me, for I have sought Thy precepts.

<sup>95</sup>When the wicked waited<sup>r</sup> to destroy me, I considered Thy testimonies.

<sup>96</sup>I have seen limits to all things,
however perfect; but Thy commandment is exceedingly broad.

Mem

<sup>97</sup>Oh, how I love Thy law! It is my meditation all the day.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>98</sup>Thy commandments make me wiser than my enemies, for they are ever with me.

<sup>99</sup>I have deeper insight than all my instructors, because Thy testimonies are my meditation.

<sup>100</sup>I have a better grasp on truth than have the elders,<sup>t</sup> because I have kept Thy precepts.

<sup>101</sup>I have refrained my feet from every evil way, that I might observe Thy word.

<sup>102</sup>I have not turned aside from Thy ordinances, for Thou hast taught me.

<sup>103</sup>How pleasant to my taste<sup>u</sup> is what Thou hast said! Sweeter than honey<sup>v</sup> in my mouth!
<sup>104</sup>Through Thy precepts I gain discernment; therefore I hate every false way.

Nun

<sup>105</sup>Thy word is a lamp<sup>w</sup> to my feet and a light to my path.<sup>x</sup> <sup>106</sup>I have sworn<sup>y</sup> and have confirmed it, that I will observe Thy righteous ordinances.

<sup>107</sup>I am afflicted exceedingly;<sup>z</sup> revive me, O LORD, according to Thy word!

<sup>108</sup>Accept, I beseech Thee, the freewill offerings<sup>a</sup> of my mouth, O LORD,
and teach me Thy ordinances.

<sup>109</sup>My life is continually in danger,<sup>b</sup>
yet I do not forget Thy Law.

<sup>110</sup>The wicked have laid a snare<sup>c</sup>
for me, yet I have not strayed from Thy precepts.

<sup>111</sup>Thy testimonies are my heritage for ever; they are the joy of my heart.

<sup>112</sup>I have set my heart<sup>d</sup> on practicing Thy statutes for ever, even to the end.

Samekh

<sup>113</sup>I hate waverers,<sup>e</sup> but Thy Law
I love.

<sup>114</sup>Thou art my hiding-place and my shield; I hope in Thy word.

<sup>115</sup>Depart<sup>f</sup> from me, you evildoers, that I may keep the commandments of
my God.

<sup>116</sup>Uphold me according to Thy word, that I may live; let me not be put to shame with my expectation!

<sup>117</sup>Hold me up, and I shall be safe and shall have respect for Thy statutes continually.

<sup>136</sup>Tears run from my eyes like water brooks,<sup>t</sup> because men do not keep Thy law.

- <sup>137</sup>Thou art righteous, O LORD, and Thy judgments are fair.<sup>u</sup> <sup>138</sup>Thou hast appointed Thy testimonies in righteousness and in great faithfulness.

- <sup>142</sup>Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness,<sup>x</sup> and Thy law is truth.
<sup>143</sup>Distress and anguish have found me, yet Thy commandments are my enjoyments.
<sup>144</sup>Thy testimonies are righteous for ever; grant me understanding and I shall live.

Qoph

- <sup>145</sup>I cried out with all my heart;<sup>y</sup> answer me, O LORD! I will keep Thy statutes.
<sup>146</sup>I cried out to Thee, "Save me, for I keep Thy statutes."
<sup>147</sup>I was up before dawn and cried, "I am trusting in Thy promise."<sup>z</sup>

Resh

<sup>166</sup>I am looking for Thy salvation,

O LORD, and I have practiced Thy commandments.

<sup>168</sup>I have observed Thy precepts and testimonies, for all my ways are plain before Thee.

Tav

<sup>170</sup>May my petition come before Thee; deliver me according to Thy promise.

<sup>176</sup>I have strayed like a lost sheep; seek Thy servant, for I have not forgotten Thy commandments.

*A Cry of Distress Because of Oppressive Neighbors
A Song of Ascents<sup>k</sup>*

120 In my distress I cried to the LORD, and He answered me.

What in addition shall He do to you, O you deceitful tongue?

I dwell beside the tents of Kedar!<sup>n</sup>

<sup>6</sup>My soul has lived long enough with those who hate peace.

a) As with hostile intent. b) Nearer than my foes.

c) For a long time; therefore, a thoroughly established conviction.

l) Such as warriors use. m) Between the Black and Caspian Seas.

n) One of the predatory hordes roaming the Arabian desert.

<sup>7</sup>I am for peace; but when I speak,
they are for war.

The Consolation of Divine Protection
A Song of Ascents

121 I raise my eyes toward the hills.<sup>o</sup>

Whence shall my help come?

<sup>2</sup>My help comes from the LORD, who made heaven and earth.

<sup>3</sup>He will not allow your foot to slip;
your Keeper will never slumber.

<sup>4</sup>Behold, the Keeper of Israel will neither slumber nor sleep.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>5</sup>The LORD is your Keeper;
the LORD is your shade at your right
hand.

<sup>6</sup>The sun shall not smite you by day,
nor the moon by night.

<sup>7</sup>The LORD will keep you from all harm;<sup>q</sup>

He will preserve your soul.

<sup>8</sup>The LORD will shield you going out and your coming in from now on for evermore.

Memories of a Returning Pilgrim
A Song of Ascents; of David

122 I was glad<sup>r</sup> when they said
to me,

"Let us go to the house of the LORD!"

<sup>2</sup>Our feet are standing within your gates, O Jerusalem!

<sup>3</sup>Jerusalem is built as a city which is bound together;<sup>s</sup>

<sup>4</sup>whither the tribes go up,
the tribes of the LORD,
as enjoined upon Israel,
to give thanks to the name of the
LORD.

<sup>5</sup>For there seats are placed for judging,
the seats of the house of David.

<sup>6</sup>Pray for the peace<sup>t</sup> of Jerusalem!
May those who love you prosper!

<sup>7</sup>May peace be within your walls,<sup>u</sup>
and prosperity in your palaces!

<sup>8</sup>For the sake of my brothers and companions,

I will now say, "Peace be within you!"

<sup>9</sup>For the sake of the house of the LORD our God,
I will seek your good.

Prayer for Divine Aid in Distress
A Song of Ascents

123 Toward Thee I raise my
eyes,

O Thou, enthroned in the heavens!<sup>v</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Behold, as the eyes of servants
look to the hand<sup>w</sup> of their master, as the eyes of a maid to the hand of
her mistress,

so our eyes look to the LORD our God
until He has mercy upon us.

<sup>3</sup>Have mercy upon us, O LORD, have mercy upon us,
for we have had more than enough of contempt.

<sup>4</sup>Our souls have had more than enough of the scoffing by those who are at ease,
and of the disdain of the arrogant.<sup>x</sup>

The Lord the Deliverer of His People
A Song of Ascents; of David

124 If it had not been for the LORD who was on our side,<sup>y</sup>

let Israel now say —

<sup>2</sup>if it had not been the LORD
who was on our side,

when men rose up<sup>z</sup> against us,

<sup>3</sup>then they would have swallowed us
up alive,

when their anger burned against us.

<sup>4</sup>Then the waters would have overwhelmed us,

the stream passing over our soul;

<sup>5</sup>then the proud waters<sup>a</sup> would have passed over our soul.

<sup>6</sup>Blessed be the LORD,

o) District around Jerusalem; Mounts Zion and Moriah were sacred peaks.

p) Language of firm, unquestioning confidence.

q) Whatever bodily harm may come, the soul is safe with Him.

r) Overjoyed, a sense of inner glee. s) As a closely knit unit. t) The sign of prosperity.

u) Wall and trench round it, your bulwarks.

v) Unmoved by the excitements and troubles of men.

w) Easterners prefer silence — often indicated their wishes merely by movements of the hand.

x) Self-complacent ones, who disregard God's law. y) Ever ready to help in time of need.

z) In active efforts to destroy. a) Added epithet denotes the insolence of the enemies.

PSALMS 124-127

who gave us not as a prey to their teeth.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Our soul has escaped<sup>c</sup> as a bird out of the snare of the fowlers; the snare is broken, and we have escaped.

<sup>8</sup>Our help is in the name of the LORD, who made heaven and earth.<sup>d</sup>

The Lord the Protector of His People A Song of Ascents

125 Those who trust in the LORD are like Mount Zion,<sup>e</sup> which cannot be shaken but abides<sup>f</sup> for ages.

<sup>2</sup>As there are mountains around Jerusalem, so the LORD is around His people from this time forth and for evermore.

<sup>3</sup>For the scepter of wickedness shall never rest upon the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous stretch forth their hands to iniquity.

<sup>4</sup>Do good, O LORD, to those who are good, and to those who are upright in their hearts.

<sup>5</sup>But as for those who turn aside<sup>g</sup> to their crooked ways, the LORD will lead them forth with the workers of iniquity. Peace be upon Israel!<sup>h</sup>

The Lord the Restorer of His People A Song of Ascents

126 When the LORD brought back the captives of Zion, we were like those who dream.<sup>i</sup>

Praise for Protection and Restoration

<sup>2</sup>Then our mouth was filled with laughter and our tongue with singing. Then they said among the nations, "The LORD has done great things for them."

<sup>6</sup>He who goes forth weeping,<sup>l</sup> carrying seed for sowing, shall doubtless come again with joy, carrying his sheaves.<sup>m</sup>

The Lord the Homemaker for His People A Song of Ascents; of Solomon

their labor is futile who build it. Unless the LORD preserves the city, the sentry watches in vain.

so are the children of one's youth.<sup>s</sup>

They shall not be put to shame when they speak with their enemies in the gate.<sup>u</sup>

r) The hunter, called "a mighty man" [Gen. 10:9], carries arrows which he shoots forward, making his effort felt where he does not personally contact. So worthy children live nobly after their parents are gone. s) Born in his early manhood.

t) Symbol of abundant resources for the battlefield of life.

u) Such fathers become leaders in their city.

The Lord the House Keeper of His People

A Song of Ascents

128 Blessed is every one who reverses the LORD,
who walks in His ways.<sup>v</sup> <sup>2</sup>Because you shall eat the product of your hands,<sup>w</sup> happy shall you be, and it shall be well with you.
<sup>3</sup>Your wife will be as a fruitful vine<sup>x</sup> inside your house;
your children like olive plants<sup>y</sup>
surrounding your table.

<sup>4</sup>Truly, thus shall the man be rewarded who reveres the LORD.
<sup>5</sup>The LORD bless you from Zion,<sup>z</sup>
so you may see the good of Jerusalem<sup>a</sup>
all the days of your life;
<sup>6</sup>so you may see your children's children.
Peace be upon Israel!

The Cry of the Persecuted People

A Song of Ascents

129 "Many a time they have oppressed me from my youth,"<sup>b</sup>
let Israel now say;
<sup>2</sup>"Many a time they have oppressed me
from my youth,
but they have not prevailed against me.
<sup>3</sup>The plowmen plowed<sup>c</sup> upon my back;
they made long their furrows."

<sup>4</sup>The LORD is righteous;
He has completely severed the cords<sup>d</sup>
of the wicked.

<sup>5</sup>May all who hate Zion
be put to shame and turned backward.
<sup>6</sup>Let them be as the grass upon the housetops,<sup>e</sup>
which withers before it grows up,

<sup>7</sup>with which the reaper does not fill his hand
nor the binder of sheaves his bosom.
<sup>8</sup>Neither do the passers-by say:
"The blessing of the LORD be upon
you;
we bless you in the name of the LORD."<sup>f</sup>

A Sinner's Cry for Forgiveness of Sin

A Song of Ascents

130 Out of the depths<sup>g</sup> I cry to Thee, O LORD;
<sup>2</sup>LORD,<sup>h</sup> hear my voice;
let Thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications!
<sup>3</sup>If Thou, LORD, shouldst keep in mind
our iniquities,<sup>i</sup> who could stand?<sup>j</sup> <sup>4</sup>But there is forgiveness<sup>k</sup> with Thee,
in order that Thou mayest be revered.

<sup>5</sup>I am waiting for the LORD; my soul is in expectation,
and in His word do I hope.
<sup>6</sup>My soul is looking for the LORD
more than watchmen for the morning;<sup>l</sup> yes, more than watchmen for the morning.
<sup>7</sup>O Israel, hope in the LORD!
For with the LORD there is loving-kindness,
and with Him is abundant redemption.
<sup>8</sup>He Himself will redeem Israel
from all his iniquities.

*The Lord the Satisfaction of
His People*

A Song of Ascents of David

131 O LORD, my heart is not haughty,<sup>m</sup>
nor are my eyes disdainful;<sup>n</sup> neither do I concern myself in great matters,
nor in things too wonderful for me.

v) See Psalm 1:1 for a description of the person who abstains from breaches of the prohibitory commandments of the Decalogue and performs the positive order.

w) The products of our labor. x) Usual emblem of fruitfulness.

y) Emblem of vigorous, healthy, and joyous life.

z) The earthly dwelling place and throne of God.

a) Welfare of the family and the welfare of the state are indissolubly linked.

b) Egyptian bondage.

c) A figure of scourging — for another use of the figure, see Jer. 26:18; Mic. 3:12.

d) By which the ox was yoked to the plough — also a general image of slavery.

e) On ill-compacted, flat, eastern roofs, grass is often found springing into short-lived existence.

f) Customary salute to reapers. See Ruth 2:4.

g) Of misery and deep waters of overwhelming affliction. h) Hebrew: adonai, or Sovereign LORD.

i) Strictly watch, and keep in memory in order to punish.

j) Endure their unforgiven continuance. k) Just what man needs.

l) As do sentinels and sleepless sufferers.

m) Humility properly regarded as the crown of virtues.

n) As those of the Pharisee in Luke 18, looking down on others.

<sup>2</sup>Surely I have calmed and quieted my soul,
like a weaned child<sup>a</sup> with his mother;
like a weaned child is my soul within me.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>3</sup>O Israel, hope in the LORD,
from this time forth and for evermore.

The Lord the Trust of His People
A Song of Ascents

132 O LORD, remember David
for all his difficulties;
<sup>2</sup>how he swore<sup>c</sup> to the LORD and vowed to the Mighty One of Jacob:

<sup>3</sup>"Surely I will not enter the tent of
my house,

nor lie down on my bed;

<sup>4</sup>I will not give sleep to my eyes
or slumber to my eyelids,

<sup>5</sup>until I find a place<sup>d</sup> for the LORD,
a tabernacle for the Mighty One of Jacob."

<sup>6</sup>We heard of it in Ephrathah<sup>e</sup>
and found it in the field of the forest.<sup>f</sup>

let us worship at His footstool!<sup>g</sup>

<sup>8</sup>Arise,<sup>h</sup> O LORD, go into Thy resting place,

Thou, and the ark of Thy strength.

<sup>9</sup>Let Thy priests be clothed with righteousness,<sup>w</sup>

and let Thy saints shout for joy.

<sup>10</sup>For Thy servant David's sake turn not away the face<sup>x</sup> of Thy anointed.

<sup>11</sup>The LORD swore to David in truth —
He will never retract it:<sup>y</sup>

Of the fruit of your body will I set upon your throne.

<sup>12</sup>If your children will keep My
covenant

and My testimony which I shall teach
them,

their children shall sit upon your throne for ever.

<sup>13</sup>For the LORD chose Zion and cherished
it for His dwelling place.

<sup>14</sup>This is My resting place for ever;
here will I dwell, for I have desired it.

<sup>15</sup>I will abundantly bless her provision;
I will satisfy her poor with bread.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>16</sup>Her priests also I will clothe with
salvation;

her saints shall shout aloud for joy.

<sup>17</sup>There will I make the horn<sup>a</sup> of David to bud;

I have ordained a lamp<sup>b</sup> for My
anointed.

<sup>18</sup>His enemies I will clothe with shame,
but upon himself shall his crown shine.

Brotherly Love

A Song of Ascents of David

133 See, how good and how pleasant it is for brothers to live harmoniously
together!<sup>c</sup>

<sup>2</sup>It is like the precious oil upon the head,<sup>d</sup>

flowing down upon the beard, Aaron's beard,

flowing down upon the edge of his
garments;

<sup>3</sup>like the dew<sup>e</sup> of Hermon, that falls upon the mountains of Zion!

For there the LORD commanded the blessing,
even life for evermore.

The Lord, the Rest of His People

A Song of Ascents

134 Come! Bless the LORD, all you servants of the LORD, who stand nightly<sup>f</sup> in the house of the LORD.

o) One who has ceased fretting after its mother's milk.

p) This soul is unwilling to depart from God. q) Or, firmly resolved.

r) A settled resting place.

s) One of the names of Bethlehem — no record that the ark was temporarily settled there.

t) The Hebrew for forest is ja-ar; so this may refer to Kirjath-jearim, where the ark of the covenant remained for many years (I Sam. 7:1; II Sam. 6:4).

u) As the LORD dwells above, the cover of the ark, the mercy seat, is regarded as His footstool.

v) Usual word on moving the ark; see Num. 10:35.

w) White clothing as the symbol of righteousness. x) Sign of rejecting a petition.

y) From vs. 11 to the end, we find God's promise to David.

z) A sign of national prosperity. a) Symbol of dominion. b) Also denotes "progeny."

c) Harmony in the godly home as they jointly worship God; harmony among the tribes of Israel who come from far and near to worship unitedly at His temple.

d) See Exod. 29:7; Lev. 8:10; 21:10; the flowing of the ointment, diffusing fragrance all over the body. e) Symbol of life. f) As night watchmen.

<sup>2</sup>Lift up your hands<sup>g</sup> to the sanctuary;
bless the LORD!

<sup>3</sup>Bless the LORD out of Zion, the Maker of heaven and earth!

The Lord the Object of His People's Praise

135 Praise the LORD!
Praise the name of the LORD;
praise Him, O you servants of the LORD,<sup>h</sup>

<sup>2</sup>you, who are standing in the house of
the LORD,
in the courts<sup>i</sup> of the house of our God!
<sup>3</sup>Praise the LORD, for the LORD is good;
make melody to His name, for it is sweet!

<sup>4</sup>For the LORD has chosen Jacob for Himself,
and Israel for His own possession.

<sup>5</sup>As for me, I know<sup>j</sup> that the LORD is great,
and that our LORD is above all gods.

<sup>6</sup>Whatever the LORD desired, that has He done
in heaven and in earth, in the seas and in all deeps.

mighty kings,
<sup>11</sup>Sihon king of the Amorites. Og king of Bashan,
and all the kingdoms of Canaan;
<sup>12</sup>who gave their land for a heritage,
a heritage to Israel His people.

<sup>13</sup>Thy name, O LORD, is forever; Thy renown, LORD, from generation
to generation.

<sup>14</sup>For the LORD will vindicate the cause of His people,
and will have compassion on His servants.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>15</sup>The idols of the nations are gold and silver, the work of human hands.

<sup>16</sup>Though they have a mouth, they do not speak;
though they have eyes, they do not see;

<sup>17</sup>though they have ears, they do not
hear;
there certainly is no breath in their
mouth.

<sup>18</sup>Those who make them become like them, as does everyone who trusts in
them.

<sup>19</sup>O house of Israel, bless the LORD!
O house of Aaron, <sup>20</sup>bless the LORD!
O house of Levi, bless the LORD!
You who revere the LORD, bless the LORD!<sup>o</sup>

<sup>21</sup>The LORD be blessed from Zion,
He who dwells at Jerusalem!
Hallelujah!

God's Faithful Provision for His Covenant People

g) In the attitude of prayer. This marks the completion of the fifteen Songs of Degrees. Vss. 1 and 2 seem to have been sung by the pilgrims as their greetings to the priests, and vs. 3 the response of the priests with their blessing.

h) The writer knew the Scriptures well and quoted aptly. Vs. 6 is from Ps. 115: 3; vs. 8 from Ex. 13:15; vs. 13 from Ex. 3:15; vs. 14 from Deut. 32:36; vss. 15-18 from Ps. 115:4-8.

i) The enclosed space before the sanctuary. j) A firsthand religious experience.

k) Hebrew: "things lifted up," clouds rather than fogs.

l) To accompany rain, with its beneficent influence.

m) Miraculous judgments, no mere wonders, but tokens of divine will.

n) We always have God to fall back on; He is there, mindful of us.

o) Praise Him appreciatively to the nth degree.

p) This refrain resembles the congregational response of a litany. It is repeated throughout the psalm to emphasize that each redemptive or creative deed of God is a manifestation of His covenant love [hesed]. The Psalm is especially adapted to use by a choir in the Temple worship.

Captive Israel Longs to Return and See Zion Avenged

137 By the rivers of Babylon,<sup>v</sup> there we sat down and wept as we remembered Zion.

<sup>3</sup>Our captors asked us there for the words of a song; our tormentors [asked for] a song of mirth, "Sing us one of Zion's songs."

<sup>4</sup>How can we sing a song of the Lord in the land of strangers?
<sup>5</sup>If I forget you, O Jerusalem, may my right hand forget her skill;
<sup>6</sup>let my tongue cleave to my palate, if I fail to remember you, if I fail to exalt Jerusalem above my chief joy!

<sup>8</sup>O daughter of Babylon, you devastator, blessed be he who will pay back to you the recompense for what you did to us!
<sup>9</sup>Blessed [be] he who will seize your evil children and dash them against the rock!<sup>w</sup>

Praise to the Lord for His Gracious Deliverance

A Psalm of David

138 I will praise Thee, O LORD, with all my heart; in the presence of the gods<sup>x</sup> I will sing praise to Thee.

<sup>2</sup>I will bow down toward Thy holy temple and praise Thy name because of Thy covenant love and faithfulness,

q) God in nature meant much in Hebrew worship. r) The Hebrew learned his history.

s) North and south of their passageway. t) The extra gift east of the Jordan.

u) When repentant they turned to God.

v) That is, during the captivity of the Jews in Babylonia. This would date the composition of the psalm around 570 B.C. During this exile, Israel's only hope lay in God's promise of restoration [cf. Jer. 25:12].

w) Alluding to the horrors usually accompanying the conquest and sack of ancient cities.

x) The gods of the heathen, unable to work redemption and judgment such as Jehovah wrought.

for Thou hast magnified Thy word
above all Thy name.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>3</sup>In the day when I called Thou didst
answer me,
and didst encourage me with strength
in my soul.

<sup>4</sup>All the kings of the earth shall praise
Thee, O LORD,
when they have heard the words of Thy mouth;

<sup>5</sup>they shall sing of the LORD's dealings, for great shall be the glory of the
LORD.

<sup>6</sup>Though the LORD is exalted, He looks upon the lowly;
but the haughty man He notes from a distance.

<sup>7</sup>When I walk through the midst of trouble, Thou bringest me through
alive;

against the wrath of my foes, Thou
dost stretch forth Thy hand,
and Thy right hand saves me.

<sup>8</sup>The LORD will fulfil His purpose on my behalf;

O LORD, Thy covenant love is
everlasting.

Do not forsake the works of Thy
hands!

God's Omniscience, Omnipresence, and Omnipotence Toward Us

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

139 Thou hast searched<sup>z</sup> me, LORD, and Thou knowest
me.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Thou hast me in mind when I sit down and when I rise up;
Thou discernest my thoughts from afar.

<sup>3</sup>Thou hast traced my walking and my resting,
and art familiar with all my ways.

<sup>4</sup>For there is not a word on my tongue,
but Thou, LORD, knowest it perfectly.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Thou hast closed me in behind and
in front,
and hast placed Thy hand upon me.

<sup>6</sup>[This is] a knowledge too wonderful for me,
too inaccessible for me to reach.

<sup>7</sup>Where can I escape Thy Spirit, or where can I flee from Thy
presence?

<sup>8</sup>If I ascend to heaven, Thou art there;
if I made the underworld my couch,
then Thou art there!

<sup>9</sup>If I were to take the wings of the dawn
and dwell in the remotest part of the
sea,

<sup>10</sup>even there Thy hand would lead me and Thy right hand would take hold
of me.

<sup>11</sup>If I should say, "Surely the darkness will cover me,"
then the night [would become] light
around me;

<sup>12</sup>[for] even darkness does not hide
from Thee,

but night is as bright as day;
darkness is the same as light [to Thee].

<sup>13</sup>Thou didst possess my inward parts and didst weave me in my mother's womb.

<sup>14</sup>I praise Thee because I have been fearfully and wonderfully made;
marvelous is Thy workmanship, as my soul is well aware.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>15</sup>My bones were not hidden from Thee when I was made in secrecy and intricately fashioned in utter seclusion.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>16</sup>Thine eyes beheld my unformed
substance,
and in Thy book all was recorded and
prepared day by day,
when as yet none of them had being.

<sup>17</sup>How precious to me are Thy thoughts, O God!

y) Or else, "Thy promise". God had given David a promise [that his dynasty would abide forever in Christ [II Sam. 7:13, 16], which surpasses everything by which He has hitherto established a reputation and memorial for Himself.

z) "X-rayed me," would be today's equivalent.

a) This Hebrew verb vada, "Know," often implies favorable acquaintance, [Ps. 1:6; Amos 3:2] or, taking notice of someone or something, with a view to rewarding the faithful and punishing the disobedient.

b) When everyone else misunderstands and misjudges, God and God alone knows better, and He cares. There is no loftier and truer appreciation of God's gracious presence than this psalm.

c) Man, the crowning work of creation, not only as a spirit but also in body. All so true to the findings of today's physiology! d) Literally, "in the lowest parts of the earth."

PSALMS 139-141

How vast is the sum of them!

<sup>18</sup>If I tried to count them, they would be more numerous than the sand;
when I awake, I am still with Thee.

<sup>19</sup>If Thou, O God, wouldst slay the
ungodly,
then would bloodguilty men depart
from me!

<sup>20</sup>Those who speak of Thee with crafty malice
exalt themselves as Thy foes to no avail.

<sup>21</sup>Shall I not hate those, O LORD, who hate Thee?

And am I not grieved with those that rise up against Thee?

<sup>22</sup>I hate them with a complete hatred;
they have become my own enemies.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>23</sup>Search me, O God, and know
my heart!

Test me and know my thoughts!

<sup>24</sup>See whether there is any baneful motive within me,
and lead me on the everlasting way!<sup>f</sup>

The Deliverance of Believers from Persecutors

To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David

140 Deliver me, O LORD, from
wicked men;
protect me from men of violence, who <sup>2</sup>in their hearts devise evil plots, and constantly stir up warfare.

<sup>3</sup>They have sharpened their tongue
like a serpent's;
adder's venom is under their lips. Selah

<sup>4</sup>Keep me, O LORD, from the hands of the wicked;
protect me from violent men who have
plotted to trip my feet.

<sup>5</sup>Conceited men have hidden a snare
for me,
and have stretched out the cords of a hunting net at the wayside,
planting traps for me. Selah

God Delivers from Persecution and Sin

<sup>6</sup>I said to the LORD, "Thou art
my God!
Give ear, O LORD, to my voice of supplication!"

<sup>7</sup>Jehovah<sup>g</sup> LORD, the strength of my
salvation,
Thou hast shielded my head in the day
of battle.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>8</sup>O LORD, do not grant the desires of
the ungodly,
nor promote their schemes lest they exalt themselves. Selah

<sup>9</sup>Upon the heads of those who encircle me,
may the mischief of their own lips
come down!

<sup>10</sup>May coals of fire be dropped upon their heads,
or let them be cast into trenches,
unable to rise!

<sup>11</sup>Let not the slanderer be established
in the land;
let punishment speedily overthrow the violent man!

<sup>12</sup>I know that the LORD will maintain the cause of the afflicted and the rights of the poor.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Surely the righteous<sup>j</sup> will praise Thy name;
the upright shall dwell in Thy
presence.

A Prayer for Deliverance from Sin and Sinners

A Psalm of David

141 I call upon Thee, O LORD;
hasten to me!

Hear my voice as I cry out to Thee!

<sup>2</sup>Let my prayer be prepared as an incense offering before Thee,
the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice.

<sup>3</sup>Set a guard at my mouth, O LORD;
keep watch over the door of my lips.

<sup>4</sup>Let not my heart incline to evil
so as wickedly to busy myself with evil

c) This is no expression of personal spite, but the psalmist has so completely identified himself with God's cause that he grants no quarter to sin. Whenever ancient Israel leaned toward God's enemies, they themselves were so compromised that they joined the heathen in opposition against God. Not until Christ's advent and the impartation of His divine nature by the Holy Spirit, could men learn to love God's enemies — in the holy way in which God Himself loves them.

f) These last two verses will enrich our lives until the final day, if we master and daily use them prayerfully.

g) LORD where the Hebrew text has Yahweh [Jehovah], the covenant name of God. But where the covenant name comes right before the Hebrew word for LORD [Adonai], it seems best to revert to "Jehovah." h) "In the day of weapons."

i) This term [ani, "poor" or "afflicted"] implies a believer who is persecuted and downtrodden because of his loyalty to God. This is a key term in the Psalms. j) See note on p. 637.

deeds, with men who practice iniquity;
I will not eat of their dainties.

<sup>5</sup>Let a righteous man<sup>j</sup> smite me;
it is kindness.
Let him reprove me; it is oil for my head,
which my head shall not refuse;
for I will still pray in the face of their wickedness.
<sup>6</sup>When their judges are hurled down
along the sides of a rock,
then they will listen to my words, for they are pleasant.
<sup>7</sup>As when a man plows and breaks open the earth, so our bones have been strewn about at the grave's opening.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>8</sup>For my eyes are towards Thee, O Jehovah LORD;
in Thee I have taken refuge;
do not pour out my life.
<sup>9</sup>Keep me from the trap they have set for me,
and from the snares of those who practice iniquity.
<sup>10</sup>Let all the ungodly together fall into their own nets, while I myself pass safely by.

The Only Savior from Destructive Foes
A Meditation of David. A Song of Praise
when He Was in the Cave<sup>l</sup>

142 To the LORD I cry out with my voice;
to the LORD I lift up my voice imploring mercy.
<sup>2</sup>I will pour out my grief before Him;
I will set forth my trouble before Him.

<sup>3</sup>When my spirit within me weakens,
Thou art aware of my path,
how men have concealed a trap for me in the way by which I walk.

<sup>4</sup>I look to the right and I watch.
There is no one who cares about me.
My every refuge has disappeared; no one seeks my welfare.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>5</sup>I cry out to Thee, O LORD, [and] declare,
"Thou art my refuge, my portion in the land of the living."
<sup>6</sup>Listen to my cry of entreaty,
for I have been brought very low!
Deliver me from my persecutors, for they are too strong for me.
<sup>7</sup>Lead out my soul from its prison,
that I may praise Thy name.
May the righteous throng around me,
because Thou dealest kindly with me."<sup>n</sup>

A Penitential Cry for Help

A Psalm of David

143 O LORD, hear my prayer;
listen to my supplications;
in Thy faithfulness and in Thy righteousness answer me.
<sup>2</sup>Do not enter into judgment with Thy servant,
for no man living is righteous<sup>o</sup> in Thy sight.
<sup>3</sup>For the enemy has hunted after my soul,
and has trampled my life to the ground;
he has made me dwell in dark hiding places,
like those who have long been dead.
<sup>4</sup>My spirit is losing hope;
my heart within me is numbed with dismay.
<sup>5</sup>I recall the former days and think about all Thy dealings;
I meditate upon the works of Thy hands.
<sup>6</sup>I stretch out my hands toward Thee;
my soul thirsts for Thee like parched land.<sup>p</sup>

j) This term [tsaddiq, "righteous"] when applied to human beings implies a believer who is justified by faith and is walking sincerely with the LORD, not a person who has attained sinlessness. The psalmist recognizes with Paul that "there is none righteous, no not one" [cf. Ps. 14:1; 53:1; 143:2]. See note on Ps. 146:8.

k) Though godly men have died at the hands of the wicked, yet their bodies shall be turned up out of the soil at the Resurrection, as the ploughshare exhumes what is buried beneath the surface of the ground.

l) Almost certainly the Cave of Adullam, in which David hid from Saul [I Sam. 22].

m) Literally, "for my soul"; but nephesh ["soul"] often signifies "personal interest" or even "life."

n) This prayer was answered; enough fighting men joined David there to form the nucleus of a mighty army [I Sam. 22].

o) This word sadaq, "righteous," "just," is often used as the technical term for that litigant in a court action who is found to be innocent of the crime charged or who is in the right as regards the point in controversy. David recognizes that no man is good enough to be saved, but that justified believers ["the righteous" or tsaddiqim] are sinners saved by grace.

p) Because of a parching drought.

<sup>7</sup>Answer me quickly, LORD, [for]
 my spirit is pining away!
 Do not hide Thy face from me,
 lest I become like those who descend
 to the pit.
<sup>8</sup>In the morning proclaim to me Thy
 covenant love,
 for I have put my trust in Thee.
 Make me understand the way I should go,
 for I lift up my soul to Thee.<sup>a</sup> <sup>9</sup>Deliver me from my foes, O LORD,
 for to Thee have I fled for hiding.
<sup>10</sup>Teach me to carry out Thy good pleasure,
 for Thou art my God; may Thy good Spirit lead me on level ground.<sup>r</sup> <sup>11</sup>For the glory of Thy name, O LORD, preserve my life;
 in Thy righteousness remove my soul
 from distress.
<sup>12</sup>In Thy covenant love mayest Thou silence my foes
 and destroy all those who oppress my soul, for I am Thy servant.

A Song of Confidence

A Psalm of David<sup>s</sup>

144 Blessed be the LORD, my Rock,
 who teaches my hands to wage war,
 and my fingers to do battle;
<sup>2</sup>my Covenant Love, my Fortress, my loft<sup>v</sup> Stronghold, my Deliverer, my Shield in whom I have taken
 refuge,
 and the One who subdues my people
 under me.

<sup>3</sup>LORD, what is man, that Thou
 takest notice of him,
 or the son of man, that Thou considerest him?

<sup>4</sup>Man is like a breath;
 his days are like a passing shadow.
<sup>5</sup>O LORD, bow down Thy heavens
 and descend;
 touch the mountains so that they smoke!
<sup>6</sup>Flash forth the lightning and scatter them;<sup>t</sup> shoot forth Thine arrows and confound
 them.
<sup>7</sup>Extend Thy hand from on high;
 rescue and deliver me from the many waters,
 from the power of the aliens' children.
<sup>8</sup>For they have each one spoken falsehood,
 and have extended their right hand
 for fraudulent oaths.

<sup>9</sup>O God, I sing to Thee a new
 song;
 on a ten-stringed harp I sing psalms

q) This Hebrew idiom implies: "I have directed my desire toward Thee," "I have centered my yearning in Thee."

r) In contrast to a dark and perilous mountain path, the phrase might be rendered, "the land of righteousness."

s) A dubious tradition connects this psalm with David's victory over Goliath. The resemblances to Ps. 8 [cf. 144:3 and 8:4], Ps. 18 [cf. 144:1 and 18:2, 34; also 144:2 and 18:47], and Ps. 39 [cf. 144:4 and 39:5, 6] serve to confirm Davidic authorship.

t) The proud foes of God's people. u) By the sovereign working of God behind the scenes.

v) An ancient tradition refers this sword of evil to Goliath. We understand this "sword of evil" more generally to be the sword engaged in the service of evil.

w) Such as Doeg, the Edomite [1 Sam. 21:7; 22:7-16].

x) There is no copulative verb in the Hebrew of this clause, so we translate these all as statements of present fact rather than of a desired future state of affairs.

y) Or, on the basis of well-attested practices in the Near East, beautifully carved, inlaid or painted corners in a wealthy home.

Praise to God All-Bountiful

A Praise Song of David<sup>a</sup>

145 I will exalt Thee, my God
and King;
I will bless Thy name for ever and
ever.
<sup>2</sup>Every day will I bless Thee, and praise Thy name for ever and ever.
<sup>3</sup>Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised;
His greatness is unsearchable.

<sup>4</sup>One generation shall extol Thy works to the following one,
and set forth Thy mighty acts.
<sup>5</sup>I will dwell on the glorious splendor
of Thy majesty,
and on the records of Thy wonders.
<sup>6</sup>Men shall speak of the might of Thy
awe-inspiring deeds,
and as for Thy greatness, I will recount it.
<sup>7</sup>They will pour forth a recital of Thy great goodness,
and sing aloud of Thy righteousness.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>8</sup>The LORD is gracious and compassionate,
slow to anger and abounding in
covenant love.
<sup>9</sup>The LORD is good to all,
and His tender mercies are over all His works.
<sup>10</sup>All Thy works shall praise Thee,
LORD,
and Thy saints shall bless Thee.
<sup>11</sup>They shall speak of the glory of Thy kingdom
and tell of Thy might, <sup>12</sup>that they may make known to the children of men His feats of power,
and the majestic glory of His kingdom.

<sup>13</sup>Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom,
and Thy dominion endures through all generations.

<sup>14</sup>The LORD supports all those who fall,
and lifts up all those bowed down.

<sup>15</sup>The eyes of all look expectantly to
Thee,

for Thou art ever giving them their food at the proper time.

<sup>16</sup>Thou art ever opening Thy hand to satisfy
the desire of every living creature.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>17</sup>The LORD is just in all His
ways,

and gracious in all His works.

<sup>18</sup>The LORD is near to all who call
upon Him,

to those who call upon Him sincerely.
<sup>19</sup>He fulfills the desire of those who
revere Him;

He hears their call for help and saves
them.

<sup>20</sup>The LORD protects all those who love Him,

but He will destroy all the ungodly.

<sup>21</sup>My mouth shall utter the LORD's
praise,
and all mankind shall bless His holy name for ever and ever.<sup>d</sup>

*God the Only Helper;
the Compassionate Deliverer*

146 Hallclujah!<sup>e</sup> Praise the LORD,
O my soul!

<sup>2</sup>I will praise the LORD as long as I live;
I will sing praise to my God as long as I have being.

<sup>3</sup>Put not your trust in nobles,<sup>f</sup>
in a child of Adam,<sup>g</sup> in whom is no
salvation.

<sup>4</sup>When his breath departs he reverts
to his earth,
and in that day his plans go to ruin.

<sup>5</sup>Blessed is he who has the God
of Jacob for his help,

z) "Breach" [perets], usually of a city wall, but applicable figuratively to any grave calamity.

a) This is an acrostic psalm but with the letter nun [n] missing.

b) Through this psalm, prayer to God and testimony about Him repeatedly interchange, which is not unique; Ps. 23 is typical. c) Vss. 15 and 16 furnish a helpful "grace" at the table.

d) The formula, "Bless His holy name for ever and ever," occurs with slight variations at the end of other groups of Davidic psalms – the closing verse of Ps. 41, 72, 89, and 106.

e) Jah or Yah is a shorter form of Yahweh, the covenant name of God, which we usually render LORD; so we may translate this phrase, "Praise the LORD!"

f) Primarily: voluntary donors, benefactors.

g) Although the Hebrew word Adam actually means "of the ground" or "from the ground," the reference here is either to Adam as an individual or to man in the generic sense.

whose hope is in the LORD his God, <sup>6</sup>the Maker of heaven and earth, the sea and all that is in them;
 who keeps faith forever;<sup>h</sup> <sup>7</sup>who administers justice on behalf of the oppressed; who gives bread to the hungry —
 the LORD, who loosens the chains of those who are bound.
<sup>8</sup>The LORD opens the eyes of the blind;
 the LORD lifts up those who are bowed down;
 the LORD loves the righteous.<sup>i</sup>
<sup>9</sup>The LORD protects the immigrants;<sup>j</sup>
 He relieves orphans and widows, and He reverses the path of the ungodly toward ruin.
<sup>10</sup>The LORD shall reign for ever, your God, O Zion,
 from generation to generation.
 Hallelujah!

Jehovah Praised as Restorer and Defender

147 Praise the LORD! For it is good to sing praise to our God,
 for it is a delight; the song of praise
 is so befitting.

<sup>2</sup>The LORD is building Jerusalem,
 [and] is gathering the exiles of Israel.
<sup>3</sup>It is He who heals the brokenhearted, and binds up their wounds.<sup>k</sup> <sup>4</sup>He determines the number of the stars,
 and assigns their names to them all.<sup>l</sup> <sup>5</sup>Our LORD is great and mighty in strength;
 His understanding is unlimited.
<sup>6</sup>The LORD brings relief to the humble, [and] brings down the ungodly to the
 ground.

<sup>7</sup>Sing to the LORD with
 thanksgiving;
 sing praise to our God on the harp.

<sup>8</sup>[It is He] who covers heaven with clouds,
 who prepares rain for the earth, and causes grass to sprout on the hills.<sup>m</sup> <sup>9</sup>He gives the cattle their feed, and the young ravens that for which they cry.

<sup>10</sup>His delight is not in the strength of the horse,<sup>n</sup> neither does He take satisfaction in
 the legs of a man;
<sup>11</sup>[but] the LORD takes satisfaction in
 those who revere Him,
 those who place their hope in His
 covenant love.

<sup>12</sup>Extol the LORD, O Jerusalem!
 Praise your God, O Zion, <sup>13</sup>for He has strengthened the bars of
 your gates,
 and has blessed your sons in your midst.

<sup>14</sup>He appoints peace<sup>o</sup> in your boundaries,
 and satisfies you with the choicest of
 the wheat.

<sup>15</sup>He issues His orders to the earth;
 His word speeds swiftly on its way.

<sup>16</sup>He bestows snow like wool,
 and scatters hoarfrost like ashes.

<sup>17</sup>He hurls down His ice in fragments;<sup>p</sup>
 who can withstand His cold?

<sup>18</sup>He issues His order and makes them
 melt.

He causes His wind to blow;
 then flow the waters.

 His statutes and ordinances to Israel.

<sup>20</sup>He has not dealt so with any nation,
 nor do they know His ordinances.
 Praise ye the LORD!

Let All Creation Praise God for Life

148 Hallelujah! Praise the LORD from the heavens,
 praise Him in the heights!

h) This word emeth is closely related to the word for "faithfulness" [emunah] and here connotes promise keeping and covenant faithfulness in His providential sustaining of the created universe.

i) Those justified by grace through faith stand in sincere covenant relationship to God. Cf. Gen. 15:6; Ps. 14:1-3; 51:5, 17, 19; 130:3; Hab. 2:4. In each of these passages occurs this same word, tsaddiq ["righteous"] — the righteousness of God, imparted to the repentant, sincere believer, and finding expression through his yielded life. Cf. note at Ps. 140:13.

j) Hebrew gerim or "immigrants," those who dwell in a country not their own. They did not enjoy the full citizenship rights in the land of their adoption and could be oppressed or defrauded without much protection. But they were under the special protection of God, along with the similarly defenseless widows and orphans.

k) Our Great Physician in the Old Testament. l) As their Creator and Owner.

m) Which no human hand has planted. n) In which warriors put their trust.

o) "Peace" [shalom] is accusative of manner: "He appoints your boundary with peace."

p) As hailstones.

q) God's grace in giving Israel His special revelation, over and above what He grants through nature.

<sup>2</sup>Praise Him, all His angels!
Praise Him, all His hosts!
<sup>3</sup>Praise Him, sun and moon!
Praise Him, all you radiant stars!<sup>r</sup> <sup>4</sup>Praise Him, heavens of heavens,
and you waters above the heavens!
<sup>5</sup>Let them praise the name of the
LORD,
for it was He who commanded and
they were created,
<sup>6</sup>He established them for ever and
ever,
and gave a decree that shall never pass
away.

<sup>7</sup>Praise the LORD on earth,
you sea monsters and all you ocean
depths,
<sup>8</sup>fire and hail, snow and fog,
you windstorm carrying out His orders, <sup>9</sup>you mountains and all hills,
fruit trees and all cedars, <sup>10</sup>you wild beasts and all cattle, creeping creatures and the winged birds,
<sup>11</sup>you kings of the earth and all
peoples,
you princes and all judges of the earth, <sup>12</sup>you young men and maidens,
you old and young together, <sup>13</sup>let them
praise the name of the LORD;
for His name alone is supreme!
His majesty is above earth and heaven.

<sup>14</sup>He has raised up a horn<sup>s</sup> for
His people,
a song of praise for all His godly ones,
for the children of Israel, the people who are close to Him. Hallelujah!

God's People Rejoice in His Victory
149 Hallelujah! Sing to the LORD a new song,
His praise in the congregation of the godly!

<sup>2</sup>Let Israel rejoice in his Maker,<sup>t</sup>

let the children of Zion exult in their King.

<sup>3</sup>Let them praise His name with processionals;

let them sing praise to Him with timbrel and harp.

<sup>4</sup>For the LORD takes pleasure in His
people,
and adorns the humble<sup>u</sup> with salvation.

<sup>5</sup>Let the godly rejoice in this honor;<sup>v</sup>
let them shout for joy on their beds.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Let their throats [voice] hymns of adoration to God,
with the two-edged sword in their
hands,

<sup>7</sup>to bring retribution upon the nations
and to rebuke the peoples,

<sup>8</sup>to bind their kings with fetters
and their nobles with iron handcuffs,

<sup>9</sup>thus inflicting upon them the judgment decreed,
to the glory of all His godly ones.
Hallelujah!

The Completing Glorification
150 Praise ye the LORD! Praise God in His sanctuary;
praise Him in His mighty firmament!<sup>x</sup> <sup>2</sup>Praise Him for His mighty deeds;
praise Him according to His excelling greatness!

<sup>3</sup>Praise Him with the trumpet blast;

praise Him with lyre and harp!

<sup>4</sup>Praise Him with timbrel and processional;<sup>y</sup> praise Him on stringed instruments and flutes!

<sup>5</sup>Praise Him with clashing cymbals;
praise Him with loud clanging cymbals!

<sup>6</sup>Let everything that has breath<sup>z</sup>
praise the LORD!
Praise ye the LORD!<sup>a</sup>

r) The music of the spheres. Do we hear it? The sacred poet did.

s) He has furnished them with power, prosperity, and pre-eminence; note Zacharias' song [Luke 1:69]. t) God had made them a nation, as well as having created each of them.

u) This is a standard term [anawim, "bowed over" or "bowing over"] designating the people of God who suffer oppression because they deny self-pride and self-interest, putting first their loyalty to God.

v) The honor which God bestows on them by delivering them — the "salvation" mentioned in vs. 4.

w) On the same beds on which they had wept out their laments during their days of oppression.

x) "The firmament established by His strength"; literally: "the firmament of His strength."

y) This word connotes a whirling or circular kind of dance performed by separate individuals, not by dancing partners or the like. z) "Every breath of life" [neshamah].

a) This concluding psalm answers four questions: Where, why, how, and by whom, is God to be glorified?

THE BOOK OF PROVERBS

1 THE PROVERBS<sup>a</sup> OF SOLOMON<sup>b</sup> SON of David,
king of Israel: <sup>2</sup>To gain wisdom<sup>c</sup>
and instruction,<sup>d</sup>
to understand discerning words, <sup>3</sup>to receive the instruction of prudence,
right, justice, and uprightness;
<sup>4</sup>to give insight<sup>e</sup> to the simple,<sup>f</sup>
to the young man knowledge and discretion.

<sup>5</sup>A wise man will hear and increase his learning.

A man of understanding will attain to leadership,<sup>g</sup>

<sup>6</sup>to understand a proverb and a figure,
the words of the wise and their enigmas.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Reverence<sup>i</sup> of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge;
but foolish men despise wisdom and
instruction.

<sup>8</sup>My son,<sup>j</sup> heed the instruction of your father

and reject not your mother's teaching;

<sup>9</sup>for they are a fair garland upon your head

and adornments for your neck.

<sup>10</sup>My son, if sinners entice<sup>k</sup> you, do not consent.

<sup>11</sup>If they say, "Come with us; we will lie in wait for blood;
we will ambush the innocent without
cause;

<sup>12</sup>we will swallow them like the dead-realm,
and whole, like those going down
into the pit;

<sup>13</sup>we shall find all sorts of valuable things

and we shall fill our houses with spoil;

<sup>14</sup>throw in your lot with us; all of us
shall have one purse" —

<sup>15</sup>My son, do not walk in the way
with them;

keep your feet from their path:<sup>l</sup>

<sup>16</sup>for their feet run to evil and they hurry to shed blood.

<sup>17</sup>For in vain the net is spread in the sight of any bird;

<sup>18</sup>but these lie in wait for their own blood;

they ambush their own lives.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>19</sup>So is the way of each one destroying for plunder;

it takes away the life of its followers.

<sup>20</sup>Wisdom<sup>n</sup> cries aloud in the street;
in the market places she lifts her voice;

a) The Hebrew word Nisble, "Proverbs," applies to a comparison. Bible proverbs are wise sayings, varying from moral maxims to the lengthy discourses of ch. 1-9.

b) Solomon is the principal author. Other inspired writers contributed, see 30:1; 31:1.

c) Wisdom is practical, moral intelligence, in harmony with the principles by which God runs the universe. d) From root "to chastise" so as "to instruct."

e) From root "to make naked," hence to see basic issues. f) One "wide open" to every opinion. g) From root "to steer." h) "Involved terminology."

i) The theme emphasizes obedience to God and urges honoring parental teaching. j) "My pupil."

k) This is the verb from which "simple" of v. 4 is derived: "attempt to make a simpleton of you."

l) Two reasons for rejecting their offer: They are doing evil to others [v. 16], and they bring evil upon themselves [17-19].

m) Even a silly bird knows better than to approach a trap he sees being set; yet these sinners set a trap and fall in it themselves. The verbs in v. 18 are the same as in v. 11.

n) Wisdom is here personified.

in the entrances of the city gates<sup>o</sup>
she speaks her words:

<sup>22</sup>"How long, O simple ones, will you love being simple?

How long will scoffers delight in their mocking

and fools despise knowledge?

<sup>23</sup>Turn to my reproof!

Look, I will pour out my spirit for you;
I will disclose my words to you.

<sup>24</sup>Because I besought and you refused,
I stretched out my hand and no one responded,

<sup>25</sup>and you have treated all my counsel
lightly,

would have none of my reproof,

<sup>26</sup>I also will laugh at your calamity;

I will deride when terror comes to you,

<sup>27</sup>when terror strikes you like a storm, and your calamity hits like a whirlwind,

when distress and despair come
upon you.

<sup>28</sup>Then they will beseech me, but I will<sup>p</sup> not answer;

they will seek me diligently, but will not find me.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>29</sup>Because they despised knowledge, and did not choose

reverence for the LORD,

<sup>30</sup>would have none of my counsel,
scorned all my reproof,

<sup>31</sup>therefore they will eat of the fruit
of their way,

will be sated with their own counsel.

<sup>32</sup>For the waywardness<sup>r</sup> of the simple brings their death

and the self-assurance of fools their destruction.

<sup>33</sup>But the one listening to me will dwell secure,

will be quiet without dread of calamity.<sup>s</sup>

2 MY SON, IF YOU WILL ACCEPT MY words,
and store up my commandments
within you,

<sup>2</sup>so that you make your ear attend to wisdom,

and your heart reach out for
discernment;

<sup>3</sup>yes, if you beseech understanding,
and lift your voice for discernment;

<sup>4</sup>if you seek her as silver,
and search for her as for hidden treasures;

<sup>5</sup>then you will understand reverence
of the LORD

and find the knowledge of God.

<sup>6</sup>For the LORD gives wisdom;
from His mouth come knowledge and
discernment.

<sup>7</sup>He has stored up sound wisdom<sup>a</sup> for
the upright;

He is a shield to those walking in
integrity,

<sup>8</sup>that He may guard the paths of justice;

for He protects the way of His saints.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Then you will understand right,
justice

and uprightness, every good road;

<sup>10</sup>For wisdom will enter into your
heart;

knowledge will be pleasant to your
soul;

<sup>11</sup>discretion will protect you;
discernment will guard you,<sup>u</sup>

<sup>12</sup>to deliver you from the way of evil, from men speaking perverted<sup>v</sup>

things,

<sup>13</sup>who leave the paths of uprightness
to walk in the ways of darkness;

<sup>14</sup>who delight in doing evil, and exult in evil's perversity;<sup>w</sup>

<sup>15</sup>whose ways are crooked and their roads meandering.

<sup>16</sup>To deliver<sup>x</sup> you from the loose<sup>y</sup> woman,

from the wanton<sup>z</sup> woman with her flattering words,

<sup>17</sup>who forsakes the husband of her

<sup>p</sup> Wisdom is here personified, a foreshadowing of the Word, the Son of God, but not identified with Him, for 8:22 tells a beginning, such as is not ascribed to the Son of God.

<sup>q</sup> The penitent may be forgiven, but he must face the consequences of his sin, that the lesson may be learned, II Sam. 12:10.

PROVERBS 2, 3

and forgets the covenant<sup>a</sup> of her God; <sup>18</sup>for her house sinks down to death;
 her roads to the shades;<sup>b</sup>

<sup>19</sup>none going to her return, nor reach the ways of life.

<sup>20</sup>So<sup>c</sup> you may walk in the way of good men

and keep the paths of the righteous.

<sup>21</sup>For the upright will inhabit the
 land

and men of integrity remain in it;

<sup>22</sup>but the wicked will be cut off from
 the land,

and the treacherous plucked up
 from it.

3 MY SON, DO NOT FORGET MY teaching;

let your heart keep my commandments;

<sup>2</sup>for length of days and years of life
 full of peace will they add to you.

<sup>3</sup>Let not lovingkindness and faithfulness leave you;

bind them about your neck;<sup>d</sup>

write them on the tablet of your heart,

<sup>4</sup>thus finding favor and ideal understanding

in the sight of God and of man.

<sup>5</sup>Trust in the LORD with all your heart and lean not on your own
 understanding;

<sup>6</sup>in all your ways acknowledge<sup>e</sup> Him,
 and He will direct<sup>f</sup> your paths.

<sup>7</sup>Be not wise in your own eyes;

revere the LORD and depart from evil;

<sup>8</sup>it will be healing to your body<sup>g</sup> and nourishment to your bones.

<sup>9</sup>Honor the LORD with your
 substance

and with the first fruits of all your income.

<sup>10</sup>So shall your barns be filled with plenty

and your vats overflow with new wine.

<sup>11</sup>Despise not, my son, the discipline<sup>h</sup> of the LORD

nor loathe His reproof;

<sup>12</sup>for whom the LORD loves He corrects,<sup>i</sup>

Trust in God; Wisdom, the Great Prize

as a father the son in whom he delights.

<sup>13</sup>Blessed is the man who has found
 wisdom,

the man who obtains understanding;

<sup>14</sup>for her profit is better than that of silver

her increase superior to fine gold.

<sup>15</sup>She is more valuable than jewels;

all desirable things are not comparable to her:

<sup>16</sup>Length of days is in her right hand,
 riches and honor in her left;

<sup>17</sup>her ways are pleasant ones, peaceful all her paths.

<sup>18</sup>She is a tree of life<sup>j</sup> to those laying hold of her,
 making happy each one holding her fast.

<sup>19</sup>The LORD by wisdom founded the
 earth;

by understanding He established the
 heavens;

<sup>20</sup>By His knowledge the deeps pour forth,

and the skies distil the dew.

<sup>21</sup>My son, let them not leave your sight:

keep sound wisdom and discretion,

<sup>22</sup>for they shall be life to your soul
 and an ornament to your neck.

<sup>23</sup>Then you will walk your way confidently

and will not stumble;

<sup>24</sup>when you lie down it will not be
 in dread;

for when you lie down your sleep
 will be sweet.

<sup>25</sup>Fear not sudden terror,
 the stormy blast<sup>k</sup> of the wicked when it comes;

<sup>26</sup>for the LORD will be in your inward parts<sup>l</sup>

keeping your foot from being caught.

<sup>27</sup>Hold back no benefit from those entitled<sup>m</sup> to it,

when it is in the power of your hand
 to perform.

<sup>28</sup>Say not to your neighbor, "Go and come back

and tomorrow I will give"; when you already have it.

<sup>29</sup>Do not devise harm against your neighbor,

for trustingly he lives beside you.

<sup>30</sup>Strive not with a man without cause, when he has done you no wrong.

<sup>32</sup>for an abomination to the LORD is the perverse,

but His intimate counsel is with the upright.

<sup>33</sup>The curse of the LORD is on the house of the wicked,

but the dwelling of the righteous He blesses.

<sup>34</sup>As for scorners, He scorns them, but to the humble He gives grace.

4 HEAR, O SONS, THE INSTRUCTION of a father;

listen carefully to gain insight.

<sup>3</sup>For I was once a son with my father,<sup>q</sup> tender and the only one in the sight of my mother,

<sup>4</sup>and he taught me, saying to me:

"Let your heart hold fast my words; keep my commandments and live.

<sup>5</sup>Get wisdom, get understanding; forget not, neither turn away from the words of my mouth.

love her, and she will guard you.

and in every gain<sup>s</sup> get understanding.

<sup>8</sup>Exalt her and she will lift you up; she will bring you honor when you embrace her.

<sup>9</sup>A fair garland she will place on your head,

bestow upon you a glorious crown."

<sup>10</sup>Hear, my son, accept what I say, and the years of your life will be many.

<sup>11</sup>In the wise way I have directed you; I have led you on straight roads.<sup>t</sup>

and if you run, you will not stumble.

<sup>13</sup>Hold fast to instruction, do not let go;

guard her, for she is your life.

<sup>14</sup>Enter not the path of the wicked, nor continue in the way of evil men.

<sup>16</sup>for they sleep not unless they do evil;

their sleep is taken away unless they cause stumbling.

shining brighter, brighter until the full-orbed day.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>19</sup>The way of the wicked is like deep darkness;

they know not at what they stumble.

<sup>20</sup>My son, listen to my words; incline your ear to my sayings;

<sup>21</sup>let them not depart from your eyes; keep them in the midst of your heart;

<sup>22</sup>for they are life to those finding them

and healing to all their flesh.

<sup>23</sup>Above all that you guard, watch over your heart,<sup>w</sup>

for out of it are the sources of life.

<sup>25</sup>Let your eyes look forward and your gaze straight ahead of you.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>26</sup>Consider well<sup>y</sup> the path for your feet and all your ways will be sure.

<sup>27</sup>Turn not to the right or to the left; keep your foot away from evil.<sup>z</sup>

n) From root, "to be heavy."

o) From root, "to be light" [of no consequence]. Such fools heap shame upon themselves.

p) "What is received."

q) We may here picture king David instructing his son Solomon. The father had many sons, but the mother, Bathsheba, thought of Solomon as her only son.

r) Of primary importance in obtaining wisdom is the determination to acquire it. s) "Getting."

t) Or "roads of uprightness." u) Lit. "light of brightness."

v) Lit. "the establishment of the day" [noon]. w) Hebrew equivalent of mind.

x) In contrast to v. 24. y) Lit. "weigh," before starting journey.

z) From wrong paths pull back the one foot there. When both are there, advice will do little good.

5 MY SON, LISTEN TO MY WISDOM;<sup>a</sup> incline your ear to my discernment; <sup>2</sup>that you may protect discretion;
 that your lips may guard knowledge.
<sup>3</sup>For the lips of a loose<sup>b</sup> woman drop honeyed words<sup>c</sup>
 and her palate<sup>d</sup> is smoother than oil; <sup>4</sup>but in the end she is bitter as wormwood,
 sharp as a devouring<sup>e</sup> sword.
<sup>5</sup>Her feet go down to death; her steps
 take hold of hell.
<sup>6</sup>The path of life she does not consider;<sup>f</sup>
 her paths meander, but she knows
 it not.
<sup>7</sup>Now, my sons, listen to me,
 and depart not from the words of my
 mouth.
<sup>8</sup>Keep your feet far from her;
 do not go near the door of her house;
<sup>9</sup>lest you give your honor to others,
 and your years to the merciless; <sup>10</sup>lest aliens take their fill of your
 wealth,
 your labors go to a foreign house <sup>11</sup>and you moan when your end comes,
 when your flesh and body are
 consumed,
<sup>12</sup>and you exclaim, "Alas, I have hated discipline,
 and my heart despised reproof;
<sup>13</sup>I have not listened to the voice of
 my teachers,
 nor inclined my ear to my instructors;
<sup>14</sup>I was almost in utter ruin in the midst of the congregation and
 assembly."
<sup>15</sup>Drink waters from your own cistern,<sup>g</sup> running water out of your own well.
<sup>16</sup>Should your springs<sup>h</sup> be dispersed
 abroad,
 your courses of water<sup>i</sup> in the streets?
<sup>17</sup>But let them be only your own,
 and not those of aliens, too.
<sup>18</sup>Let your own fountain<sup>j</sup> be blessed;
 derive delight from the wife of your
 youth;
<sup>19</sup>a lovely hind, a graceful doe,

let her breasts satisfy you at all times;
 be always infatuated with her love; <sup>20</sup>for why, my son, should you be infatuated with a loose woman,
 and embrace the bosom of an outsider?
<sup>21</sup>For directly before the eyes of the LORD are a man's ways,
 and all his paths are well considered.<sup>k</sup> <sup>22</sup>His own iniquities seize the wicked, and he is held fast by the ropes of his own sin.
<sup>23</sup>He dies for lack of discipline;
 but with the magnitude of his folly
 he is infatuated.<sup>l</sup>

6 MY SON, IF YOU HAVE BECOME
 surety<sup>m</sup> for your neighbor, if you have struck hands<sup>n</sup> for another,<sup>o</sup> <sup>2</sup>you have been snared by the words
 of your mouth,
 by the words of your mouth you have been caught<sup>p</sup> — <sup>3</sup>do this at once, my son, and deliver yourself,
 for you have come into the hand of
 your neighbor:
 Go, humble yourself; beg of your neighbor desperately,<sup>q</sup> <sup>4</sup>permit no sleep to your eyes nor slumber to your eyelids;
<sup>5</sup>deliver yourself as a captured gazelle,
 as a bird from the hand of the fowler.
<sup>6</sup>Go to the ant, you sluggard, consider her ways, and be wise;
<sup>7</sup>who, having no chief, official, or ruler,
<sup>8</sup>provides her bread in the summer,<sup>r</sup> gathers her food in the harvest.
<sup>9</sup>How long will you lie down, O
 sluggard?
 When will you get up from your
 sleep?
<sup>10</sup>"Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands<sup>s</sup> to rest" — <sup>11</sup>and your poverty will come upon you as a bandit,
 your want like an unyielding warrior.
<sup>12</sup>A worthless man, a wicked man, is he who walks with a crooked<sup>t</sup>
 mouth,

c) Lit. "drop honey." d) Her talk. e) Lit. "a sword of mouths."

f) See 4:26 for the same verb. g) Essentially, stay faithful to your own wife.

h, i) Figurative of offspring; children.

j) Your wife. k) See v. 6. l) Blind to his real situation. m) "Interchanged with."

n) "Made a pledge." o) Or "for a stranger."

p) Such business transactions were of a speculative nature. q) To release you.

r) Many Palestine farmers set fire to all ant hills near their threshing floors.

s) For an afternoon siesta. t) See 4:24.

<sup>15</sup>Therefore suddenly will his calamity come;

in a moment will he be broken and there will be no healing.

<sup>16</sup>There are six things which the LORD hates, yes, seven<sup>v</sup> that are an abomination to Him:

<sup>18</sup>a heart devising wicked schemes, feet quick to run to evil,

<sup>20</sup>Keep, my son, the commandment of your father, and do not neglect the teaching of your mother;

<sup>21</sup>bind them upon your heart always; fasten them around your neck.

<sup>22</sup>When you are walking about, it will lead you;

when you are lying down, it will watch over you;

and when you awake, it will speak to you.

<sup>23</sup>For to you the commandment is a lamp, the teaching a light, and the reproofs of discipline a way of life

<sup>24</sup>to keep you from the evil woman, from the smooth tongue of an unfamiliar woman.<sup>x</sup>

neither let her eyelashes captivate you;

<sup>26</sup>for a harlot seeks only for a loaf of bread,<sup>y</sup>

but another man's wife stalks a priceless soul.

<sup>28</sup>Or can a man walk on hot coals

and his feet not be scorched?

<sup>29</sup>So is he who visits his neighbor's wife;

whoever touches her will not go unpunished.

<sup>30</sup>A thief is not despised if he steals to satisfy his vital need when he is hungry;

<sup>31</sup>nevertheless, when caught, he must restore sevenfold;

he must give all the substance of his house.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>32</sup>He who commits adultery is lacking in sense;

he who does it is destroying himself;

<sup>33</sup>wounds and dishonor he will find, and his disgrace will not be wiped away.

in the day of vengeance he will not spare.

<sup>35</sup>He will not regard any ransom<sup>a</sup>—not accept, when you multiply bribes.

7 MY SON, KEEP MY WORDS and store up my precepts within you.

<sup>2</sup>Keep my precepts and live and my teaching as the pupil of your eye.

<sup>5</sup>to keep you from the unknown woman,

from the female stranger with flattering words.

<sup>6</sup>For at the window of my house I looked out through my lattice

<sup>7</sup>and I saw among the simple, I perceived among the youths a senseless young man.

<sup>8</sup>Passing along the street near her corner,

he takes the way to her house,<sup>b</sup>

<sup>9</sup>in the twilight,<sup>c</sup> in the evening,

u) He says one thing with his mouth, another with his gestures.

v) Seven are mentioned here and many more are implied.

w) See v. 14. Of all that the LORD hates, the "sower of discord" is the worst.

x) Making conversation foreign to the character of Israel's revealed religion.

y) The verb is lacking in the Hebrew.

z) Although sympathized with he must still pay the consequences.

a) As was done in the case of the thief. b) Not knowing the danger.

c) Lit. "cool." A cool breeze starts in the East just about the time of sunset.

in the middle<sup>d</sup> of the night, in the darkness.<sup>e</sup> <sup>10</sup>And look, a woman comes to meet him, with the attire of a harlot, and a crafty mind.<sup>f</sup> <sup>11</sup>She is loud and lewd;
 her feet do not stay in her own house;
<sup>12</sup>now in the street, now in the market places,
 near every corner she sets her ambush.
<sup>13</sup>So she catches him and kisses him;
 with a hardened<sup>g</sup> face she says to him:
<sup>14</sup>"Sacrifices of peace offerings I owed;
 today I paid my vows;<sup>h</sup> <sup>15</sup>therefore<sup>i</sup> I come out to meet you,
 to seek your face; and I have found you.<sup>j</sup> <sup>16</sup>I have decked my couch with coverings, colored sheets of Egyptian linen.
<sup>17</sup>I have perfumed my bed with myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.
<sup>18</sup>Come, let us take our fill of love until the morning;
 let us delight ourselves with love, <sup>19</sup>for my husband is not at home;
 he has gone on a distant journey;
<sup>20</sup>a bag of money he has taken with him;
 at full moon he will come home."<sup>k</sup> <sup>21</sup>By her sophistries she draws him away;
 with the flattery of her lips she entices him.
<sup>22</sup>Suddenly he goes after her, as an ox goes to the slaughter,<sup>l</sup>
 as in fetters a fool to his punishment,<sup>m</sup> <sup>23</sup>till an arrow strikes his liver;
 as a bird hastening to the snare,<sup>n</sup>
 for he does not know that it will cost his life.
<sup>24</sup>Now therefore, my sons, listen to me;
 listen to the words of my mouth:
<sup>25</sup>Let not your heart incline toward her ways;

do not stray upon her paths, <sup>26</sup>for many victims she has brought down;
 a great multitude are her slain.
<sup>27</sup>Her house is the way of Sheol,
 descending to the chambers of death.

8 DOES NOT<sup>o</sup> WISDOM CALL AND discernment utter her voice?
<sup>2</sup>On the top of the heights along the way,
 at the crossroads<sup>p</sup> she takes her stand; <sup>3</sup>beside the gates, in front of the town,
 from the portals' entrance she cries out;
<sup>4</sup>"To you, O men, I call;
 my voice is directed to the sons of men.
<sup>5</sup>O simple ones, learn to get insight.
 O fools, make your mind understand.
<sup>6</sup>Hear, for I will declare noble things,
 from my lips things that are right.
<sup>7</sup>For my mouth shall utter truth;
 wickedness is an abomination to my lips.
<sup>8</sup>All the words of my mouth are in righteousness,
 there is nothing twisted or crooked in them;
<sup>9</sup>they are all clear to him who is discerning and right to those finding knowledge.<sup>q</sup> <sup>10</sup>Take my instruction, and not silver,
 and knowledge rather than choice gold.
<sup>11</sup>For wisdom is better than jewels,
 all desirable things are not comparable to her.
<sup>12</sup>I, wisdom, dwell with insight,
 I find out knowledge through deliberating.
<sup>13</sup>Reverence of the Lord is hatred of evil.
 Pride, arrogance, an evil way
 and a perverse mouth I hate.
<sup>14</sup>I have counsel and sound wisdom,
 I am understanding,<sup>r</sup> power is mine;
<sup>15</sup>by me kings reign and rulers decree righteously;<sup>s</sup> <sup>16</sup>by me princes rule and all noble judges of the earth.

 f) She pretends love for all, but she loves no one. g) Lit. "she hardened her face."
 h) See Lev. 7:15ff. The sacrificer must eat the meat that day or the next, so she has plenty of good food to offer him.
 i) Her first approach is to tempt him with food. She needs a companion with whom to enjoy it.

 n) He now quickens his pace as he yields to her charms.
 o) In contrast with the unknown woman. p) Lit. "at the house of the paths."
 q) Truth is quickly perceived by those who are sincerely seeking it, when it is proclaimed to them.
 r) Understanding and wisdom are identical. s) Lit. "right."

<sup>19</sup>my fruit is better than gold, even fine gold, and my increase than choice silver.

do not refuse it. <sup>34</sup>Happy is the man listening to me, watching daily at my gates, keeping watch at my doorposts. <sup>35</sup>For the one finding me finds life, and wins approval from the LORD. <sup>36</sup>But the one missing<sup>e</sup> me does violence to his own soul; all those hating me love death.

9 WISDOM HAS BUILT HER<sup>f</sup> HOUSE, she has hewn out her seven pillars,<sup>g</sup> <sup>2</sup>she has slaughtered her meat,<sup>h</sup> she has mixed her wine, she has also prepared her table;<sup>i</sup> <sup>3</sup>she has sent forth her maidens; she calls upon the top of the high places of the city: <sup>4</sup>"Whoever is simple, let him turn in here!" As for the one lacking understanding,<sup>j</sup> she says to him: <sup>5</sup>"Come, eat of my bread, and drink of the wine that I have mixed. <sup>6</sup>Quit the company of the simple and live; walk in the way of understanding. <sup>7</sup>He who corrects a scorner heaps abuse upon himself, and he who reproves a wicked man gets bruises in return.<sup>k</sup> <sup>8</sup>Do not reprove a scorner, lest he hate you; reprove a wise man and he will love you. <sup>9</sup>Inform a wise man and he will become yet wiser; teach a righteous man and he will add to his grasp of things. <sup>10</sup>Reverence for the LORD is the beginning<sup>l</sup> of wisdom and knowledge of the Most Holy<sup>m</sup> is understanding. <sup>11</sup>For by me your days will be multiplied, the years of your life increased.<sup>n</sup> <sup>12</sup>If you are wise, you benefit yourself,<sup>o</sup> and if you scorn, you alone will bear it."<sup>p</sup>

c) See S. of Sol. 7:1. Or "young child." See Lam. 4:4. The verbs that follow usually apply to children's play or laughter [as the name Isaac from this root]. When applied to adults they usually describe frivolous merrymaking. Here they describe unusual joy and happiness.

in the high places of the city, <sup>15</sup>to call to those passing by her way, to those going straight on their paths: <sup>16</sup>"Whoever is simple let him turn in here!"<sup>r</sup>

As for the one lacking in understanding, she says to him: <sup>17</sup>"Stolen waters are sweet; secret bread is pleasant."

<sup>4</sup>Always poor is he who works with an indolent hand, but the hand of the diligent brings wealth.

<sup>9</sup>He who walks in integrity walks securely, but he who takes a crooked course will be found out.

<sup>12</sup>Hatred stirs up contentions, but love covers all transgressions.<sup>b</sup>

Solomon's Proverbs; Life's Lessons

<sup>16</sup>The labor of the righteous is for life; the increase of the wicked is for sin.

<sup>17</sup>He who heeds instruction is on the way of life, but he who neglects reproof goes astray.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>19</sup>Among a multitude of words transgression is not missing, but he who restrains his lips is prudent.

<sup>20</sup>The tongue of the righteous is as choice silver, but the heart of the wicked is of little value.

<sup>22</sup>It is the blessing of the LORD that brings riches and toiling will add nothing to it.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>23</sup>To a fool doing wickedness is sport, just as wisdom is to a man of understanding.

<sup>24</sup>What the wicked fears will come upon him, but the desire of the righteous will be granted.

<sup>25</sup>When the whirlwind passes over, the wicked is no more but the righteous has an enduring foundation.

<sup>26</sup>As vinegar to the teeth and as smoke to the eyes, so is the lazy one to those who send him.

<sup>27</sup>Reverence for the LORD adds days,<sup>h</sup> but the years of the wicked will be shortened.

<sup>28</sup>The hope of the righteous is gladness, but the expectation of the wicked comes to nothing.

r) See v. 4.

s) Lit. "shades." See note on 2:18. t) Not only in a spiritual way; it lengthens life on earth.

u) "Thrusts away" just when they think it is within their grasp.

v, w) A singular noun. "Wicked" is plural. The righteous are in the minority.

x) "Foolish of lips." y) See 6:13.

z) Repeated from v. 8. The emphasis on malicious behavior is hurt to others, and with it idle talk to oneself. a) See v. 6. b) That is, overlooks them.

c) The course of one is self-directed, the other must be driven by discipline.

d) Thus missing the path of life.

e, f) Deceit can take two forms, either to conceal the truth or to utter falsehood.

g) Not that one should not toil, but rather that unless God blesses, all toil is in vain.

h) Lengthens life.

<sup>29</sup>The way of the LORD is a stronghold to the upright, but ruin to workers of iniquity.

<sup>30</sup>The righteous will never be moved, but the wicked shall not stay in the land.

11 DECEITFUL SCALES ARE AN abomination to the LORD, but an accurate weight is His delight.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>10</sup>In the prosperity of the righteous the city rejoices, and there is joy when the wicked perish.

betrays confidence,<sup>o</sup> but he who is trustworthy<sup>p</sup> keeps a matter hidden.

<sup>14</sup>Where there is no leadership<sup>a</sup> the people fall, but in an abundance of counselors there is safety.

<sup>25</sup>The charitable soul will be enriched,<sup>x</sup> and he who waters, will himself be watered.

<sup>26</sup>The people will curse the man who holds back the grain,<sup>y</sup> but a blessing will be on the head of the one selling it.

<sup>27</sup>He who diligently seeks good finds favor, but evil comes to him who searches for it.

<sup>28</sup>He who trusts in his riches will fall, but the righteous will flourish like a fresh leaf.

i) "Cut off."

j) The righteous man works for harmony and good will; he has the making of a good speaker, of an interesting converser; but the wicked stirs up discord.

k) God takes a personal interest in the honesty of business transactions.

l) A clear conscience has victory in it. m) Lit. "perishes." n) His good influence.

o) Or "reveals a secret." p) Lit. "faithful of spirit." q) See note on 1:5.

r) Rarely does it look that way; instead, to be perfectly honest often seems a handicap; but there is a stimulus in it which no ill-gotten gain can match. s) "Wholehearted of way."

t) "Hand to hand," "agreed."

u) "Like . . . so is" are added to clarify the meaning. The Hebrew leaves to the reader the supplying of the words of comparison. They are not in the Hebrew itself. v) "Increases."

w) "What is right." x) "Will be made fat." y) In time of famine to inflate the price.

<sup>29</sup>He who troubles his own house will inherit wind, and the foolish shall be a servant of the wisehearted.

<sup>3</sup>It is an honor for a man to keep away from strife, but every foolish man will be quarreling.

<sup>4</sup>In the autumn the sluggard will not plow; he will search at harvest time and have nothing.

<sup>5</sup>Planning in a man's mind is deep water, but a man of understanding will draw it out.

<sup>13</sup>Be not overfond of sleep lest you come to poverty; keep your eyes open and have plenty of food.

<sup>14</sup>"Bad! Bad!" says the buyer,<sup>o</sup> but when he goes his way, then he boasts.

<sup>15</sup>There is gold and a mass of costly stones, but the understanding lips are a precious jewel.

<sup>16</sup>Take the man's garment who is surety for a stranger, and hold him in pledge when he is surety for foreigners.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>19</sup>He who goes about as a talebearer reveals secrets; therefore do not associate with him who opens wide his lips.

<sup>20</sup>He who curses his father or his

f) A boy is never hopeless; his ruin is not inevitable.

g) "Man proposes, but God disposes."

h) A discerning man needs only a verbal reproof. The scorner will profit from no amount of discipline, but he can be made an object lesson to help teach the immature [simple].

i) Fermented from fruits other than grapes, such as dates and pomegranates. j) Lit. "staggers."

k) "Sins against his own soul."

l) Pound and pound; bushel and bushel. Some unscrupulous merchants used one size for buying and another for selling. m) So, as Jesus put it, "By their fruits you shall know them."

n) God made us so that we may daily increase our knowledge and understanding.

o) The buyer wants to make the seller feel that the sales price is too high.

p) For that man will financially be bankrupt.

mother, his lamp will be put out in utter darkness.

<sup>21</sup>An estate may be obtained hastily at the beginning, but its end will not be blessed.

<sup>22</sup>Do not say, "I will repay evil"; wait for the LORD and He will save you.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>29</sup>The glory of young men is their strength, and the attractiveness of old men is their gray head.

<sup>30</sup>Blows that wound cleanse away evil, and are strokes that reach the innermost parts.

<sup>6</sup>The getting of riches by a lying tongue is a fleeting vapor, a pursuit of death.

<sup>10</sup>The soul of the wicked desires evil; his neighbor finds no favor in his eyes.

<sup>13</sup>He who closes his ears to the cry of the poor will himself also cry and not be heard.

<sup>15</sup>The doing of justice is a joy to the righteous, but to the workers of iniquity it is a calamity.

q) Exemplified so perfectly when David refused to put Saul out of the way, I Sam. 26:8-10.

r) He must receive help from God, who will direct his steps, although he may never completely understand the way. s) The man rashly dedicates something to God before he counts the cost.

t) As was done in threshing. u) Lit. "life-breath," see Gen. 2:7. v) Compare 16:2.

w) So said God's prophet [I Sam. 15:22], and the scribe to Jesus [Mark 12:33].

x) Lit. "broad," with unlimited desire. y) Because not for a God-honoring purpose.

z) Lit. "foreign," contrary to what should characterize them.

a) Lit. "than a house of a companion."

b) The ignorant are moved by fear, but the wise by concern for others.

c) See 25:21-22. His thoughtfulness accentuates the evil of his neighbor. d) Lit. "shades."

e) God sees to it that ultimately right triumphs over wrong; hence the godly, too, triumph over the ungodly, whatever appearances may suggest otherwise. f) Where no one else lives.

<sup>22</sup>A wise man scales the city of the mighty and brings down the stronghold in which they trust.

<sup>27</sup>The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination; how much more when he brings it with evil intent!

<sup>28</sup>A false witness will perish, but a man who listens faithfully will be at liberty to speak.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>29</sup>A wicked man has an impudent face, but as for the upright, he ponders his ways.

<sup>30</sup>There is no wisdom, there is no understanding, there is no counsel against the LORD;<sup>j</sup>

<sup>31</sup>The horse is made ready for the day of battle, but the victory belongs to the LORD.

22 A GOOD NAME IS TO BE CHOSEN rather than great riches and loving favor than silver and gold.

<sup>5</sup>Thorns and snares are in the way of the perverse; he who guards his soul will go far from them.

<sup>6</sup>Educate a child according to his life requirements; even when he is old he will not veer from it.

<sup>7</sup>The rich rules over the poor, and the borrower is slave to the lender.

<sup>8</sup>He who sows injustice will reap

nothing, and the rod of his fury will fail.

<sup>9</sup>He whose eye is generous<sup>m</sup> will be blessed, for he gives food to the poor.

<sup>10</sup>Cast out the scorner and strife will go out, and contention and abuse will cease.

<sup>11</sup>He who loves purity of heart and whose speech is pleasant will have the king as his friend.

<sup>12</sup>The eyes of the LORD protect knowledge, and He turns aside the words of the treacherous.

<sup>13</sup>The sluggard says, "There is a lion outside; I will be slain in the streets!"<sup>n</sup>

<sup>14</sup>The mouth of strange women is a deep pit; he who is cursed of the LORD falls into it.

<sup>15</sup>Foolishness is bound up in the heart of a child, but the rod of discipline will drive it far from him.

<sup>16</sup>He who oppresses the poor to make gain for himself, or he who gives to the rich,<sup>o</sup> surely he will suffer want.

<sup>17</sup>Incline<sup>p</sup> your ear and listen to the words of the wise; apply your mind to know them;

<sup>18</sup>For it will be pleasant if you keep them within you; if all of them are ready upon your lips.

<sup>19</sup>That your trust may be in the LORD I have informed you this day, even you.

<sup>20</sup>Have not I written for you previously of counsels and knowledge, <sup>21</sup>so that I might make you know certainty, even the words of truth, that you might return words of truth to those who send you?

g) He desires only the fruit, not the labor.

h) The sluggard waits for life to come to him; the righteous gives himself to life unsparingly.

i) He will not be interrupted in his testimony. j) None that prevails.

k) We are all born equal before God. l) True humility will lead a man to revere God.

m) Lit. "good." n) He always finds an excuse for his laziness.

o) Gives a bribe. A man must be scrupulous both in how he makes and how he uses his money.

p) A new section begins here, resembling chapters 1-9.

<sup>26</sup>Be not among those who give pledges, who are securities for debts; <sup>27</sup>if you do not have the means to pay, why should your bed be taken from under you?<sup>q</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Do your eyes light on it? But it is gone; for riches surely take wings like an eagle that flies heavenward.

<sup>9</sup>Do not speak to the ears of a fool, for he will despise the wisdom of your words.

<sup>12</sup>Apply your heart to instruction and your ears to the words of knowledge.

Sheol. <sup>15</sup>My son, if your heart is wise, my heart will rejoice, mine too; <sup>16</sup>yes, my soul will rejoice when your lips speak what is right. <sup>17</sup>Let not your heart envy sinners, but continue<sup>z</sup> in the reverence of the LORD all the day; <sup>18</sup>for surely there is a future<sup>a</sup> and your hope will not be cut off.

<sup>24</sup>The father of the righteous will gladly rejoice, and he who begets a wise child will find joy in him; <sup>25</sup>let your father and mother find joy; let her who bore you rejoice. <sup>26</sup>My son, give me your heart and let your eyes delight in my ways. <sup>27</sup>For a harlot is a deep pit; an alien woman is a narrow well;<sup>e</sup> <sup>28</sup>she also lies in wait like a robber and increases the treacherous among men.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>29</sup>Who has sorrow? Who has woe? Who has strife? Who has complaints? Who feels hurt without cause? Who has bloodshot eyes? <sup>30</sup>They who tarry long over wine, they who go to sample mixed wine.<sup>g</sup> <sup>31</sup>Look not upon wine when it is red, when it sparkles in the cup,<sup>h</sup> when it goes down smoothly. <sup>32</sup>In the end it bites like a serpent, and stings like an adder. <sup>33</sup>Your eyes will see strange things, and your mind will utter upside-down things; <sup>34</sup>yes, you will be as one who lies down in the heart of the sea, or as one who lies down upon the top of a mast. <sup>35</sup>"They struck me; I did not feel it! They beat

q) To this day good people have regretted putting down their names as security, for it ruined them financially. r) The landmarks showed the bounds of one's property; to move them involved theft.

c) The result of excessive indulgence. d) Though it cost you to secure it, share it with others.

e) Therefore difficult to escape from.

f) She not only is wicked but leads the innocent into crime.

g) See 9:2. We might paraphrase: "they who go to sample cocktails."

h) "When it gives its life in the cup."

me; I did not know it! When shall I awake? I will seek it yet again."<sup>1</sup>

24 BE NOT ENVIOUS OF EVIL MEN nor desire to be with them; <sup>2</sup>for their minds devise violence, and their lips speak mischief.

<sup>3</sup>By wisdom is a house built and by understanding it is established;

<sup>6</sup>for by wise guidance you will wage your war, and there is victory in a multitude of counselors.

<sup>11</sup>Deliver those who are being taken to their death; and from those staggering toward slaughter will you withhold yourself?

<sup>12</sup>If you say, "See, we did not know this," does not the One who weighs hearts perceive it? And He who watches over the soul, does He not know and shall He not repay each man for his deeds?

<sup>13</sup>My son, eat honey, for it is good and its drippings are sweet to your taste; <sup>14</sup>know that wisdom is thus to one's soul; if you have found it, then there will be a future and your hope will not be cut off.

<sup>17</sup>When your enemy falls, do not rejoice, and when he stumbles, let not your heart be glad; <sup>18</sup>lest the LORD see it and it appear wrong in His eyes, and

He turn away His wrath from him.

<sup>19</sup>Fret not yourself<sup>n</sup> because of evil-doers, neither be envious of the wicked; <sup>20</sup>for there will be no future for the evil man; the lamp of the wicked will burn out.

<sup>21</sup>My son, revere the LORD and the king; do not mingle with those who are given to change;<sup>o</sup> <sup>22</sup>for their calamity will arise suddenly and who knows the ruin that will come to them both?

<sup>28</sup>Be not a witness against your neighbor without cause, for would you deceive with your lips? <sup>29</sup>Say not, "As he did to me, so I will do him; I will repay a man according to his deeds."

<sup>30</sup>I passed by the field of a lazy man, by the vineyard of a man who lacked understanding; <sup>31</sup>and, sec, it was completely overgrown with thorns; the ground was covered with nettles, and its stone wall was broken down. <sup>32</sup>So I looked and took it to heart; I observed and received instruction. <sup>33</sup>"Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest"<sup>s</sup> — <sup>34</sup>and your poverty will come upon you as a bandit, your want like an unyielding warrior.

25 THESE ARE ALSO PROVERBS OF Solomon, which the men of Hezekiah, king of Judah, copied:

ver and a vessel will result<sup>v</sup> for the smith. <sup>5</sup>Take away the wicked from before the king and his throne will be established in righteousness.

<sup>6</sup>Do not put yourself forward in the presence of the king and do not stand in the place of great men; <sup>7</sup>for it is better to be told, "Come up here," than that you should be put lower in the prince's presence, as your eyes have seen.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>12</sup>Like a gold ring and an ornament of gold, so is a wise reprover for a listening ear.

<sup>14</sup>Like clouds and wind when there is no rain, so is a man boasting of a false gift.

<sup>15</sup>When one is slow to anger, a ruler is persuaded, and soft speech will break a bone.

<sup>17</sup>Let your foot be rarely in your neighbor's house, lest he become weary of you and hate you.

<sup>18</sup>As a scattering club, or a sword, or a sharp arrow, so is a man bearing false witness against his neighbor.

on a cold day, or like vinegar upon soda, so is a singer of songs to a heavy<sup>a</sup> heart.

<sup>21</sup>If your enemy is hungry, give him bread to eat; if he is thirsty, give him water to drink; <sup>22</sup>for live coals you will heap upon his head, and the LORD will reward you.

26 AS SNOW IN SUMMER AND AS rain in harvest, so a place of honor is not fitting for a fool.

<sup>4</sup>Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest you, too, be like him.

<sup>5</sup>Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own eyes.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>13</sup>The sluggard says, "There's a lion in the road! There's a lion in the streets!"<sup>n</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Like him who catches a dog<sup>q</sup> by the ears, so is he who, passing by, involves himself in a quarrel not his own.

<sup>19</sup>so is the man who deceives his neighbor and says, "Was I not joking?"

contention ceases. <sup>21</sup>As charcoal to hot embers, and wood to fire, so is a contentious man for keeping a strife aflame.

<sup>25</sup>when he speaks pleasantly, do not trust him, for there are seven abominations in his heart;

PROVERBS 30, 31

I am without human understanding.
<sup>3</sup>I have not learned wisdom, that I should possess knowledge of the Holy One. <sup>4</sup>Who has ascended up to heaven and descended? Who has gathered the wind in his fists? Who has wrapped up the waters in his garment? Who has established all the ends of the earth? What is His name, or what is the name of his Son? Surely you know!<sup>f</sup> <sup>5</sup>Every word of God has been proven true;<sup>g</sup> He is a shield to those who take refuge in Him; <sup>6</sup>add not to His words, lest He reprove you, and you be found a liar.

<sup>7</sup>Two things I have asked of Thee;<sup>h</sup> deny them not to me before I die: <sup>8</sup>remove falsehood and lying far from me; grant me neither poverty nor riches; feed me my portion of nourishment, <sup>9</sup>lest I be full and deny thee and say, "Who is the Lord?" or lest I be poor, and steal, and violate God's name.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>15</sup>The leech has two daughters: Give! Give! There are three things that are never satisfied, <sup>16</sup>Four that say not, "Enough": Sheol, a barren womb, the earth over-thirsty for<sup>m</sup> water, and the fire that never says, "Enough."

<sup>17</sup>The eye that mocks a father and scorns to obey a mother will be picked out by the ravens of the valley and eaten by the young vultures.

<sup>18</sup>There are three things which are too wonderful for me, yes, four which I do not comprehend: <sup>19</sup>the way of an eagle in the sky, the way of a serpent upon a rock, the way of a ship in the midst of the sea, and the way of a man with a maiden.

what destroys kings. <sup>4</sup>It is not for kings, Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine, nor for rulers to desire strong drink; <sup>5</sup>lest they drink and forget what is decreed and pervert the rights of all the afflicted. <sup>6</sup>Give strong drink to him who is perishing and wine to the bitter of soul; <sup>7</sup>let him drink and forget his poverty and remember his misery no more. <sup>8</sup>Speak up for the dumb,<sup>z</sup> for the cause of those who are left desolate;<sup>a</sup> <sup>9</sup>speak up, judge righteously and defend the rights of the poor and needy.

<sup>18</sup>She sees that her merchandise is profitable; her lamp does not go out at night; <sup>19</sup>she puts her hands to the distaff; she manipulates the spindle; <sup>20</sup>she opens her palm to the poor and reaches out her hands to the needy.<sup>d</sup> <sup>21</sup>She does not fear the snow for her household, for they are clothed with scarlet; <sup>22</sup>she makes herself coverings, her clothing is fine linen and purple. <sup>23</sup>Known in the gates is her husband,<sup>e</sup> when he sits among the elders of the land. <sup>24</sup>She makes linen garments and sells them, and delivers sashes to the merchants. <sup>25</sup>Strength and dignity clothe her and she laughs at the future.<sup>f</sup> <sup>26</sup>She opens her mouth with wisdom and gentle<sup>g</sup> teaching is on her tongue. <sup>27</sup>She looks well to the ways of her household and eats no bread of idleness. <sup>28</sup>Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband, too, and he praises her: <sup>29</sup>"Many daughters have done nobly,<sup>h</sup> but you transcend them all." <sup>30</sup>Charm is deceitful and beauty is passing, but a woman who reveres the LORD will be praised. <sup>31</sup>Acknowledge the product of her hands; let her works praise her in the gates.

ECCLESIASTES

<sup>3</sup>What is the advantage to man in all his labor at which he toils under the sun? <sup>4</sup>One generation goes and another generation comes, but the earth remains forever. <sup>5</sup>The sun rises and the sun sets and breathlessly hurries to the place where it rises. <sup>6</sup>Going to the south and circling to the north, the wind goes round and round; and the wind returns on its circuit. <sup>7</sup>All the rivers flow to the sea, but the sea is not full; to the place where the rivers flow, there they flow again. <sup>8</sup>All things are unspeakably tiresome; the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor does the ear get enough hearing. <sup>9</sup>Whatever has been, that will be, and whatever has been done that will be done; and there is nothing new under the sun. <sup>10</sup>Is there anything of which it may be said, "See, this is new"? It has existed long ago in times past.<sup>b</sup> <sup>11</sup>There is no remembrance of former times and furthermore, there will not be any remembrance of later things yet to take place on the part of those who are to come hereafter.

<sup>12</sup>I, the Preacher, was king over Israel in Jerusalem; <sup>13</sup>and I applied my heart to seek and to search for wisdom in all that is done under heaven. This is a trying task, which God gives to the sons of men to be afflicted in it. <sup>14</sup>I saw all the things which were done under the sun and truly, all is worthlessness and chasing of wind. <sup>15</sup>What is crooked cannot be straightened, and what is lacking cannot be counted.

<sup>16</sup>I said to myself, "Look at me, how I have increased and added wisdom more than all who ruled Jerusalem before me, and my heart has observed an abundance of wisdom and knowledge."

<sup>17</sup>I applied my heart to know wisdom and knowledge, madness and folly. I discovered that this, too, is chasing after wind. <sup>18</sup>For in more wisdom is more vexation, and increasing one's knowledge increases one's distress.

2 I SAID TO MYSELF, "COME NOW AND I will test you in gladness; have a good time." But this also is worthless. <sup>2</sup>Of laughter I said, "It is madness," and of amusement, "What does it accomplish?" <sup>3</sup>I explored in my heart to stimulate my body with wine — while my heart was acting with wisdom — and to lay hold of frivolity, so that I might see what was good for man to do under the sun during his lifetime. <sup>4</sup>I made me great works; I built houses for myself and I planted vineyards for myself; <sup>5</sup>I laid out gardens and parks for myself and I planted in them fruit-trees of every kind. <sup>6</sup>I made for myself pools of water to irrigate a plantation

a) A Greek translation of Kohелеth, the Hebrew title which the author gives himself in v. 1. It means, "One who calls together an assembly," so that "Preacher" seems a suitable translation.
b) Whatever is "under the sun" is earthly, temporal; it passes. Then in some form or other, possibly in similar form, it is seen or heard or felt again.

of growing trees; <sup>7</sup>I acquired male and female servants, and children<sup>c</sup> were born to me in my house. My possessions, too, of herds and flocks became greater than those of all who had preceded me in Jerusalem. <sup>8</sup>I also gathered for myself<sup>d</sup> silver and gold and the treasures of kings and of provinces; I acquired singers, both men and women, and the delights of men — mistresses galore.<sup>e</sup> <sup>9</sup>So I became greater and wealthier than all who were before me in Jerusalem, while my wisdom continued with me. <sup>10</sup>Whatever my eyes desired I did not deny them; I did not keep my heart back from any pleasure, for my heart rejoiced in all my toil and that much I got for all my toil. <sup>11</sup>I then turned to observe<sup>f</sup> all the work which my hands had done, and the effort I exerted in doing it; and see, all was worthless, chasing after wind, and there was no gain under the sun.

<sup>12</sup>Then I turned to consider wisdom, madness and folly; for what can the man do who succeeds the king? Only what has already been done! <sup>13</sup>Then I realized that as light is better than darkness, so wisdom is better than folly. <sup>14</sup>The wise man has eyes in his head, and the fool walks in darkness; but I myself know that one fate overtakes them both. <sup>15</sup>Then I said to myself, "What happens to the fool will also happen to me; why then have I acted so extremely wise?" And I said to myself, "This, too, is futile." <sup>16</sup>For the wise man there is no more lasting remembrance than for the fool, inasmuch as in the coming days everything is forgotten — and the wise man dies along with the fool. <sup>17</sup>I hated life because the work which was done under the sun seemed bad to me, for all is fruitless<sup>g</sup> and chasing after wind.

<sup>18</sup>I hated all my toil at which I had labored under the sun, seeing that I must leave it to the man coming after me; <sup>19</sup>and who knows whether he will be a wise or a foolish man? Yet he will be master over all my possessions for which I labored and used my wisdom under the sun; this, too, is worthlessness. <sup>20</sup>So I came to the point where my heart despaired about all the work that I had done under the sun; <sup>21</sup>for here is a man who toiled in wisdom, in knowledge and in skill, yet to a man who did not work for it must he leave his possession; this, too, is useless and a great misfortune.<sup>h</sup>

This, too, I saw, came from the hand of God. <sup>25</sup>For who can eat with enjoyment apart from Him? <sup>26</sup>For to the man who pleases Him He gives wisdom, knowledge and joy;<sup>j</sup> while to the sinner He commits the task of gathering and heaping, to give it to the one who pleases God. This, too, is profitless and chasing after wind.

3 FOR EVERYTHING THERE IS AN APPOINTED season, and there is a proper time for every project under heaven:<sup>k</sup>

<sup>2a</sup> a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to root up what is planted;

<sup>3a</sup> a time to kill, and a time to heal;

a time to wreck, and a time to build;

<sup>4a</sup> a time to weep, and a time to laugh;

a time to mourn, and a time to dance;

<sup>5a</sup> a time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones;

a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;

j) God awards the good of life to the godly. k) God has ordained order, it is ours to observe it.

<sup>6</sup>a time to seek, and a time to lose;
a time to retain, and a time to throw away;<sup>1</sup>

<sup>7</sup>a time to rend, and a time to sew;
a time to be silent, and a time to speak;
<sup>8</sup>a time to love, and a time to hate;
a time for war, and a time for peace.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>9</sup>What benefit does the workman get from that for which he wears himself out? <sup>10</sup>I have observed the employments in which God has granted men to be engaged. <sup>11</sup>He has made everything beautiful in its time; He also has planted eternity in their heart,<sup>n</sup> without man finding out the work that God does from beginning to end.

<sup>12</sup>I have learned that there is nothing better for them than to rejoice and to do good all through life; <sup>13</sup>then, too, that if a man eats and drinks and sees good in all his toil, — it is God's gift.

<sup>14</sup>I know that everything that God does shall remain forever; nothing can be added to it nor can anything be taken from it. God did it so that they should be reverent in His presence.

<sup>15</sup>Whatever exists has been long ago, and whatever is to be has already existed long ago, and God seeks out what has passed by. <sup>16</sup>Again I observed under the sun the place of judgment — there was wrong; and the place of righteousness — there was wickedness.

<sup>17</sup>I said to myself, "God will judge the righteous and the wicked,"<sup>p</sup> for there is a time there for every purpose and for every work." <sup>18</sup>I said to myself, "For the sake of men God is testing them and causes them to see that in themselves they are but animals."

<sup>19</sup>For the fate of men and of animals is the same; one dies as the other; all have one breath and the advantage of men over animals amounts to nothing; for all is uselessness. <sup>20</sup>All go to one place; all are from the dust and all return to the dust. <sup>21</sup>Who takes note that the breath of man goes upward and the breath of animals goes downward to the earth?<sup>q</sup> <sup>22</sup>So I saw that there is nothing better than that a man should rejoice in his works, for that is his portion. Who can bring him to consider what shall be after him?

4 AGAIN I TURNED AND SAW ALL THE oppressions that occur under the sun, and there were the tears of the oppressed, with none to comfort them; and power in the hand of the oppressor, but no one to sustain them. <sup>2</sup>Then I congratulated the dead, who have long been dead, more than the living who are still alive; <sup>3</sup>but more fortunate than both is he who has not yet been, and has not yet viewed the wicked deeds which are practiced under the sun. <sup>4</sup>Then I saw that all the toil and skill in activities bring envy between a man and his neighbor. This, too, is futility and chasing after wind. <sup>5</sup>The fool<sup>r</sup> folds his hands together and consumes his own flesh.<sup>s</sup> <sup>6</sup>Better is a handful with rest, than both fists full of toil and chasing after wind.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Again I turned and saw uselessness under the sun. <sup>8</sup>There is an individual and no one with him, neither son nor brother, and no end to all his toiling. His eyes are not satisfied with wealth and (he never reflects), "For whom am I working and denying myself enjoyment?" This, too, is worthlessness and a sorry situation.

<sup>9</sup>Two are better than one,<sup>u</sup> because they gain a good reward in their toil. <sup>10</sup>For if they fall, the one will lift up his companion; but woe to the one alone who falls, when there is no other to lift him up! <sup>11</sup>So if two lie together, they keep warm; but how can one alone keep warm?<sup>u</sup> <sup>12</sup>Although one may prevail against him who is alone, yet two will hold out against him; and a threefold cord is not readily broken.<sup>v</sup>

5 GUARD YOUR FEET WHEN YOU GO to the house of God;<sup>x</sup> to be ready to listen is better than to give sacrifice like the fools, who do not know when they do wrong. <sup>2</sup>Be not hasty with your mouth; and your heart — do not allow it to be hasty to utter a word before God; for God is in heaven and you are on the earth; therefore let your words be few.<sup>y</sup> <sup>3</sup>For a dream comes with many concerns, and the voice of a fool in many words. <sup>4</sup>When you vow a vow to God do not delay in paying it, for He takes no pleasure in fools. Pay what you vow. <sup>5</sup>It is better that you do not vow, than that you vow and not pay.<sup>z</sup> <sup>6</sup>Do not allow your mouth to cause you to sin, and do not say before His messenger that it<sup>a</sup> is a mistake. Why should God be angry at your voice and destroy the work of your hand? <sup>7</sup>For in many dreams and follies and many words—this remains:<sup>b</sup> You shall reverence God.

to the field is an advantage to the land.

<sup>14</sup>That wealth is lost in a bad venture, then he begets a son and has nothing at hand.<sup>f</sup> <sup>15</sup>As he came naked from his mother's womb so he shall return again as he came, and nothing shall he take for his labor that he may carry away in his hand. <sup>16</sup>This, too, is a grievous misfortune; in all points as he came so shall he go, and what profit did he get from wearing himself out for wind, <sup>17</sup>all his days eating in darkness with plenty of grief, sickness and wrath?

<sup>18</sup>Note! What I myself have seen to be preferable and fair is to eat and drink and to find enjoyment in all his labor at which he toils under the sun all the days of his life which God gives him, for this is his lot. <sup>19</sup>Further, every man to whom God has given riches and wealth and whom He has given power to enjoy them, to take his portion and to find enjoyment in his labor — that is the gift of God.<sup>g</sup> <sup>20</sup>For he shall not often think of the brevity of his life, because God keeps his heart occupied in gladness.

6 THERE IS AN ADVERSITY WHICH I have seen under the sun and it is common among men: <sup>2a</sup>a man to whom God has given riches, wealth

v) Our "In unity there is strength."

w) There seems to be a reminder here of Joseph, who out of his prison became second to Pharaoh; yet later his virtues as the people's savior were forgotten.

x) Not merely within the house of worship but on the way to it reverence is expected, preparatory to the service. y) James devotes ch. 1:19-26 and 3:2-10 to the right use of words.

z) Best of all is to pledge and to pay; it helps us to strive toward a high goal. a) The vow.

b) "This remains" is not expressed but implied. c) And ruling all is God.

d) Both labor and capital witness to man's urge for more income.

e) "Abundance" — satiety. Overeating is no recent intemperance.

f) Or "There is nothing for him." Three generations from shirt-sleeves to shirt-sleeves.

g) Rightly to enjoy living is in agreement with the will of our benevolent Father. There is something wrong with us either physically, mentally or spiritually if we fail to enjoy living, presuming we are free. And the first step is to see God as the Giver.

ECCLESIASTES 6, 7

and honor, and he lacks nothing for himself of all that he might desire; yet God does not give him ability to enjoy it, but a stranger enjoys it — this is fruitlessness and it is a hurtful disease. <sup>3</sup>If a man begets one hundred children and lives many years — however many the years may be, and his soul is not satisfied with good and furthermore he has no burial — I say that an untimely birth is better than he. <sup>4</sup>For that comes in vain; in darkness it departs and in darkness its name is covered, <sup>5</sup>it has neither seen nor known the sun; it has more rest than he.<sup>a</sup> <sup>6</sup>Even though he lives one thousand years twice over but experiences no enjoyment — do not all go to one place?<sup>1</sup>

<sup>7</sup>All the toiling of man is for his mouth, but the longing is not satisfied. <sup>8</sup>For what advantage has the wise man over the fool? What is there for the poor who knows how to conduct himself among the living? <sup>9</sup>Better is what the eyes see than the wanderings of desire; this, too, is futile and a striving after wind. <sup>10</sup>Whoever he is, ere long his name is called; it will be known that he is human; he is not able to contend against Him who is stronger than he.

<sup>11</sup>The more words, the more worthlessness; what advantage does man gain from them? <sup>12</sup>For who knows what is good for man in the numbered days of his empty life which he spends as a shadow? For who can declare to man what shall be after him under the sun?<sup>2</sup>

7 BETTER IS A GOOD NAME THAN GOOD ointment.

Better is the day of death than the day of birth.<sup>k</sup>

Human Destiny; The Bitter Experiences

<sup>2</sup>Better to go to the house of mourning than to the house of feasting; for this is the destiny of all men, and the living should take it to heart.

<sup>4</sup>The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning, but the heart of fools is in the house of gaiety.

<sup>5</sup>It is better to hear the reproof of the wise than to hear the song of fools.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>6</sup>For as the crackling of thorns under a pot, so is the laughter of fools; this, too, is emptiness.

<sup>9</sup>Be not hasty in your spirit to be offended; for resentment abides in the bosom of fools. <sup>10</sup>Do not say, 'How is it that past times were better than these?' For you have not wisely raised this question.<sup>n</sup> <sup>11</sup>Wisdom is as beneficial as a legacy; an advantage to those who see the sun. <sup>12</sup>For wisdom protects as wealth protects; but the advantage lies with knowledge. Wisdom preserves the lives of those who possess it.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Consider the work of God, for who can make straight what He has bent?

<sup>14</sup>In the day of prosperity enjoy life, and in the day of adversity observe that God has made the one as well as the other, so that man may not uncover anything that will be after him.

<sup>15</sup>I have seen everything in the days of my unproductive existence. There is the righteous man who perishes in

h) The lot of the stillborn child is better because there is no awareness of missing so much.

i) To Sheol, the realm of the dead. There is not that distinction in the O.T. between heaven and hell, nor the expectation of a glorious hereafter that has come to believers with the resurrection of Christ and the N.T. teachings.

j) We have reason to thank God daily for our living hope because of our Redeemer who is preparing a place for us. This is a prominent feature of the Gospel, more certainty regarding the invisible than the visible future.

k) Oil is associated with birth; the certainty of accomplished things is preferable to an uncertain future, such as lies before the newborn. l) A good cry relieves emotional upheaval.

m) Criticism from a friend can be wholesome and even that of an opponent is usually worth consideration, because we are so imperfect and make so many mistakes. False prophets, who failed to warn the Hebrews, led them to their doom.

n) It is the present, not the past, that challenges our efforts.

o) Without wise use of it, a legacy is no blessing, while with the "know-how" a person is likely to get along without any monetary legacy.

his righteousness, and there is the wicked who prolongs his life in his wickedness. <sup>16</sup>Be not over-righteous nor behave yourself over-wisely. Why should you destroy yourself?<sup>p</sup> <sup>17</sup>Do not abound in wickedness, nor play the fool. Why should you die before your time? <sup>18</sup>It is well that you get hold of this, and from that do not withdraw your hand, for he who reveres God comes clear with both.<sup>q</sup> <sup>19</sup>Wisdom affords a wise man more power than ten city fathers. <sup>20</sup>For there is not one righteous man on earth who does good and never sins. <sup>21</sup>Further, do not pay attention to everything that people say, lest you hear your servant curse you; <sup>22</sup>and you know well enough that in your heart you have cursed others.<sup>r</sup>

<sup>23</sup>All this I have tested from the viewpoint of wisdom; I said, "I will be wise," and it was far beyond me. <sup>24</sup>What exists is beyond reach and unfathomable; who can master it? <sup>25</sup>With all my heart I turned to know, to explore and to come to a wise conclusion, to realize that wickedness is foolishness and that folly is madness. <sup>26</sup>I found more bitter than death the woman who is snares and nets at heart and whose hands are chains. Whoever pleases God will escape her; but the sinner will be ensnared by her. <sup>27</sup>See, this is what I have found, says the preacher; step by step I searched for the conclusion. <sup>28</sup>What my heart sought continually, that I did not find; a man among a thousand I found, but a woman among all these I did not find. <sup>29</sup>Only see this, that I have found — God made man upright, but they have sought out many devices.<sup>s</sup>

comes refined.<sup>t</sup> <sup>2</sup>Keep the command of the king, and that because of the oath of God.<sup>u</sup> <sup>3</sup>Do not hasten to leave his presence; do not mess with contrary matters, for he does as he pleases. <sup>4</sup>Since the king's word prevails, who can say to him, "What are you doing?" <sup>5</sup>Whoever observes the royal orders will experience no harm. The heart of the wise man knows time and procedure. <sup>6</sup>For every interest there is a time and decision, since a person's trouble rests heavily upon him. <sup>7</sup>Even as he does not know what shall be, who can declare to him when it will occur? <sup>8</sup>As no one can be master over the wind to restrain the wind,<sup>v</sup> so no one can prevail in the day of death. There is no furlough during battle; neither will wickedness liberate those who practice it.

<sup>9</sup>I considered all this and paid attention to all the work which was done under the sun — a time when man has the mastery over another to harm him. <sup>10</sup>I saw how the wicked were buried, who had gone in and out from the holy place, and they were forgotten in the city as having behaved like that; this also is ineffective.

<sup>11</sup>Where no sentence is speedily executed upon the criminal, there the heart of men is filled in them to do evil.<sup>w</sup> <sup>12</sup>Although the sinner commits evil a hundred times and his life is prolonged to him, even so I know that it will be well with those who revere God, who are in awe before Him. <sup>13</sup>It shall not be well with the evildoer; he shall not prolong his days as a shadow,<sup>x</sup> because he does not revere God.

<sup>14</sup>There is a fruitlessness that happens on earth. There are the righteous, who have allotted to them just as what happens to the wicked, and there are the wicked who have allotted to them

q) Tackle your various tasks with God in view; then wisdom and power are yours.

r) Let us examine how much truth there is in gossip about us, examine ourselves rather than tracing the gossipers.

s) This is one of the few statements in the Bible regarding man's original innocence and his subsequent delinquency; although sin and salvation form its leading theme.

t) An observation verified around us if we, too, observe.

u) Our loyalty to the king, because he is the anointed of God.

v) Suggested by Jesus to Nicodemus, John 3:8.

w) Punishment for sin is so unlikely to happen, as the ungodly thinks of it, that he goes on sinning, unrestrained by any fears. x) A shadow that lengthens near sunset.

what happens to the righteous. I declare that this also is futility.<sup>y</sup> <sup>15</sup>And I praised enjoyment; for nothing is better under the sun than to eat, to drink and to rejoice; this shall accompany him in his work all the days of his life, which God gives to him under the sun.

<sup>16</sup>When I applied my heart to acquire wisdom and to see the activity taking place on the earth, that one neither by day nor by night sees himself sleeping, <sup>17</sup>then I saw of all the work of God, that man is not able to discover the work which is done under the sun, for the sake of which a man labors to search but does not find it; even though a wise man thinks he knows, he shall not be able to find it.<sup>z</sup>

9 FOR ALL THIS I TOOK TO HEART AND clearly understood, that the righteous and the wise and their activities are in the hand of God — love as well as hate.<sup>a</sup> Man knows nothing of what lies before him.

<sup>2</sup>All things are alike for all; one fate for the righteous and for the wicked, to the good and the pure and to the impure; to the one who brings a sacrifice and to the one who sacrifices nothing. As fares the good, so the sinner; as the one swearing so the one who reveres an oath.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>3</sup>This is the worst that happens under the sun,<sup>c</sup> that one fortune comes to all. Human hearts are filled with evil; there is madness in their hearts while they live, and afterward there is their death. <sup>4</sup>For the one who belongs among the living there is hope; a living dog is better than a dead lion.<sup>d</sup> <sup>5</sup>The living know that they shall die, but the dead do not know anything. Neither is there still a reward for them, since their memory is forgotten.

<sup>6</sup>Moreover their love, yes, their hatred, even their jealousy have long since vanished and no longer do they have a share in all that is taking place under the sun.

<sup>11</sup>I returned and saw under the sun that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor riches to the clever, nor favor to the skilled, for time and chance encounter them all.<sup>g</sup> <sup>12</sup>For even man knows not his time; as fish caught in a treacherous net and as birds seized in a snare, even so are men trapped in a disastrous time, when it comes down on them suddenly.

<sup>13</sup>This, too, I saw of wisdom under the sun and it made a deep impression on me. <sup>14</sup>There was a small city with few people in it and a great king attacked it, besieged it and built great bulwarks around it. <sup>15</sup>They found in it a poor, wise man and he saved the city by his wisdom; but no one remembered that poor man. <sup>16</sup>So I said, Better is wisdom than strength; nevertheless the poor man's wisdom is despised and his words are not considered. <sup>17</sup>Words of the wise, heard

y) The folly lies in the human conclusion that the good and the bad are in the same boat.

z) God's thoughts and ways are higher than ours, Isa. 55:8.

a) How insistently the author relates life to God; this is his great consolation; "I steadier step when I recall that when I slip, God does not fall."

b) The one swearing lightly, the other with awe. c) Between us here on earth.

d) This is a telling sentence for those of us who feel our inadequacies; we are alive; we may accomplish what the greatest thinkers and doers, now dead, cannot now accomplish on earth.

e) A benevolent Father gave us life to enjoy with others in fellowship with Him.

f) Confirming v. 5, that "now is the accepted time"; while alive on earth we shall apply the powers God gave us.

10 DEAD FLIES PUTREFY THE PERFUMER'S OINTMENT;<sup>i</sup>

so a little folly outweighs an abundance of wisdom.

<sup>3</sup>In whatever path a fool walks, he lacks sense; he makes known to all that he is a fool.

<sup>4</sup>If a ruler's temper rises against you, do not resign your position, for composure may remedy serious mistakes.

<sup>9</sup>He who removes stones shall be hurt by them, and he who splits logs is endangered by them,

<sup>10</sup>If an axe is dull and a man does not sharpen it, then he must exert more strength;<sup>l</sup> but wisdom is an advantage for gaining success.

<sup>11</sup>If the snake bites before the charming, then the charmer's skill does not benefit.<sup>m</sup>

but the lips of the fool engulf him.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>13</sup>The beginning of the words of his mouth is folly, and the end of his speech is perverse stupidity.

<sup>14</sup>The fool multiplies words; man does not know what is to be; who can tell him what will happen after his lifetime?

<sup>15</sup>The efforts of a fool weary him, for he does not even know the way to the city.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Happy are you, O land, whose king is the son of a noble, and whose princes feast in due season, as stalwarts and not as drunkards.

but money has to bring about everything.

<sup>20</sup>Even in your thoughts do not curse the king, nor in your bedchamber curse the rich.

For a bird of the heavens may convey your voice,<sup>q</sup>

and a winged creature may repeat your words.

11 CAST YOUR BREAD UPON THE waters, for you will find it after many days. <sup>2</sup>Divide it into seven or even in eight portions, for you do not know what trouble there may be upon the earth.<sup>r</sup>

rain, they empty themselves on the earth. If a tree falls to the south or to the north, in the place where it falls there shall it lie.<sup>a</sup> <sup>4</sup>He who watches the wind shall not sow; he who studies the clouds shall not reap. <sup>5</sup>Even as you do not know how the wind blows, or how the embryo develops in the womb of a pregnant woman, so you do not know the work of God, who makes everything. <sup>6</sup>In the morning sow your seed, and in the evening be not idle, for you do not know which shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shall have equal success.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Sweet is the light, and it is pleasant for the eyes to sense the sun. <sup>8</sup>Therefore, if a man lives many years and rejoices in them all, let him consider the days of darkness, for they will be many. All that comes is nothingness.

<sup>9</sup>Take pleasure, young man, in your youth and let your heart cheer you in your youthful days; follow the ways of your heart and the sight of your eyes, but be aware that for all these God will call you to account.<sup>u</sup> <sup>10</sup>Banish grief from your mind and keep pain from your body, for youth and the dawn (of life) are transitory.

<sup>8</sup>Futility of futilities, says the Preacher, all is futile. <sup>9</sup>In addition to being wise, the Preacher taught the people knowledge, weighing and searching out; he made many proverbs. <sup>10</sup>The Preacher searched to find words of delight, and to write correctly the reliable words of truth.

<sup>11</sup>The words of the wise are like spurs, his collected sayings driven home like spikes, provided by one Shepherd. <sup>12</sup>Furthermore, my son, be warned; there is no end to the making of many books, and much study is wearying to the body.

<sup>13</sup>To sum up the whole matter, all that was heard: revere God, and keep His commandments, for this is every person's duty. <sup>14</sup>For God shall bring every work into judgment, even everything hidden, whether it be good or bad.<sup>m</sup>

s) Certain events are unchangeable. The life hereafter is determined by our ways of living this side the grave.

t) Reasons can always be found to delay an enterprise; we must have faith, or we fail.

u) To live enjoyably, reckon with our wise, benevolent and mighty Father.

v) Vitality is lessening and infirmities increase. w) The lips. x) The legs. y) The teeth.

z) The eyes. a) The ears. b) Less sleep. c) Less voice, particularly for singing.

d) The heart is weaker and walking grows dangerous. e) The hair is grey.

f) There is loss of weight. g) Manly urge is gone.

h, i, j, k) Organs of digestion, of breathing, perhaps even of reasoning, are deteriorating; it is time to go home. l) God welcomes His worshiper to that home.

m) With God as the sovereign LORD and as the goal of life in view, it is well to read these twelve chapters again, marking the repeated conclusions that without God life would not be worth living.

THE SONG OF SOLOMON

The Maiden to Her Lover

- 1 THE SONG OF SONGS,<sup>a</sup> WHICH IS Solomon's.
<sup>2</sup>Oh, that he would kiss me with the kisses of his lips,
for your love is sweeter than wine!
<sup>3</sup>The savor of your ointments is fragrant;
your name is as perfume poured out;
therefore do the maidens love you.
<sup>4</sup>Draw me after you; let us hasten;
The king<sup>b</sup> has brought me into
his chambers;
we are glad and in you we truly
rejoice;
We prize your love more highly
than wine;
rightly do they<sup>c</sup> love you.

The Maiden to the Daughters of Jerusalem<sup>d</sup>

- <sup>5</sup>Swarthy am I, but comely,
O daughters of Jerusalem;
Dark as are the tents of Kedar,<sup>e</sup>
lovely as the curtains of Solomon.
<sup>6</sup>Do not look askance at me because I am swarthy;
the scorching sun has tanned me.

The sons of my mother became incensed with me,
and they put me to keeping the
vineyards,
But my own vineyard have I not kept.

The Maiden to Her Distant Lover

- <sup>7</sup>Tell me, you whom deep in my soul
I love,
where you pasture your flock,
where you have it lie down at midday
for why should I be as a veiled woman,<sup>f</sup>
wandering among the flocks of your companions?

The Reply

- <sup>8</sup>If you do not know, thou fairest
among women,
then follow the footprints of the flocks,
pasture your flocks near the tents
of the shepherds.

The Lover to His Loved One

- <sup>9</sup>To a mare<sup>g</sup> of Pharaoh's chariots<sup>h</sup> have I likened you, my loved one.

a) These Songs speak the love-language of a young woman and her lover. Their frankness and intimacy express the joyful exaltation of that love which sanctifies marriage. To the O.T. prophets and poets, the begetting and rearing of children was part of the divinely ordered life of the "male and female," whom God had created. This truth they voiced in glad and grateful song. If we enter into the spirit of these songs, our own lives may be chastened and exalted. No Jew younger than thirty was allowed to read this book. It was admitted into the canon of the O.T. because it was decided that it allegorizes the love of God for Israel. Hosea 2 and Ezekiel 23, are outstanding examples of it. The same symbolic thinking is expressed in Ephesians 5:23-33 concerning Christ and the Church.

b) "King" was a designation also for a bridegroom in West-Semitic and Jewish usage.

c) Cf. the closing clause in verse 3 and the reference in 6:8 to "maidens without number" who are part of the harem.

d) In 6:9 "daughters" is plainly used in parallelism with "queens and concubines," the royal harem. e) A well-known desert tribe living in black tents.

f) By Gen. 38:15 the habit of a harlot. g) A common comparison among desert riders.

h) A royal type as distinguished from lesser makes.

SONG OF SOLOMON 1, 2

Songs of Lover and Beloved

- <sup>10</sup>How beautiful are your cheeks with jeweled spangles,
your neck with strings of beads!
<sup>11</sup>Circlets of gold, with studdings of
silver,
we shall make for you.

She Thinks Yearningly of Him

- <sup>12</sup>As long as the king<sup>i</sup> was on his couch,
my spikenard gave forth its
fragrance;
<sup>13</sup>My loved one is to me a bundle of
myrrh
lying between my breasts;
<sup>14</sup>He is to me a cluster of henna of the gardens of Engedi.<sup>j</sup>

He Speaks of Her

- <sup>15</sup>Ah, beautiful you are, my love, beautiful you are;
your eyes are as doves.

In Her Heart She Answers Him

- <sup>16</sup>Behold, you are beautiful, my loved
one,
you are very handsome.
Our leafy couch is luxuriant;
<sup>17</sup>the beams of our house are the
cedars,
its panels are the cypresses.

2 I AM A ROSE OF SHARON,<sup>k</sup> A LILY of the valleys.

He to Her

- <sup>2</sup>As a lily among thistles, so is my love
among the daughters.

She to Him

- <sup>3</sup>As an apple tree among the trees of
the wood,
so is my lover among the sons.
In his shadow I delight to sit,
and his fruit is sweet to my taste.
<sup>4</sup>He has brought me into the banqueting hall,
and his banner over me<sup>l</sup> is love.
<sup>5</sup>Sustain me with dainties, refresh me
with apples,
for I am so lovesick.

- <sup>6</sup>Let his left hand be under my head,
and let his right hand embrace me.

The Beloved Speaks of Her Lover

- <sup>7</sup>I adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles of the mountains
and the hinds of the fields,
that you do not awaken nor stir up
love,
until love itself shall please.

Her Love Song to Him

- <sup>8</sup>Listen, the voice of my beloved!
See! He comes bounding up the
mountains,
leaping over the hills.
<sup>9</sup>My beloved is like a gazelle or a young hart;<sup>m</sup>
here he is standing by our wall,
he is looking through the windows,
he is peering through the
lattices.<sup>n</sup>
<sup>10</sup>My beloved sings, and he calls to me:
Arise, my love, my beauty, and come
along with me;
<sup>11</sup>For lo! the winter is past,
the season of rain is over and gone.
<sup>12</sup>The flowers appear on the earth;
the season of singing has come;<sup>o</sup>
the voice of the turtledove<sup>p</sup> is heard in our land.
<sup>13</sup>The fig trees are putting forth their figs,
and the vines coming into blossom
are giving forth their fragrance.
Arise, my love, my beauty, and come
along with me.
<sup>14</sup>O thou, my dove, in the clefts of the rock,
in the covert of the cliff,
Let me hear your voice, let me see
your face;
for your voice is sweet, and your face is lovely.

A Chorus

- <sup>15</sup>Catch for us the foxes, the little foxes

i) Cf. 1:4 and the note there given.

j) A famous oasis, and one of the three major entrances to Judea from the Jordan valley and the Dead Sea country. k) The famously beautiful coast plains. l) Proclaiming me as his.

m) In his springing speed.

n) Proverbs 7:6 suggests that "looking through my lattice" was a natural part of everyday life.

o) Judges 21:19, 21 refers to a "feast of the LORD," "from year to year" with the "daughters of Shiloh" "in the dances" close to "the vineyards."

p) The turtledove is gentle, harmless, and innocent [Ps. 74:19; Jer. 8:7]. It came in the spring;

much used in offerings [Gen. 15:9; Lev. 1:14]. As a spring love-song these vss. 11-13 are unsurpassed in all literature.

They Seek and Find Each Other

that are spoiling our vineyards;<sup>q</sup>
for our vineyards are in bloom.

She Sings Again

<sup>16</sup>My beloved is mine, and I am his;
he is pasturing his flock among the lilies.

<sup>17</sup>Until the day begins to cool
and the shadows lengthen,
turn, my lover, and be as a gazelle or
a young hart
upon the mountains that separate us.<sup>r</sup>

The Loved One Dreams of Her Lover

3 UPON MY BED AT NIGHT<sup>s</sup> I SOUGHT him whom my soul loves,
I sought him but did not find him;
I called him, but he did not answer.
<sup>2</sup>I shall arise now and go round about
the city
in the streets and the market places,
and I shall seek him whom my soul loves.

I sought him, and I found him not.

<sup>3</sup>The watchmen that go about in the city found me;

I said to them, "I have you seen him
whom my soul loves?"

<sup>4</sup>Scarcely had I left them when I found him

whom my soul loves;

I laid hold on him and would not let him go

until I brought him in to the home
of my mother,
into the chamber of her who bore me.

The Beloved's Refrain

<sup>5</sup>I adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles and the hinds of the field,
that you do not awaken nor stir
up love
until it please.

SONG OF SOLOMON 2-4

The Lover's Arrival

<sup>6</sup>What is this coming up from the desert

like columns of smoke, perfumed with myrrh and
frankincense,
with all fine powders of the merchant?

<sup>7</sup>Behold, it is the litter of Solomon;
sixty warriors are around it

from among the heroes of Israel, <sup>8</sup>all skilled with the sword and trained to do combat.

Every man wears his sword upon his thigh,

against dread dangers of the night.

<sup>9</sup>King Solomon made himself a litter from the lumber of Lebanon.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>10</sup>The pillars of it he made of silver,
the inlaid top he made of gold;
the seat of it was of purple, and
the inside lining
was a gift of love from the daughters of Jerusalem.

<sup>11</sup>Go forth, O you daughters of Zion,<sup>u</sup>
and gaze upon king Solomon, upon
the crown
with which his mother crowned
him on his wedding day,
the day of his gladness of heart.

The Lover Sings His Loved One's Beauty

4 BEHOLD, YOU ARE FAIR, MY LOVE;
behold you are fair;

Your eyes are as doves behind your veil,

Your hair as a flock of goats
trailing down Mount Gilead.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Your teeth are as a flock of ewes
ready for the shearing,

all fresh from their washing.<sup>w</sup>

They are in pairs, not one of them
is missing.

<sup>3</sup>Your lips are as a scarlet thread,
and your mouth is very comely.

q) Some regard this verse as a symbolic allusion to the rivals of the lover who are seeking to win the loved one for themselves.

r) Cf. vs. 8, "the mountains": the last word is uncertain. "Cut" or "divide" or "craggy" is the LXX.

s) In a dream. Cf. Gen. 37:5-10, 40:5-23; Matt. 2:12-20.

t) The cedars of Lebanon were far famed and highly prized: I Kings 5:6-11, used for building Solomon's temple; Ezra 3:7, for rebuilding the temple after the exile.

u) Zion is another name for Jerusalem and is so used nearly 150 times in the O.T. The term "daughters of Zion" usually refers to the women of the entire city.

v) Micah 7:14; Num. 32:1: a famous feeding ground "in the days of old." The goats of the region had shiny, black hair.

w) Washing sheep at shearing time was and is a widely spread custom. Cf. also 6:6. Cf. Isa. 1:18 "White . . . as wool."

SONG OF SOLOMON 4, 5

Your cheeks are as halves of a pomegranate<sup>x</sup>
gleaming behind your veil.
4<sup>y</sup>Your neck is as a tower of David,
built to serve as an arsenal,<sup>z</sup>
upon which there hang a thousand shields
and all the armor of the mighty.
5<sup>y</sup>Your breasts are as two fawns, twins
of a gazelle,
feeding among the lilies.
6<sup>y</sup>Until the day breathes its evening coolness<sup>z</sup>
and the shadows lengthen and
disappear,
I shall hasten away to the mountain of
myrrh,
to the hill of frankincense.
7<sup>y</sup>You are altogether fair, my love;
there is no blemish on you.

The Lover Calls and Extols Her

8<sup>y</sup>With me from Lebanon, my bride, with me from Lebanon, come!
Gaze from the summit of Amana,<sup>a</sup>
from the top of Senir,
that is Hermon,<sup>b</sup> from the dens of lions,
from the mountains of the panthers.<sup>c</sup>

9<sup>y</sup>You have ravished my heart, my
sister, my bride,
you have ravished my heart with
one glance of your eyes,
with a single bead of your necklace.

10<sup>y</sup>How sweet is your love, my sister,
my bride;
How much more delicious is your love than wine;
and the fragrance of your ointments
than all the rich spices.

11<sup>y</sup>Your lips drop honey, my bride, honey and milk are under your tongue;

He Sings to Her of Her Beauty

and the fragrance of your garments is like
the fragrance of Mount Lebanon.<sup>d</sup> 12<sup>y</sup>A garden you are, my sister, my bride,
a garden walled in, a fountain well
sealed;
13<sup>y</sup>A pomegranate orchard with precious fruits,
a garden of henna with spikenard, 14<sup>y</sup>spikenard and saffron, calamus and cinnamon,
with all the trees of frankincense,
myrrh and aloes,<sup>e</sup> with all the chief spices.
15<sup>y</sup>You are a garden fountain, a well of living water,
flowing streams from Lebanon.

The Beloved Calls for Her Lover

16<sup>y</sup>Awake, O north wind, and come,
you south wind,
blow you both upon my garden,<sup>f</sup>
that its fragrance may be wafted
abroad.

Let my beloved come into his garden,
and eat its choice fruits; they are his.

The Lover to His Beloved

5 I HAVE COME TO MY GARDEN, MY
sister, my bride,
I gather my myrrh with my spices,
I eat honeycomb with my honey,<sup>g</sup>
I drink wine with my milk.

A Welcome to the Lovers

Eat, friends! Drink, yes, drink abundantly,
you, lover and beloved!

Her Dream Song

2<sup>y</sup>I was asleep, but my heart was awake;
Listen! A sound! My lover is knocking!
He pleads, "Open to me, my sister,
my love, my dove, my perfect one;

x) A highly prized fruit with rich coloring, much used in pictorial ornamentation.

y) The Hebrew word here translated "arsenal" is not found anywhere else. Ezek. 27:10, 11 indicates that the statement here suggests beauty. z) Cf. 2:17 for a similar statement.

a) One of the streams flowing eastward from the top of the Lebanon mountains [II Kings 5:17].

b) Mt. Hermon, the highest peak of the Lebanon mountains, was called Senir by the Amorites [Deut. 3:9]. c) Known in the Lebanon mountains.

d) The fragrance came from its cedars and balsam firs which grew in abundance. Hosea 14:6, 7 makes it the standard of fragrance. e) Some aloe wood is fragrant and produces aromatic resin.

f) The north wind came from the mountains and was cool. "The north wind drives away rain" [Prov. 25:23]. The south wind came from the desert and brought "scorching heat" [Luke 12:55. Cf. Eccles. 1:6].

g) Jonathan ate honey from a stick dipped in honeycomb [I Sam. 14:27].

for my head is wet with dew, and my hair is drenched
with the dew of the night.”<sup>h</sup>

In Her Dream She Responds

<sup>3</sup>“I have put off my coat; why should
I put it on again;
I have washed my feet; why should I soil them again?”

<sup>4</sup>My loved one put his hand on the latch,
and my heart grew desirous of him;

<sup>5</sup>I rose to open to my loved one,
my hands both dripping with myrrh,
and my fingers dropping myrrh
on the handles of the bar.

<sup>6</sup>I opened to my beloved.
But my Beloved had turned away;
he was gone!

My soul had failed him when he spoke.

I sought him, but I did not find
him,

I called him, but he did not answer.

<sup>7</sup>The watchmen, making the rounds of the city, found me;
they struck me, they wounded me,
they stripped me of my mantle,
those guardians of the city
walls.<sup>1</sup>

Her Appeal to Jerusalem's Maidens

<sup>8</sup>I adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
if you find my lover, that you tell him I am lovesick.

Their Reply

<sup>9</sup>What is your lover beyond any lover,
O you fair one among women?
What is your lover beyond any
lover,
that you do thus adjure us?

Her Description of Her Lover

<sup>10</sup>My lover is fair and ruddy,
the choicest among ten thousand.
<sup>11</sup>His head is finest gold,
his locks are wavy, black as a raven.
<sup>12</sup>His eyes are like doves beside brooks
of water,
washed with milk and fitly set.
<sup>13</sup>His cheeks are like a bed of spices,
like banks of sweetest herbs;

his lips are lilies dropping liquid
myrrh.

<sup>14</sup>His hands are rods of gold, set with gilded stones,
his body is as polished ivory,
overlaid with sapphires.

<sup>15</sup>His limbs are pillars of marble, set in sockets of gold.
His stature is like Lebanon, as striking
as the cedars.

<sup>16</sup>His mouth is all sweetness, and he is most lovely.

Such is my lover, and such is my friend,
O daughters of Jerusalem.

The Jerusalem Maidens

6 <sup>WHITHER HAS YOUR LOVED ONE gone, thou fairest among women?</sup>

Where has he hidden himself?
We would seek him with you.

The Beloved Answers

<sup>2</sup>My loved one has gone down to his garden,
to the beds of the spices;
he has gone to feed in his garden
and there to gather some lilies.

<sup>3</sup>I am my beloved's, and my beloved
is mine;
he pastures his flock among the
lilies.

The Lover Praises His Beloved

<sup>4</sup>You are beautiful, my love, beautiful as Tirzah,<sup>1</sup> lovely as Jerusalem;<sup>k</sup> captivating as an army with banners.

<sup>5</sup>Turn your eyes away from me, for
they overcome me;
Your hair is like a flock of goats
moving down the trail of Gilead.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Your teeth are like a flock of ewes
coming from their washing;
each is paired, not one of them is missing.

<sup>7</sup>As the halves of a pomegranate,
so are your cheeks behind your veil.

<sup>8</sup>Sixty queens there are and eighty concubines,

SONG OF SOLOMON 6, 7

Songs of Mutual Admiration

and harem daughters beyond number;

<sup>9</sup>My dove, my undefiled, stands out
alone;

she was an only one to her mother,
first choice of her who bore her;
The daughters saw her and called her happy,

the queens and concubines, too,
and thus they praised her:

<sup>10</sup>"Who is this, who shines forth as
the morning dawn,
fair as the moon, radiant as the sun,
captivating as an army with banners?"<sup>m</sup>

The Maiden

<sup>11</sup>I went down to see the nut garden
to see the green plants of the valley;
to see whether the vines already had budded,
and the pomegranates had put forth their bloom.

<sup>12</sup>Ere I was aware, my soul's fancy seated me in a princely chariot of
my people.

Her Beauty as She Dances

<sup>13</sup>Turn you, turn, O maid of Shulem, Turn you, turn, that we may gaze
upon you.

What do you see in the Shulammitte
As she dances the Mahanaim
dance?<sup>n</sup>

The Lover Praises His Beloved

7 HOW BEAUTIFUL ARE YOUR FEET
in sandals,

O maiden of queenly form!

Your rounded thighs are a jeweled chain,

the work of a master craftsman.

<sup>2</sup>Your navel is as a rounded bowl in which mingled wine is never lacking;

your belly as a heap of wheat, set about
with lilies.

<sup>3</sup>Your breasts are as two fawns, the twins of a gazelle;

<sup>4</sup>Your neck is as a tower of ivory,
your eyes as pools in Heshbon by the gate Bath-rabbim.<sup>o</sup>

Your nose is as a tower of Lebanon,
looking down upon Damascus.

<sup>5</sup>Your head crowns you as Mount Carmel;

your flowing locks are purple,
A king is caught in their tresses.<sup>p</sup>

The Lover Praises His Beloved

<sup>6</sup>How beautiful you are, my love,
how lovely in that which delights!

<sup>7</sup>Your stature itself is a stately palm,
your breasts are as clusters of grapes.

<sup>8</sup>I said, I will climb into my palm tree,
I will take hold of the branches of it.

Your breasts shall be as clusters of vines,
the fragrance of your breath as of apples.

<sup>9</sup>The roof of your mouth is like red wine<sup>q</sup>

flowing down for my beloved with smoothness,<sup>r</sup>

moving gently over the lips of those sleeping.<sup>s</sup>

Her Call to Her Lover

<sup>10</sup>I belong to my beloved, and his desire is for me.

<sup>11</sup>Come, my beloved, let us go out into the fields,

let us lodge among the hennas.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>12</sup>Let us rise and go early to the
vineyards;

let us see whether the vines have now
budded,

whether the blossoms have already opened

and the pomegranates are come into flower;

there will I give you my love.

<sup>13</sup>The mandrakes<sup>u</sup> give forth their
fragrance;

<sup>m</sup>) This comparison is unexpected, but it is the same wording as in 6:4 and is there in parallel with the idea of comeliness.

<sup>n</sup>) The Hebrew word is Mahanaim, according to II Sam. 2:8-10, the residence of Ishbosheth, son of Saul, when he became king over Gilead and other peoples. There David found refuge when he fled from Absalom [II Samuel 17:24, 27].

Is the entire figure to be understood as a reference to kisses given a sleeping one?

<sup>u</sup>) Gen. 30:14-16 indicates that mandrakes were thought of as "love apples."

at our doors are all kinds of choice
fruits,
fresh and ripe they are, too, my beloved;
all of these I have laid up for
you.

Her Tender Wish for Him

8 OH, THAT YOU WERE AS MY brother,
who nursed at the breast of my mother!
Should I find you outside in the open,
I would kiss you, and no one would scorn me.
2<sup>I</sup> I should lead you and bring you to the house of my mother,
and she would instruct me;<sup>v</sup>
I should give you some spiced wine to drink,
also the juice of my pomegranates.
3<sup>Oh</sup>, that his left hand were under my
head,
and with his right hand he would embrace me.<sup>w</sup> 4<sup>I</sup> adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
that you do not awaken or stir up love,
until love itself so please.

She of Him

5<sup>a</sup>Who is this coming up from the wilderness,
leaning closely upon the arm of her
lover?

He of Her

5<sup>b</sup>Under the apple tree I awakened you,<sup>x</sup>
there your mother came to travail with you,<sup>y</sup>
there she came to travail, there
she bore you.

She to Him

6<sup>Set</sup> me as a seal upon your heart, as a seal upon your arm;<sup>z</sup>

For love is mighty as death, ardent love as demanding as Sheol.
Its flashes are flashes of fire,
a very flame of the LORD.
7<sup>Many</sup> waters cannot extinguish love,
nor can rivers drown it.
If a man should offer for love all the wealth of his house,
it would be scornfully refused.

The Maiden's Brothers

8<sup>We</sup> have a little sister and she has no breasts.<sup>a</sup>
What shall we do for our sister
in the day she shall be spoken for?
9<sup>If</sup> she be a wall,<sup>b</sup>
we will build for her a turret of
silver;
But if she be a door,<sup>c</sup>
we will enclose her with boards of cedar.

The Maiden's Answer

10<sup>I</sup> am a wall and my breasts are as its towers;
I am in my lover's eyes as one finding favor.
11<sup>Solomon</sup> had a vineyard in Baal-hamon;<sup>d</sup>
he entrusted the vineyard to keepers.
Each man was to bring for his share of the fruit
a thousand pieces of silver.<sup>e</sup> 12<sup>My</sup> vineyard, my own, lies before me.
The thousand is yours, O Solomon, and two hundred each to those keeping the fruit.<sup>f</sup>

Bride and Groom to Each Other

13<sup>O</sup> you who dwell in my gardens, your companions listening to your voice,
make me hear it, too.
14<sup>Come</sup> quickly, my lover, beloved,
and be like a gazelle,
or like a young hart upon mountains
of spices.

v) The LXX and the Syriac repeat here 3:4, "into the chambers of her who conceived me."
w) Cf. 2:6. x) Cf. 2:3 and 2:5 to see the meaning here.

y) Birth in the open was common at that time.

z) In Jer. 22:24 it is implied that a seal upon the hand is an almost inescapable declaration of an agreement that cannot be disregarded.

a) When young and undeveloped, as Ezekiel 16:7 makes clear. b) An unbroken wall.

c) A "door open to callers." d) A place nowhere else mentioned; location unknown.

e) According to Isaiah 7:23, a symbol of opulence.

f) One-fifth in cash, besides what they ate and drank from the vineyard and adjoining vegetable gardens; 20% was an ancient rate of interest in the Near East.

THE BOOK OF ISAIAH

1 THE VISION OF ISAIAH<sup>a</sup> THE SON OF Amoz, which he saw concerning<sup>b</sup> Judah and Jerusalem in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Hear, O heavens, and give ear, O earth, for the LORD speaks: I have nurtured and brought up children, but they have become rebellious against Me. <sup>3</sup>The ox knows its owner and the donkey its master's feeding rack; [but] Israel does not understand; My people show themselves lacking in discernment.

<sup>4</sup>Alas! A sinning nation, a people loaded with iniquity, descendants of evildoers, corruptly-behaving children. They have forsaken the LORD; they have shown contempt for the Holy One of Israel; they have become utterly estranged.

<sup>5</sup>For what reason would you be punished again, seeing that you insist on increasing your apostasy?<sup>d</sup> The whole head has become diseased, and the whole heart is faint. <sup>6</sup>From the sole of the foot up to the head, there is nothing sound in it; only bruises, welts, and raw wounds; [these] have neither been pressed out, nor bandaged, nor softened with oil. <sup>7</sup>Your country is devastated; your cities have been burned with fire; as to your cultivated fields, in your very presence foreigners are plundering them. It is a devastation, as a demolition by aliens.<sup>e</sup> <sup>8</sup>The daughter of Zion is left behind like a shanty in a vineyard, like a shack<sup>e</sup> in the cucumber patch, like a besieged city. <sup>9</sup>If the LORD of hosts had not kept alive the few survivors, we would have been like Sodom and similar to Gomorrah.

<sup>10</sup>Hear the word of the LORD, you rulers of Sodom! Listen to the teaching of our God, you people of Gomorrah! <sup>11</sup>Of what significance to Me are your many sacrifices? says the LORD; I am wearied of whole burnt offerings of rams and with the fat of your fatted calves; and in the blood of young bulls, lambs, and he-goats, I find no delight. <sup>12</sup>When you come to appear in My presence, who has demanded this from your hand: the trampling of My courts? <sup>13</sup>Come no more with your meaningless offerings! Incense is abominable to Me; [likewise] the new moon and sabbath, the convoking of the assembly; I cannot endure iniquity and a solemn assembly! <sup>14</sup>My soul hates your new moon festival and appointed

a) This verse serves as the title for the entire prophecy.

b) The central theme of this prophecy pertains to the people of God in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, which included much of Benjamin and Simeon; also many priests and Levites. All other nations and cities referred to by Isaiah are dealt with because of their relationship to Judah and Jerusalem.

c) These four kings ruled in succession over Judah in Jerusalem during the latter part of the 8th century, B.C.

d) As punishment brings no correction, why punish any more with the intent of sparing and correcting?

e) Temporary shacks were placed in or near vineyards, cucumber or melon patches to provide lodging for the fruit pickers. These were the center of bustling activity during the fruit picking season; once this was ended, the shacks and shanties remained in deserted silence.

seasonal feasts;<sup>f</sup> they have become a burden on Me; I am weary of bearing them. <sup>15</sup>When you spread out your hands, I will hide My eyes from you; yes, even though you multiply your prayers, I will not hear. Your hands are full of blood. <sup>16</sup>Wash yourselves! Purify yourselves! Remove the wickedness of your doings from before My eyes. <sup>17</sup>Learn to do good! Seek justice; restrain the ruthless; protect the orphan; defend the widow.

<sup>21</sup>How the faithful city has become a prostitute! She was filled with justice; righteousness did lodge in her, but now murderers! <sup>22</sup>Your silver has become dross; your choice liquor is diluted with water; <sup>23</sup>your princes are rebellious, the associates of thieves; they all are lovers of the bribe, and they continually chase after rewards. They do not protect the orphan, nor does the case of the widow come up before them.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>24</sup>Therefore says the LORD, the LORD of hosts, the Mighty One of Israel: Alas! With vengeance will I relieve Myself of My foes; I will avenge Myself on My enemies; <sup>25</sup>for I will turn My hand against you, and I will burn away your dross as with lye, and I will remove all your alloy.<sup>j</sup> <sup>26</sup>I will restore your judges as at first and your counselors as at the beginning. After that you will be called a stronghold of righteousness, the faithful city. <sup>27</sup>Zion shall be ransomed by justice and her converts by righteousness; <sup>28</sup>but there shall be a crushing of the apostates and sinners together, and those who forsake the LORD shall be annihilated. <sup>29</sup>For you will be ashamed of the oak trees in which you take pleasure, and you shall blush because of the gardens which you have chosen.<sup>k</sup> <sup>30</sup>For you will become like an oak tree shedding her withering leaves and like a garden in which there is no moisture; <sup>31</sup>the strong will be like tow<sup>l</sup> and his activity as a spark; and the two will burn together with no one to quench them.

2 THE WORD WHICH ISAIAH THE SON of Amoz saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>It shall be in the latter days that the mountain of the LORD's house shall be firmly established as the highest of the mountains and be raised above the hills, to which all the nations shall stream.<sup>m</sup> <sup>3</sup>Many peoples shall go and exhort, "Come! let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the house of the God of Jacob; so that He may teach us concerning His ways, and that we may walk in His paths." For from Zion shall instruction go forth and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem. <sup>4</sup>He shall arbitrate between the nations and shall decide [disputes] for many peoples; they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning shears; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, nor shall they learn war any more.

l) That portion of flax left after the linen substance has been removed.

m) In His spiritual world God makes water flow upward.

n) Omitted, yet clearly implied, the heathen customs of Assyria and Babylon.

o) Hebrew uses an idiom, "strike hands with," meaning to associate with and join in the activity of the foreigners, especially, trading with them.

land also is full of idols; they worship the work of their own hands, that which their fingers have fashioned. <sup>9</sup>Accordingly, man lowers himself, and even the more respectable man is brought down. Forgive them not!

<sup>10</sup>Enter into the rocks,<sup>p</sup> and hide yourself in the dust away from the dread presence of the LORD and from the splendor of His majesty. <sup>11</sup>The proud looks of man shall be brought low; the haughtiness of men shall be humbled, and the LORD alone shall be exalted in that day. <sup>12</sup>For the LORD of hosts has a day against all who are haughty and proud, and against all that lifts itself up, that it may be brought low; <sup>13</sup>against all cedars of Lebanon, proud and lofty, and against all the oaks of Bashan; <sup>14</sup>against all the high mountains and against all the elevated hills; <sup>15</sup>against every high tower and against every fortified wall; <sup>16</sup>against all the ships of Tarshish and all the pleasure yachts. <sup>17</sup>Then will the pride of man be humbled, and the haughtiness of men will be brought low, and the LORD alone shall be exalted in that day. <sup>18</sup>As for the idols, every one shall vanish. <sup>19</sup>For men will slink into the caves of the rocks and into the holes of the ground, away from the dread presence of the LORD and from the splendor of His majesty when He arises to terrify the earth. <sup>20</sup>In that day a man shall cast away his idols of silver and his idols of gold, which each made for himself to worship, to the rats and the bats, <sup>21</sup>and hide in the crevices of the rocks and in the clefts of the cliffs from the dread presence of the LORD and from the splendor of His majesty, when He arises to strike terror on the earth. <sup>22</sup>Cease depending on man, whose breath is in his nostrils; for at what should he be valued?

3 FOR BEHOLD, THE LORD, THE LORD of hosts, is about to remove from Jerusalem and from Judah support and sustenance, all support of bread and all support of water; <sup>2</sup>the mighty man and the soldier, the judge and the prophet, the diviner and the elder, <sup>3</sup>the captain of fifty and the honorable person, the counselor, the skillful craftsman, and the expert charmer. <sup>4</sup>I will give them boys as their princes, and babes<sup>q</sup> shall rule over them. <sup>5</sup>The people shall oppress, one his fellow man and another his neighbor; the youth shall domineer over the aged and the dishonorable over the honorable. <sup>6</sup>When a man will take hold of his brother in his father's house, [saying,] "You have a robe; you shall be our ruler, and this heap of ruins shall be under your administration," <sup>7</sup>he will protest at that time, answering, "I am not able to restore, for in my house there is neither bread nor a robe; you can not make me ruler over the people."

<sup>8</sup>For Jerusalem has stumbled, and Judah has fallen; because their language and their deeds are against the LORD, provoking His glorious aspect. <sup>9</sup>The expression of their faces witnesses against them, and they make their sin conspicuous as Sodom. They conceal nothing! Woe to them, for they deal out misery to themselves! <sup>10</sup>Say to the righteous that it shall go well with them, for they shall eat the products of their doings. <sup>11</sup>Woe to the wicked! It shall go ill with him, for the full result of his hands shall be repaid him. <sup>12</sup>As for My people, their ruling tyrants are children, and women rule over them. My people, your leaders are misleaders; they confuse the course of your paths.

<sup>13</sup>The LORD stands up to hold court; He is standing to judge the peoples. <sup>14</sup>The LORD enters into judgment with the elders of His people and His princes. And you! You have devoured the vineyard; the plunder from the poor is in your houses. <sup>15</sup>What ails you, that you suppress My people and grind the faces of the poor?<sup>r</sup> says the Lord God of hosts.

<sup>16</sup>Moreover, the LORD has spoken: Because the daughters of Zion are

p) A hiding repeated until the finals [Rev. 6:16].

q) The Hebrew word here rendered "babes" occurs again in Isa. 66:4, and nowhere else in the Old Testament. It conveys the idea of "capricious children," who treat others maliciously for their own pleasure.

haughty and walk with outstretched necks and ogling eyes, they go about with a mincing step and tinkle their ornaments on their feet: <sup>17</sup>so the LORD will cause a scab to come upon the scalp of the daughters of Zion, and the LORD will expose their secret parts. <sup>18</sup>In that day the LORD will remove the finery of their anklets, net-bands, and crescents; <sup>19</sup>earrings, bracelets, and gauze veils; <sup>20</sup>head bands, ankle chains, sashes, perfume boxes, and charms; <sup>21</sup>signet rings and jewels of the nose; <sup>22</sup>festival robes, top tunics, shawls, and purses; <sup>23</sup>handmirrors, lingerie, headwear, and large veils. <sup>24</sup>It shall be, that instead of a sweet smell, there will be rottenness; instead of a girdle, a rope; instead of well-set hair, baldness; instead of a rich robe, a wrapping of sackcloth; instead of beauty, a branding mark. <sup>25</sup>Your men shall fall by the sword and your valiant men in battle. <sup>26</sup>Her gates shall mourn and grieve; deserted she sits on the ground.

4 AND SEVEN WOMEN WILL GRASP one man in that day, saying, "We will eat our own bread, and we will wear our own clothes; only let us be called by your name; take away our stigma."<sup>s</sup>

<sup>2</sup>In that day the branch of the LORD shall become beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the land excellent and splendid for the escapees of Israel. <sup>3</sup>And it shall be that the one left in Zion and the one remaining in Jerusalem will be called holy—everyone registered for eternal life in Jerusalem, <sup>4</sup>when the LORD shall have washed away the filth of the daughter of Zion and shall have rinsed away the blood-spots from the midst of Jerusalem by the spirit of judgment and by the spirit of burning. <sup>5</sup>The LORD will create over the area of Mount Zion and over her assemblies a cloud by day, and smoke and a flaming fire shining at night; for it will be a protection over all that is glorious; <sup>6</sup>there shall be a pavilion as a shade by day from the heat, and as a shelter and refuge from the storm and rain.

5 LET ME SING TO THE ONE I LOVE a song for my loved One regarding His vineyard: My loved One had a vineyard on a fertile hill. <sup>2</sup>He carefully spaded it and cleared off the stones, and He planted choice vines. He also built a lookout tower in the center of it and cut out a winevat in it; <sup>4</sup>then He waited for it to produce grapes, but it yielded wild grapes.

<sup>3</sup>And now, residents of Jerusalem and men of Judah, please arbitrate between Me and My vineyard. <sup>4</sup>What more was there to do for My vineyard that I did not do in it? For what reason, when I expected it to produce grapes, did it yield worthless grapes? <sup>5</sup>Now, let me inform you what I am going to do to My vineyard; remove its hedge, and it shall be a pasture;<sup>u</sup> break holes in the walls, and it shall be a trampled place. <sup>6</sup>I will make it a desolation; it shall be neither pruned nor hoed; briars and thornbushes shall come up, and I will forbid the rain clouds to pour rain upon it. <sup>7</sup>For the vineyard of the LORD of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah are His cherished planting. He eagerly looked for justice, but see, bloodshed! For righteousness, and lo, a cry of distress.

<sup>8</sup>Woe to those joining house to house, who unite field to field until there is no more room; you shall be made to live alone in the middle of the land. <sup>9</sup>In my ears the LORD of hosts has spoken. Most certainly will many houses become desolate, spacious and fair, without occupants. <sup>10</sup>For ten acres of vineyard will produce but nine gallons, and ten bushels of seed will produce but one bushel.

<sup>11</sup>Woe to those getting up early in the morning to secure intoxicants, lingering late in twilight until wine inflames them. <sup>12</sup>The guitar and harp, the tambourine, flute, and wine constitute their feasts! But they do not show re-

s) Of being unmarried.

t) Winevats in Palestine and in the Lebanons were generally cut in the rocks at two levels; the upper vat is the larger and shallower. In this the grapes are thrown and trodden [cf. Isa. 63:3]; the lower one is smaller, but deeper. Into it the grape juice is made to flow by a channel from the upper vat. u) Heb.: "it shall be for animal consumption."

gard for the deeds of the LORD, and the works of His hands they do not see. <sup>13</sup>Therefore my people go into captivity<sup>v</sup> for lack of knowledge—their nobles famished men and their multitudes parched with thirst. <sup>14</sup>Therefore Sheol<sup>w</sup> has enlarged her appetite and has opened her mouth immeasurably wide, and [into it] descend her<sup>x</sup> splendor, her crowds, her din, and all who are jubilant in her. <sup>15</sup>Then mankind shall be abased; men shall be brought low, and the faces of the haughty shall be humiliated. <sup>16</sup>But the LORD of hosts will be exalted in justice, and the holy God will show Himself holy through righteousness. <sup>17</sup>Then the lambs will graze as in their pastures, but foreigners will seize the waste fields of the fat ones.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>18</sup>Woe to those who continually draw iniquity upon themselves with worthless cords and sin with cart ropes, <sup>19</sup>who say, "Let Him make haste! Let Him speed His work, so that we may see it! Let the purpose of the Holy One of Israel draw near and come, that we may know it!"

<sup>20</sup>Woe to those who call evil good and good evil; who place darkness as light and light as darkness; who put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter!

<sup>22</sup>Woe to those who are champions at drinking wine and expert men at mixing intoxicants, <sup>23</sup>who acquit the guilty for a bribe and take away the rights of the righteous! <sup>24</sup>Therefore, as a tongue of fire consumes stubble and as flaming straw shrivels away, so shall their root be as decay and their sprouts shall go up as dust. For they have rejected the teachings of the LORD of hosts and have shown contempt for the words of the Holy One of Israel.

<sup>25</sup>Therefore the anger of the LORD is kindled against His people, and He has stretched out His hand upon them and smitten them, so that the mountains quake and their corpses are like refuse in the middle of the streets. Despite all this, His anger has not subsided, and His hand is still stretched out.<sup>z</sup>

6 IN THE YEAR OF KING UZZIAH'S death, I saw the Lord sitting upon a high and eminent throne, and the trailing of His robe filled the temple. <sup>2</sup>The seraphim<sup>c</sup> were standing above Him; each had six wings;<sup>d</sup> with two he covered his face, with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew.<sup>e</sup> <sup>3</sup>The one called to the other and said: "Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of hosts; the whole earth is full of His glory." <sup>4</sup>The supports of the thresholds shook at the sound of the one calling, and the house became filled with smoke.

<sup>5</sup>Then I said, "Alas for me; for I feel beaten, because I am a man of unclean lips and I am living among a people of unclean lips; for my eyes have seen the King, the LORD of hosts." <sup>6</sup>Then one of the seraphim flew to me, having in his hand a glowing coal which he had taken with tongs from off the altar. <sup>7</sup>He touched my mouth with it and said, "Look!

e) Heb. "to fly to and fro," or "to hover in flight."

This has touched your lips; your iniquity is now removed, and your sins are atoned for." <sup>8</sup>Thereupon I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send and who will go for us? Then I said, "Here am I, send me." <sup>9</sup>He said, Go! say to this people: Keep on hearing, but do not understand; keep on seeing, but do not perceive! <sup>10</sup>Cause the heart of this people to be unreceptive; cause their ears to be hard of hearing, and paste their eyes shut,<sup>f</sup> lest they see with their eyes, hear with their ears, their heart understand, and they repent and are healed. <sup>11</sup>Then I asked, "How long, Lord?" He responded: Until that time when cities are made ruins without residents, houses without people, the land utterly desolate, <sup>12</sup>the LORD will have sent the people far away, and the forsaken sections of the land will be many. <sup>13</sup>And though a tenth<sup>g</sup> remains in it,<sup>h</sup> it shall again be consumed, as an oak and as a terebinth tree,<sup>i</sup> which, when felled, has a stump; [so] the holy seed is its stump.

7 IN THE DAYS OF AHAZ, THE SON OF Jotham, the son of Uzziah, the king of Judah, Rezin king of Syria and Pekah the son of Remaliah the king of Israel came to wage war against Jerusalem, but were unable to conquer it. <sup>2</sup>When it was reported to the house of David that Syria was allied with Ephraim, his heart and the heart of his people shook as trees of the forest shake in the wind.

<sup>3</sup>Then the LORD said to Isaiah: Go forth, you and your son Shearjashub,<sup>k</sup> to meet Ahaz at the end of the aqueduct from the upper pool, on the highway to the Fuller's Field, <sup>4</sup>and say to him, "Be on your guard and keep calm; be not afraid nor timid of heart before these two butts of smoking firebrands; [nor] in the presence of the burning anger of Rezin of Syria and the son<sup>l</sup> of Remaliah. <sup>5</sup>Because Syria has plotted evil against you [with] Ephraim and the son of Remaliah, saying, <sup>6</sup>'Let us go up against Judah, harass it, create a schism in it to our advantage, and set up the son of Tabeal as king in it,' <sup>7</sup>thus says the Lord God: It shall not stand; it shall not take place! <sup>8</sup>For Damascus is Syria's capital, and the sovereign of Damascus is Rezin, and within sixty-five years Ephraim shall be shattered as a nation. <sup>9</sup>Samaria is the capital of Ephraim, and the sovereign of Samaria is the son of Remaliah. If you do not have firm confidence, you surely shall not abide firmly."

<sup>10</sup>Then the LORD continued speaking to Ahaz: <sup>11</sup>Ask for a sign for yourself from the LORD your God; let it be either deep as Sheol or high as heaven. <sup>12</sup>But Ahaz declared, "I will not ask, nor will I test the LORD." <sup>13</sup>Then he<sup>m</sup> said, "Hear now, house of David, is it not enough for you to try the patience of men, that you try the patience of my God also? <sup>14</sup>Therefore the LORD Himself will give you a sign: Behold, the virgin<sup>n</sup> shall conceive and shall bear a son and shall call His name Immanuel;<sup>o</sup> <sup>15</sup>He shall eat curds<sup>p</sup> and honey until He knows how to reject the evil and choose the good. <sup>16</sup>Even before the child shall know to reject the evil and to choose the good, the land before whose two kings you feel a sickening dread shall be forsaken. <sup>17</sup>The LORD shall bring upon you, upon your people, and upon your father's house days such as have never been since the days of Ephraim's departure from Judah — the king of Assyria.

Lord will shave with a razor, hired from regions beyond the river,<sup>t</sup> with the king of Assyria, the hair from head to foot, including the beard.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>21</sup>It shall be in that day that a man will keep alive a young cow and two sheep, <sup>22</sup>and that from the abundant production of milk he shall eat curds; then everyone, who is left in the midst of the land, shall eat curds and honey. <sup>23</sup>In that day it shall be that in every place where there were a thousand vines, worth a thousand dollars, there shall be briars and thornbushes. <sup>24</sup>With bow and arrows they shall come there, for the whole land shall be briars and thornbushes. <sup>25</sup>As for all the hills which were tilled with a hoe, one shall not come there for fear of briars and thornbushes; it shall be a place in which to send cattle and for sheep to trample.

8 THE LORD SAID TO ME, TAKE A large tablet and write upon it in common script:<sup>v</sup> Hasty spoil, speedy booty.<sup>w</sup> <sup>2</sup>And I will have two reliable witnesses testify for me — Uriah the priest and Zechariah the son of Jeberechiah. <sup>3</sup>I went in to the prophetess,<sup>x</sup> and she conceived and bore a son. The LORD said to me: Call his name Maher-shalal-hash-baz; <sup>4</sup>for before the child knows how to cry, "My father" and "My mother," the riches of Damascus and the spoil of Samaria shall be carried away before the king of Assyria.

<sup>5</sup>Again the LORD spoke to me: <sup>6</sup>Because this people has rejected the waters of Shiloah,<sup>y</sup> which flow gently, and there is rejoicing<sup>z</sup> in Rezin and the son of Remaliah; <sup>7</sup>therefore, look, the LORD is bringing upon them the mighty and many waters of the river,<sup>a</sup> even the king of Assyria and all his glory. It shall rise over all its channels and overflow all its banks, <sup>8</sup>and shall sweep on into Judah, flood, and submerge<sup>b</sup> [it]; it shall reach up to the neck; and its outspread wings shall fill the breadth of your land, O Immanuel.

<sup>9</sup>Do you worst,<sup>c</sup> O people, and be shattered! Yes, listen, distant places of the earth! Gird yourselves and be shattered; gird yourselves and be shattered. <sup>10</sup>Devise a plan and it shall be frustrated; speak a word and it shall not stand, for God is with us.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>11</sup>For thus the LORD spoke to me when His hand was strong [upon me], and He warned me from walking in the ways of this people: <sup>12</sup>Do not call everything "conspiracy" which this people is calling "conspiracy"; fear not what they fear, nor be in dread of it. <sup>13</sup>The LORD of hosts, regard Him as holy; let Him be your fear; let Him be your dread. <sup>14</sup>And He shall be a sacred asylum [to you], but a stone of stumbling and a rock of offense to the two houses of Israel, a trap and a snare for the residents of Jerusalem. <sup>15</sup>Many will stumble on it and will fall; they will be broken, trapped, and taken.

<sup>16</sup>Bind up the testimony, seal the law among my disciples.<sup>e</sup> <sup>17</sup>I will wait for the LORD, who is hiding His face from the house of Jacob; indeed, I will hope in Him. <sup>18</sup>Behold, I and the children whom the LORD has given me are for signs and portents in Israel from the LORD of hosts who dwells in Mount Zion.

<sup>19</sup>Therefore when men will say to you, "Consult the necromancers and fortunetellers,<sup>f</sup> that chirp and mutter," should not a people consult its God? Should a people consult the dead for the benefit of the living? <sup>20</sup>To the Law<sup>g</sup> and to the testimony!<sup>h</sup> Whoever will not speak according to this word, there shall surely be no dawn for him. <sup>21</sup>He shall wander through [the land] distressed and hungry; it shall be that because he is famished, he will rave within himself and curse his king and his God. Then he will turn [his eyes] upward <sup>22</sup>and will also look to the earth and see distress and darkness, the gloom of anguish. Into darkness shall he be thrust.

9 BUT SHE WHO WAS IN ANGUISH shall not continue in gloom. As in earlier time He brought the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali<sup>i</sup> into contempt, so in the succeeding period He has made glorious<sup>j</sup> the way of the sea, the other side of the Jordan, Galilee of the nations.

<sup>8</sup>The Lord has sent a word into Jacob, and it has fallen on Israel. <sup>9</sup>Therefore all the people know, Ephraim and the residents of Samaria, who in pride and in arrogance of heart boast, <sup>10</sup>"The bricks have fallen, but we will rebuild with quarried stones; the sycamore trees have been cut down, but we will plant cedars instead." <sup>11</sup>[These know] that the Lord brought up the adversaries of Rezin against them and stirred up their enemies, <sup>12</sup>Syria from the east and the Philistines from the west, who have devoured Israel with an open mouth. Despite all this, His anger has not subsided, and His hand is still stretched out.

<sup>13</sup>Yet the people did not turn to Him who smote them; they did not seek the Lord of hosts.<sup>m</sup> <sup>14</sup>So the Lord cut off from Israel head and tail, branch and reed, in a single day. <sup>15</sup>The elder and the man of honor is the head; the prophet who teaches lies is the tail; <sup>16</sup>for the leaders of this people are become misleaders, and their followers are swallowed up. <sup>17</sup>Therefore the Lord does not rejoice over their young men and has no compassion on their orphans and widows; for every one of them is godless and an evildoer, and every mouth speaks folly. Despite all this, His anger has not subsided, and His hand is still stretched out.

10 ALAS FOR THOSE ISSUING UN-righteous decrees and for the scribes who put injurious decisions into writing;<sup>o</sup> <sup>2</sup>who thrust aside the needy from their court rights and rob the poor of My people of justice, so that widows become their prey and orphans their plunder. <sup>3</sup>What will you do in the day of visitation and in the annihilation that comes from afar? whom will you flee for help, and where will you leave your glory?<sup>p</sup> <sup>4</sup>You can only crouch among the prisoners and fall among the slain. Despite all this, His anger does not subside, and His hand is still stretched out.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Alas for Assyria, the rod of Mine anger!<sup>r</sup> My indignation is the staff in their hand. <sup>6</sup>I send him against a godless nation; I give him orders against the people of My indignation to take booty, to seize prey, and to trample them as the mud of the street. <sup>7</sup>But he does not so intend, nor does he so plan in his heart; it is in his heart to exterminate nations—not a few.<sup>s</sup> <sup>8</sup>For he said, “Are not my princes all kings? <sup>9</sup>Is not Calno like Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria like Damascus? <sup>10</sup>As my hand found the kingdoms of the idols, even though their idols excelled those of Jerusalem and Samaria, <sup>11</sup>shall I not do to Jerusalem and her images as I did to Samaria and her idols?”

<sup>12</sup>It shall be when the LORD has finished all His work on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, that I will inflict punishment on the fruit<sup>t</sup> of the arrogant heart of Assyria's king, on the boasting of his haughty looks. <sup>13</sup>For he claims, “By the strength of my hand have I done this and by my wisdom, for I have understanding; I have removed the frontiers of the peoples and plundered their treasures. Like a bull I have dislodged those who sat [on thrones], <sup>14</sup>and my hand reached the wealth of the peoples [which were] as in a nest; and as men gather eggs left behind, so I gathered the whole earth. There was none that flapped a wing, opened its beak, or chirped.” <sup>15</sup>Should an axe boast itself over the man who hews with it, or a saw vaunt itself over the one who moves it back and forth? [Should] a stick wave him who takes it up, or a cane lift up him who is not wood? <sup>16</sup>Therefore the Lord, the LORD of hosts, shall send a wasting disease upon his robust [soldiery], and under his glory shall be kindled a burning as the burning of a fire. <sup>17</sup>The light of Israel shall be as a fire, and the Holy One of Israel as a flame, and it shall burn and destroy his thornbushes and his briars in one day. <sup>18</sup>It will consume the glory of his forest and of his productive field; both soul and body shall be consumed; it shall be as a sick man wasting away. <sup>19</sup>The remaining trees of the forest shall be so few that a child could write them down.

<sup>20</sup>It shall be in that day that the remnant of Israel and the survivors of the house of Jacob will no more lean upon the one smiting them, but trustingly they shall lean upon the LORD, the Holy One of Israel. <sup>21</sup>A remnant, the remnant of Jacob, will return to the mighty God. <sup>22</sup>For though your people, O Israel, be like the sand of the sea, only a remnant of them will return.<sup>u</sup> Annihilation is determined, overflowing with righteousness.<sup>v</sup> <sup>23</sup>For a full destruction and that a decisive one, the LORD, the LORD of hosts, shall make in the midst of the whole earth.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>24</sup>Therefore the Lord, the LORD of hosts, says this: My people, who dwell in Zion, be not afraid of the Assyrian nation, when it hits you with a stick and lifts up its rod against you as the Egyptians did. <sup>25</sup>For in a very short time Assyria's indignation will be spent; for My anger is to their destruction. <sup>26</sup>Then shall the LORD of hosts raise up over them a scourge like that with which Midian was smitten at the rock of Oreb,<sup>x</sup> and His rod [shall be] over the sea, and He shall lift it up as in Egypt. <sup>27</sup>In that day his burden shall be lifted from your shoulder and his yoke from your neck; the yoke shall be broken off because of ointment.<sup>y</sup> through Migron, and stored his baggage at Michmash. <sup>29</sup>They have crossed the pass; they stay overnight in Geba; Ramah is panic-stricken; Gibeah of Saul has fled. <sup>30</sup>Shriek aloud, daughter of Gallim! Listen, Laishah! Poor Anathoth! <sup>31</sup>Madmenah flees; the residents of Gebim flee for safety. <sup>32</sup>This very day he halts at Nob;<sup>2</sup> he shakes his fist at the mount of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem.

<sup>33</sup>Behold, the Lord, the LORD of hosts, will lop off the branches with tremendous force; the lofty in height shall be hewn down; the high ones shall be brought low. <sup>34</sup>He will cut down the thickets of the forest with an iron [axe], and Lebanon shall fall by a majestic One.

11 A TWIG SHALL SHOOT FORTH from the stump of Jesse, and a Branch from his roots shall bear fruit. <sup>2</sup>The Spirit of the LORD shall rest upon Him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the reverence of the LORD; <sup>3</sup>and His delight shall be in the reverence of the LORD. He shall not judge by what His eyes see, or decide by what His ears hear; <sup>4</sup>but with justice shall He judge the poor, and with fairness shall He decide for the meek<sup>a</sup> of the land. He shall strike the earth with the rod of His mouth, and the wicked He shall slay with the breath of His lips. <sup>5</sup>Righteousness shall be the girdle of His waist, and faithfulness the belt for His loins.

hand in the snake's nest. <sup>9</sup>They shall not hurt or destroy on all My holy mountain; for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the LORD as the waters cover the sea. <sup>10</sup>In that day the nations shall seek after the root of Jesse, who shall stand as a banner for the peoples, and His resting place shall be glorious.

<sup>13</sup>Ephraim's envy shall vanish, and Judah's hostility shall be done away with; Ephraim shall not envy Judah, nor shall Judah vex Ephraim; <sup>14</sup>but they shall swoop down upon the shoulder of the Philistines to the west; together they shall plunder the tribes of the east. Their hand shall possess Edom and Moab; the Ammonites shall become subject to them. <sup>15</sup>Then the LORD shall dry up the tongue of the sea of Egypt,<sup>d</sup> and in His scorching breath He shall wave His hand over the river<sup>e</sup> and smite it into seven streams, enabling men to cross it on sandals; <sup>16</sup>there shall be for the remnant of His people which is left over a highway from Assyria, as there was for Israel at the time when they came up from the land of Egypt.

12 <sup>1</sup>IN THAT DAY YOU WILL SAY, "I will give thanks to Thee, O LORD, for though Thou wast angry with me, Thy anger is turned away and Thou dost comfort me. <sup>2</sup>Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust and not be afraid, for JEHOVAH, the LORD, is my strength and my song; yes, He has become my salvation." <sup>3</sup>With joy, therefore, will you draw water from the fountains of salvation; <sup>4</sup>and you will say in that day, "Give thanks to the LORD; call upon His name! Make known His doings among the nations. Proclaim that His name is exalted!"

<sup>5</sup>"Sing to the LORD, for He has wrought glorious feats; let this become known through all the earth. <sup>6</sup>Cry out and shout joyfully, you residents of Zion, for great in your midst is the Holy One of Israel."

13 THE ORACLE<sup>g</sup> CONCERNING BABYLON which Isaiah the son of Amoz saw in a vision. <sup>2</sup>On the bare summit of the mountain raise a banner, and shout aloud to them; wave a hand that they may enter the gates of the nobles. <sup>3</sup>For I have commanded those dedicated to Me, I Myself have summoned My strong warriors, even My proudly exultant ones, to execute My anger.

<sup>9</sup>Behold, the day of the LORD comes! It is pitiless, accompanied with wrath and fierce anger, to make the earth a desolation and to destroy its sinners out of it. <sup>10</sup>For the stars of heaven and its constellations shall not give their light; the sun shall be dark at its rising and the moon shall not send out its light. <sup>11</sup>I will punish the world for its evil and the wicked for their iniquity; I will put an end to the arrogance of the proud and lay low the boasting of the violent. <sup>12</sup>I will make mortal man scarcer than fine gold, and mankind rarer than the gold of Ophir.<sup>i</sup> <sup>13</sup>The heavens, therefore, shall tremble and the earth quake out of its place at the indignation of the LORD of hosts in the day of His fierce anger. <sup>14</sup>It shall be that as a hunted gazelle, or as a shepherdless flock of sheep, so shall every man turn to his own people and every man flee to his own land. <sup>15</sup>Anyone who is found shall be thrust through, and anyone captured shall fall by the sword. <sup>16</sup>Their infants, too, shall be dashed in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be looted and their wives ravished.

<sup>17</sup>Behold, I will stir up the Medes against them, who neither care for silver nor desire gold. <sup>18</sup>Their bows shall cut down the young men; they shall have no mercy upon the fruit of the womb; they shall not look in pity on children. <sup>19</sup>Babylon, the beauty of empires, the proud glory of the Chaldeans, shall be as Sodom and Gomorrah when God overthrew them. <sup>20</sup>It shall never, never be inhabited; no one shall dwell in it from generation to generation; neither shall the Arab pitch his tent there, nor shall shepherds fold [their flocks] there. <sup>21</sup>But wild beasts shall stretch themselves out there, and their<sup>j</sup> houses shall be full of howling creatures; the ostriches shall live there, and shaggy goats<sup>k</sup> shall be skipping about. <sup>22</sup>Hyenas shall howl within the castles and jackals in her luxurious palaces; her time has nearly come, and her days will not be prolonged.

14 FOR THE LORD WILL HAVE COM- passion on Jacob and will still choose Israel. He will set them in their own land, and aliens will join them and will cling to the house of Jacob.

<sup>2</sup>And the peoples will take them<sup>1</sup> and bring them to their place, and the house of Israel will give them a foothold upon the LORD's soil as male and female servants. They will make captives of those who took them captive, and they will rule over their oppressors.

<sup>3</sup>It shall be in the day when the LORD gives you rest from your sufferings and from your turmoil and from the severe service you had to perform, <sup>4</sup>that you will take up this poem<sup>m</sup> against the king of Babylon:

How the tyrant has stopped; how [his] insolent rage<sup>n</sup> has ceased! <sup>5</sup>The LORD has broken the staff of the wicked, the scepter of rulers <sup>6</sup>who smote the peoples in wrath with ceaseless blows and trampled down the nations in anger with unrestrained persecution.

<sup>7</sup>The whole earth is at ease and quiet! They burst out with singing. <sup>8</sup>Even the cypress trees rejoice over you, the cedars of Lebanon [are saying], "Since you have fallen, no woodcutter comes against us."

<sup>9</sup>Sheol below is excited because of you, to meet you when you come; it arouses the dead<sup>o</sup> for you, even the chieftains<sup>p</sup> of the earth; it makes all the kings of the nations to rise from their thrones. <sup>10</sup>They all will respond and say to you, "So you, too, have become weak as we; you have become like us!" <sup>11</sup>Your pomp has been brought down to Sheol, and the music of your harps. Worms are spread out underneath you, and maggots are your covering. <sup>12</sup>How you are fallen from heaven, shining gleam,<sup>a</sup> son of the morning! Chopped down to the ground,<sup>r</sup> conqueror of nations! <sup>13</sup>You reflected in your heart, "I will scale the heavens; I will elevate my throne above the stars of God. I will sit on the mount of assembly,<sup>s</sup> far away in the north. <sup>14</sup>I will rise above the heights of the clouds; I will rival the Most High!" <sup>15</sup>But you will be brought down to Sheol, down to the farthest recesses of the pit. <sup>16</sup>At the sight of you, men will gaze at you and reflect upon you, "Is this the man who caused the earth to tremble, who made kingdoms quake, <sup>17</sup>who turned the world into a desert and overthrew its cities, who would not permit their prisoners to go to their homes?" <sup>18</sup>All the kings of the nations lie in glory, each in his own tomb; <sup>19</sup>but you are cast forth away from your tomb, like a loathed growth, clothed like the slain, pierced by the sword, who go down to the stones<sup>t</sup> in the pit, as a carcass trodden under foot. <sup>20</sup>You will not join your fathers in burial, because you have ruined your country, you have slaughtered your people. May the descendants of evildoers not be mentioned forever! <sup>21</sup>Prepare for his sons a slaughtering place because of their father's guilt, lest they rise up, obtain possession of the earth, and fill the face of the world with cities.

<sup>22</sup>I will rise up against him, says the LORD of hosts, and I will cut off from Babylon name and remnant, son and grandson, says the LORD. <sup>23</sup>And I will make it the possession of the porcupine, marshes of water, and I will sweep it with the broom of destruction, says the LORD of hosts.

<sup>24</sup>The LORD of hosts has sworn: Truly, as I have planned, so shall it be; as I have purposed, so shall it stand, <sup>25</sup>to break Assyria in My land, and I will tread him down on My mountains; then his yoke will be removed from upon them, and his burden shall be taken off their shoulder. <sup>26</sup>This is the purpose that has been planned for the whole earth, and this is the hand that is stretched out over all the nations. <sup>27</sup>For the LORD of hosts has purposed it, and who can annul it? His hand is now stretched out, and who can turn it back?

<sup>28</sup>In the year that King Ahaz died came this message: <sup>29</sup>Rejoice not, O Philistia, all of you,<sup>u</sup> that the rod which smote you is broken, for out of the root<sup>v</sup> of the snake will come forth an adder, and its fruit will be a fiery, flying serpent. <sup>30</sup>The first-born of the poor will eat, and the needy will lie down in safety; but I will starve your root with a famine, and your remnant will be slain. <sup>31</sup>Howl, O gate, and cry aloud, O city; you are melting away, O Philistia, all of you; for out of the north comes a smoke, and there is not a single straggler with him. <sup>32</sup>What then shall one answer the messengers of the nation? That the LORD has founded Zion, and in her shall the afflicted of His people find refuge.

15 A MESSAGE CONCERNING MOAB. Surely, in a night Ar of Moab is laid waste and completely ruined. Surely, in a night Kir<sup>w</sup> of Moab is laid waste and completely ruined. <sup>2</sup>They have gone up to the house;<sup>x</sup> Dibon<sup>y</sup> has gone up to the high places to weep. On Mount Nebo and at Medeba Moab wails; on every head there is baldness, and every beard is shorn.<sup>z</sup> <sup>3</sup>In the streets they wear sackcloth; on the roofs of their houses and in their public squares everybody wails, melting with tears. <sup>4</sup>Ishbbon and Elcalch cry out so loudly that their voices are heard as far as Jahaz; therefore the strong men of Moab cry; his soul quivers within him. <sup>5</sup>My heart cries out for Moab; her fugitives [flee] to Zoar<sup>a</sup> and to the third [town], Eglath. For weeping they made the ascent to Luhith<sup>s</sup>; on the road to Horonaim they raise a cry of destruction. <sup>6</sup>For the waters of Nimrim are become deserts;<sup>b</sup> thus the grass is withered away, and the new grass fails; there is no verdure. <sup>7</sup>Therefore the provisions, acquired and stored, they carry over to the Brook of the Willows. <sup>8</sup>For the cry of distress has circled the borders of Moab, the howling to Eglaim and the howling to Beer-elim. <sup>9</sup>Though the waters of Dimon<sup>c</sup> are full of blood, I [the LORD] will bring additional calamities upon Dimon — a lion for the escaped of Moab and for the remnants of the land.

raisin-cakes<sup>f</sup> of Kir-hareseth you sigh, utterly discouraged, <sup>8</sup>because the fields of Heshbon languish, [also] the vine of Sibmah. The masters of the nations struck down its red-colored clusters; its runners<sup>g</sup> reach to Jazer, stray into the desert, and stretch over the shores of the sea.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Therefore will I weep in the weeping of Jazer for the vine of Sibmah; I shall drench you with my tears, O Heshbon and Elealeh, because upon your summer fruits and on your harvest the shout of battle has fallen. <sup>10</sup>Joy and gladness have been removed from the productive fields; in your vineyards no songs, no shouts of joy [are heard]; the wine in the pressing trough is not trodden out by the treader; cheering shouts I have made to cease. <sup>11</sup>Accordingly, my feelings are moved for Moab like a harp, and my soul for Kir-harsh. <sup>12</sup>For it shall be that when Moab has presented himself and has wearied himself upon the high place<sup>i</sup> and has entered into his sanctuary to pray, it will avail him nothing.

<sup>13</sup>This is the word which the LORD did speak concerning Moab. <sup>14</sup>But now the LORD speaks, saying that within three years, like the years of a hired hand, the glory of Moab shall be brought into contempt with all its great throng [of people], and the remnant shall be small, few, insignificant.

17 A MESSAGE CONCERNING DAMASCUS. Observe! Damascus is about to be undone as a city; she will become a heap of ruins. <sup>2</sup>The cities of Aroer are forsaken and given over to flocks which lie down, with no one to make them afraid. <sup>3</sup>The fortifications will disappear from Ephraim, the royal power from Damascus, and the remnant from Syria; they shall be as the glory of the sons of Israel, declares the LORD of hosts.

<sup>4</sup>It shall be in that day that the glory of Jacob shall wane, and his fatness shall become lean. <sup>5</sup>It will be as when a reaper gathers the standing crop, his arms full of ears of grain; yea, it will be as when one gathers the few remaining stalks in the valley of Rephaim. <sup>6</sup>However, there shall be a leftover in it, as when an olive tree is beaten,<sup>j</sup> two or three olives on the topmost bough, four or five on the outer branches of a fruit tree, says the LORD, the God of Israel.

<sup>7</sup>In that day man will turn to his Maker,<sup>k</sup> and his eyes will look to the Holy One of Israel. <sup>8</sup>He will look no more to the altars, the work of his own hands, or what his fingers have made; nor will he have regard for the images of Ashteroth or for the sun-images. <sup>9</sup>In that day their strong cities<sup>l</sup> shall be like the forsaken places of the wooded heights and mountain tops, which they have deserted at the approach of the Israelites, and they shall become a desolation. <sup>10</sup>Because you have forgotten the God of your salvation<sup>m</sup> and have not remembered the Rock of your protection,<sup>n</sup> therefore you have established pleasant plantations<sup>o</sup> and have planted in them strange slips. <sup>11</sup>On the day you plant them, you carefully shield them,<sup>p</sup> and in the morning you have the seed blossoming; yet the crop will vanish in the day of grief and incurable pain.

19 A MESSAGE CONCERNING EGYPT. Behold, the LORD is riding on a swift cloud; He comes to Egypt; Egypt's idols tremble before Him; the heart of Egypt melts within him. <sup>2</sup>I will stir up the Egyptians to fight Egyptians, [every] man will fight with another, a man with his neighbor, city against city, kingdom against kingdom. <sup>3</sup>The Egyptian's energy shall become exhausted; his wisdom will I make useless, and they will resort to the idols and magicians, to the wizards and fortunetellers. <sup>4</sup>And I will give the Egyptians into the hand of a cruel master; a fierce king will reign over them, says the Lord, the LORD of hosts.

<sup>5</sup>The waters of the sea will be dried up, and the river will run empty and be dried up. <sup>6</sup>The rivers will become foul, and the streams of Egypt<sup>u</sup> will decrease and dry up; the reeds and rushes will rot away. <sup>7</sup>The meadows alongside the river and the mouth of the river and all the seeded fields bordering on the river will be dried up, blown away; they shall be no more. <sup>8</sup>Fishermen will lament, those who cast hooks into the river will mourn, and the spreaders of nets over the top of the water will pine away. <sup>9</sup>They who prepare the combed flax and weave cotton<sup>v</sup> will be humiliated. <sup>10</sup>Its supporting pillars will be crushed,<sup>w</sup> and those who work for wages will be grieved in soul.

<sup>11</sup>Utterly foolish are the princes of Zoan,<sup>x</sup> likewise, the advice of Pharaoh's wisest counselors is folly. How can they say to Pharaoh, "I am a son of the wise; a son of ancient kings"? <sup>12</sup>Where now are your wise men? Let them declare to you; let them know what the LORD of hosts has planned against Egypt. <sup>13</sup>The princes of Zoan are confused, and the princes of Memphis<sup>y</sup> are deluded; [those forming] the cornerstone of her tribes have led Egypt astray. <sup>14</sup>The LORD has mingled a spirit of error in its midst so that Egypt now staggers in all her doings, as a drunken man sways back and forth in his vomit. <sup>15</sup>Neither head nor tail, palm branch nor reed can do anything for Egypt.

<sup>16</sup>In that day the Egyptians will be like women; they will fear and tremble under the threatening hand which the LORD of hosts will shake over them.

<sup>17</sup>The land of Judah will become a terror to all Egypt, and anyone who recalls it to mind will dread the purposes of the LORD of hosts which He is purposing against it. <sup>18</sup>In that day there will be five cities in the land of Egypt speaking the language of Canaan and swearing by the LORD of hosts, one of which shall be called the City of Destruction.

<sup>19</sup>In that day there shall be an altar to the LORD in the midst of the land of Egypt and a pillar to the LORD near its border. <sup>20</sup>It will be for a sign and a witness to the LORD of hosts in the land of Egypt, so that they will cry to the LORD because of their oppressors; and the LORD will send a Savior, even a mighty One, and He will deliver them. <sup>21</sup>The LORD will reveal Himself to the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall know the LORD in that day and shall worship Him with sacrifice and offerings; and they shall make vows to the LORD and perform them. <sup>22</sup>The LORD will surely smite Egypt, smiting and healing, when they return to the LORD. He will heed their petitions and heal them.

<sup>23</sup>In that day there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria; the Assyrian will come into Egypt and the Egyptian into Assyria, and Egypt will with the Assyrians serve the LORD. <sup>24</sup>At that time Israel will be the third<sup>z</sup> with Egypt and Assyria and become a blessing in the midst of the earth, <sup>25</sup>a blessing which the LORD of hosts will have given them, saying: Blessed be Egypt My people, Assyria the work of My hands, and Israel My inheritance.<sup>a</sup>

20 IN THE YEAR THAT THE GENERALISSIMO, who was sent by Sargon the king of Assyria, came to Ash-

<sup>2</sup>The LORD said at that time by means of Isaiah the son of Amoz: Go and loose the sackcloth from your loins and remove the sandals from your feet; and he did so, going naked and barefoot. <sup>3</sup>And the LORD said: As My servant Isaiah has gone for three years naked and barefoot as a sign and a portent against Egypt and Ethiopia, <sup>4</sup>so shall the king of Assyria lead away the captives of Egypt and the exiles of Ethiopia, both young and old, naked and barefoot with stripped buttocks, to the shame of Egypt. <sup>5</sup>Then they will be dismayed and be put to shame because of Ethiopia their hope and of Egypt their boast. <sup>6</sup>And on that day the inhabitants of this coastland will lament, "See! so it goes with those on whom we relied, to whom we fled for help to save us from the king of Assyria! And we, how shall we escape?"

lion, "Lord, I am standing on my watchtower continually by day, at my observation post I am stationed every night. <sup>9</sup>And, behold, this comes: a troop of men, horsemen in pairs!" And the [watchmen] announced, saying, "Fallen, fallen is Babylon; and all the images of her gods lie shattered on the ground." <sup>10</sup>O, my threshed and winnowed one of the threshing floor,<sup>g</sup> what I have heard from the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, I announce to you.

<sup>11</sup>A message concerning Dumah. Someone from Mount Seir keeps calling to me, "Watchman, what [period] of the night?"<sup>h</sup> Watchman, what [period] of the night?" <sup>12</sup>The watchman answers, "Morning comes, but also night! If you wish to inquire, seek; turn; come!"

<sup>13</sup>A message concerning Arabia. In the thickets of the Arabian desert you must lodge, caravans of the Dedanites.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Greeting the thirsty, bring [them] water, you inhabitants of the land of Tema;<sup>j</sup> meet the fugitives with bread.

<sup>15</sup>For before the sword have they fled, before the drawn sword, and before the bent bow, before the hardship of battle. <sup>16</sup>For thus the Lord said to me: Within a year, according to the years of a hired hand, all the glory of Kedar shall come to an end; <sup>17</sup>and those that are left of the numbered<sup>k</sup> archers, the heroes of the sons of Kedar, shall be few. For the LORD, the God of Israel, has spoken.

22 A MESSAGE CONCERNING THE valley of vision. What troubles you that all of you have climbed upon the housetops, <sup>2</sup>you, full of noise, a tumultuous city, an exultant town? Your slain have not been slain by the sword, nor have they died in battle. <sup>3</sup>All your leaders have fled together; without a bow have they been captured. All those of you whom they overtook were made captive together, even those who had fled far away. <sup>4</sup>Therefore I said, "Turn your gaze from me, [as] I weep bitterly; do not try to comfort me because of the devastation of the daughter of my people." <sup>5</sup>For a day of confusion, downtreading, and perplexity from the Lord God of hosts [is] in the valley of vision, a crashing down of walls and shouting to the mountains. <sup>6</sup>Elam has taken up the quiver, with the chariots, infantry, and horsemen. Kir has uncovered the shield. <sup>7</sup>Your choice valleys were filled with chariots, and horsemen set themselves in array against the gate. <sup>8</sup>Then He removed the covering<sup>l</sup> of Judah, and you looked for weapons in the house of the forest.<sup>m</sup> <sup>9</sup>You saw that the breaches in the walls of the city of David were numerous. You also collected the waters of the lower pool, <sup>10</sup>counted the houses of Jerusalem, and broke down houses to fortify the wall. <sup>11</sup>You made a reservoir between the two walls for the water of the old pool; but you did not look to the Maker of it, nor did you recognize Ilim who planned it long ago!

<sup>12</sup>Therefore at that time, the Lord, the LORD of hosts, called [you] to weeping and lamenting, to baldness and to the girding on of sackcloth. <sup>13</sup>But instead, see, pleasure and mirth, the slaying of cattle and the killing of sheep, eating meat and drinking wine, "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we shall die." <sup>14</sup>The LORD of hosts has revealed in my ears: Surely this iniquity will not be atoned<sup>n</sup> for by you till you die, says the Lord, the LORD of hosts.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>15</sup>Thus says the Lord, the LORD of hosts, Come, go to this steward, to Shebna,<sup>p</sup> who is over the palace, [and say,] <sup>16</sup>What do you have here, and whom have you here, that you have here carved a sepulchre for yourself,

h) First, second, third or fourth, each 3 hours, from 6:00 to 6:00.

i) The Dedanites were desert traders, related to Abraham through Keturah. They carried merchandise across the desert to Babylon.

j) Tema was the capital of the Ishmael tribe of the district north of the Dedanite territory, and s.e. of Damascus. k) Specific number of offensive warriors necessary for victory. l) Protection.

m) Solomon named his armory "the House of the Forest of Lebanon" [1 Kings 7:2].

n) Heb.: "covered." o) Jerusalem's iniquity was frivolity, ignoring the LORD in a time of crisis.

p) Shebna was the administrator of a palace but his position did not entitle him to a tomb among royalty. He was arrogant.

you who are carving out a lofty sepulchre for yourself, hewing out a home in this rock for yourself? <sup>17</sup>Behold, the LORD will hurl you away with violence, you strong man; He will thoroughly cover you. <sup>18</sup>He will twist you together [and cast you] as a ball into a far-reaching land; there you will die and there will be your luxurious chariots. You are the disgrace of your master's palace. <sup>19</sup>I will thrust you from your office and will pull you down from your position.

<sup>20</sup>In that day I will summon My servant Eliakim the son of Hilkiah. <sup>21</sup>I will clothe him with your robe, support him with your girdle, and commit to him your authority; he shall become a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to the house of Judah. <sup>22</sup>And I will place on his shoulder the key of the house of David; he shall open and no one shall shut; he shall shut and none shall open. <sup>23</sup>I will fasten him like a peg in a firm place and he shall become a throne of honor to his father's house. <sup>24</sup>And they shall hang on him all the weight of his father's house, shoots and growths,<sup>a</sup> every small vessel, from bowls to pitchers.

<sup>25</sup>But in that day, as the LORD of hosts said, the other peg that is fastened so firmly in a sure place shall give way, be cut down, and fall; and it fell; the burden that was upon it shall be cut off, for the LORD has spoken it.<sup>r</sup>

23 A MESSAGE CONCERNING TYRE.
Wail, you ships of Tarshish! Devastation [has come]<sup>s</sup> so that there is no house or harbor.<sup>t</sup> It was reported to them from Cyprus. <sup>2</sup>Be silent, inhabitants of the coastlands; the merchants of Sidon,<sup>u</sup> sailing the sea, have replenished you;<sup>v</sup> and [from across] the big sea <sup>3</sup>came her revenue, the seed of Sihor and the harvest of the river;<sup>v</sup> you were the merchant trader of the nations. <sup>4</sup>Be ashamed, Sidon, for the sea has spoken, the strength of the sea, saying, "I have neither travailed nor given birth; I have neither reared young men nor nourished virgins." <sup>5</sup>When the news [comes] to Egypt, they will be pained because of the report about Tyre.

<sup>6</sup>Cross over to Tarshish, you dwellers of the coastlands! <sup>7</sup>Is this your exultant [city] whose birth dates far back into antiquity, and whose feet carried her to settle far away? <sup>8</sup>Who planned this against Tyre, the distributor of crowns, whose merchants were princes and whose traders were the honorable of the earth? <sup>9</sup>The LORD of hosts planned to blemish the pride of all glory and to bring into contempt the honored of the earth. <sup>10</sup>Overflow your land like the [Nile] river, daughter of Tarshish! There is no longer restraint for you.<sup>w</sup> <sup>11</sup>He has stretched out His hand over the sea; He has shaken kingdoms; the LORD has given command concerning Canaan<sup>x</sup> to destroy her fortresses. <sup>12</sup>He has said: You shall no longer triumph, you dishonored virgin daughter of Sidon.<sup>y</sup> Arise, pass over to Cyprus; yet even there you shall find no rest. <sup>13</sup>And observe, land of Chaldeans, this is the people that shall be no more. Assyria designed it for the wild beasts of the wilderness; they shall set up their siege-towers, raze her palaces, and make her a ruin. <sup>14</sup>Wail, O ships of Tarshish, for your stronghold shall be laid waste.

<sup>15</sup>It shall be in that day that Tyre shall be forgotten for 70 years, like the days of one king. But at the end of the 70 years, Tyre will fare as the prostitute in the song: <sup>16</sup>"Take a harp, go about the city, forgotten harlot; make a sweet melody; sing many songs

q) Heb.: uses vegetable world terms to denote all descendants.

r) If the peg in vs. 23 refers to Shebna, then the promises made to Eliakim suggest that the prophet regarded Eliakim as a type of the Messiah. s) Heb.: deprived of house and entrance.

t) Sidon was 25 mi. north of Tyre on the Mediterranean coast.

u) There is added in The Dead Sea Scrolls: "your messengers passed over the sea."

v) Grain from the Nile valley.

w) Vs. 10 is probably advice to return to country life and till the soil, exchanging seagoing traffic for agriculture; but it could refer to Tarshish's freedom to trade with Tyre, the strongest competitor destroyed. x) Or, "concerning the merchant city."

y) According to Gen. 10:15, Sidon is reckoned as Canaan's first-born; hence Tyre was once a colony of Sidon.

that you may be remembered." <sup>17</sup>It shall be at the end of 70 years that the LORD will visit Tyre, and she will return to her harlot hire and will maintain improper relationships with all the kingdoms of the world on the face of the earth. <sup>18</sup>Her merchandise and her hire will be set apart to the LORD;<sup>a</sup> it will not be stored up or hoarded, but her gain will be given to those who dwell in the presence of the LORD, [to supply] them with adequate food and elegant clothing.

24 BEHOLD, THE LORD IS EMPTY-
ing the earth and laying it bare; He is distorting its surface and scattering its inhabitants. <sup>2</sup>It shall be as with the people, so with the priest; as with the slave, so with the master; as with the maid, so with her mistress; as with the buyer, so with the seller; as with the lender, so with the borrower; as with the creditor, so with the debtor. <sup>3</sup>The country shall be completely emptied and utterly looted; for the LORD has spoken the word.

is turned to darkness;<sup>b</sup> the mirth of the earth is gone; <sup>12</sup>desolation is left in the city, and its gates are battered into ruins. <sup>13</sup>For so shall it be in the midst of the whole earth among the peoples, as the beating of an olive tree,<sup>c</sup> or as the gleaning [of grapes] when the vintage is over.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Panic, pitfall, and plot<sup>g</sup> are upon you, inhabitant of the land! <sup>18</sup>It shall be that he who flees from the noise of panic shall fall into a pit, and he who climbs out of the pit shall be captured by a snare; for the sluices on high are opened and earth's foundations tremble. <sup>19</sup>The earth is utterly broken; the earth is completely shattered! The earth is violently shaken. <sup>20</sup>It reels and rocks like a drunken man and totters like a shanty; its transgression weighs heavily upon it; it shall fall to rise no more.

<sup>21</sup>In that day it shall be that the LORD will visit with punishment the hosts of those lofty on high, and the kings of the earth on the earth. <sup>22</sup>They will be gathered as prisoners are gathered in a pit and imprisoned in a dungeon; after many days they shall be visited. <sup>23</sup>Then shall the moon blush, and the sun shall be ashamed; for the LORD of hosts shall be king on Mount Zion, and in Jerusalem His glory shall be before His elders.

25 O LORD, THOU ART MY GOD, I will exalt Thee; I will praise Thy name; for Thou hast wrought

z) Tyre is to be restored, not by her own devices, but by the favor of God. Trading and profits become jointly related to the LORD. [Cf. Deut. 23:18]. a) Or, "the heavens with the earth."

b) Or, "joy grown dark"; some mss. read, "passed away."

c) To get the last olive an olive tree was beaten with long slender poles.

marvels; plans determined long ago are steadfast and reliable. <sup>2</sup>For Thou hast turned the city into a heap, the fortified city into ruins; the castle of foreigners is no more a city; it will never be rebuilt. <sup>3</sup>Therefore strong peoples will glorify Thee, and the cities of ruthless nations will revere Thee. <sup>4</sup>For Thou hast been vigor to the weak and power to the needy in his distress, a refuge from the storm and a shade from the heat, when the blast of the tyrants was like a rainstorm on a wall. <sup>5</sup>As heat in a dry place Thou dost subdue the noise of foreigners; the song of the tyrants is subdued like heat by the shadow of a cloud.

<sup>9</sup>It will be said in that day, "Behold, this is our God on whom we have put our hope that He might save us. This is the LORD; we have waited for Him; let us be glad and rejoice in His salvation." <sup>10</sup>For the hand of the LORD shall rest on this mountain, and Moab shall be trodden down in its place as straw is trodden down into the moisture of a dung pit. <sup>11</sup>Though Moab stretches out his hands in the middle of it as a swimmer stretches out [his hands] to swim, He shall lay low his pride despite the craftiness of his hands. <sup>12</sup>And the high-towering fortifications of his walls shall be cast down, made low, brought to the ground, even to the dust.

<sup>12</sup>LORD, Thou shalt establish peace for us forever; all our works Thou hast wrought for us, <sup>13</sup>O LORD our God; other masters besides Thee have had dominion over us, but we shall acknowledge only Thy name. <sup>14</sup>The dead do not live; the ghosts do not stand up. Accordingly, Thou hast visited and destroyed them and caused all memory of them to perish. <sup>15</sup>Thou hast in-

k) "Perfect peace" is expressed in Hebrew by repeating the word for peace.

l) Heb: Yah-Yahweh, the combination occurring here and in 12:2, and nowhere else in the O.T.

m) Or, "in the LORD God is an everlasting rock."

n) God's judgments may bring the disobedient to their senses. o) Heb.: "high," i.e., "to strike."

creased the nation, LORD. Thou hast increased the nation; Thou art glorified. Thou hast extended the boundaries of the land. <sup>16</sup>LORD, in distress they sought Thee; they poured forth a whispered prayer when Thy punishment was upon them. <sup>17</sup>As a woman with child writhes when the hour draws near for her delivery and cries out in her pangs, so have we suffered without Thy presence, LORD; <sup>18</sup>we have been in pain; we writhed, but we brought forth only wind; we wrought no deliverance in the earth nor have the inhabitants of the world fallen. <sup>19</sup>But Thy dead shall live, [including] my corpse; they shall rise. [You] who dwell in the dust, awake and sing joyfully; for Thy dew is a dew of light, and Thou shalt drop it on the earth, upon the dead.

<sup>20</sup>Come, my people, enter your chambers, and shut your doors behind you. Hide yourselves a little while until [God's] indignation is past. <sup>21</sup>For see! the LORD is coming out of His place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity; the soil will not cover her blood, nor longer conceal her slain.

<sup>2</sup>In that day there shall be a red-wine vineyard; sing to it in responses.

<sup>3</sup>I, the LORD, am its keeper. I water it continually;<sup>s</sup> and I watch over it night and day, lest harm might befall it.

<sup>4</sup>There is no wrath now with Me. Should I find thornbushes and briars [in it], I would fight them and burn them all together. <sup>5</sup>Or let them obtain My protection and make peace with Me! Let them make peace with Me!

<sup>6</sup>In the days to come, Jacob shall take root; Israel shall bud and blossom and shall cover the face of the earth with produce.

<sup>7</sup>Has He smitten him as he smote those who were smiting him? Or, were they slain as those they had slaughtered?<sup>t</sup>

<sup>10</sup>For the fortified city shall become desolate, a dwelling left deserted and forsaken like the wilderness; there calves browse and lie down and eat the twigs of it. <sup>11</sup>When its boughs are withered, women shall come, break them off, and burn them in the fire. For this is a people without discernment; therefore He who made them will have no compassion on them; He who formed them will show no favor.

<sup>12</sup>In that day it shall be that the LORD shall thresh out grain from the river<sup>w</sup> to the Brook of Egypt, and you will be gathered one by one, O you children of Israel! <sup>13</sup>In that day a great trumpet shall be blown, and those perishing in the land of Assyria and the outcasts in the land of Egypt shall worship the LORD on the holy mountain at Jerusalem.<sup>x</sup>

28 WOE TO THE HAUGHTY CROWN<sup>y</sup> of the drunkards of Ephraim, and to the fading flower of its ornament of beauty, which is on the head of the fertile valley of those overcome with wine! <sup>2</sup>Behold, the Lord has a strong and mighty agent; like a tempest of hail and a destroying storm, like a flood of powerful, overwhelming war) Heb.: tannin, "sea monsters." This and Leviathan are figurative terms for God's agents of destruction, such as Assyria, Babylon, and Egypt. s) Heb.: "every moment."

t) God punished His agents, through whom He disciplined Israel, worse than Israel.

u) Or, "by exact measure." v) Pagan altars.

w) The "river," the Euphrates; the "Brook of Egypt," the Wadi el-Arish, along the bounds of the Negeb, between Gaza and Pelusium.

x) The great world judgment is over, the enemies of Israel annihilated, and the redeemed restored to their own land.

y) The "crown" of Ephraim was Samaria, the capital city of the Ten Tribes, situated in a large fertile valley.

ters, He will cast down to the earth with the [clenched] hand. <sup>3</sup>The proud crown of the drunkards of Ephraim shall be trodden under foot; <sup>4</sup>and the fading flower of its ornament of beauty, which is at the head of the fertile valley, shall be like a first ripe fig<sup>z</sup> before summer; when a man sees it, he eats it as soon as he has put it in his hand.

<sup>5</sup>In that day the LORD of hosts shall be a crown of glory and a diadem of beauty to the remnant of His people, <sup>6</sup>a spirit of justice to him who executes justice, and of valor to those who turn back the battle to the gate.

<sup>7</sup>These also reel with wine and wander about because of strong drink; [both] priest and prophet reel because of strong drink; they are victims of wine; they wander about due to strong drink; they err in vision and stumble in giving judgment;<sup>a</sup> <sup>8</sup>for all their tables are covered with vomit; there is not a place without filth. <sup>9</sup>Whom will He teach knowledge, and who shall be made to understand the message? [Babes just] weaned from the milk, [just] drawn from the breasts? <sup>10</sup>For [it is] precept upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line, line upon line, here a little, there a little.<sup>b</sup> <sup>11</sup>But with stammering lips and in a foreign language,<sup>c</sup> He will speak to this people, <sup>12</sup>to whom He said: This is the rest you shall give to the weary, and this is the refreshing. Yet they would not listen. <sup>13</sup>However, the word of the LORD shall be to them, precept upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line, line upon line, here a little, there a little; that they may go and stumble backward, be broken, snared, and taken.

<sup>14</sup>Therefore, hear the word of the LORD, you scoffers, who rule this people in Jerusalem! <sup>15</sup>Because you have

boasted, "We have made a covenant with death, and with Sheol we have an agreement; when the overwhelming scourge passes through, it shall not reach us, for we have made falsehood our refuge, and in fraud we hid ourselves"; <sup>16</sup>therefore, thus says the Lord God: Behold, I lay in Zion a foundation Stone, a tested Stone,<sup>d</sup> a precious cornerstone, a sure foundation; he who believes will not be hurried.<sup>e</sup> <sup>17</sup>I will make justice the measuring line and righteousness the plummet; hail will sweep away your refuge of lies, and waters will flood your hiding place. <sup>18</sup>Your covenant with death will be annulled, and your agreement with Sheol will be canceled. When the overwhelming scourge passes through, you shall be trampled down by it. <sup>19</sup>As often as it passes through, it will carry you away, for morning by morning will it pass, by day and by night. It will be unmixed terror to understand the message. <sup>20</sup>For the bed is too short to stretch one's self upon it and the covering too narrow for him to wrap himself in it. <sup>21</sup>For the LORD shall arise as on Mount Perazim<sup>f</sup> and be indignant as in the valley of Gibeon,<sup>g</sup> to do His work, His strange work, and to perform His task, His unusual task. <sup>22</sup>Now therefore, scoff no more, lest your bondage be aggravated; for of a determined annihilation upon the whole earth have I heard from the Lord God of hosts.

<sup>23</sup>Give ear and hear my voice; listen and hear my words. Does he who plows for sowing plow continually? <sup>24</sup>Does he [continually] tear up and harrow his land? <sup>25</sup>Does he not rather, after leveling the surface, scatter dill and sow cummin, put the wheat in rows, barley in the appointed places and rye around its border? <sup>26</sup>His God correctly instructs and teaches him.<sup>h</sup>

h) The farmer's methods are a parable of God's dealing with men.

29 ALAS FOR ARIEL, ARIEL,<sup>j</sup> THE city where David encamped! Add year upon year, let the feasts run their annual cycle. <sup>2</sup>Then will I bring distress upon Ariel; there shall be moaning and mourning; she shall be to Me an altar hearth.<sup>k</sup> <sup>3</sup>I will encamp against you round about you and push siege instruments and set up fortifications against you. <sup>4</sup>Then from deep underground you will speak; your speech will come muffled from the dust; your voice will be coming from the ground as that of the spirit of one dead; yes, your words will be whispered from the dust.

<sup>5</sup>But the multitude of your enemies shall be like fine dust and the mass of the terrible ones like chaff blowing away; unexpectedly, suddenly it shall come.<sup>l</sup> <sup>6</sup>You shall be visited by the LORD of hosts with thunder and earthquake and mighty din; with whirlwind and tempest and the flame of devouring fire. <sup>7</sup>The multitude of all the nations that war against Ariel, with all its equipment, even those who distress her, shall be like a dream, a vision in the night. <sup>8</sup>It will be as when a hungry man dreams, that he is eating, but he awakes with his hunger unsatisfied;<sup>m</sup> or as when a thirsty man dreams, and see, he is drinking, but he awakes and lo, he is faint and craving; so shall it be with all the multitude of nations that war against Mount Zion.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>15</sup>Alas<sup>s</sup> for those who hide deep their plans from the LORD, whose deeds are done in the dark; who say, "Who sees us?" and, "Who knows us?" <sup>16</sup>Your perversity! Is the potter to be considered on an equal with the clay, so that the thing made can say of its maker, "He has not made me?" Or the thing that is molded, can it say to him who formed it, "He has no knowledge?"<sup>t</sup>

r) Religious attitudes and actions by training and habit, and not from conviction.

s) This "woe" is directed against the political intrigues of certain conspirators, who, by hoping to obtain help from Egypt against Assyria, were deaf and dumb to spiritual things. Isaiah is aware of their plans. t) Cf. 45:9; Rom. 9:20. u) Heb.: carmel. v) Forest of fruit trees.

eyes of the blind shall see, in spite of their dimness and darkness; <sup>19</sup>the meek shall have increasing joy in the LORD, and the poor among men shall exult in the Holy One of Israel. <sup>20</sup>For the tyrant shall have vanished; the scoffer shall have ceased; and all those intent on doing evil shall be cut off, <sup>21</sup>who for a word declare a person guilty, and entrap the defender of justice in the gate,<sup>w</sup> and with empty arguments turn aside the person who is in the right.

<sup>22</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob: Jacob shall no more be put to shame, neither shall his face now grow pale. <sup>23</sup>For when he and his children see the work of My hands in their midst, they shall sanctify My name; they shall sanctify the Holy One of Jacob and shall stand in awe of the God of Israel. <sup>24</sup>Those erring in spirit shall come to understanding, and those who murmured shall accept instruction.

30 ALAS FOR YOU, REBELLIOUS children, says the LORD, who formulate a policy that is not Mine; who make an alliance<sup>x</sup> contrary to My Spirit, thus adding sin to sin; <sup>2</sup>who set out to go down to Egypt without asking for My counsel, to take refuge in the protection of Pharaoh and to seek shelter in the shadow of Egypt. <sup>3</sup>The protection of Egypt shall end in shame,<sup>y</sup> and the protection you seek in the shadow of Egypt shall be to your reproach. <sup>4</sup>His princes are in Zoan, and his messengers have arrived in Hanes.<sup>z</sup> <sup>5</sup>All shall come to shame because of a people who will bring them no benefit, that are of no help or profit, but bring shame and disgrace.<sup>a</sup>

lioness and the lion, the viper and the flying serpent, they carry their riches on the backs of donkeys and their prized treasures on the humps of their camels to a people who cannot help them. <sup>7</sup>As for Egypt, its assistance is empty and vain; therefore I have called her "Rahab" who sits still."

<sup>8</sup>Go now, write it in their presence on a tablet, and inscribe it in a book, that it may be for the time to come [as a witness] for ever and ever: <sup>9</sup>that they are a rebellious people, lying children, children who will not listen to the LORD's instruction,<sup>d</sup> <sup>10</sup>who say to the seers, "See not," and to the prophets, "Do not prophesy to us right things! Speak smooth things to us; predict delusions! <sup>11</sup>Forsake the way, swerve from the path, and cease holding up before us the Holy One of Israel."<sup>e</sup> <sup>12</sup>Therefore thus says the Holy One of Israel: Because you have spurned this word and have trusted in oppression and crookedness and have relied on them, <sup>13</sup>therefore this iniquity shall be to you as a broken section ready to fall, bulging out from a high wall, whose crash shall come suddenly at any instant. <sup>14</sup>It shall be broken like the smashing of a potter's vessel smashed intentionally in pieces, so that among the fragments there shall not be found a piece with which to carry a coal of fire from the hearth or to dip water from a cistern. <sup>15</sup>For thus says the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel:<sup>f</sup> In conversion and rest you shall be saved; in quietness and confidence shall be your strength. Yet you would not, <sup>16</sup>but you answered, "No! we will flee upon horses"; therefore you shall flee — "upon the swift shall we flee"; therefore your pursuers shall be swift. <sup>17</sup>At the threat of one, a thousand of you and at the threat of five [all of you] shall flee, till you will be left like a flagstaff on the peak of a mountain, and as a beacon on a hill.

<sup>18</sup>Nevertheless the LORD longs to be gracious to you! Therefore He shall rise up to bestow mercy on you; for the LORD is a God of justice. Blessed are they who wait for Him.<sup>g</sup> <sup>19</sup>O people in Zion, who dwell in Jerusalem, you shall weep no more. He shall surely be gracious to you at the sound of your cry! He will answer you when He hears you. <sup>20</sup>Though the LORD gave you the bread of adversity and the water of affliction, yet your Teacher<sup>h</sup> will not hide Himself any more, for with your eyes you will see your Teacher.<sup>h</sup> <sup>21</sup>When you turn, whether to the right or to the left, your ears will hear a voice behind you, saying, "This is the way; walk in it!" <sup>22</sup>Then you will consider unclean your graven images overlaid with silver and your molten images plated with gold;<sup>i</sup> you will cast them aside as an unclean thing, and you will say to them, "Be gone!"

<sup>23</sup>He shall then give you rain for the seed with which you sow the soil, and food, the produce of the soil which is rich and plenteous; your cattle in that day will graze in large pastures. <sup>24</sup>The oxen and the donkeys that till the ground will feed on salted provender<sup>j</sup> winnowed with sieve and fan. <sup>25</sup>On every lofty mountain and on every high hill there will flow brooks, copious streams in the day of the great slaughter when the towers fall. <sup>26</sup>Then the light of the moon will be as the light of seven days, at the time the LORD binds up the fractures of His people and heals the severe wounds of His blow.

overflowing torrent shall reach the neck, to sift the nations with the sieve of destruction [and to place] on the jaws of the people a bridle that will mislead them.<sup>l</sup> <sup>29</sup>But you shall have a song as in the night consecrated for feasting; and you shall [have] gladness of heart as when men march with flutes to come to the mountain of the LORD, the Rock of Israel. <sup>30</sup>For the LORD will cause His powerful voice to be heard and will show His arm descending with furious anger, [with] a flame of devouring fire, a cloudburst, a tempest, and hailstones.<sup>m</sup> <sup>31</sup>The Assyrians will be terror-stricken at the voice of the LORD when He smites with the rod; <sup>32</sup>but every stroke of the rod of chastisement which the LORD lays upon them shall be accompanied by the timbrel and harp,<sup>n</sup> when, in battles, He assails them with a brandishing arm. <sup>33</sup>For Topheth<sup>o</sup> has already been prepared; yes, for the king it has been made ready, made deep and wide and piled high with fire and logs in abundance. The breath of the LORD, like a stream of brimstone, is setting it on fire.

31 ALAS FOR THOSE WHO GO DOWN to Egypt for help, who rely on horses and trust in chariots because they are many and in horsemen because they are powerful; but they do not look to the Holy One of Israel; they do not seek the LORD.<sup>p</sup> <sup>2</sup>Yet He who brings calamity is also wise, He shall not retract His words; He will arise against the house of evildoers and against the helpers of those who work iniquity. <sup>3</sup>The Egyptians are men and not God; their horses are flesh and not spirit. For, when the LORD stretches out His hand, he who helps falls and he who is helped stumbles; they shall all perish together.

the lion or the young lion growls over his prey and, though a full band of shepherds be called out against him, is neither terrified at their shouting nor daunted at their noise, so the LORD of hosts will come down to fight upon Mount Zion and upon His hill. <sup>5</sup>Like hovering birds, [so] will the LORD of hosts protect Jerusalem, protect and deliver it; [by] passing over,<sup>a</sup> He will preserve it.

32 BEHOLD! A KING SHALL REIGN in righteousness, and princes shall rule in justice;<sup>u</sup> <sup>2</sup>each of them shall be like a hiding-place from the wind and a shelter from the storm, like streams of water in a dry place, as the shade of a great rock in a weary land. <sup>3</sup>Then the eyes of those who see shall no more be blind, and the ears of those who hear will listen. <sup>4</sup>The heart of the heedless will understand knowledge, and the tongue of the stammerers will speak readily and distinctly. <sup>5</sup>No more will the fool<sup>v</sup> be called noble, nor the churl be considered liberal. <sup>6</sup>For the fool speaks folly, and his mind brings forth iniquity, to practice hypocrisy and to utter falsehood concerning the LORD, starving the soul of the hungry and taking away the drink of the thirsty. <sup>7</sup>The instruments of the churl are evil; he devises sinister plans in order to ruin the poor with lying words, even when the needy speaks justly.<sup>w</sup> <sup>8</sup>But a noble man plans noble things and he stands for what is noble.

<sup>9</sup>You careless women,<sup>x</sup> get up! Hear my voice; you irresponsible daughters, listen to my words. <sup>10</sup>In little more than a year you so at ease shall be shaken; for the vintage will fail and the ingathering will not come. <sup>11</sup>Tremble, you careless women, shudder, complacent ones; strip yourselves bare; gird sackcloth<sup>y</sup> upon your loins! <sup>12</sup>Beat your breasts in mourning for the pleasant fields, for the fruitful vines, <sup>13</sup>for the land of my people, where thornbushes and briars grow; yes, for the houses of mirth in the joyous city! <sup>14</sup>Because the palace hill and the watchtower<sup>z</sup> for all time will become caves, the joy<sup>a</sup> of wild donkeys, the pasture lands of flocks; <sup>15</sup>until the Spirit<sup>b</sup> is poured upon us from on high and the wild desert becomes a fruitful field and the fruitful field is thought to be a forest. <sup>16</sup>Then justice will dwell in the desert, and righteousness will abide in the fruitful field; <sup>17</sup>and the fruit of justice will be peace and the effect of righteousness rest and security forever. <sup>18</sup>My people will live in a habitation of peace, in secure dwellings and quiet resting places <sup>19</sup>even when hail falls, felling the forest, and the city is utterly brought down. <sup>20</sup>Blessed are you, who sow beside all waters, sending forth the feet of your ox and donkey.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>5</sup>The LORD is exalted; He dwells on high; He has filled Zion with justice and righteousness. <sup>6</sup>The stability of your times will be a wealth of deliverances, wisdom, and knowledge; the reverence of the LORD is his treasure.

Who among us can live with devouring fire? Who among us can dwell with everlasting flames? <sup>15</sup>He who walks righteously and speaks uprightly; who scorns gain won by oppression, who shakes his hands<sup>j</sup> refusing bribes, who stops his ears, refusing bloodshed, and shuts his eyes, refusing to look [favorably] on evil. <sup>16</sup>He will dwell on the heights; his resort for safety will be the fortresses of rocks; his bread will be provided him; his water will be sure.<sup>k</sup> <sup>17</sup>Your eyes will see the King<sup>l</sup> in His beauty; they will behold a land that stretches far. <sup>18</sup>Your heart will meditate on the terrors: "Where is the scribe? Where is the weigher? Where is he who counted the towers?"<sup>m</sup> <sup>19</sup>No longer will you see a determined, fierce people, a people of an obscure speech, and of an unintelligible, barbarous language.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>20</sup>Observe Zion, the city of our festivals. Your eyes shall see Jerusalem, a quiet habitation; a tent, immovable,<sup>o</sup> whose pegs will never be plucked up nor any of its cords be broken. <sup>21</sup>But there the LORD will be with us in majesty; in a place of rivers and broad streams on which no oar-propelled boats will go nor mighty ships pass. <sup>22</sup>For the LORD is our judge, the LORD is our lawgiver, the LORD is our King; He will save us. <sup>23</sup>The tacklings hang loose; they cannot hold the mast firmly in its socket, nor keep the sail spread out.<sup>p</sup> Then the abundant loot will be divided; even the lame will carry off plunder. <sup>24</sup>No resident there will say, "I am sick," for the people living there will have had their sins forgiven.<sup>q</sup>

34 DRAW NEAR, O NATIONS, TO hear, and listen, you peoples! Let the whole earth and its fulness hear,<sup>r</sup> the world and all its offspring. <sup>2</sup>For the LORD's anger is against all the nations and [His] indignation against all their hosts; He has doomed them and has given them over for slaughter. <sup>3</sup>Their slain shall be cast out; the stench of their corpses shall

Behold, your God will come with retribution, with the recompense of God. He shall come and save you." <sup>5</sup>Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened, and the ears of the deaf unstopped. <sup>6</sup>Then shall the lame man leap like a deer, and the tongue of the dumb shall sing, because waters shall break forth in the wilderness and streams in the desert. <sup>7</sup>The scorching sand shall become a pool and the thirsty ground springs of water; in the haunt of jackals, where they lay, shall be grass with reeds and rushes. <sup>8</sup>A highway shall be there, yes, a way; it shall be called the Holy Way.<sup>d</sup> The unclean shall not pass over it; it shall be for them alone;<sup>e</sup> travellers and

<sup>4</sup>The field marshal said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria: What confidence is this in which you trust? <sup>5</sup>I say, is a mere word of the lips enough counsel and strength for war? On whom do you now rely, that you dare to rebel against me? <sup>6</sup>Look, you are relying upon the support of Egypt, a broken reed, which will only enter into and pierce the hand of any man who leans on it. So is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who rely on him. <sup>7</sup>But if you say to me, 'We trust in the LORD our God,' is He not the God whose high places and altars Hezekiah has removed and who has said to Judah and Jerusalem, 'Before this altar you must worship?'<sup>m</sup> <sup>8</sup>Come now, make a bargain with my master, the king of Assyria, and I will give you 2,000 horses, provided you can set riders on them. <sup>9</sup>How can you repulse the attack of a single captain, the least of my master's officers, and rely on Egypt for chariots and horsemen? <sup>10</sup>Is it without the LORD's approval, that I have come up against this land to destroy it? The LORD said to me: Go up against this land and destroy it.'<sup>n</sup>

<sup>11</sup>At this, Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah said to the field marshal, "Please, speak to your servants in Aramaic,<sup>o</sup> for we understand it; do not speak in the Jews' language with the people listening upon the wall." <sup>12</sup>But the field marshal replied, "Was it to you and your master<sup>p</sup> only that my master sent me to speak these words, and not to the men sitting on the wall, who are to eat their own dung and drink their own urine with you?" <sup>13</sup>Then the field marshal stood up and shouted with a loud voice in the Jews' language: "Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria, <sup>14</sup>Thus the king says to you: 'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you; for he will not be able to deliver you. <sup>15</sup>And do not let Hezekiah cause you to trust in the LORD by saying, 'The LORD will surely deliver us; this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.'"

<sup>16</sup>"Do not listen to Hezekiah; for thus says the king of Assyria: Make your peace with me and come out to me; then every one of you will eat of his own vine and fig tree, and every one of you will drink the water of his own cistern; <sup>17</sup>until I come<sup>q</sup> back and take you to a land like your own, a land of grain and wine, a land of bread and vineyards. <sup>18</sup>Beware lest Hezekiah beguile you by saying, 'The LORD will deliver us.' Where are the gods of Sepharvaim?<sup>r</sup> Have they delivered Samaria out of my hand? <sup>20</sup>Who among all the gods of these lands ever delivered their land from my hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem from my hand?" <sup>21</sup>But they were silent and answered him not a word; for the king's command was, "Do not answer him."

<sup>22</sup>Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was the steward of the [king's] household, and Shebna the secretary, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent and told him the words of the field marshal.

37 SO IT WAS THAT WHEN KING Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, put on sackcloth, and went into the house of the LORD. <sup>2</sup>He also sent Eliakim, who was over the household, and Shebna the secretary, and the senior priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah<sup>s</sup> the prophet, the son of Amoz. <sup>3</sup>They said to him, "Thus says Hezekiah: 'This day is a day of anguish, of rebuke and of disgrace; children have come to the birth,<sup>t</sup> and there is no strength to bring forth. <sup>4</sup>It may be that the LORD your God will hear the words of the field marshal, whom his master, the king of Assyria, has sent to insult the living God, and will rebuke the words which the LORD your God has heard; therefore lift up a prayer for the remnant that is left!'" <sup>u</sup><sup>5</sup>So the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah, <sup>6</sup>and Isaiah said to them, "In this manner you shall report to your master, 'Thus says the LORD: Be not afraid because of the words which you have heard, with which the household attendants<sup>v</sup> of the king of Assyria have blasphemed Me. <sup>7</sup>See, I will send a spirit in him, and he shall hear a rumor, so that he will return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land!'"

<sup>8</sup>So the field marshal returned and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah; for he had heard that he had departed from Lachish. <sup>9</sup>Now [the king] had heard a report that Tirhakah the king of Ethiopia had come to fight against him. When he heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, <sup>10</sup>"Thus shall you say to Hezekiah king of Judah: 'Do not let your god, in whom you trust, deceive you, promising that Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria. <sup>11</sup>See, you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all other lands, destroying them utterly, and are you to escape? <sup>12</sup>Have the gods of the nations, which my fathers destroyed, delivered them, Gozen, Haran, Rezeph, or the Edenites who were in Telassar? <sup>13</sup>Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, or the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Hena, or of Ivvah?'" <sup>w</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the messengers, read it, went up to the house of the LORD, and Hezekiah spread it before the LORD. <sup>15</sup>Hezekiah then prayed to the LORD: <sup>16</sup>"O LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, who art enthroned above the cherubim,<sup>x</sup> Thou art the God, Thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; Thou hast made the heavens and the earth. <sup>17</sup>Incline Thine ear, O LORD, and hear; open Thine eyes, O LORD, see and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which he has sent to mock the living God. <sup>18</sup>Of a truth, LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste<sup>y</sup> all the nations and their lands <sup>19</sup>and have cast their gods into the fire; for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands—wood and stone; therefore they destroyed them. <sup>20</sup>So now, O

LORD, our God, save us from his hand that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that Thou, LORD, art God alone."

<sup>21</sup>Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying,<sup>22</sup> "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Because you have prayed to Me concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria, <sup>22</sup>this is the word which the LORD has spoken concerning him: The virgin daughter of Zion despises you and laughs you to scorn; the daughter of Jerusalem wags her head<sup>a</sup> behind you. <sup>23</sup>Whom have you reproached and blasphemed? Against whom have you raised your voice and lifted up your eyes? Against the Holy One of Israel! <sup>24</sup>By your messengers you have insulted the Lord<sup>b</sup> and have boasted, With the multitude of my chariots, I have scaled high mountains and the recesses of Lebanon; I have felled its tallest cedars and its choicest fir trees; I reached its extreme height, its luxurious forest.<sup>c</sup> <sup>25</sup>I dug and drank water, and with the soles of my feet I have dried up all the streams of Egypt.

<sup>26</sup>Have you not heard how I have done it long ago, having planned it in ancient times? Now I have brought it to pass, that you should lay waste fenced cities into ruinous heaps. <sup>27</sup>Their residents, shorn of their strength,<sup>d</sup> grew dismayed and confounded. They became like grass of the field, like tender green plants, like the grass upon the housetops, like a cornfield [blasted] before it is full grown. <sup>28</sup>I know your sitting down, your going out and your coming in, also your raging against Me. <sup>29</sup>Because of your raging against Me, and because your arrogance has come to My ears, I will put My hook in your nose and My bridle in your lips,<sup>e</sup> and I will drive you back, to return by the way you came.

<sup>30</sup>"And this shall be a sign<sup>f</sup> to you: This year you will eat what grows of itself and next year likewise what springs from the same; but in the third year you may sow and reap and plant vineyards and eat their fruit. <sup>31</sup>And the surviving remnant of the house of Judah shall again strike root downward and bear fruit upward. <sup>32</sup>For a remnant shall go forth from Jerusalem and the escapees from Mount Zion; the zeal of the LORD of hosts shall accomplish this. <sup>33</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria: He shall neither enter this city nor shoot an arrow there; neither shall he approach it under shield nor cast up a mound before it. <sup>34</sup>By the way that he came, by the same shall he return; he shall not enter the city, says the LORD; <sup>35</sup>for I will defend this city and save it, for My own sake and for the sake of My servant David."

<sup>36</sup>Then the Angel of the LORD went forth and smote in the camp of the Assyrians 185,000; and when men rose in the morning, look, these were all dead!<sup>g</sup> <sup>37</sup>So Sennacherib king of Assyria broke camp, went back, and lived at Nineveh. <sup>38</sup>And so it was that as he was worshiping in the house of Nisroch, his god, Adrammelech and Sharezer, his sons, slew him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of Ararat. After that, Esarhaddon his son reigned in his stead.<sup>h</sup>

38 IN THOSE DAYS HEZEKIAH FELL ill to the point of death. Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, came to him and said to him, "Thus says the LORD: Set your house in order, for you shall die and not live on." <sup>2</sup>Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, <sup>3</sup>"Remember now, I beseech Thee, O LORD, how I have walked before Thee in truth and in sincerity of heart and have done what is good in Thy sight." And Hezekiah wept bitterly. <sup>4</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to Isaiah, saying: <sup>5</sup>Go and say to Hezekiah, Thus says the LORD, the God of David your father: I have heard your prayer, and I have seen your tears. See! I will add fifteen years to your life. <sup>6</sup>Also I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria; I will defend this city. <sup>7</sup>And this will be the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do this thing which He has promised: <sup>8</sup>Behold, I will turn back the shadow ten degrees on the dial of Ahaz, on which the sun has gone down,<sup>i</sup> And the sun returned ten of the degrees it had gone down.

<sup>21</sup>Now Isaiah had said, "Let them take a cake of figs and apply it to the eruption that he may recover." <sup>22</sup>Hezekiah had also said, "What is the sign that I shall again go up to the house of the LORD?"

39 AT THAT TIME MERODACH-BALADAN the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah, for he had heard that Hezekiah had been ill and had recovered.<sup>q</sup> <sup>2</sup>Hezekiah was pleased with their visit and showed to them his treasure house, his silver and gold, the spices and fine oil, his whole armory, all that was found among his treasures; there was nothing in his house or in all his kingdom that Hezekiah did not show them. <sup>3</sup>Then Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah and asked him, "What did these men say and where did they come from?" Hezekiah replied, "They came from the far-away country of Babylon." <sup>4</sup>[Isaiah] said, "And what did they see in your house?" Hezekiah answered, "They

Before Me no God was formed, nor shall there be after Me.<sup>a</sup> <sup>11</sup>I, even I, am the LORD, and beside Me there is no savior. <sup>12</sup>I have spoken and I have saved; I have made known, and there is no strange god among you; you are My witnesses, says the LORD, <sup>13</sup>and I am your God. From all time I am He; no one shall wrest you out of My hand; I shall perform and who shall undo it?

<sup>14</sup>Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: For your sake I have sent [one] to Babylon and have brought down as fugitives all the Chaldeans into the ships, over which they rejoiced. <sup>15</sup>I am the LORD, your Holy One, the Creator of Israel, your King. <sup>16</sup>Thus says the LORD, the One who made a way in the sea, a path amid its mighty waters,<sup>b</sup> <sup>17</sup>who led forth chariot and horse, the army and power; together they lie down, they cannot rise, they are extinguished, snuffed out as a wick. <sup>18</sup>But do not recall former events, nor consider longer the things of the past. <sup>19</sup>Behold, I do a new thing; now it is springing forth; do you not recognize it?<sup>c</sup> In the desert I surely will make a way, rivers also in arid wastes. <sup>20</sup>The beasts of the field will honor Me, the jackals and the ostriches, because I provide waters in the desert and streams in the arid wastes to give drink to My chosen people, <sup>21</sup>this people whom I fashioned for Myself that they might set forth My praise.

<sup>22</sup>Jacob, you have not called upon Me, for you, Israel, became weary of Me; <sup>23</sup>you have not brought Me sheep for a burnt offering or honored Me with your sacrifices; I have not forced you to serve with offerings or exacted incense from you. <sup>24</sup>You have neither brought Me sweet cane with money, nor satisfied Me with fat sacrifices; but you have burdened Me with your sins and wearied Me with your iniquities.

<sup>25</sup>It is I, I who blot out your transgressions for My own sake, and I will remember your sins no more.<sup>d</sup> <sup>26</sup>Remind Me;<sup>e</sup> let us judge together; state [your case] that you may be vindicated. <sup>27</sup>Your first father sinned, and your interpreters rebelled against Me. <sup>28</sup>Therefore I have profaned the chief ones of the sanctuary; I have delivered up Jacob to a curse and Israel to reviling.

44 BUT NOW<sup>f</sup> HEAR, O JACOB MY servant, Israel whom I have chosen. <sup>2</sup>Thus says the LORD, your Maker, who formed you from the womb and who will help you: Be not afraid, Jacob My servant, the upright,<sup>g</sup> whom I have chosen. <sup>3</sup>I will pour water upon the thirsty and streams upon the dry; I will pour out My Spirit upon your seed and My blessing upon your offspring; <sup>4</sup>they will spring up in the midst of grass<sup>h</sup> like willows by running streams. <sup>5</sup>One will confess, "I am the LORD's," and another will call himself by the name of Jacob; still another shall inscribe upon his hand, "unto the LORD," and entitle himself with the name Israel.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Thus says the LORD, the King of Israel and his Redeemer, the LORD of hosts: I am the first and I am the last; besides Me there is no God. <sup>7</sup>Who is like Me? Let him call it out, declare it and state [his proofs] before Me, for I directed the ancient people and future events. And that which is to take place let them make known. <sup>8</sup>Fear not, be not afraid! Have I not foretold it and long ago announced it? You are My witnesses; is there a god beside me? There is no other Rock; I know of none!

<sup>9</sup>All the carvers of images are confused, for their precious productions are worthless; they themselves witness that they neither see nor know anything, so that they are put to shame. <sup>10</sup>Who formed a god and cast an image that is utterly useless? <sup>11</sup>See, all its associates shall be put to shame. Their makers are but human beings. Should they assemble together and take their stand, they would fear and be disconcerted together. <sup>12</sup>The worker with an iron tool<sup>j</sup> worked it<sup>k</sup> in the coals and shaped it with hammers, working with a strong arm; yes, he became hungry and his strength was exhausted; he drank no water and was faint. <sup>13</sup>The wood-carver stretched a line and marked it with a pencil; he shaped it with chisels; then with the compass he marked it out and made it after the figure of a man, according to the beauty of the human [body], so that it inhabited a house.<sup>l</sup> <sup>14</sup>A man cut down a cedar for himself and took a cypress tree, or an oak, and raised it for himself among the trees of the forest; he planted a pine tree and rain made it grow. <sup>15</sup>This shall be to men for fuel. A part of it he took and warmed himself; yes, he kindled a fire and baked bread; and surely he made a god<sup>m</sup> and fell prostrate before it; he fashioned it into an idol and bowed down to it. <sup>16</sup>Part of it he burned in the fire; with that part of it he ate flesh, he roasted flesh and was satisfied; he also warmed himself and said, "Aha, I am warm, I have seen the fire!" <sup>17</sup>The rest of it he made into a god, an idol; he bowed down to it and worshiped it and prayed to it, saying, "Deliver me, for thou art my god!"

<sup>18</sup>They are ignorant, they will not understand; their eyes are besmeared so that they cannot see, and their hearts, so that they cannot understand. <sup>19</sup>Not one considers in his heart; there is neither knowledge nor understanding to say, "Part of it I burned in the fire, yes, I baked bread upon its coals, I roasted flesh and ate it; and shall I make the remainder of it an abomination? Shall I cast myself down to the log of wood?" <sup>20</sup>He feeds on ashes; his heart is deceived, and it has led him astray; he cannot save himself, nor will he ask, "Is there not a lie in my right hand?"<sup>n</sup>

<sup>21</sup>Remember this, Jacob, for you, Israel, are My servant! I formed you, you are My servant; Israel, you will not be forgotten by Me. <sup>22</sup>I have caused your transgressions to vanish like a cloud and your sins as a fog; return to Me, for I have redeemed you.<sup>o</sup> <sup>23</sup>Sing, O heavens, for the LORD has done it; shout, O you depths of the earth; break forth, O you mountains, into song; the forests also and every tree in it! For the LORD has redeemed Jacob and has glorified Himself in Israel.

<sup>24</sup>Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer, He who formed you from the womb: I am the LORD, the Maker of all things, I alone stretched out the heavens and founded the earth by Myself; <sup>25</sup>I am He who confounds the omens of soothsayers, makes diviners mad, refutes the sages showing that their wisdom is folly, <sup>26</sup>who confirms the words of His servants, and fulfills the counsel of His messengers. It is I who say to Jerusalem, Be inhabited and to the cities of Judah, They shall be rebuilt, and I will raise her ruins. <sup>27</sup>I am the One saying to the deep, Be dry, I will dry up your rivers; <sup>28</sup>I am He who says to Cyrus: He is My shepherd, and he shall fulfil all My pleasure; and of Jerusalem, She shall be rebuilt, and of the temple, I will restore your foundations.

fore him, and I will loose the loins of kings,<sup>q</sup> to open double doors before him and the gates shall not be closed. <sup>2</sup>I Myself will go before you<sup>r</sup> and make smooth the rough places. I will shatter the doors of brass and cut apart the bars of iron.<sup>s</sup> <sup>3</sup>I will give you the treasures of darkness and hoarded wealth of secret places that you may know that I am the LORD, and that I, who have called you by name, am the God of Israel. <sup>4</sup>For the sake of My servant Jacob and of Israel, My chosen one, I have called you by name; I have given you a title though you do not know Me. <sup>5</sup>I am the LORD; there is no other; beside Me there is no God. I will gird you, though you do not know Me, <sup>6</sup>so that all may know, from the rising of the sun to its setting, that beside Me there is none; I am the LORD, and there is no other. <sup>7</sup>I form the light and create darkness; I make peace and create calamity; I am the LORD who does all these things. <sup>8</sup>Pour down, O heavens from above, and let the skies rain righteousness; let the earth open and salvation spring forth<sup>t</sup> and righteousness sprout together with it. I the LORD have created it.

<sup>9</sup>Alas for him who strives with his Maker, an earthen vessel from [among] vessels of earth! Shall the clay ask him who fashions it, "What are you making?" or [say], "Your workmanship has no hands"? <sup>10</sup>Alas for him who says to [his] father, "What would you beget?" or to a woman, "What would you travail for?" <sup>11</sup>Thus says the LORD, the Holy One of Israel, his Maker: Would you question Me about the things to come concerning My children? Would you command Me concerning the work of My hands? <sup>12</sup>I made the earth and created man upon it; I with My hand stretched out the heavens and appointed their starry host. <sup>13</sup>I raised him up in righteousness<sup>u</sup> and will make plain all his ways. He shall rebuild My city

<sup>14</sup>Thus says the LORD: The resources of Egypt, the merchandise of Ethiopia, and the Sabeans, men of great stature, shall come toward you and belong to you; they shall come after you; in chains shall they come and bow down before you and plead with you because with you alone is God, and there is no other. <sup>15</sup>Truly Thou art a God who hidest Thyself,<sup>v</sup> God of Israel, Savior! <sup>16</sup>All the makers of idols are together ashamed and disgraced and are gone away in confusion. <sup>17</sup>But Israel shall be saved by the LORD with an everlasting salvation; you shall never be ashamed or disgraced for ever and ever.

<sup>18</sup>For thus says the LORD, who created the heavens; He is the God who formed the earth, fashioned it, and firmly fixed it; He created it not in vain, but made it for habitation: I am the LORD, and there is no other. <sup>19</sup>I have not spoken in secret or in dark corners of the earth, nor have I ever said to the descendants of Jacob, Seek Me in vain. I, the LORD, speak the truth and declare what is right.

<sup>20</sup>Assemble now, approach, and come near unitedly, you escapees of the nations! No knowledge have they who carry their carved idols of wood and pray to gods that cannot save. <sup>21</sup>Declare them, bring them,<sup>x</sup> yes, take counsel together. Who announced this long ago and since declared it? Was it not I, the LORD? There is no other God beside Me. I am a righteous and rescuing God; there is no God apart from Me! <sup>22</sup>Look to Me and be saved, all the ends of the earth; for I am God, and there is no other. <sup>23</sup>By Myself I have sworn: The word of truth has gone forth from My mouth, and it shall not return; therefore to Me every knee shall bow and every tongue shall swear. <sup>24</sup>Surely, one shall say, in the carry out His pleasure on Babylon, and His arm shall be raised against the Chaldeans. <sup>15</sup>I, even I, have foretold it; yes, I called him<sup>u</sup> and brought him and prospered his way. <sup>16</sup>Draw near to Me and listen to this: from the first I have not spoken in secret; at the time it comes to pass I will be there. For God the Lord has sent Me<sup>v</sup> and His Spirit.

<sup>17</sup>Thus says the LORD, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: I am the LORD your God, who teaches you for your profit, who leads you in the way you should go. <sup>18</sup>Oh! that you had listened to My commandments; then your peace would be like a river and your righteousness like the waves of the sea.<sup>w</sup> <sup>19</sup>Your descendants would be like the sand, and like its grains so would be the offspring of your body; their name would not be cut off nor destroyed from before Me.<sup>x</sup>

Water for them He made to flow from the rock; He split the rock and water came gushing forth.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>22</sup>There is no peace, says the LORD, for the wicked.

49 LISTEN TO ME, YOU ISLANDS, and pay attention, you peoples from afar! The LORD called me from my birth, from the body of my mother He has caused my name to be remembered. <sup>2</sup>He made my mouth like a sharp sword and in the shadow of His hand He hid me; He made me a polished arrow, and in His quiver He concealed me. <sup>3</sup>He said to me, You are My servant, Israel, in whom I will be glorified. <sup>4</sup>But I said, "I have labored in vain, I have spent my strength for nothing; nevertheless surely my right is at the LORD's disposal and my recompense rests with God."

<sup>5</sup>But now the LORD, who formed me from my birth to be His servant, to bring Jacob back to Him and that Israel might be gathered for Him—for I am honorable in the LORD's eyes and my God is my strength—<sup>6</sup>He says: It is too light a thing that you should be My servant, to raise up the tribes of Jacob and to restore the preserved of Israel; I will make you a light to the nations that My salvation may reach to the end of the earth.<sup>z</sup> <sup>7</sup>Thus says the LORD, the Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel, to the one despised by men, abhorred by the nation and the servant of rulers: Kings shall see and stand up; princes also shall pay homage; because of the LORD, who is faithful, the Holy One of Israel, who has chosen you.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>8</sup>Thus says the LORD: In a favorable time I have answered you, and in a day of salvation I have helped you; I will protect you and make you a covenantal pledge to the people to re-establish the land and cause to re-inherit the desolate possessions;<sup>b</sup> <sup>9</sup>to say to the prisoners, "Come out," and to those in darkness, "Show yourselves." will show mercy to His afflicted ones.

<sup>14</sup>But Zion says, "The LORD has forsaken me; the Lord has forgotten me!"

<sup>15</sup>Can a woman forget her nursing child that she should not have compassion on the son of her womb? Yes, they may forget, but I, I will never forget you. <sup>16</sup>Behold, I have graven you upon the palms of My hands. Your walls are continually before Me. <sup>17</sup>Your builders have caused your destroyers to hasten away, and your devastators are departing from you. <sup>18</sup>Lift up your eyes, look round about and see! They all are gathering to come to you.<sup>e</sup> As I live, says the LORD, you shall surely adorn yourself with them all as ornaments and fasten them on like a bride.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>19</sup>Then your ruined and desolate places, yes, your devastated land will become too narrow for your inhabitants. Those who swallowed you up will be far away. <sup>20</sup>Also the children of which you were bereft shall say in your ears, "This place is too narrow for us; give us room to live." <sup>21</sup>And you will say to yourself, "Who has produced these for me? I was bereaved and childless, exiled and wandering, but these, who has brought them up? See, I was left alone, whence have these come?"

out a gleam of light, he will trust in the name of the LORD and rely on his God. <sup>11</sup>Look, all you who kindle the fire and set off the sparks<sup>n</sup> — walk in the light of your fire and amid the sparks you have lit. This comes to you from My hand;<sup>o</sup> you shall lie down in torment.

51 LISTEN TO ME, YOU WHO FOLLOW after righteousness,<sup>p</sup> you who seek the LORD; look to the rock from which you were hewn and to the quarry from which you have been dug. <sup>2</sup>Look to Abraham your father and to Sarah who bore you! For when he was but one I did call him; I blessed him and multiplied him. <sup>3</sup>Thus the LORD comforts Zion; He comforts all her piled-up ruins. Her wilderness He shall make like Eden and her desert portions like the garden of the LORD. Joy and gladness shall abound in her, thanksgiving too and melodious song.

<sup>4</sup>Attend to Me, My people, and give ear to Me, My nation; for a law<sup>q</sup> shall issue forth from Me, and My justice<sup>r</sup> will I set for a light to the peoples. <sup>5</sup>My victory is near; My salvation is gone forth; My arms shall judge the people; the islands shall wait for Me, and in Me shall they put their trust. <sup>6</sup>Lift up your eyes to the heavens; then look to the earth below! The skies shall vanish like smoke, and the earth shall wear out like a garment; its dwellers shall die in swarms; but My salvation shall abide forever, and My victory<sup>s</sup> shall never be annulled.

<sup>7</sup>Listen to Me, you who know what is right, you people in whose heart is My instruction. Fear not the reproaches of man nor be dismayed by their revilings. <sup>8</sup>For the moth shall devour them like a garment, and the worm shall consume them as wool; but My victory shall be forever and My salvation to all generations.

<sup>9</sup>Awake, awake, put on strength, arm of the LORD! Bestir Thyself as in the days of old, times long past! Was it not Thou who didst hew Egypt in pieces and who pierced the dragon?<sup>t</sup> <sup>10</sup>Was it not Thou, who didst dry up the sea, the waters of the mighty deep, who madest the depths of that sea a road for the redeemed to pass over?<sup>u</sup> <sup>11</sup>So the ransomed of the LORD shall return and come to Zion with singing and with everlasting joy upon their heads. They shall obtain joy and gladness, but sorrow and sighing shall flee away.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>12</sup>I, I am He who comforts you; who are you that you should fear mortal man, or the son of man who shall be made like the grass? <sup>13</sup>Should you forget the LORD, your Maker, who stretched out the heavens and laid the foundations of the earth, so that you are every day continually filled with terror because of the wrath of the oppressor when he is out to destroy? Where, now, is the wrath of the oppressor? <sup>14</sup>The captured ones shall speedily be set free; he shall not die or go down to the pit of death, nor shall he lack bread. <sup>15</sup>For I am the LORD your God, who stirs up the sea that its billows roar; the LORD of hosts is His name. <sup>16</sup>I have put My words in your mouth and have covered you in the shadow of My hand, stretching out the heavens, founding the earth, and saying to Zion, You are My people!<sup>w</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Awaken! Rouse yourself, rise up, Jerusalem! You have had to drink from the LORD's hand His cup of indignation, the cup that causes you to stagger,<sup>x</sup> and you have drained it to the dregs.<sup>y</sup> <sup>18</sup>There is not one to lead you of all the sons she has borne; neither is there one of all the sons she nourished that takes her by the hand.<sup>z</sup> <sup>19</sup>These two things have overtaken you — but who can be sorry for you? — desolation and destruction, starvation

n) Fire and sparks of sin, apostasy.

and slaughter. Whom can I use to comfort you? <sup>20</sup>Your sons are lying helpless at the head of every street like antelopes entrapped in nets; they are full of the LORD's fury, the rebuke of your God.

<sup>21</sup>Therefore hear this, you afflicted ones, who are drunk but not with wine.<sup>a</sup> <sup>22</sup>Thus says the LORD, the LORD, your God, who pleads the cause of His people: See, I have removed from your hand the cup that causes you to stagger, even the cup you drained to the dregs, and you shall not continue to drink of it. <sup>23</sup>But I will place it in the hand of your oppressors, those who said to you, "Bow down, that we may pass over you"; and you made your back as the earth and as a street to them who passed over.

52 AWAKE, AWAKE, PUT ON YOUR strength, O Zion; put on your glorious apparel, Jerusalem, the holy city; for there shall no more come into you the uncircumcised and unclean. <sup>2</sup>Shake off the dust, stand erect, then sit down, Jerusalem; free yourself from the bonds about your neck, captive daughter of Zion. <sup>3</sup>For thus says the LORD: You sold yourself for nothing, and without money you shall be redeemed. <sup>4</sup>For thus says the Lord God: My people went down long ago into Egypt to sojourn there; the Assyrians have oppressed them without cause.<sup>b</sup> <sup>5</sup>And now, what do I find? asks the LORD; that My people have been taken away for nothing? that their rulers complain and My name, says the LORD, is blasphemed all day continually; <sup>6</sup>therefore My people must learn My name; yes, on that day, they must learn that it is I who speaks; it is I!

<sup>7</sup>How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings good tidings, who publishes peace, who brings good tidings of well-being, who publishes salvation, who says to Zion, "Your God reigns!" <sup>8</sup>Listen! Your watchmen raise their voices,<sup>c</sup> together they sing for joy; for eye to eye they gaze at the return of the LORD to Zion. <sup>9</sup>Break forth joyously, sing together, you wasted ruins of Jerusalem, for the LORD has comforted His people; He has redeemed Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup>The LORD has bared His holy arm before the eyes of all the nations, and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God.

<sup>11</sup>Depart, depart, go out of there;<sup>d</sup> touch no unclean thing; go out from the midst of her; purify yourselves, you who bear the vessels of the LORD. <sup>12</sup>For not with haste will you go out, nor in flight will you depart, for the LORD goes before you, the God of Israel is your rear guard.

53 WHO HAS BELIEVED OUR MESSAGE<sup>i</sup> and to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed? <sup>2</sup>For He grew up before Him as a tender plant, like a root out of a dry ground, without form or comeliness, that we should have looked at Him; possessed of no beauty, so that we should be drawn toward Him. <sup>3</sup>He was despised and shunned by men,<sup>j</sup> a man of sufferings and acquainted with sickness; and we hid our faces at the sight of Him;<sup>k</sup> He was despised and we did not esteem Him.

<sup>4</sup>Surely He has borne our sicknesses and carried our sorrows; yet we regarded Him as a stricken one, smitten of God, and afflicted. <sup>5</sup>But He was pierced for our transgressions; He was bruised for our iniquities; the punishment which procured our peace fell upon Him, and with His stripes we are healed. <sup>6</sup>All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned each one to his own way; and the LORD has laid on Him the iniquity of us all.

<sup>7</sup>He was maltreated, and He submitted Himself;<sup>l</sup> He opened not His mouth; as a lamb that is led to the slaughter and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so He opened not His mouth. <sup>8</sup>From distress and from judgment He was taken, and who of His contemporaries would consider that He was cut off from the land of the living for the transgressions of my covenant people to whom the stroke was due?<sup>m</sup> <sup>9</sup>Men made His grave with the criminals, and He was with the rich in His death,<sup>n</sup> although He had done no violence, nor was there any deceit in His mouth.

<sup>10</sup>Yet it was the LORD's will to bruise Him; He put Him to grief. When His soul shall constitute an offering for sin, He shall see His followers, He shall prolong His days,<sup>o</sup> by His hand shall the LORD's will advance. <sup>11</sup>The results of the sufferings of His life He shall see — He shall be satisfied. By knowledge of Him shall My Righteous Servant make many righteous, for He shall bear their guilt. <sup>12</sup>Therefore I will give to Him His portion among the great, and with mighty ones shall He apportion gain. For He poured out His soul unto death and was numbered with the transgressors, while He bore sins of many and made intercession for transgressors.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Fear not, for you shall not be ashamed; be not confounded, for you shall not be made to blush; you shall forget the shame of your youth, and the reproach of your widowhood you shall remember no more. <sup>5</sup>For your true husband is your Maker, the LORD of hosts is His name, and the Holy One of Israel is your Redeemer; He shall be called the God of the whole earth. <sup>6</sup>For the LORD has called you when you were an outcast woman and grieved in spirit, and as a woman in youth who was rejected, says your God. <sup>7</sup>For a brief moment did I forsake you,<sup>s</sup> but with great compassion I will gather you. <sup>8</sup>In an outburst of indignation I hid My face from you for a moment, but with everlasting mercy I will have compassion on you, says the LORD, your Redeemer.

<sup>9</sup>For this is to Me as in the days of Noah: I swore that the waters of Noah should never again submerge the earth, so have I sworn not to be angry with you again or to rebuke you. <sup>10</sup>For though the mountains should move and the hills should shake, My loving-kindness shall never depart from you nor the covenant of My peace be withdrawn, says the LORD, who has compassion upon you.

<sup>11</sup>Wretched one, storm-tossed, and disconsolate, see! I will lay your stones

l) The Father's will is also the will of the suffering Son.

m) The Servant's sufferings were for all mankind and for all time.

n) Jesus was with criminals on crosses, and His body was laid in Joseph's tomb.

o) Though dead, He continues to live.

p) This fourth "Servant" song has been rightly interpreted by the Church as fulfilled in Jesus Christ.

q) We hear no more of the "Servant," but of "the servants" of the LORD [54:17; 56:6; 63:17; 65:8, 9, 13-15; 66:14; cf. 61:1-3].

r) The vision of the LORD's victorious "Servant" in Chap. 53 inspires the prophet with a rapturous picture of Jerusalem's glorious future [cf. Isa. 11:14].

s) "Brief," in comparison with the endless glory which shall follow; all their catastrophes are regarded as incidents.

in antimony<sup>t</sup> and will establish you upon sapphires. <sup>12</sup>I will make your pinnacles of agates, your gates of carbuncles, and your surrounding walls of precious gems. <sup>13</sup>All your sons shall be taught by the LORD, and great shall be the peace of your children. <sup>14</sup>In righteousness you shall be established; you shall be far from oppression, so be not afraid, and from terror, for it shall not come near you. <sup>15</sup>They who gather to attack you do so not by Me; he who stirs up strife with you shall fall before you. <sup>16</sup>Behold, it is I who created the smith who blows on the burning coals to produce a tool for his work, and I have created the devastator to destroy.<sup>u</sup> <sup>17</sup>No weapon that is formed against you shall prosper, and every tongue that rises against you in judgment you shall condemn. This is the heritage of the LORD's servants and their victory from Me, says the LORD.

55 PAUSE, EVERYONE WHO IS thirsty, come to the waters, and he who has no money, come, buy and eat; yes, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price.<sup>v</sup> <sup>2</sup>Why do you spend your money for what is not bread and your labor for what never satisfies? Listen carefully to Me, and eat what is good;<sup>w</sup> let your soul delight itself in abundance. <sup>3</sup>Incline your ear and come to Me; hear, and your soul<sup>x</sup> shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the unfailing mercies to David.<sup>y</sup> <sup>4</sup>Behold, I made Him a witness to the people, a leader and a commander of the nations. <sup>5</sup>Surely, you shall call a nation that you do not know, and peoples that did not know you shall run to you because of the LORD your God and for the Holy One of Israel, for He has glorified you.

and the unrighteous man his schemings; let him return to the LORD, and He will have mercy on him, to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. <sup>8</sup>For My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways My ways, says the LORD. <sup>9</sup>For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways and My thoughts than your thoughts. <sup>10</sup>For as the rain and the snow come down from heaven and do not return thither, but water the earth and make it bring forth and bud and so give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, <sup>11</sup>so shall My word be, which goes forth from My mouth; it shall not come back to Me uselessly, but it shall do what I purpose and accomplish what I commissioned it.

<sup>12</sup>For you shall go out with joy and be led forth in peace, the mountains and the hills breaking out in song before you and all the trees of the field clapping their hands. <sup>13</sup>Instead of the thorn shall come up the cypress; instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle; and they shall be to the LORD for His renown, for an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off.

56 THUS SAYS THE LORD: MAINTAIN justice and practice the right, for My salvation is close at hand and My victory is ready to be revealed. <sup>2</sup>Blessed is the man who observes this and the son of man who holds to it strictly, who observes the Sabbath, does not profane it, and restrains his hand from doing evil.<sup>z</sup> <sup>3</sup>Let not the stranger who has joined himself to the LORD say, "The LORD will surely separate me from His people"; neither let the eunuch say, "See, I am a dry tree." <sup>4</sup>For thus says the LORD: The eunuchs who keep My Sabbaths and choose things in which I delight and hold fast to My covenant, <sup>5</sup>to them I will give within My house and within My walls

a memorial<sup>a</sup> and a name better than sons and daughters; an endless name I will give them, one that shall not be cut off.

<sup>6</sup>Also the foreigners who join themselves to the LORD, to minister to Him, to love the name of the LORD, and to be His servants, every one who keeps the Sabbath and does not profane it, holding fast to My covenant — <sup>7</sup>them I will bring to My holy mountain, and I will make them joyful in My house of prayer. Their burnt offerings and their sacrifices will be accepted on My altar, for My house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples.<sup>b</sup> <sup>8</sup>Thus says the Lord God, who gathers the exiled of Israel, I will collect yet others unto them besides those already gathered.

<sup>9</sup>All you beasts of the field and you animals of the forest, come and devour. <sup>10</sup>His watchmen are blind; they do not know they are all dumb dogs that cannot bark, loving to lie down to dream and slumber. <sup>11</sup>As greedy dogs they never experience satisfaction; without exception, the shepherds themselves cannot make distinctions;<sup>c</sup> each in his own way seeks his own gain. <sup>12</sup>"Come," they say, "let us<sup>d</sup> fetch wine; let us guzzle strong drink, and let tomorrow be as today, only more so."

tongue? Are you not the children of sin, a disloyal brood? <sup>5</sup>You who inflame your passions under the oak and under every green tree, even slaughtering children in the valleys and in the clefts of the rocks? <sup>6</sup>Among the polished stones of the valley is your portion; they, yes, they are your lot; to them you pour out your libations and bring your meal offerings. Should I be appeased by such doings? <sup>7</sup>Upon a high and lofty mountain you have spread your [adulterous] bed, and thither you climbed to offer sacrifice. <sup>8</sup>Behind the door and the side post you have set up your symbol.<sup>g</sup> Deserting Me, you have uncovered your bed, have gone up on it, have widened it, and have bargained for those whose embraces you love and with whom you have multiplied your harlotries, gazing upon your symbol. <sup>9</sup>You have anointed yourselves for Molech<sup>h</sup> and have sent him presents of oil and perfume; you sent your envoys far off and abased yourselves to Sheol. <sup>10</sup>Thus you have wearied yourselves with your many wanderings; yet you never said, "It is hopeless." You found new strength, so you were not exhausted.

<sup>11</sup>Now whom did you dread and fear that you were so false; that you did not remember Me or give Me any thought? Was it not because I have so long kept silent that you have not revered me? <sup>12</sup>I will make known what your righteousness and your doings come to, and they will not benefit you. <sup>13</sup>When you cry out, let your idol-collection save you. The wind will carry them away; even a breath will take them off. But he who takes refuge in Me shall inherit the land and shall possess My holy mountain.

a) In Hebrew for "memorial" the word is yad, "hand." On ancient Phoenician and Punic stones the figure of a "hand" is often found, intended as a "memorial." To the prophet "the house of God" was more abiding than posterity.

struction from My people's way.<sup>k</sup> <sup>15</sup>For thus says the high and lofty One who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy: I dwell in the high and holy place; I also dwell with him who is lowly and contrite in spirit, to restore the spirit of the humble and to revive the heart of the contrite.<sup>l</sup> <sup>16</sup>For I will not contend forever, nor will I be angry forever; for the vital breath of men would fail before Me, the souls whom I created.<sup>m</sup> <sup>17</sup>Because of their sins of greed, I was indignant for a time and smote them and in anger hid My face; then they went astray according to their own desires. <sup>18</sup>I saw their doings, but I will now heal them and guide them, repaying them with comfort — those of them who are sorry. I create the product of the lips.<sup>n</sup> <sup>19</sup>Peace! peace! to those afar and to those near, says the LORD; and I will heal them. <sup>20</sup>But the wicked are like the troubled sea; it cannot rest and its waters cast up mire and dirt. <sup>21</sup>There is no peace, says my God, for the wicked.<sup>o</sup>

58 CRY ALOUD, SPARE NOT, LIFT up your voice like a trumpet; announce to My people their transgression and to the house of Jacob their sins.<sup>p</sup> <sup>2</sup>Yet they seek Me daily and delight to know My ways, as a nation that does what is right and has not forsaken the law of their God. They ask of Me about the righteous ordinances;<sup>q</sup> they delight to draw near to God. <sup>3</sup>They say, "Why have we fasted, and Thou seest it not? Why do we afflict ourselves, and Thou takest no notice of our humility?"

Because on your fast days you seek your own pleasure and oppress all your employees. <sup>4</sup>You fast for strife and contention; you strike with your wicked fist.<sup>r</sup> You are not fasting today so as to have your voice reach on high. <sup>5</sup>Can such a fast be the kind I choose — a man to bow down his head like a rush, to lie in sackcloth and ashes? Is that what you call fasting, or an acceptable day to the LORD?<sup>s</sup> <sup>6</sup>Is not this the fast I have chosen: to loosen the bonds of wickedness; to undo the bands of the yoke; to let the oppressed go free, and to break every yoke? <sup>7</sup>Is it not to share your bread with the hungry, and to take the outcast poor into your home; to clothe those you see unclad, and not to hide yourself from your own flesh?

<sup>8</sup>Then shall your light break forth like the dawn, and your healing shall follow speedily; your righteousness shall go before you, and the glory of the LORD shall follow you as your rear guard. <sup>9</sup>Then you will call and the LORD shall answer; you will cry and He shall say, Here am I. If you will banish from your midst all oppression, the finger of scorn and slanderous speech, <sup>10</sup>if you will open your heart to the hungry and satisfy the desire of the afflicted, then shall your light shine in the darkness, and your gloom shall become like noonday. <sup>11</sup>The LORD shall guide you continually and shall satisfy your soul in dry places; your strength shall be renewed, and you shall be like a well-watered garden, like a spring whose waters never disappoint.<sup>t</sup> <sup>12</sup>Your sons shall rebuild the ruins of former years and shall revive the foundations of old, and you shall be called the repairer of the breach, the restorer of streets in which to dwell.<sup>u</sup> joyment, in order that the LORD might be sacredly honored; and if you honor it by not doing your business, nor seeking your own pleasure, nor talking idle talk; <sup>14</sup>then you shall find your delight in the LORD, and I will make you ride on the highways of the earth; I will nourish you with the heritage of Jacob your father, for the mouth of the LORD has spoken it.<sup>w</sup>

59 BEHOLD, THE LORD'S HAND IS not too short to save,<sup>x</sup> nor His ear too dull to hear; but your sins have separated you and your God; <sup>2</sup>your iniquities have hidden His face from you, so that He could not hear you. <sup>3</sup>Your hands are tainted with blood<sup>y</sup> and your fingers with iniquity. Your lips spoke falsehood, and your tongue muttered injustice. <sup>4</sup>No one demanded justice nor did anyone plead for honesty; they trusted in confusion and spoke falsehood, conceived mischief and produced iniquity.<sup>z</sup> <sup>5</sup>They hatch the eggs of asps<sup>a</sup> and weave the spiders' webs. He who eats of their eggs dies; from a broken egg a viper is hatched. <sup>6</sup>Their webs shall not serve as clothing; they shall not cover themselves with their own handiwork. Their works are of wickedness; deeds of violence are in their hands; <sup>7</sup>their feet run to do evil; they make haste to shed innocent blood; their schemes are schemes of deceit; rapine and ruin are on their path. <sup>8</sup>The way of peace they do not know; justice is not in their tracks; they have twisted their ways before them; whoever walks in that way does not know peace.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Therefore justice is far from us, and righteousness does not overtake us. We wait for light, but look, darkness; for brightness, and we walk in gloom.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>10</sup>We grope like a blind man along a wall, we feel our way like one without eyes; we stumble at midday as in the night. In the prime of our life we resemble the dead. <sup>11</sup>All of us growl like bears and sadly moan like doves;<sup>d</sup> we wait for justice, but there is none; for deliverance, but it remains far from us. <sup>12</sup>For our transgressions are multiplied in Thy presence; our sins witness against us; truly, our transgressions are ever with us. In regard to our iniquities, we are conscious of them:<sup>e</sup> <sup>13</sup>rebellious against and denying the LORD; discontinuing from following after our God; talking oppression and revolt; conceiving and uttering from the heart words of falsehood. <sup>14</sup>Justice is turned back, and righteousness stands afar off; for truth has fallen in the street, and honesty is unable to enter. <sup>15</sup>Truth is so lacking, that if anyone turns from evil, he becomes a victim of plunder.

<sup>16</sup>The LORD saw it, and it displeased Him that there was no justice.<sup>f</sup> He saw that there was no man; He was amazed that there was none to interpose; then His own arm brought Him victory, and His righteousness sustained Him. <sup>17</sup>He put on righteousness as a coat of mail and salvation as a helmet upon His head; He dressed Himself in robes of vengeance for clothing, and He put on zeal<sup>g</sup> as a cloak.<sup>h</sup> <sup>18</sup>According to deeds shall He surely requite: wrath to His enemies, recompense to His adversaries; to the islands shall He render retribution. <sup>19</sup>So shall they revere the name of the LORD from the west and His glory from the rising of the sun; for He will come like a rushing stream, the breath of the LORD driving it. <sup>20</sup>He will come to Zion as her Redeemer and to those in Jacob who turn from sin, says the LORD.

e) Conscience troubled them.

f) Justice, honor, truth, and uprightness are personified in vss. 14-15; justice forced back, honor not to be found, truth stumbling in the market, and uprightness unable to enter! The scenes of this tragedy are the law courts. g) Divine jealousy.

h) Vss. 17-18 give the fullest description of the LORD as a warrior in the O.T. See also Ex. 15:3. Cf. with Eph. 6:14-17; 1 Thess. 5:8.

<sup>21</sup>And as for Me, this is My covenant with them, says the LORD: My Spirit which is upon you and My words which I have put in your mouth shall not depart from your mouth nor from the mouth of your children, nor from the mouth of your grandchildren, says the LORD, from now onward even forever.<sup>1</sup>

60 <sup>1</sup>ARISE, SHINE; FOR YOUR LIGHT has come, and the glory of the LORD has risen upon you! <sup>2</sup>For behold, darkness shall cover the earth and a dark cloud the nations; but the LORD shall arise over you, His glory shall be seen upon you. <sup>3</sup>Nations shall walk in your light and kings in your dawning radiance. <sup>4</sup>Lift up your eyes round about and see!<sup>k</sup> They all are assembling themselves and are coming to you; your sons are coming from afar, and your daughters are carried to you on the hip.<sup>1</sup> <sup>5</sup>Then you shall see and be radiant; your hearts will be filled with awe and swell [with joy]; because the riches of the sea shall be turned to you, and the wealth of nations shall come to you. <sup>6</sup>A stream of camels will come upon you; the dromedaries<sup>m</sup> of Midian and Ephah; all those from Sheba shall come, bringing gold and frankincense; they shall proclaim the fame of the LORD. <sup>7</sup>All the flocks of Kedar shall be gathered to you, the rams of the Nabaioth shall minister to you; they shall come up with acceptance upon My altar, and My glorious house shall be glorified.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>8</sup>Who are these that roll in like clouds, like doves flying to their dove-cote openings? <sup>9</sup>Surely, the islands must wait eagerly on Me. The vessels of Tarshish are among the first, bringing your sons from afar; their silver and gold is with them [to honor] the name of the LORD your God, the Holy One of Israel, because He has glorified you.

<sup>10</sup>The sons of strangers shall build up your walls, and their kings shall minister to you; for though in My wrath I smote you, yet in My favor<sup>o</sup> I will have mercy upon you. <sup>11</sup>Your gates shall be open continually; neither by day nor by night shall they be closed, that men may bring to you the wealth of the nations as their kings are led captive. <sup>12</sup>For the nation and the kingdom that will not serve you shall perish; those nations shall become utterly desolate. <sup>13</sup>The glory of Lebanon shall come to you—the cypress, the buttonwood, and the pine together—to adorn the place of My sanctuary, and the place of My feet I will make beautiful. <sup>14</sup>The sons of your oppressors, bending low, shall come to you; all those who once despised you shall crouch at your feet. Then they shall call you, “The city of the LORD, Zion, the Holy One of Israel.”<sup>p</sup> <sup>15</sup>Instead of you being forsaken and hated, with no one passing through you, I will make you an everlasting majesty, a joy for many generations. <sup>16</sup>You shall drink the milk of the nations and drain the wealth of kings; then you shall know that I am the LORD your Saviour and that your Redeemer is the Mighty One of Jacob. <sup>17</sup>Instead of brass I will bring gold, and instead of iron I will bring silver; instead of wood, bronze, instead of stones, iron, and I will make Peace your governor and Justice your ruler.<sup>q</sup> <sup>18</sup>Violence shall no more be heard in your land, neither desolation nor ruin within your borders. You shall call your walls Salvation and your city gates Thanksgiving. <sup>19</sup>No more shall the sun be your light by day nor the moon give light for brightness at night; but

i) Repeating the essential covenant promises first given to Abraham, then to all believers.

j) Ch. 53 announced the coming of the Redeemer to Zion; this chapter pictures Zion as redeemed and prosperous, exiles from distant lands crowding to share the wondrous light of God. To the eye of faith, it has come. k) i.e., look in all directions.

o) The Biblical idea of sovereign grace, undeserved favor, is indicated here.

q) Peace and Righteousness stand in sharp contrast to the violence and injustice.

the LORD shall be your everlasting light and your God your glory. <sup>20</sup>Your sun shall never set, and your moon shall never wane; for the LORD shall be your everlasting light; your days of mourning shall be ended. <sup>21</sup>Your people, everyone of them, shall be righteous, and they shall possess the land forever; they are a shoot which I have planted and the work of My hands, through whom I shall glorify Myself. <sup>22</sup>The least [among them] shall become a thousand and a small one shall become a strong nation; I, the LORD, will hasten it in its [proper] time.

61 THE SPIRIT OF THE LORD GOD is upon me;<sup>8</sup> for the LORD has anointed<sup>1</sup> me to preach good tidings to the humble;<sup>2</sup> He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted; to proclaim liberty to the captives and the opening of the prison to those who are bound; <sup>2</sup>to proclaim the year of the LORD's favor and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all who mourn; <sup>3</sup>to settle the mourners in Zion, giving them a laurel wreath instead of ashes, the oil of joy instead of mourning, the mantle of praise instead of the spirit of heaviness; so that they may be called oaks of righteousness planted by the LORD to glorify Himself.

<sup>4</sup>They shall rebuild the ancient ruins; they shall raise up the former devastations and renew the ruined cities, the devastations of many generations. <sup>5</sup>Aliens shall stand [ready] and feed your flocks, and the sons of foreigners shall be your plowmen and vinedressers. <sup>6</sup>As for you, you shall be called a priesthood<sup>7</sup> of the LORD; "servants of our God" shall be said of you. You shall partake of the wealth of the nations, and with their riches you shall become famous.<sup>8</sup> <sup>7</sup>Instead of your shame you shall have double [reward]; instead of reproach they shall rejoice in their portion; thus shall they possess a double inheritance in their land; they shall have everlasting joy. <sup>8</sup>For I the LORD love justice; I hate unjust plundering. I will faithfully give them their recompense, making an everlasting covenant with them. <sup>9</sup>Their descendants shall be known among the nations and their offspring in the midst of the people. All that see them shall recognize them as descendants whom the LORD has blessed.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>10</sup>I will greatly exult in the LORD, and my soul shall rejoice in my God;<sup>y</sup> for He has clothed me with robes of salvation, and He has covered me with a mantle of righteousness — as a bridegroom adjusts his priestlike crown and as a bride adorns herself with jewels. <sup>11</sup>For as the earth brings forth its shoots and as a garden makes its plants to grow, so the Lord God shall cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations.

62 <sup>1</sup>FOR ZION'S SAKE I WILL NOT keep silent, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, until her righteousness shines forth brightly and her salvation radiates as a lamp. <sup>2</sup>The nations shall behold your deliverance and all the kings your glory. You shall then be called by a new name which the mouth of the LORD shall bestow. <sup>3</sup>You shall be a crown of glory in the hand of the LORD and a royal diadem in the palm of your God. <sup>4</sup>No more shall you be termed "Forsaken," nor your land be called "Desolate"; but you shall be called "My delight is in her,"<sup>a</sup> and your land "Beulah";<sup>b</sup> for the LORD takes pleasure in you, and your land shall be married [to Him]. <sup>5</sup>For as a young man marries a virgin, so shall

r) The LORD's presence is symbolized as a supernatural light, superseding nature's ordinary light. Cf. 4:5; 24:23; 30:26; Rev. 21:23; not that the sun and the moon shall cease to exist, but that the new Jerusalem shall then realize her dependence on God.

s) The speaker in chaps. 61 and 62 is the Great Deliverer; the prophet is His mouthpiece.

your sons wed you; and as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride, so shall your God rejoice over you.

<sup>6</sup>Upon your walls, O Jerusalem, I have set watchmen<sup>c</sup> who shall not be silent any day or night; and you who put the LORD in remembrance shall take no rest <sup>7</sup>and give Him no rest until He establishes [you] and sets up Jerusalem for a praise in the earth. <sup>8</sup>The LORD has sworn by His right hand and by His strong arm: I will certainly not give your grain as food for your foes again nor shall the aliens' sons drink your new wine for which you have labored; <sup>9</sup>but they who have garnered the grain shall eat it and praise the LORD; they who have gathered the wine shall drink it in the courts of My sanctuary.

<sup>2</sup>Why is thy apparel red and thy clothing stained as those of one who treads the wine press?

<sup>3</sup>I have trodden the wine press alone and from the peoples there was none with Me; I trod them in My anger and trampled them in My wrath; thus their blood was sprinkled on My clothing, and I stained all My raiment. <sup>4</sup>For a day of vengeance was in My heart, and the year of My redemption has come.

<sup>5</sup>I looked, but there was no one to help; I marvelled that there was no one to support; so My own arm saved for Me, and My own indignation upheld Me. <sup>6</sup>I trod down the peoples in My anger; I made them drunk in My fury and poured their lifeblood upon the ground.

<sup>7</sup>I will recount the loving-kindnesses of the LORD, the praises of the LORD, according to all that the LORD has done for us and the great goodness to the house of Israel which He showed them, according to His mercy and according to the abundance of His loving-kindness. <sup>8</sup>For He said, Surely they are My people, children who will not deal falsely; so He became their Saviour. <sup>9</sup>In all their affliction He was afflicted; but the Angel<sup>g</sup> of His Presence saved them;<sup>h</sup> in His love and in His sympathy He redeemed them; He lifted them up and carried them all the days of old.

<sup>10</sup>But they rebelled and grieved His Holy Spirit,<sup>i</sup> therefore He was turned to become their antagonist and He Himself fought against them. <sup>11</sup>But I recalled the days of old, Moses and His people. Where is He who brought up from the sea the shepherd of His flock? Where is He who put His Holy Spirit within him,<sup>j</sup> <sup>12</sup>the one causing His glorious arm to go at the right hand of Moses and dividing the waters before them to make for Him an everlasting name? <sup>13</sup>Who led them through the depths? Like a horse in the wilderness they should not stumble. <sup>14</sup>As cattle descend to the valley,<sup>k</sup> so the Spirit of God gave them rest. Thus Thou didst lead Thy people to make for Thyself a glorious name.

<sup>15</sup>Look down from heaven, and see from Thy holy and glorious abode. Where are Thy zeal and Thy mighty acts? Thy yearning pity and compassion are withholding themselves from

c) Not mere "watchmen," who look out for the enemy, but guardians and protectors of the city's welfare. d) The gates of Jerusalem. e) Cf. 40:10.

f) Vss. 1-6 is a poem of judgment and redemption.

g) The Angel in whom the LORD was personally present.

h) The LORD and His Presence are identical. In ancient times, the LORD came to save them in person, not by proxy.

i) His Holy Spirit is grieved, which shows the prophet conceived of Him as a person.

j) The Holy Spirit is becoming more explicitly emphasized as a person, as the personal aspect was in the "Servant" in ch. 53. k) To find better pasturage, refuge, and rest.

me. <sup>16</sup>For Thou art our Father;<sup>1</sup> though Abraham does not know us and Israel does not recognize us, Thou, O LORD, art our Father; our Redeemer from of old is Thy name. <sup>17</sup>Why, O LORD, dost Thou have us wander from Thy ways and harden<sup>m</sup> our heart so that we do not revere Thee? Return for Thy servants' sake, for the tribes of Thy heritage! <sup>18</sup>Thy holy people possessed it for a short time; our enemies have trodden down Thy sanctuary. <sup>19</sup>We have become like people over whom Thou hast never ruled, like those who are not called by Thy name.

64 OH, THAT THOU WOULDST REND the heavens and come down, that the mountains might quake at Thy presence, <sup>2</sup>as fire kindles brushwood and as fire makes water to bubble; to make Thy name known to Thy adversaries; to cause the nations to tremble before Thy face <sup>3</sup>by way of executing terrible deeds which we did not expect. Thou didst come down, the mountains quaked at Thy presence. <sup>4</sup>From ancient times men have not heard or perceived, nor has human eye seen a God besides Thee who works for him who waits for Him.<sup>n</sup> <sup>5</sup>Thou dost meet him who is joyful, who works righteously and who in Thy ways remembers Thee. Thou wast indeed angry because we have committed sins; we continued long in them; shall we be saved? <sup>6</sup>We have all become as one unclean; all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; we all fade as a leaf; <sup>7</sup>our iniquities, like the wind, carry us away. <sup>8</sup>No one calls on Thy name or bestirs himself to lay hold on Thee; for Thou hast hidden Thy face from us and hast delivered us to the control of our iniquities.<sup>p</sup>

we all are the work of Thy hands.<sup>q</sup> <sup>9</sup>Be not angry, LORD, beyond measure, and do not remember our iniquities forever. Behold, observe, we pray Thee, we are all Thy people! <sup>10</sup>Thy holy cities have become a wilderness; Zion is become a waste and Jerusalem a desolation. <sup>11</sup>Our holy and beautiful house in which our fathers worshiped is burned with fire, and all our cherished places have been laid waste.<sup>r</sup> <sup>12</sup>In view of these things, LORD, wilt Thou restrain Thyself, wilt Thou be silent and afflict us beyond measure?

65 I HAVE LET MYSELF BE SOUGHT out by those who did not inquire for Me;<sup>s</sup> I was found by those who did not seek Me. I said: I here am I, here am I, to a nation which did not call on My name. <sup>2</sup>I spread forth My hands all day long to a rebellious people, who walk in a way which is not good, after their own devices; <sup>3</sup>a people who continually provoke Me to My face, offering sacrifices in gardens, burning incense on bricks, <sup>4</sup>sitting in graves<sup>t</sup> and lodging in secret caverns;<sup>u</sup> who partake sacrificially of the meat of hogs,<sup>v</sup> and in whose vessels is the broth of unclean animals;<sup>w</sup> <sup>5</sup>who say, "Keep your distance, come not near me, for I am holier than you." These are a smoke in My nostrils and a fire that burns all day. <sup>6</sup>Look, it is written before Me:<sup>x</sup> I will not keep silent, but I will recompense, I will repay into their bosoms <sup>7</sup>both your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers, says the LORD, because they too burned incense upon the mountains and reproached Me upon the hills. Therefore I will measure out their former work into their bosoms.<sup>y</sup>

<sup>8</sup>Thus says the LORD: As new wine is found in the cluster and one says, "Do not destroy it, for a blessing is in it," so I will do for My servants' sakes,

1) The clearest expression in the O.T. regarding our relation to God.

m) All that happens is divinely permitted and thus forms part of His program, including human opposition to His will. n) Cf. 40:31. The prophet longs for new theophanies [physical manifestations of God's presence to man]. o) Fading both in moral vigor and in material well-being.

p) Heb.: "melted us in the hand of our iniquities."

q) Isaiah emphasizes divine sovereignty and human dependence. Cf. Isa. 29:16; 45:9; 60:21; also Ps. 100:3; Rom. 9:20-21. r) Sennacherib's humiliation of Judah went deep.

s) Heb.: "I afforded access to Myself for consultation." t) Practicing necromancy; cf. 8:19; 29:4.

u) Sleeping in secret places to obtain dreams. v) Swine were sacred to some idols.

w) Possible of mice [cf. 66:17]. x) Isaiah uses similar language in 34:16.

y) The LORD punishes according to sin; thus Isaiah re-emphasizes the LORD's justice.

that I do not destroy them all. <sup>9</sup>I will bring forth a progeny<sup>2</sup> from Jacob, and from Judah the inheritors of My mountains; My chosen ones shall inherit it, and My servants shall dwell there. <sup>10</sup>Sharon shall become a pasture for flocks, and the valley of Achor a resting place for herds for My people, because they sought Me! <sup>11</sup>But you who forsake the LORD and ignore My holy mountain, who spread a table for Fortune and make abundant mixed wine for Destiny,<sup>a</sup> <sup>12</sup>I will destine you for the sword, and you all shall bow down to the slaughter; because when I called, you did not answer, and when I spoke you did not obey, but you did what was evil in My eyes and you chose what displeased Me.

<sup>13</sup>Therefore thus says the Lord God: Behold, My servants shall eat, but you shall be hungry; take note, My servants shall drink, but you shall be thirsty; observe, My servants shall rejoice, but you shall be put to shame; <sup>14</sup>mark well, My servants shall sing for gladness of heart, but you shall cry out for sorrow of heart and shall wail for anguish of soul.<sup>b</sup> <sup>15</sup>You shall leave your name for a curse to My chosen ones; the Lord God shall slay you; but His servants shall be called by another name. <sup>16</sup>Then he who blesses himself in the land shall swear by the God of truth,<sup>c</sup> because the former troubles shall have been forgotten and hidden from My eyes.

<sup>17</sup>For behold, I am creating new heavens and a new earth.<sup>d</sup> The past shall be forgotten and shall never come to mind; <sup>18</sup>but rejoice and exult forever over what I create, for I create Jerusalem [an occasion] for joy, and her people will rejoice. <sup>19</sup>I too will rejoice over Jerusalem and will delight in My people. No more will there be heard in her the voice of weeping or the voice of crying. <sup>20</sup>No more shall there be in it infants that live a few days; or old men who do not live out their days;<sup>e</sup> for the youth shall die a centenarian. Even the sinner shall be struck by the curse at a hundred. <sup>21</sup>They shall build houses and inhabit them; they shall plant vineyards and eat their fruit. <sup>22</sup>They shall not build and another inhabit; nor shall they plant and another eat. For as the lifetime of a tree so are the days of My people, and My elect shall enjoy the work of their hands. <sup>23</sup>They shall neither labor in vain, nor bring forth [children] for calamity; for they and their offspring with them are the offspring of those blessed of the LORD. <sup>24</sup>It shall come to pass that before they call I will answer, and while they are yet speaking I will hear. <sup>25</sup>The wolf and the lamb shall feed together; the lion shall eat straw like the ox, and dust shall be the serpent's food; they shall not hurt nor destroy on any of My holy mountains, says the LORD.<sup>f</sup>

66 <sup>1</sup>THUS SAYS THE LORD: HEAVEN is My throne and the earth is My footstool; what manner of house would you build for Me, and where would be the place of My rest? <sup>2</sup>My hand has made everything, and thus it came to be, says the LORD. I will look favorably<sup>g</sup> upon that man who is humble, feels crushed in spirit, and trembles at My word;<sup>h</sup> <sup>3</sup>rather than on him, who slays an ox as though he slew a man; who sacrifices a sheep as he would break a dog's neck; who brings a cereal oblation as if it were the blood of swine; who presents frankincense as though he were worshiping idols.<sup>i</sup> They certainly have chosen their own ways and delight in their abominations; <sup>4</sup>indeed, I have decided their calamity; what they dread I will

z) Promised also in Isa. 6:13 and 53:10; that is, descendants who were a true "offspring."
a) "Fortune" and "Destiny" were regarded by some in Israel as deities, in whose cults they participated.

b) The prophet's fourfold contrast between the Lord's servants and apostates is striking [vss. 13,14]. c) Literally, the "Amen of Truth."

d) Nature also is to be transformed in harmony with a renewed humanity; as so frequently emphasized by Isa. [cf. 11:6-9; 25:8; 30:23-26; 32:15; 35:10].

e) Among the blessings of Israel's new theocracy is the extension of life — longevity as before the Flood. f) Cf. Isa. 11:6-9. g) With compassion.

h) That is, listening in awe and obedient to His commands.

i) The four prescribed acts of worship are as sinful, when executed without love for the Lord, as the four enumerated sins.

bring upon them; because when I called, no one answered, and when I spoke, they did not listen; they did what was evil in My eyes and chose what was displeasing to Me.

<sup>5</sup>Listen to the message of the LORD, you who stand in awe of His word:<sup>j</sup> Your brothers who hate you and who spurn you for My sake,<sup>k</sup> say, "Let the LORD be glorified that we may see your joy"; but they shall be confounded!<sup>6</sup>Listen, a thunderous voice from the city! A voice from the temple! It is the LORD's voice rendering recompense to His enemies. <sup>7</sup>But before she travailed she gave birth; before her pains came on, she was delivered of a son! <sup>8</sup>Who ever heard of such a thing? Who ever saw its like? Shall a land be brought forth in a single day? Shall a nation be born in a moment? Yet Zion had hardly travailed, when she gave birth to her children. <sup>9</sup>Shall I bring to birth and not give delivery? says the LORD; shall I cause to bear and yet close the womb? says your God.<sup>l</sup>

<sup>10</sup>Rejoice with Jerusalem and exult in her, all you who love her; rejoice exceedingly, all you who mourn over her; <sup>11</sup>that you may nurse and be satisfied from her consoling breasts, that you may drain out and enjoy yourself from the fulness of her glory.

<sup>12</sup>For thus says the LORD: Observe! I will extend to her peace like a river, and the glory of the nations like an overflowing stream. Then you shall be nursed, carried upon the hips, and be dandled on the knees.<sup>m</sup> <sup>13</sup>As one whom his mother comforts, so will I comfort you; in Jerusalem you shall be comforted. <sup>14</sup>When you see it, your heart will rejoice; your bones shall flourish like green grass; so shall the hand of the LORD be revealed toward

His servants and His indignation toward His enemies. <sup>15</sup>For behold, the LORD shall come with fire and His chariots like a whirlwind to satisfy His anger in fury, His rebuke with flames of fire.<sup>n</sup> <sup>16</sup>For by fire the LORD will execute judgment, even with His sword upon all flesh; the slain by the LORD shall be many.

<sup>17</sup>Those who consecrate and cleanse themselves to go into the garden, following someone in the center, who eat swine's flesh, vermin, and mice, shall come to an end together,<sup>o</sup> says the LORD. <sup>18</sup>For I know their doings and their thoughts; [the time] comes to gather all nations and tongues; they shall come and they shall see My glory. <sup>19</sup>I will set up a sign;<sup>p</sup> I will send some of those who survive to the nations—to Tarshish,<sup>q</sup> Put and Lud, to Mesheck and Rosh, to Tubal and Javan, to the islands afar off who have neither heard of My fame nor seen My glory—they shall proclaim My glory among the nations. <sup>20</sup>They shall bring there all your brothers from all the nations as an offering to the LORD; [they shall return] on horses, in chariots, on litters, upon mules, and upon dromedaries to My holy mountain Jerusalem, says the LORD; just as the Israelites used to bring their cereal offerings in clean vessels to the house of the LORD.

<sup>21</sup>Some of them I will take for priests<sup>r</sup> and Levites, says the LORD. <sup>22</sup>For as the new heavens and the new earth which I will make shall continue before Me, says the LORD, so shall your progeny and your name remain. <sup>23</sup>It shall be that from new moon to new moon and from Sabbath to Sabbath, all flesh shall come to worship before Me, says the LORD. <sup>24</sup>They shall go forth; they shall gaze upon

j) Messianic expectations; religion will become spiritual; unbelieving scoffers will be silenced, and Zion shall rejoice. k) Zion's apostates mock the hopes of their pious brothers.

o) Apostates, who regulated the idolatrous ceremony of purification, are especially condemned.

p) Sign is a miracle as in Isa. 7:11. To send Jewish ambassadors on any mission would be a "miracle" to them!

q) Tarshish is thought to be the important port in Spain called Tartessus; Put and Lud were in north Africa; Mesheck and Tubal in Asia Minor; Javan was another name for Greece [compare Ezek. 38:1 and 39:1]. r) Something beyond what was prescribed in Deut. 17:9 ff.

the dead bodies of those who have rebelled against Me;<sup>s</sup> for their worm shall not die, nor shall their fire be quenched;<sup>t</sup> they shall be an abhorrence to all mankind.

s) This verse became the basis of the Jewish conception of Gehenna, or Ge-Hinnom, the "Valley of Hinnom," in which human sacrifices were offered to Molech. The Talmud locates the mouth of hell in this valley.

t) The torments of the apostates are eternal; Jesus uses this text in Mark 9:46. When this verse has been read in Jewish synagogues, the reader usually rereads vs. 23, as the book of Isaiah, he feels, should conclude happily.

THE BOOK OF JEREMIAH

626 B.C.

1 THE WORDS OF JEREMIAH THE SON of Hilkiah, one of the priests who lived at Anathoth in the territory of Benjamin. <sup>2</sup>The word of the LORD first came to him in the days of Josiah<sup>a</sup> the son of Amon, king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign.<sup>b</sup> <sup>3</sup>It continued to come during the reigns of Jehoiakim<sup>c</sup> son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah<sup>d</sup> the son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the captivity of Jerusalem in the fifth month.

<sup>4</sup>The word of the LORD came to me, <sup>5</sup>Before I fashioned you in the womb I knew you, and before you were born I dedicated you; I designated you for a prophet to the nations. <sup>6</sup>Then I said, "Alas! LORD God, I do not know how to speak, for I am but a child."<sup>e</sup> <sup>7</sup>The LORD went on to say to me, Stop saying that you are a child; for wherever I shall send you, you shall go, and whatever I shall command you, you shall speak. <sup>8</sup>Never fear their faces, for I am with you to rescue you, says the LORD. <sup>9</sup>Then the LORD extended His hand and touched my mouth; the LORD said to me, Now I have put My words in your mouth. <sup>10</sup>Look! Today I have appointed you as the overseer of nations and over kingdoms, to root up, to break down, to destroy, to exterminate, to rebuild, and to establish.

<sup>11</sup>Later the word of the LORD came to me, What do you see, Jeremiah? I replied, "I see the shoot of an almond tree."<sup>f</sup> <sup>12</sup>Then the LORD said to me, You are a close observer! I am likewise awake over My word to fulfill it.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>13</sup>The word of the LORD came to me the second time, What do you see? I replied, "I see a boiling pot<sup>h</sup> with its face from the north."<sup>i</sup> <sup>14</sup>Then the LORD said to me, Calamity will come from the north upon all the settlers of the land. <sup>15</sup>I will summon all the members of the kingdoms of the north, says the LORD; they will come and will place each one his throne at the entrance of Jerusalem and around on every one of her walls and also of all the cities of Judah.<sup>j</sup> <sup>16</sup>Because of their evil I will pronounce My judgments upon them, for they have forsaken Me, have offered sacrifices to other gods, and have prostrated themselves before the works of their hands.

<sup>17</sup>Now, gird up your loins, arise and declare to them everything I shall command you; do not be undone by their faces, lest I ruin you in their presence.

<sup>18</sup>See! I, on My part, have made you today as a beleaguered city, as an im-

j) Complete invasion of the land.

pregnable fortress, and as an unassailable stronghold against the entire land — against the kings of Judah, against her princes, against her people, and against the people of the land.<sup>k</sup> <sup>10</sup>They will fight against you, but they shall not overcome you, because I am with you to rescue you, says the LORD.

2 THEN THE WORD OF THE LORD came to me, <sup>2</sup>Go and proclaim in the ears of Jerusalem, I remember the devotedness of your youth, the love of your courtships,<sup>l</sup> and your following Me in the desert,<sup>m</sup> in the land that was not sown. <sup>3</sup>Israel was holy to the LORD, the first fruits of His yield;<sup>n</sup> all those devouring him shall be punished. Calamity shall come upon them, says the LORD. <sup>4</sup>Listen to the word of the LORD, O house of Jacob, and every family of the house of Israel.

<sup>5</sup>Thus speaks the LORD: What injustice did your fathers find in Me, that they abandoned Me, habitually followed after<sup>o</sup> futility, and became useless? <sup>6</sup>None of them said, "Where is the LORD, the One who brought us up from the land of Egypt, the One who brought us through the wilderness, through a land of steppes and pits, through a land of deep darkness, and through a land that no man passes through or inhabits?" <sup>7</sup>Then I brought you into a garden land to eat of its fruit and its good things; but when you went in, you defiled My land and made My inheritance an abomination. <sup>8</sup>Even the priests did not say, "Where is the LORD?" The experts of the law did not know Me; the rulers rebelled against Me, and the prophets<sup>q</sup> prophesied for Baal and pursued things which did not profit. <sup>9</sup>Nevertheless I again will plead with you, says the LORD, and with your children's children I will plead. <sup>10</sup>For cross over to the isles of Kittim<sup>r</sup> and see; also send to Kedar, carefully consider and see if anything like this has happened. <sup>11</sup>Has a nation ever changed its gods, though they were not gods? But My people have exchanged their glory for something that does not profit. <sup>12</sup>Be awestruck, O heavens, at this! bristle with horror and be exceedingly desolate, says the LORD, <sup>13</sup>because My people have committed two evils: they have forsaken Me, the Fountain of living waters, and they have hewn out for themselves cisterns, broken cisterns, which cannot hold water.

<sup>14</sup>Is Israel a servant, or a homeborn slave? Why has he become a victim? <sup>15</sup>The young lions have roared over him and have made their voice resound; they have made his land a waste, and his cities a ruin without inhabitants. <sup>16</sup>Also the men of Noph and Tahpanhes<sup>s</sup> have shorn the crown of your head. <sup>17</sup>Did you not bring this on to yourself when you forsook the LORD your God when He guided you in the way? <sup>18</sup>And now what are you doing in the way of Egypt, to drink of the waters of the Nile? And what are you doing in the way of Assyria, to drink from the waters of the Euphrates?<sup>t</sup> <sup>19</sup>You will be chastened by your own wickedness; your own backslidings will reprove you; therefore, know and see that this evil and bitter thing is due to your forsaking the LORD your God and having no reverence for Me, says the Lord God of hosts."

<sup>20</sup>From of old you have shattered your yoke and have snapped your bands. Also you have said, "I will not serve Thee." Yes, upon every high hill and under every shady tree you have bowed down like a harlot. <sup>21</sup>Yet I, on

o) "Breath," "nothingness," "bubble" — characteristic terms for false gods in contrast to the true and living God. By following these empty gods, Israel assimilated their character; like god, like people. q) The religious leaders later arraigned against Jeremiah.

r) Generally the coast lands of the Mediterranean — the extreme western world.

s) Both well-known towns in Josiah's day. The former, Memphis, the capital of Lower [Northern] Egypt; the latter in Upper Egypt.

t) Vs. 18 is connected with vs. 13: Israel had forsaken God, the Fountain of living waters, and was drinking from the rivers of Egypt and Assyria.

u) The theme of vs. 19: Sin carries its own punishment.

My part, planted you as a choice vine, of completely reliable stock. How then did you turn into bastard shoots of an alien vine to Me? <sup>22</sup>Although you wash yourself with nitre<sup>v</sup> and though you use soap<sup>w</sup> abundantly, your perversity is still ingrained before Me, says the Lord God. <sup>23</sup>How can you say, "I have not followed after Baals"?<sup>x</sup> Look at your action in the valley, and realize what you have done. You are as a swift, young she-camel<sup>y</sup> entangling her walk; <sup>24</sup>like a wild donkey accustomed to the wilderness, in the heat of her passion snuffing up the wind; in the time of her mating, who can turn her lust away? All those pursuing her will not be disappointed, because in her month they shall find her. <sup>25</sup>Protect your foot from bareness and your throat from dryness; but you have said repeatedly, "It is useless, because I love strangers and after them I will go." <sup>26</sup>As a thief is ashamed when he is caught, just so the house of Israel is ashamed; they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, <sup>27</sup>who say to a piece of wood, "You are my father," and to the stone, "You have borne me"; but to Me they have turned the neck<sup>z</sup> and not their faces. However, in the time of calamity they will cry, "Arise and deliver us!" <sup>28</sup>Where now are your gods that you manufactured? Let them arise, if in the hour of calamity they can deliver you! Notice, your gods are as numerous as your cities, O Judah!

<sup>29</sup>Why do you complain to Me?<sup>a</sup> For all of you have rebelled against Me, says the LORD. <sup>30</sup>In vain I have stricken your children; you accepted no discipline. Your own swords have devoured your prophets like a destructive lion. <sup>31</sup>O generation, will you not listen to the word of the LORD? Have I been a desert to Israel? A land of deep darkness? Why therefore do My people say, "We roam at large; we will come no more to you"? <sup>32</sup>Can a virgin forget her ornaments or a bride her attire? Yet My people have forgotten Me days without number. <sup>33</sup>Why do you trim your way for making love? Therefore, even to the evil women you have taught your ways. <sup>34</sup>Also there is found on your skirts the lifeblood of the innocent poor, although you did not catch them in the act of burglary.<sup>b</sup> Nevertheless, in spite of all these things, <sup>35</sup>you keep on saying, "I am innocent; surely His anger has turned away from me." See! I will bring judgment upon you because of your saying, "I have not sinned." <sup>36</sup>Why do you roam about so much, to change your ways? You shall be ashamed of Egypt just as you were ashamed of Assyria. <sup>37</sup>You will go away from him also with your hands upon your head;<sup>c</sup> for the LORD has rejected all your confidences. You will not prosper in them.

626-621 B.C.

3 IF A MAN PUTS AWAY HIS WIFE and she goes from him and becomes another man's wife,<sup>d</sup> will he return to her? Would not that land be greatly polluted? Yet you have played the harlot with a multitude of lovers and have returned to Me, says the LORD. <sup>2</sup>Lift up your eyes to the bare hills and see! Where have you not been dishonored? You have waited for lovers by the roadside like an Arab in the wilderness;<sup>e</sup> you have defiled the land with your fornication and your wickedness. <sup>3</sup>Therefore the early showers have been withheld, and the spring rain has not come;<sup>f</sup> still you have the brow of a harlot;<sup>g</sup> you even choose not

y) Which has never yet had a foal, famed for amazing speed, used to carry dispatches in haste — ancient telegraph [Esther 8:10]. z) Figure of apostasy. a) The LORD's patience is too sorely tried.

b) Subjected to oppression and abuse.

c) As Tamar, Absalom's sister, went out after Amnon had abused her [II Samuel 13:19].

d) See Deut. 24:1-4: When a woman was given a bill of divorce by her husband and married another, a bill of divorce given her by her second husband did not set her free to remarry her first husband.

to feel ashamed. <sup>4</sup>Have you not just now cried to Me, "My Father, Thou art a friend from my youth?" <sup>5</sup>Will He be angry forever? Will He keep it to the end?" See, you have spoken, but you have done all the evil you could do.

<sup>6</sup>In the days of Josiah the king, the LORD said to me: Have you seen what that faithless Israel did, how she went upon every high hill and under every green tree, and there played the harlot? <sup>7</sup>And after she has done all of this, I said, Return to Me; but she did not return. Her treacherous sister Judah saw it. <sup>8</sup>Also she saw that for all the adulteries which faithless Israel had done, I sent her away and gave her a divorce bill;<sup>h</sup> but her faithless sister Judah did not fear; instead she too went and played the harlot. <sup>9</sup>Also through the wantonness of her harlotry she defiled the land, committing adultery with stones and stocks.<sup>i</sup> <sup>10</sup>Yet in spite of all this, her faithless sister, Judah, has not returned to Me with her whole heart, but in pretense, says the LORD.

<sup>11</sup>Then the LORD said to me: Backsliding Israel has shown herself more righteous than faithless Judah.<sup>j</sup> <sup>12</sup>Go, and announce these words toward the north,<sup>k</sup> and say, "Return, backsliding Israel, says the LORD. I will not look in anger upon you; for I am a merciful God. The LORD says, I will not be angry forever. <sup>13</sup>Only admit your iniquity, that you have rebelled against the LORD your God and promiscuously consorted with strangers under every green tree; that you have not obeyed My voice, says the LORD. <sup>14</sup>Return, O backsliding children, says the LORD, because I am your husband; then I will take you, one of a city and two of a family, and I will bring you to Zion.<sup>l</sup> <sup>15</sup>I will give you shepherds after My own heart, who will feed you with knowledge and understanding. <sup>16</sup>Besides, when you are multiplied and increased in the land, in those days, says the LORD, they shall no more say, 'The ark<sup>m</sup> of the covenant of the LORD.' It shall not come to mind, because they will not remember it or miss it; for it shall not be made again.

<sup>21</sup>A voice is heard upon the bare heights, the weeping, the supplication of the children of Israel, because they have distorted their way; they have forgotten the LORD their God. <sup>22</sup>Return, O backsliding children, I will heal your backsliding. "Sec, we have come to Thee because Thou art the LORD our God." <sup>23</sup>Truly the hills are a delusion, the orgies on the mountains. Indeed, the salvation of Israel is in the LORD our God. <sup>24</sup>But shame<sup>a</sup> has consumed the labor of our fathers from our youth, their flocks and their herds, their sons and their daughters. <sup>25</sup>Let us lie down<sup>t</sup> in our shame, and let our confusion cover us, for we have sinned against the LORD our God, we and our fathers, from our youth even to this day; also we have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God."

4 IF YOU RETURN, O ISRAEL, SAYS the LORD, you should return to Me and put away your abominations" from My presence and cease wandering, <sup>2</sup>and swear, "As the LORD lives,"<sup>v</sup> in truth, in justice, and in righteousness; then nations shall bless each other by Him, and in Him shall they glory. <sup>3</sup>For thus says the LORD to the men of Judah and Jerusalem: Break up your fallow ground, and do not sow among thorns.<sup>w</sup> <sup>4</sup>Circumcise yourselves to the LORD, and cut off the foreskins of your hearts, O men of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem, lest My indignation go forth as fire and burn with none to quench it, because of the evil of your doings.

<sup>8</sup>For this gird yourselves with sackcloth; lament and wail, for the fierce anger of the LORD is not turned back from us.<sup>a</sup> <sup>9</sup>It shall be in that day, says the LORD, that the hearts<sup>b</sup> of both the king and princes shall fail; the priests shall be amazed, and the prophets shall be astounded. <sup>10</sup>They will say, "Ah, Lord God, Thou surely hast misled this people and Jerusalem, saying, 'You shall have peace,' — and the sword touches the soul." <sup>11</sup>At that time it shall be said to this people and to Jerusalem, "A glowing wind<sup>c</sup> from the bare heights in the desert comes toward the daughter of My people, not to winnow,<sup>d</sup> nor to cleanse. <sup>12</sup>A wind too strong for this shall come at My orders. Now I will speak with judgment upon them. <sup>13</sup>See! He comes up like clouds<sup>e</sup> and his chariots as a tempest;<sup>f</sup> his horses are swifter than eagles. Woe to us, for we are all spoiled! <sup>14</sup>Purify your heart from wickedness, O Jerusalem, in order that you may be saved; how long will you permit your vain<sup>g</sup> thoughts to remain in you? <sup>15</sup>For a message comes from Dan<sup>h</sup> and bad news from the hills of Ephraim. <sup>16</sup>Announce to the nations, publish concerning Jerusalem, that besiegers are coming from a far country, and they shout against the cities of Judah. <sup>17</sup>Like keepers of the field they are surrounding her because she has rebelled against Me, says the LORD. <sup>18</sup>Your ways and your works have brought these things upon you, due to your wickedness. Surely it is bitter because it has reached even into your heart.

<sup>19</sup>O my feelings, my feelings!<sup>i</sup> Let one writhel! Walls of my heart! My heart is torn within me! I cannot keep silent!<sup>j</sup> For my soul hears the cry of the trumpet, a shout of battle. <sup>20</sup>Devastation upon devastation is proclaimed; for the whole land is laid waste. Suddenly my tents are destroyed, and my curtains are torn down in a moment. <sup>21</sup>How long must I see the war signals and hear the trumpet blasts? <sup>22</sup>For my people are foolish; they do not know me; they are stupid children; they have no understanding; they are experts in doing evil, but they do not know how to do good.

formless and empty, and the heavens had no light.<sup>k</sup> <sup>24</sup>I beheld the mountains, and look! They trembled, and all the hills were in commotion. <sup>25</sup>I looked, and see! There was no man, and all the birds of heaven had fled. <sup>26</sup>I looked, and behold! The garden land was a desert, and all the cities were broken down before the LORD in the presence of His fierce anger.

<sup>27</sup>For thus says the LORD, All the land will be a desolation, yet I will not bring it to a finish. <sup>28</sup>On account of this, let the earth mourn and the heavens be black, because I have spoken; I have purposed; I have not repented, nor will I turn back from it.

<sup>29</sup>At the noise of the horsemen and bowmen every city flees; they enter thickets, and they climb among the rocks; every city is forsaken, and no man dwells in them. <sup>30</sup>And you, ruined creature, what will you do? Clothe<sup>l</sup> yourself in scarlet? Adorn yourself with ornaments of gold? Paint your eyes with antimony?<sup>m</sup> You beautify yourself in vain; your paramours<sup>n</sup> despise you; they are seeking your life. <sup>31</sup>For I have heard the voice of a woman in labor, a cry as of one giving birth to her first child, the voice of the daughter of Zion,<sup>o</sup> panting, begging for help, "Oh, woe is me! For my soul faints because of the slain."

5 ROAM AROUND THROUGH THE BAZAARS of Jerusalem; look closely and consider! Search her marts to see if you can find anyone who practices justice and searches for truth, so that I may deal graciously with her. <sup>2</sup>Although they say, "As the LORD lives," yet they swear falsely.<sup>p</sup> <sup>3</sup>O LORD, do not Thy eyes search for truth? Thou hast beaten them, but they felt no rebuke; Thou hast disciplined them, but they spurned correction. They have made their faces harder than flint; they have refused to repent. <sup>4</sup>Then I said, "These are only the poor; they have no understanding; for they do not know the way of the LORD, the judgment of their God." <sup>5</sup>I will go to the great and will speak to them; for they know the way of the LORD, the judgment of their God." But they all alike had broken the yoke; they had burst apart the bonds. <sup>6</sup>Therefore a lion from the forest shall slay them; a wolf from the desert shall destroy them; a leopard<sup>q</sup> is lurking by their cities; everyone who goes out of them will be torn to bits, because their rebellions are many and their desertions are appalling. <sup>7</sup>How can I pardon you for this? Your children have forsaken Me and have sworn by those who are no gods. When I had filled them up, they committed adultery and trooped to the harlots' houses. <sup>8</sup>They were like well-fed, lusting stallions, each neighing with passion after his neighbor's wife.<sup>r</sup> <sup>9</sup>Shall not I punish them for these things? says the LORD, and shall I not avenge myself on such a nation as this? <sup>10</sup>Go up and spoil her vineyards,<sup>s</sup> but make no complete end; strip away her branches, because they are not the LORD's.

<sup>11</sup>For the house of Jacob and the house of Israel have been altogether faithless toward Me. <sup>12</sup>They have acted deceptively against the LORD and have said, "He will not see! No calamity will come upon us, nor shall we see the sword or famine." <sup>13</sup>The prophets will become as whirlwind; the word is not in them." Thus shall it be done to them.

<sup>14</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD, the God of hosts: Because they have spoken this word, see! I am making My word in your mouth a fire, and this people wood, and it shall devour them. <sup>15</sup>Look! I am bringing upon you a nation from afar, O house of Israel, says the LORD. It is a lasting and age-

old nation, a nation whose language you do not know, nor can you understand what they say. <sup>16</sup>Their quiver<sup>t</sup> is like an open grave; they are all mighty men.<sup>u</sup> <sup>17</sup>They shall eat up your harvest and your food; they shall consume your sons and your daughters; they shall devour your flocks and your herds; they shall eat your vines and your fig trees; your impregnable cities in which you trust they shall destroy with the sword. <sup>18</sup>But even in those days, says the LORD, I will not make a complete end of you. <sup>19</sup>And when they shall say, "Why has the LORD our God done all these things to us?" you shall say to them, "As you have forsaken Me and served foreign gods in your land, so you shall serve strangers in a land that is not yours."<sup>v</sup>

<sup>20</sup>Declare this in the house of Jacob, and proclaim it in the house of Judah: <sup>21</sup>Listen to this, foolish and heartless<sup>w</sup> people, who have eyes but do not see; who have ears, but do not hear. <sup>22</sup>Do you not revere Me? says the LORD. Do you not tremble in My presence? I have set the dunes as the boundary for the sea, an eternal barrier which it cannot pass; though the waves leap, they cannot prevail; though they roar, yet they cannot pass over it. <sup>23</sup>But this people has a rebellious and contentious heart; they turned aside and wandered away.<sup>x</sup> <sup>24</sup>They did not say in their heart, "Let us revere the LORD our God, the One who gives the early and latter rains in their seasons and keeps for us the weeks appointed for the harvest."<sup>y</sup> <sup>25</sup>Your iniquity has turned these away,<sup>z</sup> and your sins have withholden the good from you. <sup>26</sup>For wicked men were found among My people. They lurk like fowlers, lying in wait. They act like a trap; they catch men. <sup>27</sup>Like a basket full of birds, their houses are full of treachery;

therefore they have become great and rich; <sup>28</sup>they have grown fat and sleek.<sup>a</sup> They know no limit in their wickedness; they do not know justice to make the cause of the orphan to succeed; they do not defend the rights of the innocent. <sup>29</sup>Shall I not punish for these things? says the LORD. Shall I not avenge Myself on such a nation as this?

<sup>30</sup>An astounding and horrible thing has occurred in the land: <sup>31</sup>the prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests rule according to their own hands; and My people like it so. But what will they do when the end comes?

thoroughly as a vine the remnant of Israel; like a grape gatherer, pass your hand again over its branches. <sup>10</sup>To whom shall I speak and testify so that they will hear? See, their ears are uncircumcised; therefore they are not able to understand. Behold, the word of the LORD is to them a reproach; they take no pleasure in it. <sup>11</sup>Therefore I am full of the wrath of the LORD; I am weary of holding it in. Pour it out upon the children of the streets and upon the joint circle of young men as well; both the husband and the wife shall be taken, the old man and the very aged. <sup>12</sup>Their houses shall be given to others, together with their fields and wives; for I will stretch out my hand against the inhabitants of the land, says the LORD. <sup>13</sup>Every one from the least of them to the greatest is guilty of unjust gain; every one from the prophet to the priest practices deceit.<sup>h</sup> <sup>14</sup>Hence they have healed the wound of my people slightly, saying, "Peace, peace," when there is no peace. <sup>15</sup>Were they embarrassed when they committed abominations? No, they were not at all embarrassed; they did not even know how to blush; therefore they shall fall among the fallen; during the time that I punish them, they shall be overthrown, says the LORD.

teaching, they spurned it. <sup>20</sup>To what purpose does frankincense come to Me from Sheba<sup>k</sup> and cinnamon cane from a far country?<sup>l</sup> Your burnt offerings are not acceptable, nor are your sacrifices pleasing to Me. <sup>21</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD: I am laying before the people stumbling blocks against which they shall stumble, fathers and sons together; neighbor and friend shall perish.

<sup>22</sup>Thus says the LORD: See, a people is coming from the north country; a great nation is rising from the extremity of the earth. <sup>23</sup>They seize the bow and spear; they are cruel and merciless; their voice sounds like the sea; they ride upon horses, arrayed for battle against you, O daughter of Zion. <sup>24</sup>We have heard the reports of it; our hands hang slack,<sup>m</sup> and anguish has seized us like pain of a woman in labor. <sup>25</sup>Go not in the field, nor walk the road, for the enemy has a sword; terror is on every side. <sup>26</sup>O daughter of My people, gird yourself with sackcloth, and then roll in ashes; mourn as for an only son, making most bitter lamentation; for the destroyer shall suddenly come upon us.

<sup>27</sup>I have made you an assayer and examiner<sup>n</sup> among my people, so that you may test and analyze their actions. <sup>28</sup>They are all grievous revolters, going about as talebearers; they are as brass and iron;<sup>o</sup> all of them deal corruptly. <sup>29</sup>The bellows blow fiercely, and the lead is consumed by fire;<sup>p</sup> in vain the refining goes on, for the wicked are not removed. <sup>30</sup>They are called refuse silver, because the LORD has rejected them.

h) Seeking their own advancement; not the welfare of their people.

i) In searching for the old paths, they will find the Lord's path [Deut. 32:7].

j) His prophets [Ezek. 3:17; 33:7].

k) South Arabia, noted for producing fragrant resin called frankincense. l) Probably India.

m) Helplessness [Isa. 5:24].

n) A moral analyst, a tester of people's natures — God speaking to Jeremiah.

o) Worthless people; evildoers [Ezek. 22:18, 20]. Their impudence resembles brass and their obstinacy, iron.

p) In refining, the goldsmith mixes lead with the alloy containing the gold or silver, fused in a furnace on a vessel of earth or bone ash; a current of air is turned upon the molten mass [not upon the fire]; the lead then oxidizes and, acting as a flux, carries away the alloy, leaving the pure gold or silver.

who enter these gates to worship the LORD. <sup>3</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Amend your ways and your actions,<sup>4</sup> and I will let you dwell in this place. <sup>4</sup>Do not trust in false words, saying, "The Temple of the LORD, the Temple of the LORD, the Temple of the LORD is this."<sup>r</sup> <sup>5</sup>If you completely mend your ways and your actions; if you truly execute justice between a man and his neighbor; <sup>6</sup>if you do not oppress the immigrant, the fatherless, or the widow;<sup>a</sup> or shed innocent blood<sup>t</sup> in this place; and if you do not follow after other gods to your own hurt; <sup>7</sup>then I will let you dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers forever."

<sup>8</sup>See, you are trusting in words of falsehood which cannot profit. <sup>9</sup>Will you steal, murder, commit adultery, and swear falsely, burn incense to Baal, and walk after other gods, whom you have not known, <sup>10</sup>and then come and stand before Me in this house, which is called by My name, and say, "We are delivered,"<sup>v</sup> only to go on committing all these abominations? <sup>11</sup>Has this house, which is called by My name, become a den<sup>w</sup> of robbers in your eyes? Observe, I, even I Myself, have seen it, says the LORD.

<sup>12</sup>Go now to My place which was in Shiloh, where I made My name to dwell at first,<sup>x</sup> and see what I did to it on account of the wickedness of My people Israel. <sup>13</sup>And now, because you have done all these things, says the LORD, when I persistently spoke to you, you did not listen; and when I called you, you did not answer; <sup>14</sup>therefore, I will do to the house which is called by My name and in which you are trusting, and to the place that I gave you and your fathers, as I did to Shiloh.<sup>y</sup> <sup>15</sup>I will cast you out of My sight, just as I cast out all your kinsmen, all the offspring of Ephraim.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>16</sup>As for you, do not pray for this people, or lift up a cry or prayer for them; do not intercede to Me, for I will not hear you. <sup>17</sup>Do you not see what they are doing in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? <sup>18</sup>The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle fire, and the women knead dough to make cakes for the queen of heaven,<sup>a</sup> and they pour out drink offerings to other gods, to provoke Me to anger. <sup>19</sup>Is it not I they provoke? says the LORD. Is it not themselves, to their own confusion? <sup>20</sup>Therefore thus says the Lord God: See, My anger and My indignation will be poured out on this place, upon man and beast, upon the trees of the field and the fruit of the ground; it shall burn, and it shall not be extinguished.

<sup>21</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Add your burnt offerings to your sacrifices and eat the flesh.<sup>b</sup> <sup>22</sup>For I did not speak to your fathers, and I did not command them concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices in the day<sup>c</sup> that I brought them out of the land of Egypt. <sup>23</sup>But this command I gave them: Obey My voice, and I will be your God, and you shall be My people; walk in all the way that I shall command you, that it may be well with you.<sup>d</sup> <sup>24</sup>But they did not listen or incline their ear, but they habitually walked in their own counsels and in the stubbornness of their evil heart; they went backward and not forward. <sup>25</sup>From the day that your fathers came out of the land of Egypt to this day, I have repeatedly sent you all My servants, the prophets, daily rising up early and sending them. <sup>26</sup>Yet they did not

q) General lines of conduct and individual acts which, by frequency and repetition, form habits.

r) Threefold repetition for emphasis [ch. 22:29; Isa. 6:3].

s) The defenseless and needy classes of society [Ex. 22:21-23; Deut. 24:14, 17].

t) Judicial murders, violent attacks on prophets and godly men, sacrifice of infants to Moloch.

u) Literally, from eternity and to eternity, strongest Hebrew formula for perpetuity.

v) Secure, so they can go on sinning with impunity, because they observe the externals of religion.

w) Matt. 21:13; Luke 19:46. Many caves in the limestone strata of Palestine were in ancient times dens of robbers. x) Josh. 18:1; Judg. 18:31; 1 Sam. 1:3.

y) The destruction of Shiloh is alluded to in ch. 26:6; Ps. 78:60; but not mentioned in the historical books; probably happened after the Philistine victory described in 1 Sam. 4.

z) Ephraim, the ten northern tribes, carried into captivity in 722 B.C. by Sargon II of Assyria.

a) Probably Ashtoreth or Astarte [II Kings 21:3-5; Jer. 44:17, 18, 19].

b) Words of irony and contempt; the burnt offering was not eaten by the worshiper; only parts of the peace offering.

c) The first day encamped before Mount Sinai; the spiritual covenants came first; sacrifice, the third day [see Ex. 19]. d) Ex. 19:5, 6; Deut. 28:1, 2.

listen to Me or incline their ear, but stiffened their necks, doing worse than their fathers.

<sup>27</sup>You shall speak all these words to them, but they will not listen to you. You shall call to them, but they will not answer you. <sup>28</sup>And you will say to them, "This is the nation that did not obey the voice of the LORD its God and did not receive correction; truth<sup>e</sup> has perished; it is cut off from their lips.

<sup>30</sup>For the children of Judah have done evil in My sight, says the LORD; they have placed their abominations<sup>g</sup> in the house, which is called by My name, to defile it. <sup>31</sup>They have built the high places of Topheth, which is in the valley of Hinnom, to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire, which I did not command, nor did it come into My mind. <sup>32</sup>Therefore, behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, when it shall no more be called Topheth, the valley of the son of Hinnom, but the valley of Slaughter; for they shall bury in Topheth because there is no room elsewhere. <sup>33</sup>The dead bodies of this people shall be food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth, and none shall frighten them away.<sup>h</sup> <sup>34</sup>I will cause to cease from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, for the land shall become a desolation.

8 AT THAT TIME, SAYS THE LORD, the houses of the kings of Judah, the bones of the princes, the bones of the priests, the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem shall be brought out of their sepulchres. <sup>2</sup>They shall be spread before the sun and the moon and all the hosts of heaven,<sup>i</sup> which they have loved, which they have served, after which they have walked and which they have sought and worshiped; they shall not be gathered or buried; they shall be as dung upon the face of the earth. <sup>3</sup>And death shall be preferred to life by all the remnant that remains of this evil family in all the places I have driven them, says the LORD of hosts.

<sup>8</sup>How dare you say, "We are wise, and the teaching of the LORD is with us"? But see, the falsifying pen of the scribes made it into a fabrication.<sup>l</sup> <sup>9</sup>The wise men are put to shame, they are dumbfounded and trapped; since they have spurned the word of the LORD, what kind of wisdom is there in them? <sup>10</sup>Therefore I will give their wives to others and their fields to conquerors, because everyone, from the least to the greatest, practices covetousness; everyone deals deceitfully, from the prophet to the priest. <sup>11</sup>They have healed the wound of the daughter of My people slightly, saying, "Peace, peace," when there is no peace. <sup>12</sup>Were they ashamed when they committed abomination? No, they were not at all abashed; they did not even know how

i) See Deut. 4:19; 17:3; II Kings 21:3, 5; Jer. 19:13.

j) Insincerity toward Jehovah; false teachings of idolatry [ch. 14:14; 23:26].

to blush. Therefore they shall fall with the fallen; in the time of their visitation they shall stumble, says the LORD.

<sup>13</sup>When I would gather them, says the LORD, there are no grapes on the vines, nor figs on the fig tree; even the leaves are dried up,<sup>m</sup> and what I gave them has eluded them. <sup>14</sup>Why do we remain seated? Assemble yourselves! Let us go into fortified cities and perish there! For the LORD our God has marked us for doom and has given us a poisonous drink<sup>n</sup> because we have sinned against the LORD. <sup>15</sup>We looked for peace, but no encouragement came; for a time of healing, but look, defeat. <sup>16</sup>The snorting of their horses is heard from Dan; at the sound of the neighing of their stallions the whole land trembles. They come and devour the land and all that it produces, the city and those dwelling in it. <sup>17</sup>For see, I am sending among you serpents, adders, that cannot be charmed, and they shall bite you, says the LORD.

608-597 B.C.

9 OH, THAT MY HEAD WERE WATERS
and my eyes a fountain of tears, so that I might weep day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people!

<sup>2</sup>Oh, that I had in the desert a lodging place for wayfarers,<sup>u</sup> so that I might leave My people and go from them. For they are all adulterers, an assembly of deceivers. <sup>3</sup>They bend their tongue like a bow,<sup>v</sup> so that falsehood and not truth have grown strong in the land;<sup>w</sup> for they proceed from evil to evil; consequently, they do not know Me, says the LORD. <sup>4</sup>Let every man watch his neighbor and place no trust in any brother; for every brother is a supplanter and every neighbor goes about gossiping. <sup>5</sup>Every one deceives his neighbor, and no one speaks the truth; they have taught their tongues to speak falsely; they commit iniquity and twist truth unto weariness. <sup>6</sup>Here injury lives on injury and deceit on deceit, on account of which they refuse to know Me, says the LORD.

<sup>7</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: Take notice! I will smelt<sup>x</sup> them and assay them; for what can I do because of the daughter of My people? <sup>8</sup>Their tongue is a deadly arrow; it speaks deceitfully; with his mouth each one speaks peaceably to his neighbor, but in his heart he devises an ambush for him. <sup>9</sup>Shall I not punish them for these things? says the LORD, and shall I not avenge Myself on such a nation as this?

<sup>10</sup>For the mountains will I take up weeping and wailing, and a dirge for the pastures of the desert,<sup>y</sup> because they are burned up, so that no man passes through, neither is the lowing of cattle heard; both the fowls of the air and the beasts have fled and are gone. <sup>11</sup>I will make Jerusalem a heap of ruins, a lair of night-dogs;<sup>z</sup> and I will

o) The people in exile are complaining bitterly that the LORD has forsaken them.

p) The "harvest" lasted from April to June.

q) The "summer" was the period of "ingathering of summer fruits." If the harvest failed, the people might still look forward to the fruit season; but if the fruit, too, failed, famine stared them in the face. r) "Shattered" mentally, prostrated by grief.

make the cities of Judah a desolation without inhabitant.

<sup>12</sup>Who is the man so wise that he can understand this? To whom has the mouth of the LORD spoken, that he may declare it? Why is the land ruined and laid waste like a wilderness, so that no one passes through? <sup>13</sup>The LORD says: Because they have forsaken My law which I set before them<sup>a</sup> and have not obeyed My voice or walked according to it; <sup>14</sup>but have stubbornly followed their own hearts and have gone after the Baals, as their fathers taught them. <sup>15</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Observe! I will feed this people with wormwood and give them poisonous water to drink. <sup>16</sup>I will scatter them among the nations, whom neither they nor their fathers have known; and I will send the sword after them until I have consumed them.

597 B.C.

10 HEAR THE WORD WHICH THE LORD is speaking to you, O house of Israel! <sup>2</sup>Thus says the LORD: Do not learn the way of the nations nor be terrified by the signs of the heavens,<sup>h</sup> because the nations are terrified by them. <sup>3</sup>For the customs of the peoples are false. A tree from the forest is cut down and fashioned with an axe by the hands of the craftsmen. <sup>4</sup>They beautify it with gold and silver; they further fasten it with hammer and nails so that it cannot move. <sup>5</sup>Their idols are like scarecrows in a cucumber garden; they cannot speak; they must be carried, for they cannot march. Do not fear them, for they can do no evil; neither do they have the power to do good.

b) Acting as professional mourners, they recite from memory or extemporize for the occasion, poetry, with a weird haunting effect, which extolls the virtues of the deceased and bewails his loss.

c) "Wise . . . mighty . . . rich" — the three classes that might expect to defend and preserve themselves and their city in times of national disaster.

d) The former refers to the intellect; the latter to the emotions.

e) Literally, "with a foreskin." The ungodly Jews are circumcised physically, but are equally in need of the spiritual circumcision [ch. 4:4].

f) See ch. 25:23; 49:32. Certain Arab tribes shaved their hair off their temples, contrary to Jewish practice [Lev. 19:27]. g) Physically.

h) Extraordinary celestial appearances, such as eclipses and comets. i) Adoration.

j) Idolatrous nations. k) Moral education [Prov. 4:1, 13; 8:10, 33; 13:1].

wooden!<sup>1</sup> Beaten silver is brought from Tarschish and gold from Uphaz. They are the work of craftsmen and of the hands of the goldsmith; their clothing is scarlet and purple; they are all the work of skilled men.<sup>10</sup> But the LORD is the true God; He is the living God, the everlasting King.<sup>m</sup> At his wrath the earth quakes, and the nations cannot endure His indignation.

<sup>11</sup>Thus<sup>n</sup> shall you say to them, "The gods who did not make the heavens and the earth shall perish from the earth and from under the heavens."

<sup>12</sup>It is He who made the earth by His power, who established the world by His wisdom, and by His understanding stretched out the heavens.<sup>13</sup> When He utters His voice,<sup>o</sup> there is a tumult of waters in the heavens, and He causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth; He makes lightnings for the rain, and He brings forth the wind from His storehouses.<sup>p</sup> <sup>14</sup>Every man is dull-hearted and without knowledge; every goldsmith is put to shame by his graven images, for his images are false; there is no life in them.<sup>15</sup> They are worthless, a work of mockery; at the time of their punishment they will perish.<sup>16</sup> Not like these is He who is Jacob's portion; for He is the Creator of all things; and Israel is the tribe of His inheritance.<sup>q</sup> The LORD of hosts is His name.

<sup>17</sup>Gather up your bundle from the ground,<sup>r</sup> O you who live under the siege, <sup>18</sup>for thus says the LORD: Take note! I am at this time flinging out the inhabitants of the land, and I will distress them so that they may feel it.

<sup>19</sup>Woe<sup>s</sup> is me because of my hurt! My wound is grievous; but I said, "Surely this is my sickness and I will bear it."<sup>20</sup> My tent is destroyed, and all my cords are broken; my children are gone forth from me, and they are not; there is none to stretch forth my tent again, and to set up my curtains.<sup>t</sup> <sup>21</sup>For the shepherds<sup>u</sup> are thoughtless and do not search for the LORD; therefore they have not prospered, and their whole flock is scattered.<sup>22</sup> Listen! A new flash! Look: A great commotion is coming from the land of the north, to make the cities of Judah a desolation, a lair of night-dogs.

620 B.C.

11 THE WORD THAT CAME TO JEREMIAH FROM THE LORD: <sup>2</sup>Hear the words of this covenant, and announce them to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>You shall say to them, So says the LORD God of Israel: Cursed be the man who does not listen to the words of this covenant,<sup>x</sup> <sup>4</sup>which I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the iron furnace,<sup>y</sup> saying, Listen to My voice, and do all that I command you; then you shall be My people, and I will be your God, <sup>5</sup>in order that I may fulfill the agreement I made with your fathers, to give to them a land flowing with milk and honey, as on this day. Then I answered and said, "Amen,<sup>z</sup> O LORD."

<sup>6</sup>Then the LORD said to me, Proclaim all these words in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem:

v) See Prov. 16:9.

w) See ch. 29:6; 30:19: "Be few." "Lest Thou rub me out," Martin Luther put it. As in Isa. 40, man stands here in the presence of His sovereign God, of whom and to whom are all things.

y) Furnace in which iron is smelted - figure of severe suffering [Deut. 4:20; I Kings 8:51].

z) "Let it be so," or "so be it."

Listen to the words of this covenant and do them. <sup>7</sup>For I earnestly admonished your fathers in the day that I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, even to this day, rising up early<sup>a</sup> and admonishing, saying, Obey My voice. <sup>8</sup>Yet they neither obeyed nor inclined their ear, but every one walked in the stubbornness of his own evil heart; consequently, I brought<sup>b</sup> upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but which they did not observe.

Immediately after 621 B.C.

<sup>9</sup>Again the LORD said to me: There is a conspiracy among the men of Judah and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup>They have returned to the iniquities of their fathers who refused to hear My words; they have gone after other gods to serve them; the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken the covenant that I made with their fathers. <sup>11</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD: Observe, I am bringing calamity upon them which they cannot escape; though they shall cry to Me, I will not listen to them.<sup>c</sup> <sup>12</sup>Then the cities of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem shall go and cry out to the gods to whom they burn incense, but they cannot save them in the time of their calamity. <sup>13</sup>For your gods have become as numerous as your cities, O Judah; and as numerous as the streets of Jerusalem are the altars which you built to the shameful thing,<sup>d</sup> altars to burn incense to Baal.

<sup>14</sup>Therefore do not pray in behalf of this people, or lift up a cry or a prayer for them; for I will not listen when they call to me in the time of their trouble. <sup>15</sup>What right has my beloved<sup>e</sup> in my house when she has committed wicked acts? Can vows and sacrificial flesh remove wickedness from you? Can you then rejoice? <sup>16</sup>"A green olive tree, fair, with goodly fruit," the LORD once called you; but at the roaring<sup>f</sup> of a great tempest He will set fire to it and consume its branches.<sup>g</sup> <sup>17</sup>For the LORD of hosts, who planted you, has threatened adversity against you, because of the great evil which the house of Israel and the house of Judah have done, goading Me by burning incense to Baal.

<sup>18</sup>The LORD revealed it to me and I knew it; then He showed me their actions. <sup>19</sup>But I was like a pet<sup>h</sup> lamb led to the slaughter. I did not know that they had concocted plots against me, saying, "Let us destroy the tree with its sap,<sup>i</sup> and let us cut him off from the land of the living, so that his name may be remembered no more." <sup>20</sup>But, O LORD of hosts, who judgest rightly, who tests<sup>j</sup> the reins<sup>k</sup> and heart,<sup>l</sup> let me see Thy vengeance on them; for to Thee have I committed my case. <sup>21</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD about the men of Anathoth, who seek your life, saying, "Stop prophesying in the name of the LORD, or you will die by our hand" — <sup>22</sup>therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: See, I will punish them; the young men shall die by the sword; their sons and their daughters shall die by famine, <sup>23</sup>and there shall be no remnant left of them. For I will bring calamity upon the men of Anathoth in the year of their punishment.

12 <sup>1</sup>RIGHTEOUS ART THOU, O LORD, when I complain to Thee; yet will I argue with Thee about justice. Why does the way of the wicked prosper? Why do all who are very treacherous flourish? <sup>2</sup>Thou plantest them, and they sprout; they grow<sup>m</sup> and bring forth fruit; Thou art near in their mouth but far from their inmost selves. <sup>3</sup>Thou, O LORD, knowest me; Thou seest me and triest my heart toward Thee. Pull them out like sheep

a) Giving it special attention. b) See the treatise in Deut. 8:19; 28:15 ff.

c) The essence of prayer is friendly conversation — impossible without love. d) Baal [ch. 3:24].

e) Judah [ch. 12:7]. f) As the rising of the tempest.

g) See Ps. 52:8; Hosea 14:6; during a great storm the olive tree was struck suddenly by lightning, sadly marring its beauty. h) "Tame" — trustful, unsuspecting.

i) Figure for a person in the full strength and vigor of life.

j) He is cognizant of man's emotions and affections, as well as of his thoughts and purposes [see ch. 17:10; 20:12; Ps. 7:9; 26:2].

for the slaughter, and mark them for the day of butchering.<sup>o</sup> <sup>4</sup>How long will the land mourn and the grass of every green field wither? For the wickedness of these that dwell in it, the beast and the bird are swept away, because they say, "He will not see our ending."<sup>p</sup>

<sup>5</sup>If you have raced with the footmen and they have worn you out, how then will you compete with horses? And if in a land of peace you are not secure, what will you do in the Jordan jungle?<sup>q</sup> <sup>6</sup>For even your brothers and the house of your father, even they have treated you treacherously; they pursue you with an alarm cry; do not believe them, though they speak flattering words to you.

<sup>7</sup>I have forsaken My house, I have cast off My heritage; I have given the beloved of My soul into the hand of her enemies. <sup>8</sup>My heritage has become to Me like a lion<sup>r</sup> in the forest; she utters her voice against Me; therefore I consider her hateful. <sup>9</sup>Is<sup>s</sup> My heritage to Me like a speckled bird of prey? Are the birds of prey against her all around?<sup>t</sup> Go, assemble all the beasts of the field; bring them to devour.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>10</sup>Many shepherds<sup>v</sup> have laid waste My vineyard; they have trampled underfoot My portion; they have made My pleasant portion a forlorn wilderness.

<sup>11</sup>They have made it a waste; solitary, it wails to Me.<sup>w</sup> The whole land is made desolate, but no man lays it to heart.<sup>x</sup> <sup>12</sup>Upon all the bare heights in the wilderness<sup>y</sup> the spoilers are come; for the sword of the LORD has consumed from one end of the earth to the other; no flesh has peace. <sup>13</sup>They have sown wheat but have reaped thorns; they have uselessly exhausted themselves, but they profit nothing; and they shall be ashamed of their harvests

because of the fierce anger of the LORD.

<sup>14</sup>Thus says the LORD regarding all My evil neighbors who touch the inheritance which I have given My people Israel to inherit: Observe, I will pluck them up from their land, and I will pluck the house of Judah from the midst of them. <sup>15</sup>And after I have plucked them up, I will return and have compassion on them, and I will bring back each to his inheritance and each to his land. <sup>16</sup>And it shall be, if they will diligently learn the ways of My people, to swear by My name, "As the LORD lives," even as they taught My people to swear by Baal, then they shall be built up in the midst of My people. <sup>17</sup>But if they will not listen, then I will utterly uproot that nation and destroy it, says the LORD.

13 <sup>1</sup>THUS THE LORD SPOKE TO ME: Go and buy a linen waistcloth, put it on your loins, and do not dip it in water. <sup>2</sup>So I bought the waistcloth according to the word of the LORD and put it on my loins. <sup>3</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to me a second time: <sup>4</sup>Take the waistcloth that you have bought, which is upon your loins, and arise, go to Euphrates,<sup>z</sup> and bury it there in a cleft of the rock. <sup>5</sup>So I went and hid it by Euphrates, as the LORD commanded. <sup>6</sup>After many days the LORD said to me: Arise, go to Euphrates, and take the waistcloth from the place where I commanded you to hide it. <sup>7</sup>Then I went to Euphrates and digged and took the waistcloth from the place where I had buried it. And look, the waistcloth was ruined;<sup>a</sup> it was good for nothing. <sup>8</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>9</sup>Thus says the LORD: Just so I will ruin the pride of Judah and the excessive pride of

q) The luxuriant growth of bushes and thick vegetation fringing the banks of the Jordan, infested with lions and other wild beasts, consequently dangerous to enter.

r) Unruly, uncontrollable, My open enemy.

s) A bird of unusual plumage which the other birds of the same kind attack.

t) Questions of astonishment, but true. u) Beasts of prey. v) Figure of invaders [ch. 6:3].

w) As a trouble resting upon Me.

x) No one has considered what would be the end of the policy which Judah has been pursuing.

y) The uncultivated pasture lands.

z) "Perath" means the Euphrates River when it has the article. Here it probably refers to "Parah," a town about three miles northeast of Anathoth [Josh. 18:23], located in a wild and rocky valley watered by a copious spring, Wady Fara, which runs into the Wady Kelt flowing down past Jericho into the Jordan.

Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup>This evil people, who refuse to hear My words, who stubbornly follow their own hearts and have gone after other gods to serve them and to worship them, shall be like this waistcloth, which is good for nothing. <sup>11</sup>Just as the waistcloth cleaves to the loins of a man, so I made to cleave to Me all the house of Israel and all the house of Judah, says the LORD, that they might be for Me a people, a name, and a glory; but they would not listen.

<sup>12</sup>Now you shall speak to them this word: Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, Every jar shall be filled with wine, and they will say to you, "Do we not know full well that every jar is filled with wine?" <sup>13</sup>Then you shall say to them, Thus says the LORD: Behold, I will fill with drunkenness<sup>b</sup> all the inhabitants of this land, the kings who sit on the throne of David, the priests, the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem. <sup>14</sup>And I will dash<sup>c</sup> them one against another, the fathers and sons, says the LORD. I will not pity or spare or have compassion, that I should not destroy them.

Where is the flock that was given you, your beautiful flock? <sup>21</sup>What will you say when they set as head over you those whom you trained to be friends with you?<sup>i</sup> Will not pangs take hold of you, like those of a woman in labor? <sup>22</sup>And if you say in your heart, "Why have these things come upon me?" it is for the greatness of your iniquity that your skirts are lifted and your heels are rudely exposed. <sup>23</sup>Can the Ethiopian change his skin or the leopard his spots? Then also you can do no good who are accustomed to do evil. <sup>24</sup>I will scatter you like chaff driven by the desert wind. <sup>25</sup>This is your lot, the portion I have measured out to you, says the LORD, because you have forgotten Me and have trusted in falsehoods. <sup>26</sup>Also I, on My part, will strip off your skirts up to your face and your nakedness will be exposed. <sup>27</sup>I have seen your detestable behavior, your adulteries and lustful cries, your lewd harlotries on the foothills in the fields. Woe to you, O Jerusalem! How long will it be before you are made clean?

m) Looking in vain for food [Job 11:20; Lam. 4:17].

<sup>10</sup>Thus says the LORD concerning this people: They have loved to wander thus; they have not curbed their feet; therefore the LORD does not accept them; now I<sup>r</sup> will remember their iniquity and punish their sins.<sup>r</sup>

<sup>11</sup>Then the LORD said to me: Do not even pray for the prosperity of this people. <sup>12</sup>When they fast, I will not hear their cry, and when they offer burnt offering and oblation, I will not accept them; but I will consume them by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence.<sup>s</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Then I said, "Alas, Lord God: see, the prophets tell them, 'You shall not see the sword, neither shall you experience famine, but I will give you assured peace<sup>t</sup> in this place.'<sup>u</sup>" <sup>14</sup>The LORD said to me: The prophets are prophesying lies in My name; I did not send them, neither did I command them, nor did I speak to them. They are prophesying to you a deceitful vision, a worthless divination, and the distortion of their own minds.<sup>u</sup> <sup>15</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD concerning the prophets who prophesy in My name: Although I did not send them, yet they say, "Sword and famine shall not come on this land." By sword and famine those prophets shall be consumed, <sup>16</sup>and the people to whom they prophesy shall be flung out in the streets of Jerusalem, victims of famine and sword, with no one to bury them, their wives, their sons, and their daughters. For I will pour out their wickedness upon them.

<sup>17</sup>You shall pronounce this word to them: Let my eyes run with tears night and day, and let them not cease; for the virgin daughter of my people is smitten with a great breach, with a very ugly wound. <sup>18</sup>If I go forth into the field, look, these slain by the sword! And if I enter into the city, note the diseases of famine.<sup>v</sup> Both prophet and priest roam in the land,<sup>w</sup> not knowing what to do.<sup>x</sup> <sup>19</sup>Hast Thou utterly rejected Judah? Does Thy soul despise Zion? Why then hast Thou smitten us so that there is no healing for us? We expected peace, but no good came; a time of healing, but behold, dismay! <sup>20</sup>We confess<sup>y</sup> our wickedness, O LORD, and the iniquity of our fathers, for we have sinned against Thee! <sup>21</sup>For Thy name's sake do not reject the throne of Thy glory; remember, and do not break Thy covenant with us.<sup>z</sup> <sup>22</sup>Are there any among the fallen gods<sup>a</sup> of the nations that can make rain? Or can the heavens give copious showers? Art Thou not He, the LORD our God? We wait for Thee, for Thou doest all these things.

603 B.C.

15 THEN THE LORD SAID TO ME, Though Moses and Samuel stood before Me, yet My mind would not incline toward this people. Send them out of My sight, and let them go forth! <sup>2</sup>When they say to you, "Where shall we go?" you shall tell them, Thus says the LORD: Those who are for death,<sup>b</sup> to death; and those who are for the sword, to the sword; and those who are for famine, to famine; and those who are for captivity, to captivity. <sup>3</sup>I will appoint over them four destroyers, says the LORD: the sword to slay, the dogs to tear, the fowls of the heavens and the beasts of the earth to devour and to destroy.<sup>4</sup> And I will make them a terror to all the kingdoms of the earth, because of what Manasseh the son of Hezekiah, king of Judah, did in Jerusalem.<sup>c</sup> <sup>5</sup>For who will have pity on you, O Jerusalem? Or who will commiserate you? Or who will turn aside to inquire of your welfare? <sup>6</sup>You have forsaken Me, says the LORD. You keep on going backward; therefore I have stretched out My hand against you and destroyed you; I am weary of grieving. <sup>7</sup>I have sifted them with a sifting sieve<sup>d</sup> in the gates of the land; I am broken-hearted, for I have destroyed My people, because they did not return from their ways. <sup>8</sup>I have increased the number of your widows more than the sands of the sea; I have brought against the mothers of young men<sup>e</sup> a devastation at noonday; I have caused agitation and dismay to fall suddenly upon them. <sup>9</sup>She who bore seven has languished; her soul has expired;<sup>f</sup> her sun<sup>g</sup> has gone down while it was still day. She has been put to shame and disgraced. And the remainder of them I will give to the sword before their enemies, says the LORD.

<sup>10</sup>Woe is me, my mother, that you have borne me, a man of strife and contention to the whole earth! I have lent no money, nor have I borrowed any money, yet they all curse me.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>15</sup>Thou knowest, O LORD, remember me and visit me, and take vengeance for me on my persecutors. Take me not away in Thy patience;<sup>k</sup> know that for Thy sake I suffer reproach. <sup>16</sup>Thy words were found, and I ate them,<sup>l</sup> and Thy words were to me a joy and a rejoicing of my heart; for I bear Thy name, O LORD, God of hosts. <sup>17</sup>I did not sit in the assembly of merrymakers, nor did I rejoice; because of Thy hand<sup>m</sup> I have sat alone; for Thou hast filled me with indignation. <sup>18</sup>Why is my pain perpetual and my wound incurable, refusing to be healed? Wilt Thou be to me like a deceitful brook, as waters that dry up?

daughters in this place. <sup>3</sup>For thus says the LORD concerning the sons and the daughters, who are born in this place and concerning the mothers who bore them and the fathers who begot them in this land: <sup>4</sup>They shall die of the pestilence;<sup>r</sup> they shall not be mourned, neither shall they be buried; they shall be as fertilizer on the topsoil. They shall be consumed by the sword and by famine, and their corpses shall be food for the birds of the air and for the beasts of the field.

<sup>5</sup>For thus says the LORD: Do not enter the house of grief, neither go to lament, nor to comfort them; for I have withdrawn My good will from this people, says the LORD, even kindness and compassion. <sup>6</sup>Both great and small shall die in this land; they shall not be buried; no one shall mourn<sup>s</sup> for them, or gash himself, or make himself bald<sup>t</sup> for them. <sup>7</sup>No one shall break bread for the mourner or comfort him for the dead; neither shall they give him the cup of consolation to drink for his father or his mother.<sup>u</sup> <sup>8</sup>You shall not enter the house of feasting to sit with them, to eat and drink. <sup>9</sup>For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Observe! I will banish from this place before your eyes and in your days the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride.

<sup>10</sup>Now, when you tell this people all these words, and they ask you, "Why has the LORD decreed all this great evil against us? What is our crime? What sin have we committed against the LORD, our God?" <sup>11</sup>then you shall tell them: "Because your fathers forsook Me, says the LORD, because they followed after foreign gods, serving and worshiping them; because they forsook Me and did not keep My teaching; <sup>12</sup>and because you have done worse than your fathers; for look, every one of you is following your own stubborn, evil mind, refusing to listen to Me. <sup>13</sup>So I will hurl you out of this land into the land which neither you nor your fathers have known, and there you shall serve other gods day and night, who will grant you no favor." <sup>14</sup>Therefore, take notice, the days are coming, says the LORD, when it shall no more be said, "As the LORD lives, who brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt," <sup>15</sup>but, "As the LORD lives who brought up the children of Israel from the north country, and from all the countries whither He had driven them." For I will bring them back into their own land that I gave to their fathers.

<sup>16</sup>Behold, I will send many fishers, says the LORD, and they shall catch them; and afterwards I will send many hunters, and they shall hunt them<sup>v</sup> out of every mountain and high hill and cleft of the rocks. <sup>17</sup>For My eyes are upon all their ways; they are not hid from Me, nor is their iniquity concealed from My eyes. <sup>18</sup>And I will double the recompense of their iniquity and their sin, because they have defiled My land with the dead bodies of their detestable idols<sup>w</sup> and have filled My heritage with their abominations. <sup>19</sup>O LORD, my strength and my stronghold, my refuge in the hour of trouble, to Thee shall nations come from the ends of the earth, and they shall say, "Our fathers got hold of unmitigated lies, vain and without profit."<sup>x</sup> <sup>20</sup>Can a man make for himself gods, when they are not gods?<sup>y</sup> <sup>21</sup>Therefore, I will cause them to know, this once will I cause them to know My hand and My authority, and they shall know that My name is the LORD.

18 THE WORD WHICH CAME TO Jeremiah from the LORD: <sup>2</sup>Arise, go down to the potter's house,<sup>1</sup> and there I will help you to understand My words. <sup>3</sup>So I went down to the potter's house, and look, he was doing a piece of work on the wheel.<sup>m</sup> <sup>4</sup>The vessel he was making of the clay was misformed in the hands of the potter. So he remade it into another vessel, as it seemed good to the potter to do. <sup>5</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>6</sup>O house of Israel, cannot I do with you as this potter did? says the LORD. Take notice, just as the clay is in the potter's hand, so are you in My hand,<sup>n</sup> O house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>If suddenly I declare concerning a nation or a kingdom, to pluck up, to break down, and to destroy it, <sup>8</sup>and if that nation concerning which I have spoken turns from its evil, then I will feel grieved about the punishment that I planned to apply to it. <sup>9</sup>And if at any moment I speak concerning a nation or a kingdom, to build and to plant it, <sup>10</sup>and if it does evil in my sight, not listening to My voice, then will I change from the good which I had intended to do to it.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>11</sup>Therefore, now say to the men of Judah and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, "Thus says the LORD: Behold, I am preparing calamity against you and devising a plan against you. Return, I pray you, everyone from his evil way, and amend your ways and your doings."<sup>p</sup> <sup>12</sup>But they say, "There is no use;<sup>q</sup> for we will follow after our own schemes, and behave each in accordance with the wilfulness<sup>r</sup> of his evil heart." <sup>13</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD: Inquire among the nations, who ever heard of anything comparable to this? The virgin Israel has done an exceedingly horrible thing. <sup>14</sup>Does the snow of Lebanon leave the rocks of the field? Or do the cold, flowing streams dry up?<sup>s</sup> <sup>15</sup>But My people have forgotten Me; they burn incense to false gods; and they have stumbled in their ways, in the ancient roads,<sup>t</sup> and have walked in bypaths, not the highway, <sup>16</sup>making their land a desolation and a perpetual hissing; everyone who passes by it is appalled and shakes his head.<sup>u</sup> <sup>17</sup>I will scatter them before the enemy like a hot east wind;<sup>v</sup> I will show them my back, not my face, in the day of their calamity.

<sup>18</sup>Then they said, "Come, and let us devise schemes against Jeremiah; for direction<sup>w</sup> shall not perish from the priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophet.<sup>x</sup> Come, and let us smite him with the tongue,<sup>y</sup> and let us not heed any of his words."

<sup>19</sup>Give heed to me, O LORD, hear what my opponents say. <sup>20</sup>Shall evil be recompensed for good? Yet they have dug a pit for my life. Remember how I stood before Thee to speak good for them, to turn back Thy anger from them. <sup>21</sup>Therefore deliver up their children to famine; give them over to the power of the sword,<sup>z</sup> and let their wives become childless and widowed; let their men meet death by pestilence and their young men be smitten by the sword in battle. <sup>22</sup>Let a cry<sup>a</sup> be heard from their houses, when Thou bringest the marauder suddenly upon them! For they have dug a pit to take me and laid snares for my feet. <sup>23</sup>Yet Thou, O LORD, knowest all their scheming to slay me. Forgive not their iniquity, neither blot out their sin from Thy sight; but let them be made to stumble before Thee; deal Thou with them in the time of Thy indignation.

19 THUS SAYS THE LORD: GO AND buy a potter's earthen jar, take some of the elders of the people and some of the older priests, <sup>2</sup>and go out to the Ben-hinnom Valley close to the entrance of the Potsherd Gate, and there proclaim the message I give you. <sup>3</sup>Say, "Hear the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah and dwellers of Jerusalem. Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Take note, I am bringing such a calamity upon this place that the ears of every hearer shall tingle."<sup>b</sup> <sup>4</sup>Because the people have abandoned Me and have desecrated this place by burning incense to other gods, which neither they nor their fathers nor the kings of Judah have known, and because they have filled this place with the blood of innocents,<sup>c</sup> <sup>5</sup>and have erected shrines to Baal for burning alive their sons in the fire for burnt offerings to Baal, which I did not command or decree, a thing that never entered My mind; <sup>6</sup>therefore, see, the days are coming, says the LORD, when this place shall no more be called Topheth, nor the Ben-hinnom Valley, but the Valley of Slaughter. <sup>7</sup>I will make void the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem in this place; and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies and by the hands of those seeking their life. I will give their corpses as food for the birds of the air and for the beasts of the earth. <sup>8</sup>I will make this city an astonishment and a scorn so that every one who passes by will be amazed and hiss because of all its calamities.<sup>d</sup> <sup>9</sup>And I will make the people eat the flesh of their own sons and daughters, and every one shall eat the flesh of his neighbor in the siege and in the distress with which their enemies and those who seek their life mistreat them."<sup>e</sup>

<sup>10</sup>Then you shall break the jar in the sight of the men who go with you, <sup>11</sup>and shall say to them, "Thus says the LORD of hosts: So will I break this people and this city as one breaks a potter's vessel, so that it cannot be repaired. Men shall bury in Topheth because there shall be no other place to bury. <sup>12</sup>This is how I will treat this place, says the LORD, and its inhabitants, making this city like Topheth. <sup>13</sup>The houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kings of Judah shall be as unclean as Topheth — all the houses upon whose roofs they have burned incense to all the host of heaven<sup>f</sup> and have poured out drink offerings to foreign gods."<sup>g</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Then Jeremiah left Topheth, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy, and he stood inside the court of the LORD's house, where he told all the people, <sup>15</sup>"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Behold I am bringing upon this city and upon all her environs all the calamity that I have pronounced against it, because they have stiffened their neck, refusing to hear My words."

upper Benjamin Gate of the house of the LORD.<sup>1</sup> <sup>3</sup>The next day Pashur released Jeremiah from the stocks, and Jeremiah said to him, "The LORD's name for you is not Pashur, but Magor-missabib."<sup>4</sup> For thus says the LORD: Take note, I will make you a terror to yourself and to all your friends; they shall fall by the sword of their enemies as you look on. And all Judah I will give into the hand of the king of Babylon, who shall carry them captive to Babylon and shall slay them with the sword.<sup>5</sup> I will also hand over all the wealth of this city, all its possessions, all its prized belongings, and all the treasures of the kings of Judah into the hands of their enemies who shall rifle and seize them and cart them off to Babylon. <sup>6</sup>And you, Pashur, and all who live in your house, shall go into captivity; to Babylon you shall go; there you shall die, and there you shall be buried, you and all your friends to whom you have prophesied falsely."<sup>k</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Thou didst persuade me, O LORD, and I was persuaded;<sup>1</sup> Thou art stronger than I, and Thou hast prevailed. I have become a laughingstock all day long; everyone ridicules me. <sup>8</sup>For whenever I speak, I cry out, I must shout, "Violence and spoil!" For the word of the LORD has become to me a reproach and a derision all day long. <sup>9</sup>If I say, "I will not think of Him or speak in His name again," then there is in my heart as it were a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I am weary with holding it in;<sup>m</sup> I cannot continue. <sup>10</sup>For I hear much muttering. Terror is on every side. "Silence him! Let us silence him,"<sup>n</sup> all my familiar friends remark, watching for my fall.<sup>o</sup> "Perhaps he will be enticed;<sup>p</sup> then we shall overcome him and take our revenge on him."

cutors will stumble and not prevail. They shall be greatly ashamed because they have acted unwisely. Their eternal dishonor will never be forgotten. <sup>12</sup>But, O LORD of hosts, who tests the righteous, who sees the heart and the mind, let me see Thy vengeance upon them; for to Thee have I committed my case. <sup>13</sup>Sing to the LORD; give praise to the LORD. For He has delivered the life of the needy from the hands of evildoers.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Cursed be the day when I was born! The day when my mother bore me, let it not be blessed! <sup>15</sup>Cursed be the man who brought the news to my father, saying, "A son is born to you," making him very glad. <sup>16</sup>And let that man be like the cities<sup>r</sup> which the LORD crushed without pity; let him hear shrieks<sup>s</sup> at dawn and the war cry at noon. <sup>17</sup>because he did not kill me in the womb so that my mother should have been my grave and her womb for ever great. <sup>18</sup>Why did I come forth from the womb to see toil and sorrow and spend my days in shame?

21 THE MESSAGE THAT CAME TO Jeremiah from the LORD, when King Zedekiah sent Pashur the son of Malchiah and Zephaniah the priest, the son of Maaseiah, saying, <sup>2</sup>"Inquire, I pray you, of the LORD for us, because Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, is making war on us."<sup>t</sup> Perhaps the LORD will deal with us according to all His wondrous works and will force him to retreat."

<sup>3</sup>But Jeremiah said to them, <sup>4</sup>"This shall you say to Zedekiah: 'Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Observe, I will turn back the weapons of war which are in your hands, with which you are fighting against the king of Babylon and against the Babylonians who are besieging you outside the walls, and I will gather them in the midst of this city. <sup>5</sup>Also, I Myself will fight against you with an outstretched hand, with a strong arm, in anger, in fury, and in great indignation. <sup>6</sup>I will strike down the dwellers of this city, both man and beast; they shall die of a great pestilence.<sup>u</sup> <sup>7</sup>Afterwards, says the LORD, I will deliver Zedekiah, king of Judah, and his servants and the people in this city who survive the pestilence, sword, and famine, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, and into the hands of their enemies, into the hand of those who seek their lives. He shall smite them with the edge of the sword; he shall not spare nor have pity or compassion on them.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>8</sup>"And to this people you shall say, 'Thus says the LORD: See, I set before you the way of life and the way of death.<sup>v</sup> <sup>9</sup>Any one remaining in this city shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence; but he who goes out and surrenders to the Chaldeans who are besieging you, shall live and shall have his life as a prize of war.'<sup>w</sup> <sup>10</sup>For I have set My face against this city for evil and not for good, says the LORD. It shall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire.'

<sup>6</sup>"For thus says the LORD regarding the house of the king of Judah: As Gilead<sup>b</sup> you are to me, as the summit of Lebanon. Yet I will certainly make you a wilderness, an uninhabited city. <sup>7</sup>I will prepare destroyers against you, every one with his weapons; and they shall cut down your choice cedars and cast them into the fire. <sup>8</sup>Many nations shall pass by this city and will say to one another, 'Why has the LORD done thus to this great city?' <sup>9</sup>And they will answer, 'Because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD their God and worshiped other gods and served them.'"

w) He will escape with it [cf. ch. 38:2; 39:18]. The only way of escape was to submit to God's instrument of judgment. This apparently unpatriotic advice later led to Jeremiah's arrest, imprisonment, and demand for his death [ch. 37:13-16].

x) The feminine gender denotes the personification of the community.

y) Place of security, like lions in their forest homes.

c) Josiah, slain by Pharaoh Necho at the battle of Megiddo, 609 B.C. [II Kings 23:29].

d) Jehoahaz succeeded his father Josiah, but after a reign of three months, 609 B.C. he was taken captive by Pharaoh Necho and carried into Egypt, where he died [II Kings 23:31-35].

<sup>11</sup>For thus says the LORD about Shallum<sup>e</sup> the son of Josiah, king of Judah, who reigned instead of Josiah his father, who went forth out of this place: He shall return here no more. <sup>12</sup>Also, he shall die in the place where you have carried him into exile; he shall never see this land again.

608 B.C.

<sup>18</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD about Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah: They shall not lament for him, saying, "Ah, my brother!" or "Ah, sister!" They shall not lament for him, saying, "Ah, master!" or "Ah, his majesty!"<sup>i</sup> <sup>19</sup>He shall be buried with the burial of a donkey, dragged along and cast forth beyond the gates of Jerusalem.

<sup>20</sup>Go up to Lebanon, cry out, and lift up your voice in Bashan. Cry from Abarim,<sup>j</sup> for all your lovers<sup>k</sup> are destroyed. <sup>21</sup>I spoke to you in your prosperity. You said, "I will not listen." This has been your way since you were young; you have not listened to My voice. <sup>22</sup>All your leaders the wind shall consume, and your lovers shall go in captivity; then you will be ashamed and confused because of all your wickedness. <sup>23</sup>O inhabitress of Lebanon, the one nestling among the cedars,<sup>l</sup> how you will groan when pangs come upon you, like the pain of a woman in labor! <sup>24</sup>As I live, says the LORD, though Coniah<sup>m</sup> the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, were the signet upon My right hand, yet would I pluck you from there. <sup>25</sup>And I will hand you over to these seeking your life, to the men whom you are dreading, to Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and the Chaldeans. <sup>26</sup>I will hurl you and your mother<sup>n</sup> who bore you, into another country, where you were not born, and there you shall die. <sup>27</sup>But to the land to which their soul yearns to return, they shall not return. <sup>28</sup>Is this man Coniah a despised, broken vessel?<sup>o</sup> Is he a vessel in which no one delights?<sup>p</sup> Why then are he and his offspring hurled and cast into an unknown land? <sup>29</sup>O land, land, land! hear the word of the LORD! <sup>30</sup>Thus says the LORD: Register this man as childless, a man who shall not prosper in his days; for none of his offspring shall succeed in sitting upon the throne of David and ruling again in Judah.

23 WOE TO THE SHEPHERDS WHO destroy and scatter the sheep of My pasture, says the LORD. <sup>2</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of Israel concerning the shepherds who feed My people: you have scattered My sheep and driven them away and have not tended them. Look! I on My part will attend to you for the evil of your doings, says the LORD. <sup>3</sup>I will also gather the remainder of My sheep from all the lands where I have driven them, and I will return them to their fold, and they shall be fruitful and multiply. <sup>4</sup>I will raise up shepherds over them who will care for them, and they shall fear no longer nor be dismayed, neither shall any be missing, says the LORD.

<sup>5</sup>See, the days are coming, says the LORD, when I will raise up to David a righteous Branch,<sup>u</sup> and He shall reign as king, deal wisely,<sup>r</sup> and execute judgment and righteousness in the land. <sup>6</sup>In his days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell securely; and this is His name whereby He shall be called: THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS.<sup>s</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Therefore, behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, when they shall say no more, "As the LORD lives who brought the children of Israel from the land of Egypt," <sup>8</sup>but, "As the LORD lives who brought up and who led the offspring of the house of Israel out of the north country and from all the countries where I had driven them." And they shall dwell in their own land.

<sup>9</sup>Concerning the prophets: My heart is broken within me; all my bones tremble; I am like a drunken man, like a man who has been overcome by wine, because of the LORD and because of His holy words. <sup>10</sup>For the land is filled with adulterers; on account of the curse<sup>t</sup> the land mourns, the pastures of the wilderness are dried up. They pursue evil, and they seek their might in unfairness. <sup>11</sup>Both prophet and priest are profane; even in My house have I found their wickedness, says the LORD. <sup>12</sup>Therefore their way shall become to them as slippery places in the dark; they shall be thrust along and fall; for I will bring misfortune upon them in the year of their punishment, says the LORD.

by Baal and caused My people Israel to err. <sup>14</sup>But in the prophets of Jerusalem I have seen a horrible thing: they commit adultery and walk in lies; they encourage the hands of evildoers so that they do not repent every one from his wickedness. They are all of them become to Me as Sodom and its inhabitants as Gomorrah. <sup>15</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the prophets: See, I will feed them with wormwood and make them drink the poison of gall water; for from the prophets of Jerusalem profaneness is gone forth into all the land.

<sup>16</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts: Do not listen to the words of the prophets that prophesy to you; they fill you with vain hopes; they utter the vision of their own heart and not from the mouth of the LORD. <sup>17</sup>They say continually to those who detest the word of the LORD, "You shall have peace"; and to every one walking in the stubbornness of his own heart, they say, "No evil shall come upon you." <sup>18</sup>For who among them has stood in the council of the LORD to perceive and hear My word? Who among them has listened to My word and obeyed it?

<sup>19</sup>Notice the tempest of the LORD! Fury has gone forth and a whirlwind; it shall whirl round upon the head of the wicked. <sup>20</sup>The LORD's anger will not subside until He has executed and until He has performed the purpose of His heart; in the latter days you shall understand it perfectly. <sup>21</sup>I did not send those prophets, yet they ran; I had not spoken to them, yet they prophesied. <sup>22</sup>But if they had stood in My council, then they would have caused My people to hear My words and would have turned them back from the evil way, from the evil of their doings.

<sup>23</sup>Am I a God close by, says the LORD, and not a God afar off? <sup>24</sup>Can a man hide himself in secret places and I shall not see him? says the LORD. Do I not fill heaven and earth? says the

r) Dealing with wisdom, such as commanding success [Josh. 1:8; I Sam. 18:5, 14].

s) Receiving a name symbolizing the ideal character displayed by the nation [Isa. 1:26; 61:11], for God, as now we know, in Christ, is the source of our righteousness.

t) Because of its transgression [Isa. 4:5,6; Deut. 8:15,16].

u) The questions imply: "No one." None of these prophets was admitted into the council of the LORD and there heard His word [see I Kings 22:19-23].

LORD. <sup>25</sup>I have heard what the prophets say, who prophesy lies in My name, saying, "I have dreamed, I have dreamed." <sup>26</sup>How long shall there be lies in the heart of the prophets who prophesy lies and who prophesy the conceit of their own heart; <sup>27</sup>who intend to cause My people to forget My name by their dreams, which they tell one another, as their fathers forgot My name through Baal? <sup>28</sup>The prophet who has a dream, let him tell his dream, and he who has My word, let him speak My word faithfully. What has straw to do with grain? says the LORD. <sup>29</sup>Is not My word like a fire, says the LORD, and like a hammer that shatters the rock?

<sup>30</sup>Therefore, behold, I am against the prophets, says the LORD, who steal My words everyone from his neighbor.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>31</sup>Look, I am against the prophets, says the LORD, who use their own tongues and say, "The LORD says."<sup>w</sup> <sup>32</sup>Behold, I am against those who prophesy lying dreams, says the LORD, and who tell them and lead my people astray by their lies and reckless boasting; yet I did not send nor command them; neither do they profit this people at all, says the LORD.

<sup>33</sup>And when one of this people, or the prophet, or a priest, asks you, "What is the LORD's burden?"<sup>x</sup> then you shall say to them, "You are the burden! And I will cast you off," says the LORD. <sup>34</sup>And as for the prophet, priest, or one of the people who says, "The LORD's oracle," I will punish that man and his house.<sup>y</sup> <sup>35</sup>Thus shall you say every one to his neighbor and every one to his brother, "What has the LORD answered?" or "What has the LORD spoken?" <sup>36</sup>But "the LORD's oracle" you shall mention no more, for every man's own word is his oracle, and you pervert the words of the living God, the LORD of hosts, our God.

<sup>37</sup>Thus shall you say to the prophet, "What has the LORD answered you?" or "What has the LORD spoken?" <sup>38</sup>But if you say, "The LORD's oracle," thus says the LORD, Because you say this word, "The LORD's oracle," when I sent to you saying, You shall not say, "The LORD's oracle,"<sup>z</sup> <sup>39</sup>therefore, behold, I will surely lift you up and cast you away from My presence, you and the city which I gave to you and your fathers. <sup>40</sup>And I will bring upon you an everlasting reproach and a perpetual ignominy which shall not be forgotten.

24 THE LORD SHOWED ME TWO baskets of figs<sup>a</sup> arranged before the temple of the LORD after Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had taken into exile Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, together with the princes of Judah, the craftsmen, and the smiths from Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babylon. <sup>2</sup>One basket had very good figs, like the first-ripe figs; the other basket had very bad figs, which were so bad, they could not be eaten. <sup>3</sup>Then the LORD said to me: What do you see, Jeremiah? I said, "Figs, the good figs very good, and the bad, very bad, which cannot be eaten, they are so bad."

<sup>4</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>5</sup>Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: As these good figs, I will regard approvingly the exiles of Judah, whom I have sent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans. <sup>6</sup>For I will set My eyes upon them for their good, and I will bring them again to this land; I will build them and not pull them down; I will plant them and not pluck them up. <sup>7</sup>And I will give them a heart to know Me, that I am the LORD; and they shall be My people, and I will be their God; for they shall return to Me with their whole heart.

<sup>x</sup>) "Massa": something "lifted" or "taken up." Either literally a burden or a figure, something "taken up" upon the lips, a solemn "utterance" or "oracle."

<sup>y</sup>) The LORD retorts: Not My words, but you yourselves, are the "burden"; and I will no longer be burdened with you.

<sup>z</sup>) They had despised Jeremiah's prophecies of coming disaster; hence they were never to use the word "burden" in the future. They were not to ask a prophet, "What message have you?" but, "What has the LORD answered, or said?"

<sup>8</sup>As the bad figs which cannot be eaten because they are so foul, thus, says the LORD, will I treat Zedekiah the king of Judah and his princes and the remainder of Jerusalem, that remain in this land, and those that dwell in the land of Egypt. <sup>9</sup>I will give them up to be tossed back and forth among all the kingdoms of the earth for evil, to be a reproach and a byword, a taunt, and a curse in all places where I shall scatter them. <sup>10</sup>I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them till they are consumed from off the land that I gave them and their fathers.<sup>b</sup>

25 THE WORD THAT CAME TO JEREMIAH concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of Jehoia-kim<sup>c</sup> the son of Josiah, king of Judah (that was the first year of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon), <sup>2</sup>which Jeremiah the prophet spoke to all the people of Judah and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem: <sup>3</sup>For twenty-three years<sup>d</sup> now, from the thirteenth year of Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah, to this day, the word of the LORD has come to me, and I have spoken persistently to you, but you have not listened. <sup>4</sup>Also, the LORD persistently sent to you all His servants the prophets, rising early and sending, but you neither listened nor inclined your ear to hear, <sup>5</sup>saying, "Return every one of you from his evil way and from your wrong doings, and dwell in the land which the LORD has given you and your fathers from of old and forever. <sup>6</sup>Go not after other gods to serve them and worship them or provoke Me to anger with the work of your hands; then I will bring upon you no calamity." <sup>7</sup>But you have not listened to Me, says the LORD, that you might provoke Me to anger with the work of your hands to your own hurt. <sup>8</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: Because you have not obeyed

My words, <sup>9</sup>look, I will send for all the tribes of the north, says the LORD, and for Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, My servant,<sup>e</sup> and I will bring them against this land and its inhabitants, and against all these nations all around; I will utterly destroy them and make them an abomination, a hissing, and an everlasting reproach. <sup>10</sup>And I will remove from them the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the grinding of millstones,<sup>f</sup> and the light of the lamp. <sup>11</sup>This whole land shall be a ruin and a waste, and these nations shall serve the king of Babylon seventy years. <sup>12</sup>Then after seventy years are completed, I will punish the king of Babylon and that nation, the land of the Chaldeans, for their iniquity, says the LORD, making the land an everlasting waste. <sup>13</sup>I will bring upon that land all the words which I have pronounced against it, everything written in this book, which Jeremiah prophesied against all the nations. <sup>14</sup>For many nations and great kings shall make them slaves,<sup>g</sup> too. I will reward them according to their deeds and according to the work of their hands.

<sup>15</sup>For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel to me: Take this cup of the wine of indignation from My hand, and make all the nations to whom I send you drink it. <sup>16</sup>They shall drink and stagger<sup>h</sup> and be frantic, because of the sword which I am sending among them.

<sup>17</sup>So I took the cup from the hand of the LORD and gave it to all the peoples to whom the LORD had sent me, to drink it: <sup>18</sup>Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, its kings and princes, to make them a waste and a horror, a hissing and a curse, as at this day; <sup>19</sup>Pharaoh, king of Egypt, his servants, his princes, all his people, <sup>20</sup>all the mixed people;<sup>i</sup> all the kings of the land of Uz;<sup>j</sup> and all the kings of the

<sup>27</sup>Then you shall say to them, Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Drink, and be drunk; vomit, and fall to rise no more, because of the sword which I am sending among you. <sup>28</sup>If they refuse to take the cup from your hand to drink, then you shall say to them, Thus says the LORD of hosts: You shall surely drink! <sup>29</sup>Look! If, with the city which is called by My name<sup>t</sup> I am beginning to work calamity, should you go unpunished? You shall not go unpunished, for I am summoning a sword against all the inhabitants of the earth, says the LORD of hosts.

<sup>32</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts: Behold, punishment is going forth from nation to nation, and a great tempest is stirring up from the uttermost corners of the earth! <sup>33</sup>Those slain by the LORD on that day shall extend from one end of the earth to the other. They shall not be mourned, or gathered, or buried; they shall be as manure upon the face of the ground.

I have set before you, <sup>5</sup>to heed the words of My servants the prophets whom I send to you continually, rising up early and sending them (but you have not listened), <sup>6</sup>then I will make this house like Shiloh, and this city I will make a curse to all the nations of the earth.

<sup>7</sup>The priests, the prophets,<sup>b</sup> and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the LORD's house. <sup>8</sup>And when Jeremiah had finished speaking all that the LORD had commanded him to speak to all the people, then the priests, the prophets, and all the people seized him, saying, "You shall surely die! <sup>9</sup>Why have you prophesied in the LORD's name, saying, 'This house shall be like Shiloh, and this city shall be desolate, without an inhabitant?'" And all the people were gathered around Jeremiah in the LORD's house.

<sup>10</sup>When the princes of Judah heard these things, they came up from the king's house to the house of the LORD and sat in the entrance of the New Gate<sup>c</sup> of the LORD's house. <sup>11</sup>Then the priests and the prophets said to all the princes and to all the people, "This man is worthy of death, because he has prophesied against this city, as you have heard with your ears." <sup>12</sup>Then Jeremiah told all the princes and all the people, "The LORD sent me to prophesy against this house and against this city all the words that you have heard. <sup>13</sup>Now therefore, amend your ways and your doings,<sup>d</sup> and obey the voice of the LORD your God, and the LORD will relent concerning this calamity which He has spoken against you. <sup>14</sup>But as for me, you see, I am in your hands. Do to me as appears good and right to you. <sup>15</sup>Only know for certain that if you put me to death you will bring innocent blood upon yourselves, upon this city, and upon its inhabitants; for in truth the LORD sent me to you to speak all these words in your ears."

<sup>16</sup>Then the princes and all the people said to the priests and to the prophets, "This man does not deserve death, for he has spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God." <sup>17</sup>Then certain of the elders of the land stood up and said to all the assembled people, <sup>18</sup>"Micah,<sup>e</sup> the Morasthite,<sup>f</sup> prophesied in the days of Hezekiah, king of Judah, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: Zion shall be plowed as a field; Jerusalem shall become a heap of ruins, and the mountain of the house<sup>g</sup> a wooded height.' <sup>19</sup>Did Hezekiah and all Judah, indeed, put him to death? Did he not revere the LORD and entreat His favor, and did not the LORD feel grief about the calamity, which He had pronounced against them? But we are about to bring great misfortune upon ourselves."

<sup>20</sup>There was another man who prophesied in the name of the LORD, Urijah the son of Shemaiah of Kiriath-jearim.<sup>h</sup> He prophesied against this city and against this land in words like those of Jeremiah. <sup>21</sup>And when king Jehoiakim, with all his warriors and all the princes, heard those words, the king sought to put him to death; but when Urijah heard of it, he was afraid and fled and escaped to Egypt. <sup>22</sup>Then King Jehoiakim sent some men to Egypt, Elnathan the son of Achbor<sup>i</sup> and others with him to Egypt. <sup>23</sup>They brought forth Urijah out of Egypt and brought him to King Jehoiakim, who slew him with the sword<sup>j</sup> and cast his body into the cemetery of the common people.<sup>k</sup> <sup>24</sup>But the hand of Ahikam<sup>l</sup> the son of Shaphan was with Jeremiah so that he was not given over to the people to put him to death.

came to Jeremiah from the LORD. <sup>2</sup>Thus said the LORD to me: Make yourself thongs and yoke-bars<sup>o</sup> and put them on your neck. <sup>3</sup>Then send<sup>p</sup> a message to the king of Moab, to the king of the Ammonites, to the king of Tyre and to the king of Sidon by the hand of the messengers who have come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah king of Judah. <sup>4</sup>Give them this charge for their masters: Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: This is what you shall say to your masters: <sup>5</sup>It is I who made the earth, with the men and the beasts that are upon it, by My great power and by My outstretched arm, and I give it to whomever it seems right to Me. <sup>6</sup>Now I have given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, the king of Babylon, My servant; even the beasts of the field too I have given him to serve him. <sup>7</sup>All nations shall serve him and his son and grandson, until the time comes around for his own land; then many nations and great kings shall make him their servant.<sup>q</sup> <sup>8</sup>But if any nation or kingdom will not serve this Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon and will not place its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, I will punish that nation with the sword, with famine, and with pestilence, says the LORD, until I have destroyed it by his hand. <sup>9</sup>So then, do not listen to your prophets, your diviners, your dreamers,<sup>r</sup> your soothsayers, or your sorcerers,<sup>s</sup> who are saying to you, "You shall not serve the king of Babylon." <sup>10</sup>For they prophesy a lie to you; in consequence your feet will be removed from your land, for I will drive you out, and you will perish. <sup>11</sup>Whereas the nation that puts its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon and serves him, I will leave on its own land, to till and to dwell in it, says the LORD.

your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon; serve him and his people and live. <sup>13</sup>Why should you and your people die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence, as the LORD has threatened any nation that will not serve the king of Babylon? <sup>14</sup>Do not listen to the words of the prophets who are saying to you, "You shall not serve the king of Babylon," for they prophesy a lie to you. <sup>15</sup>I have not sent them, says the LORD, but they prophesy falsely in My name; consequently, I will drive you out, and you will perish, you and the prophets who prophesy to you.

<sup>16</sup>Then I said to the priests<sup>t</sup> and to all this people, Thus says the LORD: Do not listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you, saying, "Look, the vessels of the LORD's house will now shortly be brought back from Babylon," for they prophesy a lie to you. <sup>17</sup>Do not listen to them; serve the king of Babylon and live. Why should this city become a waste? <sup>18</sup>If they are prophets and if the LORD's word be really with them, let them plead with the LORD of hosts, that the vessels which are left in the LORD's house and in the house of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem, may not be carried to Babylon. <sup>19</sup>For thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the pillars, the sea, the pedestals,<sup>u</sup> and the remainder of the vessels which are left in this city, <sup>20</sup>which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon did not take away, when he took into exile Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babylon, with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem — <sup>v</sup> <sup>21</sup>thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, regarding the vessels that remain in the LORD's house, in the house of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem: <sup>22</sup>They shall be carried to Babylon<sup>w</sup> and remain there until the day that I remember them, says the LORD. 593 B.C.

28 THIS HAPPENED IN THE SAME year at the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year, in the fifth month. The prophet Hananiah the son of Azbuz, a Gibeonite,<sup>y</sup> said to me in the house of the LORD in the presence of the priests and all the people, <sup>2</sup>"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon. <sup>3</sup>Within two years I will bring back to this place all the vessels of the LORD's house, which Nebuchadnezzar removed from this place and carried to Babylon. <sup>4</sup>I will also bring back to this place Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and all the exiles from Judah who went to Babylon, says the LORD, because I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon."

<sup>5</sup>Then the prophet Jeremiah addressed the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests and of all the people who were standing in the LORD's house. <sup>6</sup>The prophet Jeremiah said, "Amen! May the LORD do so;<sup>z</sup> may the LORD fulfil the words which you have prophesied, by bringing back the vessels of the LORD's house and all the exiles from Babylon to this place. <sup>7</sup>Yet hear, I plead with you, this word which I am about to speak in your hearing and in the hearing of all the people. <sup>8</sup>The prophets who have preceded me and you from of old prophesied calamity against many countries and great kingdoms. <sup>9</sup>But as for the prophet who prophesied only peace, when the word of that prophet is fulfilled, then it will be known that the LORD has truly sent the prophet."

<sup>10</sup>Then the prophet Hananiah took the yoke-bars from the neck of the prophet Jeremiah and shattered them. <sup>11</sup>And Hananiah said in the presence of all the people, "Thus says the LORD: Even so will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon within two years from off the neck of all the nations." But the prophet Jeremiah went his way.

<sup>12</sup>The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah some time after the prophet Hananiah had broken the yoke-bars from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, saying: <sup>13</sup>Go, tell Hananiah, "Thus says the LORD: You have broken the wooden bars, but I will replace them with bars of iron. <sup>14</sup>For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: I have placed an iron yoke upon the neck of all these nations, a yoke of slavery to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and serve him they shall; even the beasts of the field I have given him."<sup>a</sup>

<sup>15</sup>Then the prophet Jeremiah said to the prophet Hananiah, "Listen, Hananiah! The LORD has never sent you; but you are making this people trust in a lie. <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD: Observe, I will remove you from off the face of the earth. This year you shall die, because you have advocated disloyalty to the LORD." <sup>17</sup>So in that same year during the seventh month the prophet Hananiah died.

29 THESE ARE THE CONTENTS OF the letter that Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem to those left of the elders of the exiles, to the priests, to the prophets, and to all the people, whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon. <sup>2</sup>This was after the surrender of King Jeconiah and the queen mother,<sup>b</sup> the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, the craftsmen, and the smiths from Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>The letter was sent to Elasah the son of Shaphan<sup>c</sup> and Gemariah the son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon: <sup>4</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, to all the exiles whom I have sent into exile from Jerusalem: <sup>5</sup>Build houses and live in them; plant gardens and eat their products; <sup>6</sup>take wives and bear sons and daughters; take wives for your sons, and give your daughters in marriage so that they may bear sons and daughters; multiply there and do not decrease. <sup>7</sup>Seek the welfare of the city where I have sent you into exile, and pray to the LORD for it; for its welfare shall be your welfare.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>8</sup>For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Do not permit your prophets and soothsayers who are among you to deceive you; do not listen to their dreams. <sup>9</sup>For they prophesy falsely to you in My name; I did not send them, says the LORD. <sup>10</sup>For thus says the LORD: As soon as the seventy years are completed for Babylon,<sup>e</sup> I will visit you and fulfill My promise to you<sup>f</sup> in returning you to this place. <sup>11</sup>For I know the thoughts I think<sup>g</sup> concerning you, says the LORD, thoughts of peace and not of hurt, to give you a future and a hope. <sup>12</sup>Then you will call upon Me and will come to pray to Me, and I will hear you. <sup>13</sup>You will seek Me and find Me when you will seek Me with all your heart.<sup>h</sup> <sup>14</sup>I will be found of you, says the LORD, and I will restore your fortune by gathering you from all the nations and from all the places where I have driven you, says the LORD, and I will bring you back to the place from which I sent you into exile.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>15</sup>Because you have said, "The LORD has raised up prophets for us in Babylon," <sup>16</sup>thus says the LORD concerning the king who sits on the throne of David and concerning all the people who dwell in this city, your kinsmen who did not go with you into exile: <sup>17</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts, Take notice! I am sending upon them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence; and I will make them like ripe figs which are so bad they cannot be eaten. <sup>18</sup>I will pursue them with the sword, with famine, and with pestilence, and

I will make them a consternation to all the kingdoms of the earth,<sup>j</sup> an execration, a terror, a hissing, and a reproach among all the nations where I have driven them, <sup>19</sup>because they did not obey My words, says the LORD, which I continually sent to them by My servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them; but they would not listen, says the LORD.

<sup>20</sup>Hear the word of the LORD, all you exiles whom I sent away from Jerusalem to Babylon: <sup>21</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning Ahab the son of Kolaiah and concerning Zedekiah the son of Maaschiah, who prophesy lies to you in My name: Look! I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he shall slay them before your eyes. <sup>22</sup>Because of them, this curse shall be used by all the exiles from Judah which are in Babylon: "The LORD make you like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire." <sup>23</sup>They committed a disgraceful thing<sup>k</sup> in Israel; they have committed adultery with their neighbors' wives, and they have spoken false words in My name which I did not command them. I am He who knows, and I am witness, says the LORD.

<sup>24</sup>To Shemaiah the Nehelamite you shall say, <sup>25</sup>"Thus speaks the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: You have sent letters in your own name to all the people who are in Jerusalem and to Zephaniah<sup>l</sup> the son of Maaschiah the priest, and to all the priests, saying that <sup>26</sup>the LORD has made you priest instead of Jehoiada the priest, to have oversight in the house of the LORD over every ecstatic who makes himself mad, pretending to be a prophet,<sup>m</sup> to put him in the stocks and collar. <sup>27</sup>Why then have you not rebuked Jeremiah of Anathoth, who prophesies to you? <sup>28</sup>For he has sent to us in Babylon, saying, 'The time<sup>n</sup> is long;

<sup>29</sup>And Zephaniah the priest read this letter in the hearing of Jeremiah the prophet. <sup>30</sup>Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah: <sup>31</sup>Send this message to all the exiles, Thus says the LORD regarding Shemaiah the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah has prophesied to you and I did not send him, and he has made you to trust a lie, <sup>32</sup>therefore, thus says the LORD: Look, I will punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his posterity; he shall not have a man living among this people; neither will he see the good that I will do to My people, says the LORD, because he has preached rebellion against the LORD.

30 THE WORD THAT CAME TO JEREMIAH FROM THE LORD. <sup>2</sup>Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Write all the words that I have spoken to you in a book. <sup>3</sup>For note, the days are coming, says the LORD, that I will return the captivity of My people Israel and Judah, says the LORD, and I will bring them back to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possess it. <sup>4</sup>And these are the words that the LORD spoke concerning Israel and concerning Judah.

<sup>5</sup>For thus says the LORD: We have heard a voice of trembling; there is terror and no peace. <sup>6</sup>Ask now and see, can a man bear a child? Why then do I see every man with his hands on his loins as a woman in travail? And why has every face turned pale? <sup>7</sup>Alas! that day is great; there is none like it. It is a time of distress for Jacob; yet he shall be saved out of it. <sup>8</sup>And it shall come to pass in that day, says the LORD of hosts, that I will break the yoke from off their neck, and I will burst their bonds; and strangers shall no more make servants of them. <sup>9</sup>But they<sup>p</sup> shall serve the LORD their God and David their king,<sup>q</sup> whom I will raise up for them.

<sup>10</sup>And thou, fear them not, O Jacob, My servant, says the LORD, neither be dismayed, O Israel; for lo, I will save you from afar, and your posterity from the land of their captivity; Jacob shall return and enjoy peace and security, and none shall make him afraid.<sup>r</sup> <sup>11</sup>For I am with you, says the LORD, to deliver you; for I will make a complete end of all the nations among whom I have scattered you, but of you will I not make a complete end; but I will discipline you with judgment<sup>s</sup> and will nowise hold you guiltless. <sup>12</sup>For, says the LORD, your injury is incurable, and your wound is grievous. <sup>13</sup>There is none to plead your cause, no medicine for your bound up wound; there is no healing for you. <sup>14</sup>All your lovers<sup>t</sup> have forgotten you; they do not seek you; for I have stricken you with the blow of an enemy, the chastisement of a cruel foe, because your iniquity is great and your sins are numerous. <sup>15</sup>Why do you cry over your injury? Your pain is incurable; because your guilt is great and your sins are numerous, I have done these things to you. <sup>16</sup>I however, all who devour you shall be devoured; and all your adversaries, every one of them, shall go into captivity; those who exploit you shall be exploited, and all who prey upon you I will make a prey. <sup>17</sup>For I will restore health to you, and I will heal your wounds, says the LORD, because they have called you an outcast, “It is Zion, for whom no one cares!”

shall be as they were of old; their congregation shall be established before Me,<sup>v</sup> and I will punish all who oppress them. <sup>21</sup>Their prince shall be from among themselves, and their ruler shall come forth from their midst;<sup>w</sup> I will cause him to draw near, and he shall approach Me;<sup>x</sup> for who else has the boldness on his own initiative to approach Me? says the LORD. <sup>22</sup>Then you shall be My people, and I will be your God. <sup>23</sup>Observe the tempest of the LORD! Indignation has gone forth, a sweeping tempest; it will burst upon the head of the wicked. <sup>24</sup>The fierce indignation of the LORD will not turn back until He has executed and performed the intents of his heart; in the latter days you shall understand this.

<sup>8</sup>Take note, I will bring them from the north country, and gather them from the extreme corners of the earth; among them the blind and the lame, the woman with child and she who is in labor, together; a great company, they shall return here. <sup>9</sup>They shall come with weeping, and I will lead them back with supplications. I will cause them to walk by streams of water,<sup>e</sup> in a straight path in which they shall not stumble; for I am a Father to Israel, and Ephraim is My first-born.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>10</sup>Hear the word of the LORD, O nations; publish it in the islands afar off, and say, "He who scattered Israel will gather him and keep him, as a shepherd does his flock." <sup>11</sup>For the LORD has ransomed Jacob and redeemed him from the hand of him who was stronger than he. <sup>12</sup>And they shall come and sing out their joy on the height of Zion and beam with joy over the bounty of the LORD, over the grain, over the new wine, and over the fresh oil, and over the young of the flock and the herd; and their soul shall be like a watered garden;<sup>g</sup> they shall pine away no more. <sup>13</sup>Then the virgin shall rejoice in the dance, and the young men and old shall be merry; I will turn their mourning into joy; I will comfort them and make them rejoice for their sorrow. <sup>14</sup>And I will feast the soul<sup>h</sup> of the priests with abundance,<sup>i</sup> and My people shall be satisfied with My bounty, says the LORD.

32 THE WORD CAME TO JEREMIAH from the LORD in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar. <sup>2</sup>At that time the king of Babylon's army was besieging Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was shut up in the court of the guard,<sup>f</sup> which was in the king of Judah's house. <sup>3</sup>For<sup>g</sup> Zedekiah king of Judah had imprisoned him, saying, "Why do you prophesy and say,<sup>h</sup> 'Thus says the LORD: Behold, I am giving this city into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he shall take it; <sup>4</sup>and Zedekiah king of Judah shall not escape out of the hand of the Chaldeans, but shall surely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon and shall speak with him face to face and see him eye to eye. <sup>5</sup>And he shall lead Zedekiah to Babylon, and there he shall remain until I visit him, says the LORD; though you fight against the Chaldeans, you shall not succeed?"

<sup>6</sup>Jeremiah said, "The word of the LORD came to me: <sup>7</sup>See, Hanamel the son of Shallum your uncle is coming to you, saying, 'Buy my field that is at Anathoth,<sup>i</sup> for the right of redemption is yours to buy it.' <sup>8</sup>Then Hanamel my uncle's son came to me in conformity with the word of the LORD in the court of the guard and said to me, 'Buy my field that is at Anathoth in the land of Benjamin, for the right of inheritance and redemption is yours; buy it for yourself.' Then I knew that it was the LORD's word.<sup>j</sup> <sup>9</sup>So I bought the field at Anathoth of Hanamel my cousin and weighed out the money to him, seventeen silver shekels.

<sup>10</sup>I signed the deed, sealed it, secured witnesses, and weighed him the money on balances. <sup>11</sup>Then I took the purchase deed, both that which was sealed, containing the injunction and conditions,<sup>k</sup> and the open copy. <sup>12</sup>I handed the purchase deed to Baruch<sup>l</sup> the son of Neriah the son of Mahseiah, in the presence of Hanamel my uncle's son and in the presence of the witnesses who signed the purchase deed and in the presence of all the Jews who sat in the guardhouse. <sup>13</sup>I charged Baruch in their presence, <sup>14</sup>"Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Take these deeds, the purchase deed which is sealed and this open deed, and put them in an earthen vessel,<sup>m</sup> so that they may endure for a long time. <sup>15</sup>For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Houses and fields and vineyards shall again be bought in this land.'

m) To secure them against dampness, etc. Earthen jars containing such duplicate contracts have been excavated by archaeologists.

<sup>16</sup>"After I had given the purchase deed to Baruch the son of Neriah, I prayed to the LORD, <sup>17</sup>"Alas, Lord God! See, Thou hast made the heaven and the earth by Thy great power and by Thy outstretched arm. Nothing is too wonderful for Thee, <sup>18</sup>the One showing kindness to thousands, the One recompensing the iniquity of the fathers into the bosom of their children after them; O great and mighty God, the LORD of hosts is His name, <sup>19</sup>great in counsel and mighty in deed, whose eyes are open to all the ways of the sons of men, rewarding every one according to his ways and according to the fruit of his doings;<sup>n</sup> <sup>20</sup>who hast set signs and wonders in the land of Egypt and to this day in Israel and among all mankind and hast made Thee a name, as at this day <sup>21</sup>and brought Thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs, with wonders, with a strong hand, an outstretched arm, and with great terror. <sup>22</sup>Thou gavest them this land, which Thou didst swear to their fathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey. <sup>23</sup>They came in and possessed it; but they did not obey Thy voice, or walk in Thy law; they did nothing of all Thou commandest them to do; Thou hast sent all this punishment upon them. <sup>24</sup>Behold, the siege mounds<sup>o</sup> are come to the city to take it; because of the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, the city is given into the hands of the Chaldeans who fight against it. What Thou hast spoken has come to pass, and behold, Thou seest it. <sup>25</sup>Yet, Thou, O LORD God, hast said to me, Purchase the field for money and secure witnesses — although the city is given into the hands of the Chaldeans!"

<sup>26</sup>Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah: <sup>27</sup>Observe, I am the LORD, the God of all flesh. Is there anything too difficult for Me? <sup>28</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD: See, I am giving this city into the hands of the Chaldeans and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he shall take it.<sup>p</sup> <sup>29</sup>The Chaldeans who are fighting against this city shall come and set this city on fire and burn it with the houses upon whose roofs incense has been offered to Baal and drink offerings have been poured out to other gods in order to provoke Me to anger. <sup>30</sup>For the children of Israel and the children of Judah have done nothing but evil in My sight from their youth; for the children of Israel only vex Me with the work of their hands, says the LORD. <sup>31</sup>For this city has aroused My anger and My wrath from the day when it was built to this day, so that I will remove it from My sight <sup>32</sup>because of all the evil of the children of Israel and of the children of Judah which they did to vex Me — they, their kings, their princes, their priests, their prophets, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. <sup>33</sup>They have turned to Me their back and not their face; and although I taught them persistently, rising up early and teaching them, yet they have not listened to receive correction. <sup>34</sup>But they set their detestable things in the house which is called by My name, to defile it. <sup>35</sup>They built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of the son of Hinnom, to cause their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire to Molech, which I neither commanded them nor did it enter My mind — this abominable practice to make Judah sin.

<sup>36</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning this city of which you say, "It is given into the hand of the king of Babylon by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence": <sup>37</sup>Look, I will gather them out of all the countries where I have driven them in My anger and My fury and in My great wrath; and I will bring them back to this place, and I will make them dwell in safety. <sup>38</sup>Then they shall be My people, and I will be their God; <sup>39</sup>and I will give them one heart and one way, that they may revere Me for ever for the good of them and of their children after them. <sup>40</sup>And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from doing good to them; and My reverence will I put in their heart that they may not turn away from Me. <sup>41</sup>I will rejoice over doing them good, and I will plant them in this land in faithfulness with all My heart and with all My soul.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>42</sup>For thus says the LORD: Just as I have brought upon this people all this great calamity, so I will bring upon them all the good that I promise them. <sup>43</sup>Fields shall be bought in this land of which you are saying, "It is desolate, without man or beast; it is given into the hands of the Chaldeans." <sup>44</sup>They shall buy fields for money, sign the deeds, seal them, and secure witnesses in the land of Benjamin, in the places about Jerusalem, in the cities of Judah, in the cities of the hill country, in the cities of the Shephelah,<sup>r</sup> and in the cities of the south; for I will restore their fortunes, says the LORD.

587 B.C.

33 THEN THE WORD OF THE LORD came to Jeremiah a second time, while he was shut up in the court of the guard: <sup>2</sup>Thus says the LORD, who made the earth,<sup>s</sup> who created it, and who established it — the LORD is His name: <sup>3</sup>Call to Me and I will answer you and reveal to you great and mighty things which you do not know.<sup>t</sup> <sup>4</sup>For thus says the LORD, the God of Israel regarding the houses of this city and the houses of the kings of Judah, which were broken down to make a defense against the siege mounds and the sword: <sup>5</sup>The Chaldeans are coming to fight and to fill them with the dead bodies of the men whom I shall slay in My anger and in My fury. I have hid My face from this city because of all their wickedness. <sup>6</sup>Look, I will bring to her restoration and health; and I will heal them and reveal to them an abundance of peace and prosperity. <sup>7</sup>I will bring back the captivity of Judah and of Israel, and I will rebuild them as they were formerly.<sup>u</sup> <sup>8</sup>Also, I will cleanse them<sup>v</sup> from all their iniquity which they have committed against Me, and I will pardon all their iniquities in which they have sinned and rebelled against Me. <sup>9</sup>And she<sup>w</sup> shall be to Me a name of joy, a praise, and a glory before all the nations of the earth, who shall hear of all the good which I will do for them, and they shall be amazed and shall wonder over all the good and all the peace that I bestow on her.

<sup>10</sup>Thus says the LORD: Again there shall be heard in this place of which you say,<sup>x</sup> "It is waste, without man and beast," even in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem that are desolate, without man or inhabitant or beast, <sup>11</sup>the voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride,<sup>y</sup> the voices of those who say, "Give thanks to the LORD of hosts, for the LORD is good, for His mercy endures forever,"<sup>z</sup> and who bring sacrifices of thanksgiving to the house of the LORD. For I will restore the fortunes of the land as formerly, says the LORD.

<sup>12</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts: Again there shall be in this place, which is waste, without man or beast, in all its cities, habitations of shepherds resting their flocks. <sup>13</sup>In the cities of the hill country, in the cities of the lowland, and in the cities of the South, in the land of Benjamin, in the places about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah,<sup>a</sup> shall the flocks again pass along under the hands of the one who counts them, says the LORD.

<sup>14</sup>Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, when I shall fulfil that good thing which I have promised to the house of Israel and the house of Judah.

<sup>15</sup>In those days and at that time, I will cause a Branch of righteousness to spring forth for David; and He shall execute judgment and righteousness in the land. <sup>16</sup>In those days Judah will be saved, and Jerusalem shall dwell safely. And this is the name by which He shall be called, "THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS."<sup>b</sup> <sup>17</sup>For thus says the LORD: David shall never lack a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel,<sup>c</sup> <sup>18</sup>neither shall the priests, the Levites,<sup>d</sup> lack a man before Me to offer burnt offerings and to burn oblations and to do sacrifices continually.

<sup>19</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: <sup>20</sup>Thus says the LORD: If you can break My covenant with the day and My covenant with the night so that day and night will not come at their appointed times, <sup>21</sup>then may also My covenant be broken with David My servant, so that he shall not have a son to reign upon his throne, My covenant with the Levites the priests, My ministers. <sup>22</sup>As the host of heaven cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the sea measured, so will I multiply the descendants of David, My servant, and the Levites who minister to Me.

<sup>23</sup>The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: <sup>24</sup>Are you not aware of what these people are saying, "The two families which the LORD has chosen, He has even cast them off"? And thus they have despised My people so that they are no longer a nation before Me. <sup>25</sup>Thus says the LORD: If my covenant with day and night does not stand, if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth, <sup>26</sup>then will I also cast away the descendants of Jacob and of David My servant, and I will not choose one of his descendants to rule over the offspring of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. For I will restore their fortune and have compassion on them.

588 B.C.

34 THE WORD WHICH CAME TO Jeremiah from the LORD when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army and all the kingdoms of the earth under his rule and all the peoples were fighting against Jerusalem and against all its cities: <sup>2</sup>Thus says the LORD God of Israel: Go and speak to Zedekiah king of Judah and say to him, "Thus says the LORD: Look! I am giving this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire. <sup>3</sup>You shall not escape from his hand, but you shall surely be taken and be delivered into his hand; your eyes shall look straight into the eyes of the king of Babylon, and he shall speak with you face to face; and you shall go to Babylon. <sup>4</sup>Yet hear the word of the LORD, O Zedekiah<sup>e</sup> king of Judah. Thus says the LORD concerning you: You shall not die by the sword; <sup>5</sup>you shall die in peace, and as incense was burned for your fathers,<sup>f</sup> the former kings who were before you, so shall men burn incense for you and lament for you, 'Alas, master!' For I have spoken the word, says the LORD."

and female, so that no man should enslave a Jew, his relative.<sup>1</sup> <sup>10</sup>All the princes and all the people who had entered into the covenant agreed that everyone would release his slave, male and female, so that they would not be enslaved again; they obeyed and released them.<sup>1</sup> <sup>11</sup>But afterwards they turned and caused the bondmen and bondmaids, whom they had let go free, to return, and brought them into subjection for bondmen and bondmaids.

<sup>12</sup>The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah from the LORD: <sup>13</sup>Thus says the LORD, God of Israel: I made a covenant with your fathers in the day when I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, saying: <sup>14</sup>At the end of seven years<sup>k</sup> each of you must release your Hebrew relative who has been sold to you and has served you six years; you shall let him go free from you. But your fathers did not obey Me or incline their ear. <sup>15</sup>You recently repented and did what was right in My eyes by proclaiming liberty, every man to his neighbor, and you made a covenant before Me in the house which is called by My name; <sup>16</sup>but you turned around and profaned My name,<sup>1</sup> when each of you took back his male and female slave, whom you had set free according to their desire, and you brought them into subjection to be your slaves. <sup>17</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD: You have not obeyed Me in proclaiming liberty, every man to his brother and every man to his neighbor. Look! I proclaim to you a liberty to the sword, to pestilence, and to famine, says the LORD, and I will make you a consternation to all the kingdoms of the earth. <sup>18</sup>I will give the men who have transgressed My covenant,<sup>m</sup> who have not kept the words of the covenant<sup>n</sup> which they have made before Me, when they cut the calf in two and passed between its parts — <sup>o</sup> <sup>19</sup>the princes of Judah, the princes of Jerusalem, the eunuchs, the priests, and all the people of the land who passed between the parts of the calf — <sup>20</sup>I will even give them into the hand of their enemies and into the hand of those who seek their lives. Their dead bodies shall be food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the field. <sup>21</sup>And Zedekiah king of Judah and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, into the hand of them that seek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which has lifted the siege.

<sup>22</sup>See! I will command, says the LORD, and will return them to this city; and they shall fight against it, take it, and burn it with fire. The cities of Judah will I make a desolation without inhabitant.

35 THE WORD WHICH CAME TO Jeremiah from the LORD in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah: <sup>2</sup>Go to the house of the Rechabites;<sup>p</sup> then speak with them, and bring them to the house of the LORD into one of the chambers;<sup>q</sup> there offer them wine to drink. <sup>3</sup>So I took Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah son of Habazziniah and his brothers and all his sons, the whole house of Rechabites. <sup>4</sup>I brought them to the house of the LORD into the chamber of the sons of Hanan the son of Igdaiah, the man of God, which was near the chamber of the princes, above the chamber of Maaseiah<sup>r</sup> the son of Shallum, the keeper of the threshold.<sup>s</sup> <sup>5</sup>Then I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites pitchers full of wine and cups, and I said to them, "Drink wine."<sup>6</sup> But they replied, "We will drink no wine, for Jonadab the son of Rechab,<sup>t</sup> our father, commanded us, 'You shall not drink wine, neither you nor your sons forever. <sup>7</sup>Neither shall you build a house, or sow seed, or plant, or have a vineyard; but you shall dwell in tents all your days so that you may live many days in the land where you sojourn.' <sup>8</sup>We have obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab, our father, in all that he charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons, or our daughters, <sup>9</sup>and not to build houses to dwell in. We have no vineyard or field or seed; <sup>10</sup>but we have lived in tents and have obeyed and done all that Jonadab our father commanded us. <sup>11</sup>But when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came up against the land, we said, 'Come, let us go to Jerusalem for fear of the army of the Chaldeans and the army of the Syrians.' <sup>12</sup>So we are living in Jerusalem."

<sup>12</sup>Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah: <sup>13</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Go, and speak to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Will you not receive correction to listen to My words? says the LORD. <sup>14</sup>The word which Jonadab the son of Rechab gave his sons, to drink no wine, has been observed, and they drink none to this day, for they have obeyed their father's commandment.<sup>v</sup> But I, on My part, have spoken to you, rising up early and speaking, but you have not listened to Me. <sup>15</sup>I have sent also to you all My servants, the prophets, rising up early and sending them, saying, Return, I plead with you, every man from his evil way; amend your doings, and go not after other gods to serve them; then you shall dwell in the land which I gave you and your fathers.<sup>w</sup> But you did not incline your ear or listen to Me. <sup>16</sup>The sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab have kept the commandment which their father gave them; but this people has not obeyed Me. <sup>17</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: Look, I am bringing upon Judah and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the misery that I have pronounced against them, because I have spoken to them, but they have not listened; I have called to them and they have not answered.

<sup>18</sup>But to the house of the Rechabites Jeremiah said, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Because you have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, observed all his instructions, and done all that he commanded you, <sup>19</sup>therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: Jonadab the son of Rechab shall never lack a man to stand before Me."<sup>x</sup>

36 IN THE FOURTH YEAR OF JEHIAKIM the son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD: <sup>2</sup>Acquire a scroll<sup>y</sup> and write on it all the words that I have spoken to you about Israel and about Judah and about all the nations, from the day I spoke to you, from the days of Josiah until this day. <sup>3</sup>It may be that the house of Judah will consider all the misfortune which I am planning to apply to them, so that every one may turn from his evil way and that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin. <sup>4</sup>Then Jeremiah called Baruch the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote upon the scroll at the dictation of Jeremiah all the words of the LORD which He had spoken to him. <sup>5</sup>And Jeremiah instructed Baruch, "I am restrained;<sup>z</sup> I cannot go into the house of the LORD; <sup>6</sup>therefore, you go and read from the scroll, which you have written from my dictation, the words of the LORD, in the hearing of all the people in the LORD's house on a fast day. the LORD, and every one will turn from his evil way; for great is the anger and the indignation that the LORD has pronounced against this people." <sup>8</sup>And Baruch<sup>b</sup> the son of Neriah did all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading from the scroll the words of the LORD in the LORD's house.

<sup>9</sup>In the fifth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, in the ninth month,<sup>c</sup> all the people in Jerusalem and all the people who came from the cities of Judah to Jerusalem proclaimed a fast before the LORD.<sup>10</sup>Then, in the hearing of all the people, Baruch read from the scroll the words of Jeremiah, in the house of the LORD, in the chamber of Gemariah<sup>d</sup> son of Shaphan<sup>e</sup> the secretary,<sup>f</sup> in the upper court at the entrance of the New Gate<sup>g</sup> of the LORD's house.

<sup>11</sup>When Micaiah the son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, heard all the words of the LORD from the scroll, <sup>12</sup>he went down<sup>h</sup> to the king's house, into the secretary's chamber, and all the princes were sitting there: Elishama the secretary, Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, Elnathan the son of Achbor,<sup>i</sup> Gemariah the son of Shaphan, Zedekiah the son of Hananiah, and all the other princes. <sup>13</sup>Micaiah told them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read the book in the hearing of the people. <sup>14</sup>Then all the princes sent Jehudi the son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, son of Cushi, to say to Baruch, "Take in your hand the scroll that you read in the hearing of the people, and come." So Baruch the son of Neriah took the scroll in his hand and came to them. <sup>15</sup>They said to him, "Sit down! Now read it to us." So Baruch read it to them. <sup>16</sup>When they heard all the words, they turned in fear one toward another and said to Baruch, "We must report all these words to the king." <sup>17</sup>They quizzed Baruch, "Tell us, how did you write all these words? Was it at his dictation?" <sup>18</sup>Baruch answered them, "He dictated all these words to me with his mouth, while I wrote them with ink on the scroll." <sup>19</sup>Then the princes said to Baruch, "Go and hide, you and Jeremiah, and let no man know where you are."

<sup>20</sup>So they went to the king into the court;<sup>j</sup> but they deposited the scroll in the office of Elishama the secretary and gave a full report to the king. <sup>21</sup>Then the king sent Jehudi to get the scroll, and he took it from the office of Elishama the secretary. Jehudi read it to the king and to the princes who stood beside the king. <sup>22</sup>It was the ninth month; the king was sitting in the winter house, and there was a fire burning in the brazier before him. <sup>23</sup>As Jehudi read three or four columns, the king would snip them off<sup>k</sup> with a scribe's knife and fling them into the fire that was in the brazier, until the entire scroll was consumed in the fire that was in the brazier.

<sup>27</sup>After the king had burned the scroll containing the words which Baruch wrote at Jeremiah's dictation, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: <sup>28</sup>Take another scroll and write on it all the former words that were in the first scroll, which Jehoiakim the king of Judah has burned. <sup>29</sup>And concerning

<sup>30</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD about Jehoiakim king of Judah: He shall have none to sit upon the throne of David, and his dead body shall be flung out<sup>m</sup> to the heat by day and the frost by night. <sup>31</sup>I will punish him, his offspring, and his servants for their iniquity; I will bring upon them and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem and upon the men of Judah, all the disaster that I have pronounced against them; but they would not hear."

<sup>32</sup>Then Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to Baruch the scribe, the son of Neriah, who wrote on it at the dictation of Jeremiah all the words of the scroll which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire; and many similar words were added to them.

37 ZEDEKIAH THE SON OF JOSIAH, whom Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah, reigned instead of Coniah<sup>n</sup> the son of Jehoiakim. <sup>2</sup>But neither he nor his servants nor the people of the land listened to the words of the LORD which He spoke through the prophet Jeremiah. <sup>3</sup>King Zedekiah sent Jehucal the son of Shelemiah and Zephaniah the priest, the son of Maaseiah,<sup>o</sup> to the prophet Jeremiah, saying, "Pray for us to the LORD our God!"<sup>p</sup> <sup>4</sup>Now Jeremiah was still coming in and going out among the people, for they had not yet put him in prison. <sup>5</sup>Pharaoh's army<sup>q</sup> had come out of Egypt, and when the Chaldeans, who were besieging Jerusalem, heard news of them, they retreated from Jerusalem.

<sup>6</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah the prophet: Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: <sup>7</sup>Thus shall you say to the king of Judah who sent you to Me to inquire of Me, "Observe!

Pharaoh's army, which came to help you, is about to return to Egypt to its own land; <sup>8</sup>and the Chaldeans shall come and fight against this city; and they shall take it and burn it with fire. <sup>9</sup>Thus says the LORD: Do not deceive yourselves by saying, 'The Chaldeans will surely stay away from us'; for they will not stay away. <sup>10</sup>For even if you should smite the whole army of the Chaldeans who are fighting against you, and there remained of them only the wounded men, every one in his tent, even they would get up and burn this city with fire."

<sup>17</sup>Then King Zedekiah sent for him and received him. The king questioned him secretly in his house and said, "Is there any word from the LORD?" Jeremiah said, "There is!" Then he said, "You shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon." <sup>18</sup>Jeremiah also said to King Zedekiah, "What wrong have I done against you or your servants or this people, that you have put me in prison? <sup>19</sup>And where are your prophets which prophesied to you, 'The king of Babylon shall not come against you or against this land'? <sup>20</sup>Now hear, I beg of you,

So Jeremiah remained in the court of the guard.

38 NOW SHEPHATHIAH THE SON OF Mattan, Gedaliah the son of Pashur, Jucal<sup>u</sup> the son of Shelemiah, and Pashur the son of Malchiah<sup>v</sup> heard the words that Jeremiah was speaking to all the people, saying, <sup>2</sup>"Thus says the LORD: He who remains in this city shall die by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence; but he who surrenders to the Chaldeans shall live; he shall have his life as a prize for his loot, and he shall survive. <sup>3</sup>Thus says the LORD: This city shall surely be given into the hand of the army of the king of Babylon, and they shall take it." <sup>4</sup>Then the princes said to the king, "Let this man, we beg of you, be put to death; for he is weakening<sup>w</sup> the hands of the soldiers who remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, by speaking such words to them. For this man is not seeking the good of the people, but their destruction." <sup>5</sup>King Zedekiah said, "See, he is in your hand; for the king can do nothing against you."<sup>x</sup> <sup>6</sup>Then they took Jeremiah and cast him into the cistern<sup>y</sup> of Malchiah, the king's son, that was in the court of the guard. They let Jeremiah down with cords. There was no water in the cistern, but only mire, and Jeremiah sank in the mire.

<sup>7</sup>When Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, a eunuch who was in the king's house, heard that they had put Jeremiah into the cistern — the king was sitting in the Benjamin Gate — <sup>8</sup>Ebed-melech went out from the king's house and said to the king, <sup>9</sup>"My master the king, these men have done altogether wrong in the way they have treated Jeremiah the prophet by casting him into the cistern; he will starve on the spot because of the famine; for there is no bread left in the city." <sup>10</sup>Then the king ordered Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, "Take three men with you, and take up Jeremiah the prophet out of the cistern before he dies." <sup>11</sup>So Ebed-melech took the men with him, went into the house of the king underneath the treasury,<sup>a</sup> and took from there old rags and worn-out clothes, which he let down to Jeremiah in the cistern by cords. <sup>12</sup>Then Ebed-melech the Ethiopian said to Jeremiah, "Place the rags and clothes between your armpits and the cords."<sup>b</sup> And Jeremiah did so. <sup>13</sup>Then they drew Jeremiah up with the cords and lifted him out of the cistern, and Jeremiah remained in the court of the guard.

<sup>14</sup>Then king Zedekiah sent for Jeremiah the prophet and received him at the third entrance of the temple of the LORD. The king said to Jeremiah, "I will ask you something; hide nothing from me." <sup>15</sup>Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "If I declare it to you, will you not surely put me to death? And if I give you counsel, you will not listen to me."<sup>c</sup> <sup>16</sup>So King Zedekiah swore to Jeremiah secretly, "As the LORD lives who made our souls, I will not put you to death or deliver you into the hand of these men who are seeking your life." <sup>17</sup>Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "Thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: If you will surrender to the king of Babylon's princes, then your life will be spared, and this city will not be burned with fire; and you and your house shall survive. <sup>18</sup>But if you do not go out to the king of Babylon's princes, then shall this city be given into the hand of the Chaldeans; they will burn it with fire, and you will not escape out of their hands." <sup>19</sup>King Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "I am afraid of the Jews who deserted to the Chaldeans, lest I be delivered into their hands and they abuse me." <sup>20</sup>But Jeremiah said, "You shall not be given to them. Obey now, I plead with you, the voice of the LORD in what I speak to you, and it shall be well with you; your soul shall live.

<sup>24</sup>Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "Let no man know of these words, and you shall not die. <sup>25</sup>But if the princes hear that I have conferred with you and they come to you and say, 'Tell us now what you said to the king and what did the king say to you.'<sup>f</sup> Hide nothing from us, and we will not put you to death,' <sup>26</sup>then you shall say to them, 'I was presenting my plea before the king that he would not send me back to Jonathan's house to die there.'"

<sup>27</sup>Then all the princes came to Jeremiah and asked him; and he answered them with the words as the king instructed him.<sup>g</sup> So they left off speaking with him, for the matter<sup>h</sup> had not been overheard. <sup>28</sup>So Jeremiah remained in the court of the guard until the day that Jerusalem was taken. He was still there when Jerusalem was taken.

39 IN THE NINTH YEAR OF ZEDEKIAH king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon and all his army came against Jerusalem and besieged it. <sup>2</sup>In the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, a breach was made in the city. <sup>3</sup>All the princes of the king of Babylon came and sat<sup>i</sup> in the middle gate: Nergal-sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rabsaris, Nergal-shareser the Rabmag,<sup>j</sup> with all the rest of the princes of the king of Babylon. <sup>4</sup>It eventuated<sup>k</sup> when Zedekiah the king of Judah and all the men of war saw them, that they fled and left the city by night by the way of the king's garden, through the gate between the two walls;<sup>l</sup> and he went toward the Arabah.<sup>m</sup> <sup>5</sup>But the army of the Chaldeans pursued them and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho; and when they had captured him, they brought him up to Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, at Riblah<sup>n</sup> in the land of Hamath; and he passed sentence upon him. <sup>6</sup>The king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes. The king of Babylon also slew all the nobles of Judah. <sup>7</sup>He put out Zedekiah's eyes and bound him with chains to carry him to Babylon. <sup>8</sup>The Chaldeans burned with fire the king's house and the houses of the people, and the walls of Jerusalem they broke down. <sup>9</sup>The remainder of the people who were left in the city, the deserters who had gone over to him, and the remaining skilled workers, Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, carried into exile to Babylon. <sup>10</sup>But poor people who owned nothing, Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, left in the land of Judah, and he gave them vineyards and fields at the same time.

<sup>15</sup>The word of the LORD<sup>q</sup> came to Jeremiah, while he was shut up in the court of the guard: <sup>16</sup>Go and say to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: See, I will fulfil my words against this city for punishment and not for pleasure, and they shall be accomplished before you on that day. <sup>17</sup>But I will deliver you on that day, says the LORD, and you shall not be given into the hand of the men of whom you are afraid. <sup>18</sup>For I will surely save you, and you shall not fall by the sword; but your life shall be for your booty because you have anchored your trust in Me, says the LORD."

40 THE WORD THAT CAME TO JEREMIAH from the LORD after Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had let him go from Ramah,<sup>r</sup> when he had taken him bound in chains among all the exiles of Jerusalem and Judah who were carried captive to Babylon. <sup>2</sup>The captain of the guard took Jeremiah and said to him, "The LORD your God has pronounced this punishment upon this place. <sup>3</sup>The LORD has brought it about just as He decreed. Because you have sinned against the LORD and have not obeyed His voice, this thing is come upon you. <sup>4</sup>And now, observe! I free you today from the chains on your hands. If it seems good to you to come with me to Babylon, come, and I will look after you;<sup>s</sup> but if it seems wrong to you to come with me to Babylon, then do not go.

See, the whole land is before you; go wherever it seems well and appropriate for you to go. <sup>5</sup>If you are so minded, you may go back to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has made governor over the cities of Judah, and live with him among the people; but go wherever you think it is right to go." So the captain of the guard gave him an allowance of food and a present, and set him free. <sup>6</sup>Then Jeremiah went to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, at Mizpah,<sup>t</sup> and lived with him among the people who were left in the land.

the son of Shaphan, as governor over them, <sup>12</sup>then all the Jews returned from all the places where they had been driven and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah at Mizpah; and they gathered wine and summer fruits in abundance.

<sup>13</sup>Now Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces in the open country came to Gedaliah at Mizpah <sup>14</sup>and said to him, "Do you know that Baalis the king of the Ammonites<sup>y</sup> has sent Ishmael<sup>z</sup> the son of Nethaniah to assassinate you?" But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam would not believe them. <sup>15</sup>Then Johanan the son of Kareah said secretly to Gedaliah in Mizpah, "Let me go, I beg of you, and I will slay Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Why should he take your life so that all the Jews who are gathered around you would be scattered and the remnant of Judah would perish?" <sup>16</sup>But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam said to Johanan the son of Kareah, "You shall not do this thing, for you are falsely accusing Ishmael."

581 B.C.

41 <sup>IN</sup><sup>a</sup> THE SEVENTH MONTH, Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of royal descent and one of the chief officers of the king, came with ten men to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, at Mizpah. As they ate bread together there at Mizpah, <sup>2</sup>Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, and the ten men that were with him arose and slew with the sword Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and so killed him whom the king of Babylon had appointed governor over the land. <sup>3</sup>Ishmael also slew the Jews who were with Gedaliah at Mizpah and the Chaldean soldiers who happened to be there.<sup>b</sup>

their bodies gashed,<sup>c</sup> bringing oblations and frankincense to present them to the house of the LORD. <sup>6</sup>Ishmael the son of Nethaniah went out from Mizpah to meet them, weeping as he walked.<sup>d</sup> When he met them, he said to them, "Come to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam." <sup>7</sup>When they came into the city, Ishmael the son of Nethaniah and the men with them slew them and cast them into a cistern. <sup>8</sup>But there were ten men among them who said to Ishmael, "Do not slay us, for we have hidden in the field<sup>e</sup> wheat, barley, oil, and honey." So he refrained and did not slay them with their companions.

<sup>9</sup>Now the cistern, where Ishmael cast all the dead bodies of the men whom he had slain, was the great cistern that King Asa had made for a defense<sup>f</sup> against Baasha king of Israel; Ishmael the son of Nethaniah filled it with the slain.

<sup>10</sup>Then Ishmael took away captive the whole remnant of the people who were in Mizpah, the king's daughters and all the people who remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, had committed to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam. Ishmael the son of Nethaniah took them away captive, and he departed to cross over to the Ammonites.

<sup>11</sup>But when Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces with him heard of all the evil which Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had committed, <sup>12</sup>they took all the men and went to fight against Ishmael the son of Nethaniah. They overtook him by the great Gibeon waters.<sup>g</sup> <sup>13</sup>When all the people with Ishmael saw Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces with him, they were glad; <sup>14</sup>so all the people whom Ishmael had carried away captive from Mizpah turned about, came back, and went over to Johanan the son of Kareah. <sup>15</sup>But Ishmael the son of Netha-

Look! I will pray to the LORD your God as you have requested, and whatever the LORD shall answer I will tell you; I will keep nothing back from you." <sup>5</sup>Then they said to Jeremiah, "May the LORD be a true and faithful witness against us if we do not act according to every word which the LORD your God shall send to us! <sup>6</sup>Whether it be pleasing or whether it be hard, we will obey the voice of the LORD our God to whom we are sending you, that it may be well with us when we obey the voice of the LORD our God."<sup>m</sup>

LORD came to Jeremiah. <sup>8</sup>Then he called Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces who were with him, and all the people from the least to the greatest, <sup>9</sup>and said to them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your request before Ilim: <sup>10</sup>If you will remain in this land, then I will build you up and not pull you down; I will plant you and not uproot you; for I will regret the calamity that I brought on you. <sup>11</sup>Do not fear the king of Babylon, of whom you are afraid; do not fear him, says the LORD, for I am with you, to save you and to rescue you from his hand. <sup>12</sup>I will grant you compassion, so that he may have compassion for you and let you reside in your own land. <sup>13</sup>But if you say, 'We will not remain in this land,' spurning the voice of the LORD your God, <sup>14</sup>saying, 'No! You shall be an execration, a desolation, a curse, and a reproach. You shall see this place no more. <sup>19</sup>The LORD has said to you, O remnant of Judah, go not into Egypt. Now, there-

43 WHEN JEREMIAH HAD FINISHED speaking to all the people all these words of the LORD their God, with which the LORD their God had sent him to them, <sup>2</sup>Azariah the son of Hoshaiah and Johanan the son of Kareah and all the arrogant men said to Jeremiah, "You are speaking falsely." The LORD our God did not send you to say, 'Do not go into Egypt to sojourn there'; <sup>3</sup>but Baruch the son of Neriah has set you against us in order to deliver us into the hands of the Chaldeans, that they may kill us and carry us into exile to Babylon." <sup>4</sup>So Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces and all the people did not obey the voice of the LORD to remain in the land of Judah. <sup>5</sup>Instead, Johanan the son of Kareah and all the captains of the forces took the whole remnant of Judah who had returned to live in the land of Judah from all the nations to which they had been driven — <sup>6</sup>the men, the women, the children, the king's daughters, and every person whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan;<sup>p</sup> also Jeremiah the prophet and Baruch the son of Neriah. <sup>7</sup>They came into the land of Egypt, for they did not obey the voice of the LORD, and they arrived at Tahpanhes.<sup>q</sup>

to anger, in that they went to burn incense and serve other gods whom they did not know, neither they, nor you, nor your fathers. <sup>4</sup>And I persistently sent to you all My servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them,<sup>z</sup> saying, "Oh, do not practice this abominable thing that I hate!" <sup>5</sup>But they did not heed or incline their ear to turn from their wickedness, to burn no incense to other gods. <sup>6</sup>Therefore My indignation and My anger were poured out and were kindled in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, and they are become a waste and a desolation, as it is this day.

<sup>7</sup>Now, therefore, thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel: Why do you commit a great injury against yourselves, to cut off from you man and woman, infant and child from the midst of Judah, denying yourself a remnant? <sup>8</sup>Why do you vex Me with the works of your hands, burning incense to other gods in the land of Egypt where you came to abide, so that you may be cut off and become a curse and a hissing among all the nations of the earth? <sup>9</sup>Have you forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, the wickedness of the kings of Judah, the wickedness of their princes, your own wickedness and of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? <sup>10</sup>They have not humbled themselves even to this day, nor have they revered or walked in My law and in My statutes which I set before<sup>a</sup> you and before your fathers.

<sup>11</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: See! I have set My face against you for calamity, to cut off all Judah entirely. <sup>12</sup>I will take the remnant of Judah, who have set their faces to come into the land of Egypt to live, and they all shall be consumed; in the land of Egypt shall they fall; by the sword and by famine they shall be consumed; from the least even to the greatest, they shall die by the sword and by famine; and they shall become an execration, a horror, a curse, and a reproach.<sup>b</sup> <sup>13</sup>I will punish those who dwell in the land of Egypt as I have punished Jerusalem, with the sword, with famine, and with pestilence, <sup>14</sup>so that none of the remnant of Judah who have come to live in the land of Egypt shall escape or survive to return to the land of Judah, to which they have a desire to return to dwell there; for none shall return except a few escapees.

<sup>15</sup>Then all the men who knew that their wives burned incense to other gods, and all the women that stood by—a great assembly—all the people who dwelt in Pathros in the land of Egypt, answered Jeremiah, <sup>16</sup>"As for the word which you have spoken to us in the LORD's name, we will not listen to you. <sup>17</sup>But we will certainly perform every word that is gone out of our mouth,<sup>c</sup> burn incense to the queen of heaven and pour out drink offerings to her, as both we and our fathers have done, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem; for then we had plenty of food; we prospered and experienced no adversity. <sup>18</sup>But since we ceased burning incense to the queen of heaven and pouring out drink offerings to her, we have lacked everything and have been consumed by the sword and by famine." And the women<sup>d</sup> said, <sup>19</sup>"When we burned incense to the queen of heaven and poured out drink offerings to her, was it without our husbands' approval that we made her cakes portraying her and poured out drink offerings to her?"

<sup>20</sup>Then Jeremiah said to all the people, men and women, and the people who had answered him, <sup>21</sup>"As for the incense<sup>e</sup> you burned in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, you and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the LORD remember it?

Did it not come into His mind? <sup>22</sup>The LORD could no longer endure your wicked behavior and the abominations which you have committed; therefore your land has become a waste, a desolation, and a curse, without inhabitant, as it is this day. <sup>23</sup>It is because you burned incense, and because you sinned against the LORD and did not obey the LORD's voice or walk in His law and in His statutes and in His testimonies, that this calamity has come upon you, as at this day."

<sup>24</sup>Jeremiah further said to all the people including the women, "Hear the word of the LORD, all you of Judah who are in the land of Egypt. <sup>25</sup>I thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: You and your wives have spoken with your mouths, and with your hands you have fulfilled it,<sup>f</sup> saying, 'We will surely perform our vows that we have vowed, to burn incense to the queen of heaven and to pour out drink offerings to her.'<sup>g</sup> Then establish your vows, and perform your vows! <sup>26</sup>Consequently, hear the word of the LORD, all you of Judah who dwell in the land of Egypt: Take note! I have sworn by My great name,<sup>h</sup> says the LORD, that My name shall no more be mentioned from the mouth of any man of Judah, saying, 'As the Lord God lives,' in the land of Egypt. <sup>27</sup>Look! I am awake over them for punishment and not for favor.<sup>i</sup> All the men of Judah who are in the land of Egypt shall be consumed by the sword and by the famine, until there be an end of them. <sup>28</sup>They that escape the sword shall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah few in number; and all the remnant of Judah, who came into the land of Egypt to live there, shall know whose word will stand, Mine or theirs. <sup>29</sup>And this shall be a sign to you, says the LORD, that I will punish you in this place, in order that you may know that My words shall surely stand against you for affliction. <sup>30</sup>Thus says the LORD: Look, I will give Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hands of his enemies and into the hand of those who seek his life, as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, his enemy, who also sought his life."<sup>j</sup>

<sup>11</sup>Moab has been at ease from his youth and has settled on his lees;<sup>a</sup> he has not been emptied from vessel to vessel, nor has he gone into exile; so his taste<sup>b</sup> remains in him, and his scent is not changed. <sup>12</sup>Therefore, take note! The days are coming, says the LORD, when I will send tilters to him who will tilt him, empty his vessels, and dash their jars in pieces. <sup>13</sup>Then Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed<sup>c</sup> of Bethel, their confidence.<sup>d</sup> <sup>14</sup>How can you say, "We are heroes and valiant warriors?" <sup>15</sup>The destroyer of Moab and of his cities has come up, and the flower of his young men is gone down to the slaughter, says the King, whose name is the LORD of hosts. <sup>16</sup>The calamity of Moab is near at hand, and his affliction is fast hastening. <sup>17</sup>Be-moan him, all you who surround him and all who know his name; say, "How is the strong staff broken, the beautiful rod!"<sup>e</sup> <sup>18</sup>Come down from your glory, and sit on parched ground, O you daughter,<sup>f</sup> the one inhabiting Dibon;<sup>g</sup> for the spoiler of Moab is come against you; he has destroyed your fortresses. <sup>19</sup>Stand by the way and watch, O inhabitress of Aroer!<sup>h</sup> Ask him who flees and her who escapes; say, "What is the matter?"

not Israel a derision to you? Was he found among thieves, that whenever you spoke of him you wagged the head?<sup>m</sup> <sup>28</sup>Leave the cities, and dwell in the rocks, O you inhabitants of Moab, and be like the dove that makes her nest in the side of the cave's mouth!

<sup>29</sup>We have heard of the pride of Moab — he is very proud — of his loftiness, his pride, and his arrogance, and the haughtiness of his heart. <sup>30</sup>I know his insolence, so speaks the LORD; his wrath and his boastings are untrue; his deeds are false. <sup>31</sup>Therefore I howl for Moab, and I cry out for all Moab; for the men of Kirheres<sup>n</sup> I moan.<sup>o</sup>

clipped; upon all the hands are gashes, and on the loins is sackcloth. <sup>38</sup>Upon all the housetops of Moab and in the streets every one is wailing; for I have broken Moab like a vessel in which no one delights, says the LORD. <sup>39</sup>How it is broken! How they howl! How Moab has turned the back in shame! So Moab has become a derision and a horror to all that surround him.

49 CONCERNING THE AMMONITES, thus says the LORD: Has Israel no sons? Has he no heir? Why then has Milcom<sup>b</sup> dispossessed Gad, and his people settled in its cities? <sup>2</sup>Therefore,

look, the days are coming, says the LORD, when I will cause the battle cry to be heard against Rabbah of the children of Ammon; it shall become a desolate mound, and her daughters<sup>c</sup> shall be burned with fire. Then Israel shall dispossess those who dispossessed him, says the LORD. <sup>3</sup>I howl, O Heshbon, for Ai<sup>d</sup> is laid waste! Cry, O daughters of Rabbah! Gird yourselves with sackcloth; lament, and run back and forth among the hedges! For Milcom shall go into exile with his priests and his princes. <sup>4</sup>Why do you glory in your valleys,<sup>e</sup> O backsliding daughter, who trusts in her treasures, saying, "Who will come against us?" <sup>5</sup>Look! I will bring terror upon you, says the Lord God of hosts, from all who are around you, and you shall be driven out, every man straight ahead, and there shall be none to gather the fugitives. <sup>6</sup>But afterward I will restore the fortunes of the Ammonites, says the LORD.

you go unpunished? You shall not go unpunished, but you shall surely drink. <sup>13</sup>For I have sworn by Myself, says the LORD, that Bozrah<sup>k</sup> shall become a horror, a reproach, a waste, and a curse; and all her cities shall become perpetual wastes.

<sup>14</sup>I have heard a rumor from the LORD, and an ambassador has been sent among the nations, saying, "Get together and come against her; rise up for battle." <sup>15</sup>For, observe, I will make you small among the nations and despised among men. <sup>16</sup>The dread for you, the pride of your heart has deceived you, O you who dwell in the clefts<sup>l</sup> of the rock, who hold the height of the hill.<sup>m</sup> Though you should make your nest like the eagle's, even from there I would bring you down, says the LORD. <sup>17</sup>Edom shall become a horror; every one who passes by shall be horrified and shall hiss because of all its calamities. <sup>18</sup>As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and their neighbor cities,<sup>n</sup> says the LORD, no man shall dwell there; no man shall sojourn in her. <sup>19</sup>See, there shall come up one like a lion from the Jordan jungles<sup>o</sup> against the enduring habitation.<sup>p</sup> But in a moment I will chase them away, and whosoever is chosen, him will I appoint over it; for who is like Me, and who will set a time for Me?<sup>q</sup> What shepherd can stand before Me? <sup>20</sup>Therefore, hear the counsel which the LORD has devised against Edom and the purposes which He has planned against the inhabitants of Teman. Even the little ones of the flock<sup>r</sup> shall be dragged away; surely He shall make their homestead appalling because of them. <sup>21</sup>At the sound of their fall the earth trembles; the sound of their cry is heard at the Red Sea. <sup>22</sup>See, one like an eagle shall mount up and swoop and spread out his wings against Bozrah, and the heart of the mighty men of Edom in that day shall be as the heart of a woman in her birth pangs.

booty, and the herds of their cattle shall be for a spoil. I will scatter to the winds those who clipped the corners of their hair; and from every side of them I will bring their calamity, says the LORD. <sup>33</sup>Hazor shall become a den of wild dogs, a desolation forever; no man shall live there, no man shall sojourn there.

50 THE WORD WHICH THE LORD spoke regarding Babylon, regarding the land of the Chaldeans, by Jeremiah the prophet: <sup>2</sup>Declare among the nations and publish, lift up a standard and publish; conceal it not, and say, "Babylon is taken; Bel<sup>g</sup> is put to shame; Merodach is dismayed. Her images are put to shame; her idol-blocks<sup>h</sup> are dismayed." <sup>3</sup>For there has come up against her a nation out of the North;<sup>i</sup> it shall render her land a desolation, and none shall dwell in it; both man and beast shall flee away.

<sup>4</sup>In those days and in that time, says

the LORD, the children of Israel and the children of Judah shall come together, weeping as they come; and they shall seek the LORD their God. <sup>5</sup>They shall ask the way to Zion, with their faces turned toward it, saying, "Come and let us join ourselves to the LORD in an everlasting covenant which will never be forgotten."

<sup>6</sup>My people have been as lost sheep; their shepherds have caused them to stray, turning them away on the mountains;<sup>j</sup> they have gone from mountain to hill, they have forgotten their resting place. <sup>7</sup>All who found them have devoured them, and their adversaries said, "We are not guilty,"<sup>k</sup> because they have sinned against the LORD, the habitation<sup>l</sup> of righteousness and the hope of their fathers, the LORD. <sup>8</sup>Flee from the midst of Babylon, and go out of the land of the Chaldeans, and be as the he-goats before the flocks.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Set yourselves in array against Babylon all around, all you who bend the bow; shoot at her, spare no arrows; for she has sinned against the LORD. <sup>15</sup>Shout against her round about; she has surrendered;<sup>s</sup> her buttresses are fallen, her walls are thrown down. For this is the LORD's retribution; take vengeance on her. Do to her as she has done. <sup>16</sup>Cut off the sower from Babylon, and him who handles the sickle in the time of harvest. For fear of the oppressing sword, they shall turn everyone to his own people, and everyone shall flee to his own land.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>29</sup>Muster the archers against Babylon, all those who bend the bow. Encamp against her on every side; let no one escape. Recompense her according to her actions, do to her according to all that she has done; for she has proudly defied the LORD, the Holy One of Israel. <sup>30</sup>Therefore her young men shall drop in her streets, and all her men of war shall be silenced in that day, says the LORD.<sup>d</sup> <sup>31</sup>See! I am against you, O you proud one, says the LORD God of hosts. For your day has come, the time when I will chasten you.<sup>e</sup> <sup>32</sup>The proud one shall stumble and fall, with none to lift him up; I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall engulf all that is around him.

<sup>33</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts: The children of Israel and the children of Judah are oppressed together; all who took them captive hold them fast; they refuse to let them go. <sup>34</sup>Their Redeemer is strong; the LORD of hosts is His name. He will surely defend their cause, so that He may give rest to the earth, but disquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.

For it is a land of graven images, and through idols<sup>i</sup> they make themselves demented. <sup>39</sup>Therefore wild beasts<sup>j</sup> of the desert, with howling creatures,<sup>k</sup> shall resort there, and ostriches shall home in her. <sup>41</sup>Look!<sup>l</sup> A people comes from the North, and a great nation and many kings are stirring from the remote corners of the earth. <sup>42</sup>They lay hold of bow and spear; they are cruel and have no mercy. Their voices roar like the sea, and they ride upon horses, arrayed as a man to the battle against you, O daughter of Babylon! <sup>43</sup>The king of Babylon has heard the fame of them, and his hands hang helpless; distress has seized him and pain as of a woman in labor. <sup>44</sup>Look,<sup>m</sup> there is one like a lion coming from the Jordan jungle against an enduring habitation; I will suddenly chase them away from it, and I will place over it whomever I choose. 51 THUS SPEAKS THE LORD: TAKE note! I will arouse the spirit of a destroyer<sup>o</sup> against Babylon and against the inhabitants of Lebkamai.<sup>p</sup> <sup>2</sup>I will send to Babylon winnowers who shall winnow her, and they shall empty her land when they come against her from every side on the day of trouble. <sup>3</sup>Let not the archer bend his bow, and let him not lift himself up in his coat of mail.<sup>q</sup> Do not spare her young men; utterly destroy all her host. <sup>4</sup>The slain shall drop down in the land of the Chaldeans, the wounded in her streets. <sup>5</sup>For Israel and Judah have not been left in widowhood<sup>r</sup> by their God, the LORD of hosts, although their land<sup>s</sup> is full of guilt before the Holy One of Israel. <sup>6</sup>Flee out of the midst of Babylon; let every man save his life! Be not cut off in her iniquity; for this is a time of retribution for the LORD, the recompense He is repaying her.

<sup>15</sup>It is He who made the earth by His power, who established the world by His wisdom and by His understanding stretched out the heavens. <sup>16</sup>When He utters His voice,<sup>f</sup> there is a roar of waters in the heavens and He causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth. He makes lightnings for the rain, and He brings forth the wind out of His treasures. <sup>17</sup>Then every man becomes senseless and loses knowledge; every goldsmith is put to shame by his graven image. For his molten image is falsehood, and there is no spirit in them. <sup>18</sup>They are vanity, a work of mockery; in the time of their punishment they shall perish. <sup>19</sup>The portion of Jacob is not like these, for He is the Creator of all things; and Israel is the tribe of His inheritance; the LORD of hosts is His name.

<sup>20</sup>You are My war club,<sup>g</sup> My weapons of war; with you I will shatter the nations; with you I will destroy the kingdoms; <sup>21</sup>with you I will shatter the horse and his rider; with you I will shatter the chariot and the charioteer;

<sup>22</sup>with you I will shatter man and woman, and with you I will shatter the young man and the maid; <sup>23</sup>with you I will shatter the shepherd and his flock; with you I will shatter the farmer and his yoke of oxen; with you I will shatter governors and viceroys.<sup>h</sup> <sup>24</sup>I will repay Babylon and all the inhabitants of Chaldea before your eyes for all the harm that they have wrought in Zion, says the LORD.

<sup>36</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD: Take note! I will defend your cause and require recompense; I will dry up her sea and make her fountain dry;<sup>y</sup> <sup>37</sup>Babylon shall become heaps, a kennel for wild dogs, a horror, and a hissing, without inhabitant.

<sup>38</sup>They shall jointly roar like young lions.<sup>z</sup> They shall growl as lions' whelps. <sup>39</sup>When they are infuriated, I will prepare them a feast and make them drunk, that they may exult<sup>a</sup> and sleep a perpetual sleep and not wake up, says the LORD. <sup>40</sup>I will bring them down like lambs to be slaughtered, like rams and he-goats.<sup>b</sup> <sup>41</sup>I how Sheshach<sup>c</sup> is taken! And the praise of the whole earth seized! I how Babylon has become a desolation among the nations! <sup>42</sup>The sea<sup>d</sup> is come upon Babylon; she is covered with her multitudinous waves. <sup>43</sup>Her cities are become a desolation, dry land and a steppe, a land in which nobody dwells, neither shall any person pass through it. <sup>44</sup>I will punish Bel<sup>e</sup> in Babylon, and I will take out of his mouth what he has swallowed up.<sup>f</sup> The nations shall no longer stream toward him. Yes, the wall of Babylon has fallen!

<sup>45</sup>Move out from her midst, O My people! Let everyone save his life from the LORD's fierce indignation! <sup>46</sup>Be careful, lest your heart faint, and be not afraid concerning the rumor that is heard in the land. A rumor one year, another rumor the next year. There is violence in the land, ruler is against ruler.

<sup>47</sup>Therefore, see! The days are coming when I will punish the graven images of Babylon; her whole land shall be put to shame, and all her slain shall fall in her midst. <sup>48</sup>Then heaven and earth, and all that is in them, shall herald their joy over Babylon; for from the North spoilers shall come against her, says the LORD. <sup>49</sup>Babylon must fall for the slain of Israel, as for Babylon have fallen the slain of all the earth.<sup>g</sup> <sup>50</sup>You who have escaped the sword, go, and do not stand still.<sup>h</sup> Remember the LORD from afar, and let Jerusalem come into your mind. <sup>51</sup>We<sup>i</sup> are put to shame because we have heard reproach; dishonor has covered our faces, for strangers are come into the holy places of the LORD's house.

<sup>52</sup>Therefore, take notice! The days are coming, says the LORD, when I will execute judgment upon her graven images, and through all her land the wounded shall groan. <sup>53</sup>Though Babylon should mount up to heaven, and though she should fortify the height of her strength,<sup>j</sup> yet from Me would spoilers come upon her, says the LORD. <sup>54</sup>Listen! A cry from Babylon!<sup>k</sup> The noise of a great crash from the land of the Chaldeans! <sup>55</sup>For the LORD is devastating Babylon and silencing her loud report.<sup>l</sup> Their waves<sup>m</sup> roar like many waters; the din of their voice is heightened, <sup>56</sup>for devastation has come upon her, even upon Babylon; her warriors are taken; their bows are broken in pieces; for the LORD is a God of recompense, He will surely repay. <sup>57</sup>I will intoxicate her princes, her wise men, her governors, her vice-roys and her warriors; they shall sleep a perpetual sleep, and not awaken, says the King, whose name is the LORD of hosts.

<sup>59</sup>The instruction which Jeremiah the prophet gave Seraiah the son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah to Babylon, in the fourth year of his reign. Now Seraiah was quartermaster.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>60</sup>Jeremiah wrote in a book all the punishment that should come upon Babylon, all these words that are written concerning Babylon. <sup>61</sup>And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, "When you come to Babylon, then see that you read all these words, <sup>62</sup>and say, 'O LORD, Thou has spoken concerning this place, that Thou wilt cut it off, so that nothing shall dwell in it, neither man nor beast, and it shall be desolate forever!'

<sup>63</sup>When you complete reading this book, tie a stone to it, and cast it into the middle of the Euphrates, <sup>64</sup>and say, 'Thus shall Babylon sink, to rise no more, because of the punishment that I am bringing upon her.'"<sup>p</sup> Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.<sup>p</sup>

52 ZEDEKIAH WAS TWENTY-ONE years of age when he began to reign; and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. <sup>2</sup>He committed evil before the LORD, matching all that Jehoiakim had done. <sup>3</sup>Surely because of the anger of the LORD, things came to such a pitch in Jerusalem and Judah that He cast them out from before His face.<sup>q</sup>

Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. <sup>4</sup>In the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came with his whole army against Jerusalem, laid siege to it and built siege mounds against it. <sup>5</sup>So the city was besieged until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. <sup>6</sup>In the fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, the famine was so severe in the city that there was no bread for the people of the land. <sup>7</sup>Then a breach was made in the city, and all the men of war took flight. They left the city by night by way of the gate between the two walls by the king's garden, while the Chaldeans had surrounded the city. They took the road toward the Arabah.<sup>r</sup> <sup>8</sup>But the Chaldean army pursued the king and overtook Zedekiah on the plains of Jericho, and his whole army was scattered from him. <sup>9</sup>They captured the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon to Riblah in the land of Hamath, and he passed sentence upon him. <sup>10</sup>The king of Babylon slew Zedekiah's sons before his eyes; he also slew the princes of Judah at Riblah. <sup>11</sup>He then gouged out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babylon bound him in fetters, carried him to Babylon, and put him in prison until the day of his death.

<sup>12</sup>Now in the fifth month, on the tenth day of the month, which was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, who served the king of Babylon, entered Jerusalem. <sup>13</sup>He burned the LORD's house, the king's house, and all the houses of Jerusalem; every prominent house he burned with fire. <sup>14</sup>The whole army of the Chaldeans, who were with the captain of the guard, tore down all the walls around Jerusalem.

were left in the city, and the deserters who had deserted to the king of Babylon, together with the rest of the skilled workmen, were carried into exile by Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard.<sup>16</sup> But Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, left some of the poorest of the people to be vinedressers and farmers.<sup>17</sup> The bronze columns that belonged to the LORD's house, the pedestals and the bronze sea<sup>a</sup> that were part of the LORD's temple, the Chaldeans broke into pieces; and they carried everything of bronze to Babylon.<sup>18</sup> The pots,<sup>t</sup> too, and the shovels,<sup>u</sup> the snuffers,<sup>v</sup> and the basins,<sup>w</sup> the spoons, and all the vessels of bronze used in the service of the temple, they took away;<sup>19</sup> also the cups,<sup>x</sup> the snuff dishes,<sup>y</sup> the basins, the pots, the lampstands,<sup>z</sup> the spoons and the libation bowls.<sup>2</sup> Whatever was of gold and whatever was of silver, the captain of the guard took away.<sup>20</sup> The two columns, the one sea, the twelve bronze bulls which were under the seat, and the pedestals which King Solomon had made for the LORD's house, the bronze of all these vessels was beyond weighing.<sup>21</sup> As for the columns, the height of the one column was twenty-seven feet; its circumference was eighteen feet; its thickness was four inches, and it was hollow.<sup>22</sup> A capital of bronze was upon it; the height of one capital was seven and one-half feet; a network and pomegranates, all of bronze, were upon the capital round about. Similarly, the second column had the pomegranates.<sup>23</sup> Ninety-six pomegranates were visible; the entire number of all the pomegranates was a hundred upon the surrounding network.<sup>a</sup>

second priest, and the three keepers of the threshold.<sup>25</sup> He also took out of the city a eunuch who supervised the men of war, and seven men who were found in the city and who personally supervised the king's council;<sup>b</sup> also the secretary of the commander of the army, who drafted the people of the land;<sup>c</sup> and sixty men, natives of the land, who were found in the midst of the city.<sup>26</sup> Nebuzaradan the captain of the guards seized them and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah,<sup>27</sup> and the king of Babylon smote them; he put them to death in Riblah in the land of Ilamath. So Judah was carried into exile out of its own land.

<sup>28</sup>This is the number of the people whom Nebuchadrezzar carried into exile: In the seventh year, 3,023 Jews;<sup>29</sup> in the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar, he carried away captive out of Jerusalem 832 persons;<sup>30</sup> in the twenty-third year of Nebuchadrezzar, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried into exile of the Jews 745 persons; all the persons were 4600.

THE BOOK OF LAMENTATIONS

1 HOW SITS SHE ALL ALONE,<sup>b</sup>
the city once great with people!
She has become as a widow;<sup>c</sup>
she, great among the nations,
a princess in the provinces,
has now become a vassal.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>2</sup>She weeps bitterly at night,
the tears flow always on her cheeks;
no one of all her lovers

now seeks to bring her comfort.
All her friends have dealt treacherously
with her;

they have become her enemies.

<sup>3</sup>From affliction and servitude Judah has now gone into exile;
she dwells among the nations
and nowhere finds her rest.

All those who pursued her overtook her in the narrow places.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>4</sup>The highways to Zion are in mourning,
no pilgrims come to her solemn assemblies;<sup>f</sup>

all her gates are deserted.<sup>g</sup>

Her priests are in deep anguish.
Her virgins are afflicted;<sup>h</sup>

she is herself in bitter distress.

<sup>5</sup>Those smiting her have come to lord
it over her;

all her foes are prospering.
For the LORD has afflicted her because of the greatness of her transgressions.

Her young children have gone as captives

before the face of her foe.

<sup>6</sup>From the daughter of Zion has gone
all her splendor;<sup>i</sup>

her princes have become like stags
that can find no pasture;
they have gone without strength
before the one pursuing them.

<sup>7</sup>In the days of her affliction and wandering

Jerusalem remembers all the treasures which were hers in the days of old.

When her people fell into the hands
of the enemy

and no one aided her,
her enemies saw her and mocked at her destruction.

a) The Book of Lamentations is composed of five poems in the meter of the Hebrew Dirge (or Lament). Each poem except the 3rd, has 22 verses, the initial letter of each verse of the 1st, 2nd, and 4th poems being, progressively, those of the 22-letter Hebrew alphabet. The 3rd poem has 66 verses, each letter of the alphabet being used as the initial letter in three consecutive verses. Poem 5 is related to the Hebrew alphabet only in the number of its verses.

b) Lamentations bewails the capture, destruction, and devastation of Jerusalem by the armies of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon in 587. King Zedekiah, his sons, the chief priest, his close associates, and the leading men of the city were captured, his sons killed, the city and temple burned, everything of value taken, the wall of the city broken down, thousands of captives taken, and only a poor and desolate population left in city and land. For a brief report see Jer. 52.

c) "Alone," as in Isaiah 47:8,9; "in reproach," as in Isaiah 54:4; "forsaken," as in Isaiah 54:6.

d) Owed her conquerors "tribute, customs, and toll," as in Ezra 4:20.

e) From which she could not escape. Some think there is reference to her "spiritual straits," as in Psalm 118:5; the Hebrew word is closely akin to the word for "Egypt," and some understand it to refer to Egypt [cf. Jer. 44].

f) To some of these feasts pilgrims were expected from all over the world.

g) The gates were a common meeting place. h) No young men as prospective husbands.

i) Zion is "the perfection of beauty" [Psalm 50:2].

<sup>8</sup>Jerusalem sinned her grievous sin and therefore came to be as one unclean.

All who honored her now despise her,
for they have seen her nakedness;<sup>k</sup>
she groans and turns her back to them.

<sup>9</sup>Her uncleanness was in her skirts;<sup>l</sup>
she did not keep in mind the consequences;

hence she fell grievously,
and there was for her no comforter.
Behold, O LORD, my affliction,
for the enemy has become arrogant.

<sup>10</sup>The adversary has spread out his hand
on all her precious things;<sup>m</sup>
for she has seen heathen nations
invade her sanctuary, concerning whom Thou didst declare they should never enter the congregation belonging to Thee.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>11</sup>All her people are in groaning
as they search for bread.

They have given their valuables for
food

that they may keep alive.

Look, O LORD, observe it well,
for I have become abject, despised.

<sup>12</sup>Is it nothing to you, all you who pass
by?

Look and see if there is any sorrow
like my sorrow,
which is being dealt out to me,
which the LORD inflicted
in the day of His fiery anger.

<sup>13</sup>From on high He sent fire into my bones,<sup>o</sup>

and it has subdued them;

He has spread a net for my feet,
He has turned me backward;

He has given me over to frustration
and faintness all day long.

<sup>14</sup>Bound together as a yoke are my
transgressions;

by His hand they are woven tight;
they are bound upon my neck.<sup>p</sup>

He has made my strength to fail.
The LORD has delivered me into hands
which I am unable to withstand.

<sup>15</sup>The LORD has tossed aside
all the mighty men in my midst;
He has called against me a solemn
assembly

to crush my young men.

The LORD has trodden as in a wine press

the virgin, the daughter of Judah.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>16</sup>On account of these things I weep, from my eyes flow copious tears;<sup>r</sup>
for far from me is any comforter,
who should revive my soul.

My children have become desolate,
for the enemy has prevailed.

<sup>17</sup>Zion stretches forth her hands,
but for her there is no comforter;

The LORD has ordered concerning
Jacob,

that those around him be his adversaries;

Jerusalem has become among them
as one who is unclean.

<sup>18</sup>Righteous in His doing is the LORD,
for I have rebelled against His voice.

Hear me now, all you peoples,
and behold my suffering.

My virgins and my choice young men have gone into captivity.

<sup>19</sup>I called for those who had loved me,
but they played me false.

My priests and my elders perished in
the city

even as they sought for food
that they might keep themselves
alive.

<sup>20</sup>Look on, O LORD, for I am in
distress,

my spirit is sorely troubled.

My heart is upset inside me,
for I have most grievously rebelled.

Abroad the sword has brought bereavement;

in our homes is the silence of death.

k) Used many times in Old and New Testaments as a symbol of complete destitution.

l) The abiding evidence of her habitual uncleanness — idolatry, low degenerate conduct [Jer. 13:20-27]. m) Furniture and utensils for the sacrificial offerings in the temple [Jer. 52:17-20]. n) Because they are morally and ceremonially unclean, and no unclean person or thing may enter the sanctuary [Deut. 23:1-14].

o) The frame of her existence as a city. Jer. 52:13 says the enemy burned the temple, the royal palace, and "every great house," in the city.

p) Jer. 27:2, 28:10, 11, and 12-14 give vivid descriptions of the yoke on the neck as a symbol of subjugation and slavery.

q) Isaiah 62:5 tells of God's rejoicing over Jerusalem as a young man rejoices over marriage to a virgin. Hosea 2:19, 20 speaks of Israel as a virgin whom the LORD will betroth to Him "in righteousness, justice, lovingkindness, tender mercies, and faithfulness."

r) Jer. 14:17 says of Jerusalem, "Let my eyes run down with tears night and day."

21 They have heard how I moan,
with no one to comfort me.
All my enemies have heard of my
trials,
they exult that Thou hast done it;
Thou hast brought the day which Thou hadst declared;
may they fare like me.
22 Let all their evil come before Thee;
and deal Thou with them
as Thou hast dealt with me
for all my transgressions.
For many are my groanings,
and my heart is forlorn.

2 HOW THE LORD IN HIS ANGER HAS covered
the daughter of Zion with a cloud!
The beauty of Israel He has cast down
from heaven to earth.
His footstool<sup>s</sup> He did not remember
in the day of His anger.
2 The LORD has swallowed up, and that without pity,
all the precious things of Jacob.
He has, in His wrath, destroyed the strongholds
of the daughter of Judah;
He has cast to the ground and made common
the kingdom and her princes.
3 In His fiery anger He has cut off
every horn<sup>t</sup> of Israel;
He has withdrawn His right hand
in the face of the enemy;
Yes, He has kindled a flaming fire in the midst of Jacob,
and it has consumed all things
around.
4 He has bent His bow as an enemy;
He has taken His stand,
His right hand firmly fixed as an adversary.
He has destroyed all things desirable
to the eyes.
In the tent of the daughter of Zion
He has poured out His fury like fire.
5 The LORD has become as an enemy;
He has swallowed up Israel;
He has swallowed up all her palaces;
He has destroyed all her fortresses,
and in the daughter of Judah

He has multiplied moaning and
mourning.
6 He has demolished His tabernacle as if but a vineyard,
He has destroyed His place of
assembly.
The LORD has caused feast and Sabbath
to be forgotten in Zion.
In His indignation and anger
He has rejected the king and the priest.
7 The LORD has cast off His altar;
He has repudiated His holy place.
The walls of her palaces
He has given into the hand of her
enemy.
A shouting as on an appointed feast day
they have raised in the house of the
LORD.
8 The LORD has determined to make desolate
the wall of the daughter of Zion.
He has stretched out His measuring line;
He has not withdrawn His hand
from destruction.
He has caused both wall and rampart
to languish;
together they tottered.
9 Her gates are sunk deep in the
ground;
He has broken and destroyed her
bars.
Her king and her princes are among the nations.
There is no longer teaching of the
law,
and her prophets receive no vision
from the LORD.
10 The elders of the daughter of Zion sit on the ground and are silent;
they have thrown dust upon their heads;
they have girded themselves with sackcloth.
The virgins of Jerusalem
hang their heads to the ground.
11 My eyes are exhausted with weeping;
my emotions are deeply disturbed;
my grief is poured out on the earth

s) The temple, I Chron. 28:2.

t) Cf. ch. 2:17. In I Sam. 2:10 and Amos 6:13 a symbol of strength and daring.

u) Symbols of security [Jer. 49:31; Psalm 147:13].

v) No religious instruction can be given [cf. Ezek. 7:26].

w) Dumb with grief [Job 2:13; Ezek. 3:15].

x) A sign of lamentation [Josh. 7:6; Job 2:12].

y) Wailing bitterly [Jer. 6:26; 49:3].

LAMENTATIONS 2, 3

for the downfall of the daughter of
my people,
for the swooning of babies and nurslings

in the open places of the city.
<sup>12</sup>To their mothers they keep crying,
"Where is there bread and wine?"<sup>z</sup>

They collapse, as do the wounded
in the streets of the city;
and their lives ebb away
on the bosom of their mothers.

<sup>13</sup>What shall I say in bearing my witness to you?

To what shall I liken you, O daughter of Jerusalem?

What shall I compare with you, that I may comfort you,
O virgin daughter of Zion?

For vast as the sea is your ruin;
who can bring you healing?

<sup>14</sup>Your prophets have seen for you only vanities and empty visions;
they have not shown you your iniquity,
to hold you back from captivity.

They have seen and declared to you visions of vanity and falsehood.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>15</sup>All those passing along the way clap their hands at you;<sup>b</sup>

they hiss and wag their heads
at the daughter of Jerusalem.<sup>c</sup>

This is the city of which man said,
"The perfection of beauty, a joy to all the earth."

<sup>16</sup>All your enemies have opened wide
their mouths against you;

they hoot and gnash their teeth;<sup>d</sup>
they say, "We have swallowed
her up!

This is certainly the day for which we have looked;

we have found it; we have seen it
come."

<sup>17</sup>The LORD has done what He had forewarned;

He has accomplished His word
which He declared in days of old.

He has thrown down; He has not
spared;

He has caused your enemy to rejoice
over you;

Both Affliction and Comfort from God

He has exalted the horn of your
enemies.

<sup>18</sup>Their heart cried out to the LORD.
O wall of the daughter of Zion,

let tears run like a brook day and
night;

Give yourself no respite, the daughter of your eye no rest.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>19</sup>Arise you, cry out in the night,
at the beginning of the night watches.

Pour out your heart as waters before
the face of the LORD!

Lift up your hands to Him
for the life of your children that faint with hunger at the corner of every street.

<sup>20</sup>Look, LORD, and carefully consider to whom Thou hast done thus!

Shall women eat the fruit of their womb,

the children whom they have bounced upon their knees?

Shall priest and prophet be slain
in the sanctuary of the LORD?

<sup>21</sup>In the dust of the streets lie boy and greybeard;

my virgins and my youth are felled
by the sword;

Thou hast slain them in the day of Thy anger;

Thou hast slaughtered, Thou hast not
spared.

<sup>22</sup>Thou hast called, as in a day of solemn assembly,

my terrors from every side.

In the day of the anger of the LORD
not one escaped or survived;

Those I have fondled and brought up,
my enemy has destroyed.

3 I AM THE MAN WHO HAS SEEN affliction<sup>f</sup>

by the rod of His wrath.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>2</sup>He has led me and brought me in
darkness

without a glimmer of light.

<sup>3</sup>Surely He has turned away from me;
He has turned His hand against me
all the day.

<sup>a</sup>) The false prophets here in mind are described briefly in Jer. 14:14-16 and fully in 23:9-40.

<sup>b</sup>) In derision [Job 27:23]. <sup>c</sup>) Poetic reference to the people of the city.

4He has made my skin and my flesh
turn old;
He has crushed my bones.
5He has piled up against me, and surrounded me
with bitterness and distress.
6He has caused me to dwell in dark places,
as the dead of former times.<sup>h</sup> 7He has built a wall around me, I cannot go forth;
He has weighted me down with chains.
8Even when I cry aloud and call for
help,
He shuts out my prayer.
9He has walled in my ways with hewn stones,<sup>i</sup>
He has made crooked all my paths.
10He is to me as a bear lying in wait,
as a lion in hidden places.
11He has turned aside my ways and has torn me in pieces;<sup>j</sup>
He has made me desolate.
12He has bent His bow,
and placed me as a mark for His arrow.
13He has caused His arrows<sup>k</sup> to enter
my inmost parts.
14I have become a derision to all my
people,
their laughingstock all the day long.
15He has filled me with bitterness;
He has saturated me with wormwood.<sup>l</sup>
16He has broken my teeth with gravel;<sup>m</sup>
He has caused me to cringe in ashes.
17Thou hast removed my soul far from
peace;
I have forgotten what enjoyment is.
18I said, "Vanished is my strength and my expectation from the LORD." 19Remember my affliction and my anguish,
the wormwood and the gall.
20My soul holds them in remembrance
and is bowed down within me.

21Of this I remind myself,
therefore I still have hope:
22Because of the LORD's mercies we are not consumed;
His compassions never fail.
23They are new every morning;
great is Thy faithfulness.
24The LORD is my portion, says my
soul,
therefore do I hope in Him.
25The LORD is good to those who wait
for Him,
to the soul that seeks Him.
26It is good if one hopes and quietly waits
for the salvation of the LORD.
27It is good for a man to bear
a yoke in his youth.
28Let him sit alone and remain silent,
for He has laid it upon him.
29Let him press his mouth in the dust;<sup>n</sup>
there may yet be hope.
30Let him offer his cheek to the one smiting him;<sup>o</sup>
let him be sated with reproach.
31For the LORD will not cast off for
ever.
32For, although He may bring grief,
yet He will show compassion
according to the greatness of His loving-kindness.
33For He does not afflict willingly
from His heart
and grieve the children of men, 34to crush under his feet
all the prisoners of the earth, 35to turn aside the rights of a man
before the face of the Most High, 36to refuse a man justice in court,<sup>p</sup>
the LORD does not approve.
37Who speaks and it comes to pass
if the LORD has not ordained it?<sup>q</sup> 38Do not calamity and warfare proceed
from the mouth of the Most High?
39Why should a living man complain?
Each (may lament) because of his sin.

h) This idea is clearly expressed in Psalm 143:3.

i) 1 Kings 7:9-12 gives a vivid description of the careful completeness here implied.

j) As a lion or a bear would do.

k) The Hebrew phrase is "sons of his bow"; it is found only here. Cf. the expression "daughter of the eye" in ch. 2:18 with note.

l) Jer. 23:15 states this idea more vividly and completely.

m) Proverbs 20:17 is the only other passage with this word and idea: a vivid description of what is unwelcome and injurious.

n) In abject recognition of his unworthiness. Cf. Psalm 72:9; Micah 7:17 for fuller statement.

o) Job 16:9-11 gives a more complete description of the same act.

p) Favoritism and injustice in the courts was common in that day. q) The answer is, no one.

<sup>40</sup>Let us search and test our ways,
 then let us return to the LORD.
<sup>41</sup>Let us lift our hearts with our hands
 to God in the heavens.
<sup>42</sup>We have transgressed and rebelled,
 and Thou hast not forgiven.
<sup>43</sup>Thou hast clothed Thyself with anger and pursued us;
 Thou hast slain and hast not pitied.
<sup>44</sup>Thou hast screened Thyself with a cloud
 through which our worship cannot pass.
<sup>45</sup>Thou hast made us offscouring and refuse
 in the midst of all the peoples.
<sup>46</sup>All our enemies have opened their mouths against us.
<sup>47</sup>Dread and destruction have come upon us,
 devastation and ruin.
<sup>48</sup>Streams of tears flow down from my eyes
 because of the downfall of the daughter of my people.
<sup>49</sup>My eye keeps flowing unceasingly;
 there is no intermission
<sup>50</sup>until the LORD looks down from heaven
 and takes account of me.
<sup>51</sup>My eyes are paining my soul because of all the daughters of my city.
<sup>52</sup>Those who were my enemies without
 cause
 have chased me as a bird.
<sup>53</sup>They have cast me alive into a pit
 and have cast stones upon me.
<sup>54</sup>Waters have closed over my head;
 I said in my heart, "I am gone."
<sup>55</sup>Out of the depths of the pit
 I have called on Thy name, O my
 LORD,
<sup>56</sup>Thou hast heard my cry;
 close not Thy ear to my sighs and
 my cries.
<sup>57</sup>Thou didst draw near in the day
 that I called Thee;
 Thou saidst to me, Fear thou not.
<sup>58</sup>O LORD, Thou hast pleaded in the pleadings of my soul;
 Thou hast redeemed to me my life.

<sup>59</sup>Thou, O LORD, hast seen the wrongs done to me;
 vindicate Thou me in righteous
 judgment.
<sup>60</sup>Thou hast seen all their vengeance,
 all their devices against me.
<sup>61</sup>Thou hast heard all their tauntings,
 O LORD,
 all their reproaches against me, <sup>62</sup>the voices of those rising against me,
 and their mutterings against me all
 the day long.
<sup>63</sup>Look well to their sitting down and their rising up;<sup>r</sup>
 I am the theme of their taunt-song.
<sup>64</sup>O LORD, Thou wilt recompense them
 according to the works of their
 hands;
<sup>65</sup>Thou wilt give them dullness of
 heart;
 Thy curse will be upon them.
<sup>66</sup>Thou wilt pursue them in fierce
 indignation,
 and destroy them from under the LORD's heavens.

4 HOW THE GOLD HAS BECOME DIM; how the fine gold has lost its luster!

The holy stones<sup>s</sup> lie scattered about
 at the corners of the streets.
<sup>2</sup>The precious sons of Zion,
 in value like to fine gold,
 how they have been reckoned as earthenware,
 the work of the hands of the potter!
<sup>3</sup>Even jackals present their breasts
 and suckle their young;
 the daughter of my people has become as cruel
 as ostriches in the wilderness.
<sup>4</sup>The tongue of the nursing babe
 cleaves to his palate in thirst;
 the young children ask for bread,
 with no one to break it to them.
<sup>5</sup>Those used to eating dainties
 are famishing in the streets.
 Those once clothed in scarlet lie nestling in the dunghills.
<sup>6</sup>For the sin of the daughter of my
 people
 is greater than the sin of Sodom,

<sup>s</sup>) Ch. 4 is closely related to ch. 2. The symbols "holy stones" [vs. 1] and "fine gold" [vs. 2] have as background the earthly materials of the temple, but they refer to the high and sacred value of the people.

which was overthrown in a moment,
with no man's hand laid upon her.
7 Her princes were brighter than snow,
whiter than milk.

They were ruddy in body as rubies, they were sapphires in beauty of form.

8 Their looks now are blacker than soot;
they are not recognized on the streets.

Their skin, shrivelled upon their bones,<sup>t</sup>
has withered, is become dry as a stick.

9 Those slain with the sword are happier
than those who must perish from hunger;

for these pine away, pierced through from want of the fruits of the field.

10 The hands of compassionate mothers have boiled their own children.

They became their food at the downfall
of the daughter of my people.

11 The LORD has executed His fury,
He has poured out the fierceness of His anger;

He has kindled a fire in Zion, and it has consumed her foundations.

12 The kings of the earth did not believe,
nor did any of those inhabiting the
earth,

that an adversary and an enemy
would enter the gates of Jerusalem.

13 It was because of the sins of the prophets,<sup>u</sup>

and the iniquities of her priests, who shed in her midst
the blood of the righteous.

14 They staggered, blind, through the
streets;

they were polluted with blood.

Those they should not touch
they were defiling with their
garments.

15 "Away! Unclean!"<sup>v</sup> men shouted aloud to them;

"Away! Away! Touch not!"

They fled and wandered about; men
said among the nations,

"They shall no longer sojourn with us."

16 The LORD Himself has divided them;
He no longer looks favorably upon
them.

The faces of the priests they have not
honored;
to the elders they have not been gracious.

17 Though we continue to live,
our eyes fail us as we look vainly
for help.

In our watching we have looked to a nation
that made no attempt to save.<sup>w</sup>

18 They have waylaid our every step so that we could not go out on our streets.

Our end is near, our days are numbered.

Yes, our end has come.

19 Those pursuing us were swifter
than the eagles of the heavens;
upon the mountains they chased us;
in the wilderness they lay in wait
for us.

20 In their pits they have placed the breath of our life,
the anointed of the LORD,<sup>x</sup>
of whom we had said,

"Under his shadow
we shall live among the nations."

21 Well may you rejoice and be glad,
O daughter of Edom,
who dwellest in the land of Uz;<sup>y</sup>
for also to you shall a cup be passed.

You shall become drunk and strip
yourself.

22 Your iniquity is now completed, O
daughter of Zion;

He will not again carry you captive.
To your iniquity, O daughter of Edom,<sup>z</sup> He will now attend;
He will now uncover your sins.

<sup>t</sup>) Job 30:30 says: "My skin is black upon me, and my bones are burned with heat."

<sup>u</sup>) Jer. 14:14-16 gives a brief vivid statement about the prophets here in mind. 23:9-40 gives a very full statement concerning them.

<sup>v</sup>) This is the exact word that a leper must cry out to prevent people from coming into contact with him [Lev. 13:45].

<sup>w</sup>) Jer. 37:7 speaks of Egypt as one in whom Israel had placed hope as a helper, but she had failed them.

<sup>x</sup>) A reference to Zedekiah the king and his experiences as given in Jer. 52:7-11.

<sup>y</sup>) The land of Job: Job 1:1; Jer. 25:20 gives a suggestion as to the number of small kingdoms in the area.

<sup>z</sup>) Jer. 49:7-13; Ezek. 25:12-14; and Obadiah, vss. 11-13 promise the desolation of Edom because of her attitude toward Judah in the day of the destruction of Jerusalem.

LAMENTATIONS 5

- 5 REMEMBER, O LORD, WHAT HAS
 come to us;
 observe us and see our reproach.
<sup>2</sup>Our inheritance has been turned over to strangers;
 our homes have been given to aliens.
<sup>3</sup>We have become orphans, without
 fathers;
 our mothers now are as widows.
<sup>4</sup>We must pay for the water we drink;
 our wood we secure at high cost.
<sup>5</sup>Our pursuers now sit on our necks;<sup>a</sup>
 we toil without rest.
<sup>6</sup>To Egypt we have stretched out our
 hand,
 to Assyria also to have enough bread.
<sup>7</sup>Our fathers sinned and are no more;
 their iniquities we have to bear.
<sup>8</sup>Servants rule over us;
 no one delivers us from their hand.
<sup>9</sup>With peril to our lives we secure our bread,
 in the face of the sword in the
 wilderness.
<sup>10</sup>Our skin is as hot as an oven
 because of the fever heat of famine.
<sup>11</sup>Women in Zion they have ravished, virgins in the cities of Judah.
<sup>12</sup>Princes they hanged by their hands;
 the faces of elders they have not
 honored.

The Cry for Final Deliverance

- <sup>13</sup>Young men have carried the grinding
 mill;
 youths have stumbled under loads
 of wood.
<sup>14</sup>Elders have ceased to sit in the gates;<sup>b</sup> young men no longer are playing their music.
<sup>15</sup>The joy of our hearts has ceased;
 our dancing has been turned into
 mourning.
<sup>16</sup>The crown has fallen from our head;
 woe to us, for we have sinned.
<sup>17</sup>Because of this our heart is faint;
 because of these things our eyes are dim, <sup>18</sup>because on Mount Zion, which is desolate, the foxes roam about.
<sup>19</sup>Thou, O LORD, art forever enthroned; Thy throne endures from generation
 to generation.
<sup>20</sup>Why dost Thou forget us for ever,
 why dost Thou forsake us so long?
<sup>21</sup>Turn us to Thee, O LORD, and we shall be turned,
 Renew our days as of old.
<sup>22</sup>Wouldest Thou reject us completely?
 Art Thou excessively angered against us?

a) Joshua 10:24 reports the call of Joshua to those about to kill five captured kings. "Come near, put your feet upon the necks of these kings." In Jer. 30:8 it is said that the LORD will break the yoke of the oppressor "from off your necks."
 b) Deut. 16:18 [Am. Rev. Ver.] gives definite instruction that "judges and officers" shall sit in "all thy gates," and "they shall judge the people with righteous judgment."

THE BOOK OF EZEKIEL<sup>a</sup>

592 B.C.

1 IN THE THIRTIETH YEAR,<sup>b</sup> IN THE fourth month, on the fifth day of the month, as I was among the exiles by the river Chebar, the heavens opened, and I saw visions from God. <sup>2</sup>On the fifth day of the month, in the fifth year of the exile of King Jehoiachin,<sup>c</sup> <sup>3</sup>the word of the LORD came to Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans by the river Chebar; and the LORD's hand was there upon him.

<sup>4</sup>As I was looking, there came a stormy wind out of the north, accompanied by a great cloud, in what was a mass of fire with a brightness around it, while out of its center something gleamed like shining metal. <sup>5</sup>Then out of its center emerged what looked like four living beings,<sup>d</sup> and this was their appearance: their form was that of a man; <sup>6</sup>each of them had four faces, and each of them had four wings. <sup>7</sup>Their legs were straight, the soles of their feet were like the feet of oxen; and they sparkled like the surface of burnished bronze. <sup>8</sup>Under their wings on their four sides there were human hands. As for their four faces and their wings, <sup>9</sup>their wings touched one another; and their faces did not turn as they went, but every one went straight forward. <sup>10</sup>As for the form of their faces, each of the four had in front the face of a man; all four had, on the right side, the face of a lion; all four had the face of an ox on the left side; and all four had the face of an eagle at the back. <sup>11</sup>Such were their faces. When their wings were stretched out above, one pair of each touched those of the next being; the other pair covered the body.

<sup>12</sup>Each went straight forward, going wherever the spirit impelled them to go, without turning as they went. <sup>13</sup>In the midst of the living beings there was what looked like burning coals of fire, like torches moving back and forth among the living beings. The fire was bright, and out of the fire shot forth lightning. <sup>14</sup>The living beings darted back and forth like flashes of lightning.

<sup>15</sup>As I was still looking at the living beings, I saw a wheel<sup>e</sup> on the ground beside each of the four living beings. <sup>16</sup>As for the appearance of the wheels and their construction, their appearance was like the gleam of a Tarshish stone. All four of them were formed alike;

a) Ezekiel, "God strengthens," was the "St. John" of the O.T., who saw many visions. A deep spiritual tone pervades all his messages. He was a priest among those carried captive to Babylon in 597 B.C. Five years later he was called to become a prophet. He preached to his companion exiles in Babylon 22 years [592-570 B.C.]. Twice Jerusalem was decimated: first, when her vassal king, Jehoiachin, and the flower of the nobility were taken by the king of Babylon in 597; again 9 years later, when Nebuchadnezzar, having discovered King Zedekiah's treachery in seeking help from Egypt to rebel, besieged Jerusalem, carrying away the best of the remnant to Babylon in 586 B.C.

b) Ezekiel's age. The Levites entered the service of the sanctuary at 30 [Num. 4:23, 30].

c) This was in 592, six years before the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C.

d) In ch. 10:15, 20, he calls them "cherubim."

e) From the Hebrew word ophan, meaning "wheel." From its plural form ophanim, came a sect in Judaism known as "The Ophanim," associated with seraphim and cherubim, as angels; mentioned in the Book of Enoch and in the Talmud, but not in the O.T.

they were so constructed that there seemed to be one wheel inside another wheel. <sup>17</sup>When they went, they went in any of their four directions without turning as they went. <sup>18</sup>The wheels had high and dreadful rims, and all four of the rims were full of eyes all around. <sup>19</sup>When the living beings went, the wheels went with them; and when the living beings rose from the earth, the wheels rose too. <sup>20</sup>Wherever the spirit was to go, they went, and the wheels were lifted up alongside of them, for the spirit of the living beings was in the wheels. <sup>21</sup>When those went, these went; when those stood still, these stood still; and when those arose from the earth, the wheels arose along with them: for the spirit of the living beings was in the wheels.<sup>f</sup>

the rainbow in the clouds after a shower. Such was the appearance of the glory of the LORD.<sup>i</sup> When I saw it, I fell on my face, and I heard the voice of One speaking.

2 HE SAID TO ME: SON OF MAN,<sup>j</sup> stand on your feet<sup>k</sup> so I may speak to you. <sup>2</sup>The Spirit entered into me as He spoke to me and set me on my feet, and I heard Him speaking to me. <sup>3</sup>He said to me: Son of man, I am sending you to the children of Israel, to a nation of rebels, who have rebelled against Me; they and their fathers have sinned against Me to this very day.<sup>l</sup> <sup>4</sup>Their children, to whom I am sending you, are also impudent and stubborn. Say to them, "Thus says the LORD God;"<sup>m</sup> <sup>5</sup>and they, whether they hear or refuse to hear (for they are a rebellious house) shall know that there has been a prophet among them. <sup>6</sup>And as for you, son of man, be not afraid of them, nor afraid of their words; though briars and thorns are all around you and you dwell among scorpions, do not fear their words nor be dismayed at their looks, for they are a rebellious house.<sup>n</sup> <sup>7</sup>You shall speak My words to them, whether they will listen or refuse to listen; for they are rebellious. <sup>8</sup>As for you, son of man, hear what I say to you; be not rebellious like that rebellious house. Open your mouth, and eat what I give you.

<sup>9</sup>When I looked, there was a hand stretched out to me; and see, a written scroll was in it! <sup>10</sup>He unrolled it before me, and it had writing both inside and out,<sup>o</sup> and there were written on it words of lamentation, of sighing, and of woe.

3 HE SAID TO ME: SON OF MAN, EAT<sup>p</sup> what you find here; eat this scroll;

f) The spirit of the living creatures is repeatedly emphasized [vss. 12, 20, 21; ch. 10:17].

g) Colossal geni are found on Assyrian monuments, their wings touching horizontally.

h) God as having the form of a man, supernaturally glorified [cf. Phil. 2:7].

i) The prophet saw the outward manifestation of the divine presence in ecstasy, invisible to the natural eye [cf. Exod. 33:18-23].

j) The title "son of man" occurs in this prophecy 87 times; Jesus employed it often of Himself to emphasize His humanity. Beside Ezekiel, only Daniel uses it in the O.T. [Dan. 7:13].

k) To stand up, when spoken to by a superior, implied both courtesy and willingness to learn.

l) Alluding to all twelve tribes [cf. chs. 16 and 23].

m) In Hebrew, Adonai Yahweh, a somewhat unusual combination, emphasizing God's Being.

n) The prophet repeats the expression "a rebellious house," 15 times.

o) Sizes of Hebrew scrolls differed greatly; they were usually of skin written with great care; seldom written on both sides, but this one was of great importance.

p) Symbolic of accepting and digesting God's Word.

then go and speak to the house of Israel. <sup>2</sup>So I opened my mouth, and He had me eat the scroll. <sup>3</sup>He said to me, Son of man, eat this scroll which I am now giving you; fill your stomach with it and digest it! Then I ate it, and it was in my mouth sweet as honey.

<sup>4</sup>He said to me: Son of man, go now to the house of Israel, and speak to them<sup>a</sup> with My words. <sup>5</sup>For it is not to a people of foreign speech and a difficult language to whom you are sent, but to the house of Israel; <sup>6</sup>not to a people of foreign tongue and a hard language whose words you cannot understand. If I sent you to such, they would listen to you; <sup>7</sup>but the house of Israel will not listen to you; for they are not willing to listen to Me, because the whole house of Israel is defiant; they are stubborn. <sup>8</sup>But I will make your face<sup>c</sup> as hard as their faces and your forehead as hard as their foreheads; <sup>9</sup>like a diamond, harder than flint, I will make your forehead. Do not fear them nor be dismayed at their looks, for they are a rebellious house. <sup>10</sup>Son of man, He said to me, receive in your heart all the words that I shall speak to you, and hear with your ears. <sup>11</sup>Go, get to your fellow exiles, and tell them, "Thus says the LORD God," whether they listen or refuse to hear.

<sup>12</sup>Then the Spirit lifted me up, and as the glory of the LORD ascended from His place, I heard behind me the sound of a great rushing.<sup>q</sup> <sup>13</sup>The sound of the wings of the living beings as they touched one another and the sound of the wheels beside them, the sound of a great rushing. <sup>14</sup>The Spirit lifted me up and took me away and I went, bitter and disturbed in my spirit, the hand of the LORD being heavy upon me. <sup>15</sup>And I came to the exiles living at Tel Abib, by the river Chebar. There I remained with them, overwhelmed in spirit for seven days.

<sup>16</sup>At the end of seven days, the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>17</sup>Son of man, I have appointed you a watchman to the house of Israel; when you hear a word from My mouth, you shall give them warning in My name. <sup>18</sup>When I say to the wicked, You shall surely die, and you give him no warning, saying nothing to warn the wicked man from his wicked way to save his life, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but I will make you responsible for his blood. <sup>19</sup>If, however, you warn the wicked man and he does not turn from his wickedness and from his wicked way, then he shall die in his iniquity; but as for you, you will have saved your soul. <sup>20</sup>Again, if a righteous man turns away from his righteousness and does wrong and I put a stumbling block before him, he shall die; because you have not warned him, he shall die for his sin, and his righteous deeds which he has done shall not be remembered; but I will make you responsible for his blood.<sup>t</sup> <sup>21</sup>However, if you warn the upright man not to sin and he does not sin, then he shall surely live, because he took warning; and as for you, you will have saved your soul.

<sup>22</sup>There the hand of the LORD came upon me, and He said to me, Arise, go out to the plain, and there I will speak with you. <sup>23</sup>So I got up and went to the plain; and, behold, there stood the glory of the LORD like the glory which I had seen by the river Chebar, and I fell face forward. <sup>24</sup>But the Spirit entered into me and set me upon my feet. He addressed me and said to me: Go inside and shut yourself up in your house.<sup>u</sup> <sup>25</sup>As for you, son of man, they will bind you with ropes, so that you cannot go among them. <sup>26</sup>I will make your tongue cleave to your palate; you will remain dumb; you shall not be a reprover to them; for they are a rebellious house. <sup>27</sup>But when I speak with you, I will open your mouth, and you shall say to them, "Thus says the LORD God." Let him hear who will, and let him decline who will; for they are a rebellious house.

q) Not to discover what might please his audience, but what came directly from God.

r) The LORD's own face would be reflected in Ezekiel's; "God strengthens."

s) Made by the departure of the sacred chariot that was designed to bear the LORD's throne from Jerusalem to Babylon. t) The fairness of God's justice is impressed on the prophet's mind.

you, trace on it the city of Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>Put siegeworks against it, build a watchtower against it, throw up a rampart against it, pitch army camps against it, and plant battering rams against it on every side. <sup>3</sup>Then take an iron plate, place it as an iron wall between you and the city; and turn your face toward it, bringing it under a state of siege, and conduct the siege against it. This is to be a sign for the house of Israel.

<sup>4</sup>Then you lie on your left side<sup>v</sup> and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel upon it. As many days as you lie on it, you will carry their iniquity.<sup>w</sup> <sup>5</sup>I am assigning to you a number of days equal to the years of their punishment, 390 days, during all of which you shall have on you the guilt of the house of Israel. <sup>6</sup>When you have completed these, you shall lie down a second time, on your right side,<sup>x</sup> and take on you the punishment of the house of Judah. I assign to you forty days, one day for each year. <sup>7</sup>With your arm bared, you shall set your face toward the siege of Jerusalem, and you shall prophesy against it. <sup>8</sup>And, see, I am going to place binding cords upon you, that you may not turn from one side to the other till you have completed the days of your siege.

<sup>9</sup>Besides, take wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet, and spelt;<sup>y</sup> put them all into a single vessel, and make them into bread; for during the 390 days that you are lying upon your side, you shall eat it. <sup>10</sup>The food you shall eat each day shall be weighed, an ample half-pound, to be eaten at a fixed hour each day. <sup>11</sup>Water also shall be given you by measure, two pints, to be drunk at a fixed time. <sup>12</sup>You shall eat it as a barley cake, baking it in the people's sight, on human dung.

<sup>13</sup>The LORD said, Even so shall the children of Israel eat their bread among the nations whither I will drive them.

truly, I have never yet defiled myself with uncleanness; from my youth up till now I have never eaten the flesh of any animal that died of itself nor flesh torn by wild beasts; nor has there ever come any abominable thing into my mouth." <sup>15</sup>Then He told me, See, I will allow you cow's dung instead of man's excrement, and you may prepare your bread upon it.<sup>z</sup> <sup>16</sup>He further said to me: Son of man, see! I will break the staff of bread in Jerusalem; with anxiety they shall eat bread rationed by weight, and in dismay they shall drink water rationed by measure, <sup>17</sup>in order that they may lack bread and water and look at one another in dismay, wasting away under their punishment.

5 AND YOU, SON OF MAN, TAKE A sharp sword and use it as a barber's razor; run it over your head and your beard; then get scales for weighing, and divide your hair. <sup>2</sup>One third you shall burn in the fire inside the city, when the days of the siege are over; one third you shall take and strike with the sword all around; and one third you shall scatter to the wind, and My unsheathed sword shall pursue it. <sup>3</sup>Take, however, a few of your hairs, and tie them in the skirts of your robe; <sup>4</sup>but of these, too, some shall be taken out and cast into the fire; burn them in the fire, and from it a fire will spread against the whole house of Israel.

<sup>5</sup>Thus says the LORD God: This is Jerusalem, which I have set in the center of the nations with other countries around her. <sup>6</sup>Yet she has wickedly rebelled against My ordinances more than the nations, and against My statutes<sup>a</sup> more than the countries surrounding her; for they have scorned My ordinances and have not followed My statutes. <sup>7</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD God: Because you have been more rebellious than the nations around you,

v) The "left" side indicates the north, hence the northern kingdom of Israel or Ephraim. w) Isa. 53:12, "bore the sin of many," is a significant parallel!

x) The "right" indicates the south, i.e. the kingdom of Judah. y) Spelt, a species of wheat. This unusual mixture involved ceremonial uncleanness in the popular mind of that day.

z) As a priest Ezekiel would be particularly scrupulous about his diet, zealously observing every dietary law. Bedouin Arabs and the poor fellahin of the villages in western Asia still use cow dung and camel dung for fuel.

a) Ordinances were civil and legal; statutes were religious and ceremonial.

by not walking in My statutes or obeying My ordinances, nor having done after the ordinances of the nations that are round about you; <sup>8</sup>therefore, thus says the LORD God: Look! I, even I, am against you, and I will execute judgments in the midst of you in the sight of the nations.<sup>b</sup> <sup>9</sup>And because of all your abominable doings, I will do among you what I have never done before, and the like of which I will never do again. <sup>10</sup>Fathers among you shall eat their sons, and sons shall eat their fathers; I will execute judgments among you, and all who are left of you I will scatter to all the winds.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>11</sup>Wherefore, as I live, says the LORD God,<sup>d</sup> because you have defiled My sanctuary with all your detestable and loathsome impurities,<sup>e</sup> My eye will not spare you; therefore, I will cut you down without mercy or pity! <sup>12</sup>A third part of you shall die of pestilence or perish with famine among you; a third part shall fall by the sword around you; a third part I will scatter to all the winds, and My sword shall pursue them. <sup>13</sup>Thus shall My anger be fully poured out, and My fury will be appeased upon them. They shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken in My zeal, when I have accomplished My fury upon them. <sup>14</sup>I will make you a desolation and a reproach among the nations around you in the sight of all those who pass by.<sup>f</sup> <sup>15</sup>You shall be a byword and an object of scorn, a warning and a horror to the nations around you when I execute My judgments upon you in My indignation and furious chastisements. It is I, the LORD, who have said it.<sup>g</sup> <sup>16</sup>When I send My fatal arrows of famine and destruction against you and prolong the agonies of famine on you, breaking your staff of bread, <sup>17</sup>sending hunger and wild beasts among you, which will rob you of your children, sending pestilence and bloodshed to decimate you and the sword to destroy you, behold, it is I, the LORD, who have spoken it.

6 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME TO me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, set your face<sup>h</sup> toward the mountains of Israel;<sup>i</sup> prophesy against them; <sup>3</sup>say, You mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD God! Thus says the LORD God to the mountains and the hills, the creek-beds and the valleys: Listen! I, even I, will bring a sword on you, and I will abolish your high places. <sup>4</sup>Your altars shall be demolished; your incense altars shall be broken, and I will cast down your slain before your idols; <sup>5</sup>I will pile up the corpses of the Israelites before their idols and scatter your bones around your altars. <sup>6</sup>Wherever you live, the cities shall be destroyed and the high places made desolate, so that your altars shall be ruined and made desolate, your idols smashed, your sun-images hewn down, and your evil-doings ended. <sup>7</sup>The slain shall lie among you, and you will recognize that I am the LORD.

<sup>8</sup>Yet I will spare a few who escape the sword among the nations and when you have become scattered throughout the nations. <sup>9</sup>Those who escape shall remember Me wherever they may be carried, when I have broken their adulterous hearts that turned from Me and their eyes that have run wantonly after idols.<sup>j</sup> Then they will loathe themselves because of the evils they have done through all their abominations. <sup>10</sup>They shall know that I am the LORD,<sup>k</sup> and that I have not for naught said that I would bring this punishment upon them.

b) Ezekiel insists that God will perform His judgments on Israel publicly, both as an example to them and to vindicate His Godhead to the world.

c) Ezekiel fixes his hopes on the faithful among the exiles in Babylon, out of whom a new Israel will be created [cf. chs. 33-37]. d) Ezekiel uses, "as I live," as said by God, 13 times.

e) I false gods with their rites and images. f) These afflictions were all verified [cf. Lam. 2:15, 16].

g) "It is I, the LORD, who has spoken it," Ezekiel uses 13 times as a conclusion to His warnings.

h) One of Ezekiel's favorite phrases, "set your face against," employed by him 9 times, is here used to express his abhorrence of the idolatrous practices associated with the Canaanites.

i) As the Canaanites had put their shrines on the high places, where they indulged in sexual license as part of their worship, so many Israelites followed suit, either joining the natives or having their own shrines, so that the high places were divinely condemned, including the mountains as the highest places. j) Captivated by the licentious customs of the Canaanite religion.

k) This is one of Ezekiel's most characteristic expressions occurring over 60 times like a refrain, in recognition of His sole Godhead and supreme power.

your hands, stamp your foot,<sup>1</sup> and say, Alas, because of all the evil abominations of the house of Israel; for they shall fall by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence. <sup>12</sup>He who is far off shall die of pestilence; he who is near shall fall by the sword, and he who is left over and preserved shall die of famine. Thus will I spend My fury upon them. <sup>13</sup>You shall know that I am the LORD when your slain shall lie beside their altars on every high hill and upon every mountain top, under every green tree, under every leafy oak, wherever they offered pleasing odors to all their idols.<sup>m</sup> <sup>14</sup>I will stretch forth My hand against them<sup>n</sup> and will make the land a desolation and a waste from the [south] desert to Riblah,<sup>o</sup> through all their dwelling places. So shall they know that I am the LORD.

7 AGAIN THE WORD OF THE LORD came to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, thus says the LORD God to the land of Israel:<sup>p</sup> The end is coming; the end approaches on the four corners of the land. <sup>3</sup>Now the end is upon you; I will let loose My anger against you;<sup>q</sup> I will judge you according to your ways and repay you for all your abominations. <sup>4</sup>My eye will not spare you, nor will I pity you; I will repay you for your evil ways while you are practicing them publicly, and you shall know that I am the LORD.

<sup>5</sup>Thus says the LORD God: See, it comes! Woe upon woe! <sup>6</sup>An end is come; the end has come. It has awakened against you. Behold, it comes! <sup>7</sup>Your day is near, inhabitant of the land! Your time is come! Your doom is on the way! A day of tumult; no joyful shouting upon the mountains.<sup>r</sup> <sup>8</sup>Soon I will vent My fury on you and spend My indignation upon you, judging you according to your conduct and repaying you for all your abominations. <sup>9</sup>My eye shall neither spare nor pity you, but I will repay you according to your doings, while your abominations are in your midst, and you shall know that I, the LORD, do the smiting. <sup>10</sup>Here is the day; it has come! Your doom appears! Your scepter has blossomed, and your pride has budded.<sup>s</sup> <sup>11</sup>Violence has grown into a scepter of wickedness. Nothing of them shall survive, none of their noisy crowd, none of their wealth; for them there shall be no wailing. <sup>12</sup>The end has come, and the time is close. Let not the buyer rejoice, nor the seller mourn;<sup>t</sup> for indignation comes on the whole noisy crowd. <sup>13</sup>The seller shall not recover what he has sold, although they both live; for the prophecy regarding the whole multitude shall not turn back; none can sustain his life through unrighteousness, for wrath is upon all alike.

<sup>14</sup>The trumpet has sounded, and all is ready. It is a call to resist the enemy, but no one volunteers to fight; for My indignation is upon all their teeming multitudes. <sup>15</sup>Outside is the sword; inside are pestilence and famine; he who is in the open field shall die by the sword, and he who is in the city shall be overtaken by famine and pestilence.<sup>u</sup> <sup>16</sup>Should any survivors escape, they will flee to the mountains, like doves of the valley, all of them moaning over their guilt, <sup>17</sup>all hands hanging down with prostration and all knees as weak as water.<sup>v</sup> <sup>18</sup>They shall gird themselves with sackcloth; shame and shuddering shall cover their faces, and bald spots shall be on every head. <sup>19</sup>Their silver they shall fling into the streets, and their gold shall become to them an object of disgust. Neither silver nor gold shall be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD's indignation; it will neither satisfy their crav-

<sup>20</sup>They made of it beautiful ornaments with which to adorn their idols, and out of it they made detestable and loathsome images; therefore, I will make it for them an unclean thing. <sup>21</sup>I will hand it over as plunder to strangers, to the most godless on earth for booty, to defile it. <sup>22</sup>I will turn away My face from them, and they will profane My jewel;<sup>x</sup> robbers shall enter it, profane it, <sup>23</sup>and make it a desolation. Prepare a chain, because the land is full of bloody crimes and the city is full of violence. <sup>24</sup>I will also bring in the vilest of the Gentiles to take possession of their houses; for I will put an end to the pride of the mighty, and their sanctuaries shall be profaned. <sup>25</sup>Anguish shall overtake them; they will seek peace, but there shall be none. <sup>26</sup>Woe upon woe and disaster upon disaster shall come. Then they will seek a vision from a prophet; but the priest shall be devoid of instruction, and the aged shall have no counsel. <sup>27</sup>The king shall mourn; the prince shall be wrapped in despair, and the hands of the people shall be paralyzed with fear,<sup>y</sup> for according to their deserts I will reward them; by their own judgments I will judge them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

591 B.C.

8 IN THE SIXTH YEAR, IN THE SIXTH month, on the fifth day of the month, as I sat in my house with the elders of Judah sitting before me, the hand of the LORD God came down upon me there.<sup>z</sup> <sup>2</sup>I looked, and there was a form like that of a man;<sup>a</sup> from His loins downward His appearance was like fire and from His loins upward His appearance brilliant like that of a gleaming metal. <sup>3</sup>He reached out what was formed as a hand and caught me by a lock of my head. Then the Spirit lifted me up between earth and heaven and brought me in visions of God to Jerusalem, to the door of the north gate of the inner court, where stood the idol of resentment that provokes to resentment. <sup>4</sup>And there was the glory of the God of Israel, like the vision I had previously seen in the plain.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Then He said to me, Son of man, lift up your eyes now to the north. So I looked northward, and there north of the altar gate at the entrance, stood the idol I re-resented. <sup>6</sup>He said to me, Son of man, do you see what they are doing, the great abominations which the house of Israel are practicing here, driving Me away from My sanctuary? And you shall see still greater abominations than these.

<sup>7</sup>So He brought me to the entrance of the court. And when I looked, there was a hole in the wall. <sup>8</sup>He said to me, Son of man, dig now into the wall! When I had digged into the wall, look, there was a door. <sup>9</sup>He said to me, Go in, and see the wicked abominations they are practicing there. <sup>10</sup>So I went in and looked; there, portrayed upon the wall all around, were all kinds of creeping creatures and loathsome beasts and all the idols of the house of Israel.<sup>c</sup> <sup>11</sup>Facing them stood seventy men of the elders of the house of Israel, with Jaazaniah<sup>d</sup> the son of Shaphan standing among them, each with his censer in his hand, from which rose the fragrance of a cloud of incense.<sup>e</sup> <sup>12</sup>Then He said to me: Son of man, do you see what the elders of the house of Israel are doing in the dark, each in his image room? For they say, "The LORD can not see us"; and, "The LORD has forsaken His land!" <sup>13</sup>He also said to me, You will see them commit still greater offenses.

w) Ezekiel, more than any other O.T. prophet, had the N.T. evaluation of money. In his vision of the new temple that would be built [ch. 48], gold and silver are not mentioned.

x) The temple.

y) Ezekiel lowers the claim of government officials; he never mentions a king as the prospective head of the new Israel. In his closing visions of the new state [chs. 40-48], at the head of the government he predicts a prince.

z) The prophet is transported in vision from Babylon to Jerusalem. The elders are the leading men of the exiled community at Tel Abih.

a) Not the appearance of an angel, but of the LORD Himself, glowing with divine splendor. b) 3:23. c) Showing that Israel's national religion had completely broken down.

d) Evidently a well-known leader of his time, an idolater mentioned only here. The other idolater of the same name [ch.11:1] was a son of Azzur.

e) A heathen rite, commonly used by the Babylonians.

<sup>14</sup>So He brought me to the entrance of the north gate of the LORD's house, and there women sat weeping for Tammuz.<sup>f</sup> <sup>15</sup>He said to me, Do you see them? Son of man, you will see still greater abominations than these.

<sup>16</sup>He then brought me into the inner court of the house of the LORD; and there at the entrance to the LORD's temple, between the vestibule and the altar, were about twenty-five men, with their backs toward the temple of the LORD and their faces toward the east; they worshiped the sun toward the east. <sup>17</sup>Then He said to me, Do you see this, Son of man? Is it a small matter for the house of Judah to practice such abominations as they are here committing, filling the land with lawlessness and adding to My vexation? They are thrusting the branch to the nose.<sup>g</sup> <sup>18</sup>Therefore I will recompense them in fury. My eye will not spare, nor will I show pity; though they cry in My ears with a loud voice, I will not listen to them.

9 HE THEN SHOUTED LOUDLY IN MY hearing, Come near, you executioners of the city;<sup>h</sup> each of you with his weapon of destruction in his hand! <sup>2</sup>And look! six men came from the direction of the upper gate,<sup>i</sup> each with his slaughter-weapon in his hand, and among them one man, clothed in linen, with a writer's inkhorn<sup>j</sup> at his side. They came in and stood beside the bronze altar.

<sup>3</sup>The glory of the God of Israel had gone up from the cherubim on which it rested, to the threshold of the house. Then He called to the man clothed in linen, who carried the inkhorn at his side <sup>4</sup>and said to him, Go through the city, through Jerusalem, and put a mark<sup>k</sup> on the foreheads of the men who moan and groan over all the offenses that are practiced in the midst of it. <sup>5</sup>And to the others I heard Him say, Follow him through the city, and smite without mercy or pity; <sup>6</sup>slay old men, young men and maidens, children and women alike; but do not touch anyone on whom is the mark. Begin at My sanctuary.<sup>l</sup> So they began with the old men who were in front of the temple. <sup>7</sup>He said to them, Defile the temple and fill its courts with the slain. Go out! So they went out to slay in the city. <sup>8</sup>As they went ahead slaying and I was left behind, I fell face down and cried out, "Ah, LORD God, wilt Thou destroy all that is left of Israel in the outpouring of Thy indignation upon Jerusalem?" <sup>9</sup>Then He told me: The guilt of the house of Israel and of Judah is excessive;<sup>m</sup> the land is full of bloodshed and the city full of injustice;<sup>m</sup> "for," they say, "the LORD has forsaken the land, and the LORD does no longer see it." <sup>10</sup>As for Me, My eye shall not spare or pity; I will bring their doings down upon their own heads.

10 THEN I LOOKED,<sup>n</sup> AND SAW HOW, in the expanse over the heads of the cherubim, there appeared above them something like a sapphire throne.<sup>o</sup> <sup>2</sup>He said to the man clothed in linen, Go in among the whirling wheels beneath the cherubim; fill both your hands with blazing coals from between the cherubim, and scatter them over

f) Tammuz, referred to elsewhere in Dan. 11:37, was a deity of the Babylonians and king of the nether world. He was the husband of his sister Ishtar, a goddess, and the god and patron of pastures and flocks. They are represented as dying annually and returning to life with each successive spring. g) Their ill-smelling obscenity.

h) The first act in the execution of the LORD's threat in 8:18. The faithful are marked and spared; the guilty are put to death!

i) Seven angels, including "the man clothed in linen" [cf. Rev. 8:2 ff.].

j) The "inkhorn" was a writing outfit consisting of pens of sharpened cane and ink, in separate cases.

k) The form of the mark was the Hebrew letter Tau which resembles in form a cross, to which some early Christians attached a mystical interpretation. l) So Amos 1:2.

m) Even child murder [16:20, 21].

n) Instead of describing in detail the physical destruction of the city, Ezekiel describes, symbolically, the spiritual. He reminds us of his original vision in ch. 1.

o) The throne was empty, but the attending cherubim seem to be waiting for the LORD to mount and to leave. The cherubim were the winged guardians of the chariot.

the city — and I saw him go there. <sup>3</sup>Now as the man went in, the cherubim were standing on the right side of the temple, and a cloud filled the inner court; <sup>4</sup>for when the glory of the LORD went up from the cherubim to the threshold of the temple, the house was filled with the cloud; the court, too, was filled with the radiance of the glory of the LORD. <sup>5</sup>And the sound of the wings of the cherubim was heard as far as the outer court, like the voice of God the Almighty<sup>p</sup> when He speaks.

<sup>6</sup>Thus it happened, when He had ordered the man clothed in linen, Take fire from among the whirling wheels beside the cherubim, that he went in and stood beside a wheel.<sup>q</sup> <sup>7</sup>There a cherub reached out his hand from among the cherubim to the fire that was between the cherubim, took some of it, and put it into the hands of the man clothed in linen, who took it and went out. <sup>8</sup>The cherubim seemed to have the form of human hands under their wings.

<sup>9</sup>As I looked, I saw that beside the cherubim there were four wheels, one wheel beside each cherub, and the color of the wheels was like a Tarshish beryl stone. <sup>10</sup>All four had the same appearance, as if a wheel were within a wheel. <sup>11</sup>When they moved, they went in the direction of any of the four sides without turning as they went; for in whatever direction the front wheel moved, the others followed without turning as they went.

<sup>12</sup>The bodies of them, their backs, their hands, and their wings, together with the wheels, were full of eyes all around, (even) the wheels that they four had.<sup>r</sup> <sup>13</sup>The wheels were in my hearing called whirl-wheels. <sup>14</sup>Each had four faces. The first face was the face of the cherub;<sup>s</sup> the second the face of a man; the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.

<sup>15</sup>The cherubim mounted up; they were the same living beings I had seen by the river Chebar.<sup>t</sup> <sup>16</sup>When the cherubim went, the wheels went beside them; and when the cherubim lifted their wings to mount up from the earth, the wheels did not leave their side. <sup>17</sup>When they stood still, these stood still, and when they mounted up, these mounted up with them; for the spirit of the living beings was in them.

<sup>18</sup>Then the glory of the LORD moved from the threshold of the temple and stood over the cherubim.<sup>u</sup> <sup>19</sup>The cherubim lifted up their wings and mounted up from the earth in my sight, and they went forth with the wheels beside them. They stood still at the entrance of the east gate of the house of the LORD; and the glory of the God of Israel was over them.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>20</sup>These were the living beings that I had seen underneath the God of Israel by the river Chebar, and I recognized them as cherubim. <sup>21</sup>Each had four faces, and each had four wings, and underneath their wings each had the semblance of human hands. <sup>22</sup>As for the likeness of their faces, they were the same faces I had seen by the river Chebar; they were of the same appearance; they were the same. Each went straight ahead.

11 THE SPIRIT LIFTED ME UP<sup>w</sup> AND brought me to the east gate of the LORD's house and, facing east, there at the entrance of the gateway were twenty-five men, among whom were Jaazaniah<sup>x</sup> the son of Azzur, and Pelatiah the son of Benaiah, princes of the people. <sup>2</sup>He said to me, Son of man, these are the men who devise iniquity and who give evil advice in

t) Vs. 15 anticipates vs. 19 and 20, repeated, perhaps, in order to emphasize the identity of the cherubim with the living beings of ch. 1.

this city, <sup>3</sup>saying, "Should we not begin to build new houses? This [city] is the pot, and we are the flesh."<sup>y</sup> <sup>4</sup>Therefore prophesy against them, son of man, prophesy!

<sup>5</sup>Then the Spirit of the LORD came down upon me and said to me: Speak! Thus says the LORD, So you think, O house of Israel. I know the thoughts that come up in your hearts. <sup>6</sup>You have slain many in this city and filled its streets with the slain. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: It is your slain whom you have laid in your midst who are the flesh, and the city is the caldron; but as for you, I will pull you out of the midst of it. <sup>8</sup>You are afraid of the sword; and upon you, I will bring the sword, says the LORD God. <sup>9</sup>I will thrust you out of the midst of it, and hand you over to the power of strangers to execute judgments upon you. <sup>10</sup>By the sword you shall fall, and to the utmost borders of Israel I will execute judgments. You shall know that I am the LORD. <sup>11</sup>This city shall be no caldron for you, and you will not be the flesh inside of it; as far as the borders of Israel I will punish you, <sup>12</sup>to teach you that I am the LORD, for you have not walked in My statutes nor obeyed My judgments, but you have conformed to the practices of the nations around you.

<sup>13</sup>While I was prophesying, Pelatiah the son of Benaiah died; whereupon I fell face down and cried with a loud voice, "Ah LORD God! wilt Thou make a complete ending of the remnant of Israel?"<sup>b</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>15</sup>Son of man, your relatives, your fellow exiles and the whole house of Israel—all of them—are they of whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem are saying, "They are far removed from the LORD; to us belongs this land."<sup>z</sup>

<sup>16</sup>Therefore say, Thus says the LORD God: Though I have removed them far away among the nations and though I have scattered them among the countries,<sup>a</sup> yet have I been a sanctuary to them for a little season while in the lands to which they have gone. <sup>17</sup>And say, Thus says the LORD: I will gather you from the peoples and assemble you out of the countries where you have been scattered, and I will give back to you the land of Israel. <sup>18</sup>And when they return, they shall remove from it all traces of its detestable and offensive impurities. <sup>19</sup>I will give them one heart<sup>b</sup> and put a new spirit in them; I will take away the stony heart out of their flesh and give them a heart of flesh <sup>20</sup>so that they may follow My statutes and keep My ordinances and obey them; then they shall be My people, and I will be their God.<sup>c</sup> <sup>21</sup>But as for those whose heart is set upon their loathsome and abominable impurities, I will repay their deeds upon their own heads, says the LORD God.

<sup>22</sup>Then the cherubim lifted up their wings with the wheels beside them; and the glory of the God of Israel was over them. <sup>23</sup>And the glory of the LORD rose from the midst of the city and stood upon the mountain east of the city.<sup>d</sup> <sup>24</sup>And the Spirit lifted me up and, in vision, brought me by the Spirit of God into Chaldea,<sup>e</sup> to them of the captivity. Then the vision that I had seen passed from me. <sup>25</sup>And I told the exiles all that the LORD had shown me.<sup>f</sup>

12 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, you live in the midst of a rebellious house, among a people who have eyes to see but see not; they have ears to hear but hear not; <sup>3</sup>for they are a rebellious house. Therefore, son of man, prepare your necessary equipment for exile, and let the people see you go into exile in plain daylight.<sup>8</sup> Like an exile before their eyes go from your own place to another; it may be that they will understand though they are a rebellious house. <sup>4</sup>By daylight let them see you carrying your belongings for exile, and then in the evening let them see you loaded down with your baggage like those who go into exile. <sup>5</sup>Let them see you digging through the city wall,<sup>11</sup> going out through it; <sup>6</sup>and let them observe you carrying your baggage<sup>1</sup> on your shoulders in the dark; and screen your face, so that you do not see the ground. For I am making you a symbol to the house of Israel.

<sup>7</sup>So I did as I was ordered. I brought out my belongings for exile in the daytime. In the evening I dug a hole through the wall with my hands<sup>1</sup> and brought my baggage out in the dark, carrying it on my shoulder in their sight.

<sup>8</sup>Next morning the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>9</sup>Son of man, has not the house of Israel, that rebellious house, said to you, "What are you doing?" <sup>10</sup>Tell them, Thus says the LORD God: This oracle concerns the prince<sup>k</sup> in Jerusalem and all the house of Israel that live there. <sup>11</sup>Say to them, I am a symbol for you; as I have done, so shall it be done to them; they shall go into exile, into captivity. <sup>12</sup>And the prince among them shall carry his belongings on his shoulder and steal away in the dark, having dug a hole in the wall and going out through it; he shall cover his face, for his eyes shall not see the ground again. <sup>13</sup>I will spread My net about him; he shall be caught in My snare, and I will bring him to Babylon, the land of the Chaldeans, but he shall not see Babylon, and there he shall die. <sup>14</sup>And all his attendants, his retinue, and his guard,

I will scatter to the winds; and them, too, I will pursue with my unsheathed sword. <sup>15</sup>Then shall they know that I am the LORD, when I have dispersed them among the nations and scattered them in different countries. <sup>16</sup>Yet I will leave a few survivors<sup>1</sup> to escape the sword, the famine and the pestilence so that they may recount all their abominations among the nations where they go, and may know that I am the LORD.

<sup>17</sup>This word, also, from the LORD came to me: <sup>18</sup>Son of man, eat your bread with anxiety, and drink your water with fear and trembling; <sup>19</sup>and say concerning the people of the land,<sup>m</sup> Thus says the LORD God concerning the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the land of Israel, They shall eat their bread with quaking, and drink their water with dismay; for their land shall be stripped of all it contains, because of the lawlessness and violence of those who have dwelt in it. <sup>20</sup>The cities that are inhabited shall be laid waste, and the land shall be desolate; and you shall know that I am the LORD.

<sup>21</sup>Again the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>22</sup>Son of man, what is this proverb that you have about the land of Israel, "The days go by, and no vision is verified"?<sup>n</sup> <sup>23</sup>Therefore say to them, Thus says the LORD God; I will end the repetition of this proverb, and they will repeat it no longer in Israel; for the days are drawing near, and the fulfilment of every vision shall soon come to pass. <sup>24</sup>No longer shall there be empty vision and flattering divination within the house of Israel. <sup>25</sup>For I the LORD will speak, and the word which I speak will come to pass; it will no longer be deferred; for in your own days, O rebellious house, I will speak the word and perform it, says the LORD God.

me: <sup>27</sup>Son of man, see, the house of Israel keeps saying, "The vision he sees relates to the distant future; he is prophesying of times far off." <sup>28</sup>Therefore say to them, Thus says the LORD God: None of My words shall any longer be postponed; but when I speak a word, it shall be performed, says the LORD God.

13 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel who prophesy. Say to them that prophesy out of their own heart, Hear the word of the LORD. <sup>3</sup>Thus says the LORD God: Woe to the foolish<sup>o</sup> prophets who prophesy out of their own mind concerning things they never saw, <sup>4</sup>O Israel, your prophets are like foxes among ruins; <sup>5</sup>they have not stood in the breaches or built a wall for the house of Israel, that it might stand in battle in the day of the LORD. <sup>6</sup>They see deceitful visions and false divinations, saying, "The LORD says," when the LORD has not sent them; yet they expect to see their message fulfilled. <sup>7</sup>Have you not seen false visions and reported lying divinations, when you said, "The LORD says," when I have not spoken?

<sup>8</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: Because you have uttered empty words and have seen false visions, take note, I am against you, says the LORD God. <sup>9</sup>My hand shall be against prophets who see vain visions and who announce lying divinations; they shall not be in the congregation of My people, nor shall they be enrolled in the record of the house of Israel, nor shall they enter the land of Israel. You shall know that I am the LORD God. <sup>10</sup>Because, yes, because<sup>p</sup> they have seduced My people, saying, "Peace!" when there is no peace. When people have built a flimsy wall, these [prophets] daub it over with whitewash.<sup>q</sup> <sup>11</sup>Say to those who daub it with whitewash that it shall fall. A deluge of rain is coming and great hailstones will fall; a violent gale shall crack it. <sup>12</sup>And lo, the wall will fall, and you will be asked, "Where is the coating you daubed it with?" <sup>13</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: I will cause a tempestuous wind to break out in My indignation, and there shall come a flooding deluge of rain in My anger and great hailstones to destroy it. <sup>14</sup>I will shatter the wall you daubed with whitewash and bring it down to the ground; its foundation shall be laid bare; it shall fall, and you will be crushed under it. Then you shall know that I am the LORD. <sup>15</sup>Thus will I spend My wrath upon the wall and upon those who daubed it with whitewash. I will say to you: Gone is the wall, and gone are those who daubed it, <sup>16</sup>the false prophets of Israel who prophesied about Jerusalem, seeing visions of peace for her when there is no peace, says the LORD God.

<sup>17</sup>And you, son of man, set your face against the daughters of your people, who prophesy from their own minds.<sup>r</sup> Prophesy against them <sup>18</sup>and say, Thus says the LORD God: Woe to the women who tie magic charms upon all wrists and wrap veils around the heads of persons great and small to catch souls! Will you hunt down the lives of My people to make a living for yourselves?<sup>s</sup> <sup>19</sup>You are profaning My name among My people for handfuls of barley and for crumbs of bread, thus putting to death those who should not die and saving alive persons who should not live, by lying to My people who listen to your lies.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>20</sup>Wherefore thus says the LORD God: See! I am against your magic stripes with which you hunt souls like birds; I will tear them from your arms and set free the souls of those for whom you hunt. <sup>21</sup>I will tear off your veils and rescue My people out of your hands, that they may no more be hunted as prey; and you shall know that I am the LORD. <sup>22</sup>Because you have disheartened the righteous with your lies, although I have not discouraged them, and you have strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not turn from his wicked way and live; <sup>23</sup>therefore you shall no more see illusions nor practice divination.<sup>u</sup> I will rescue My people out of your hands, and you shall know that I am the LORD.

14 THEN CERTAIN OF THE ELDERS of Israel came<sup>v</sup> and sat in front of me. <sup>2</sup>And the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>3</sup>Son of man, these men have set up idols in their hearts and have set temptations to sin before themselves; should I at all be inquired of by such men? <sup>4</sup>You talk with them and say to them, Thus says the LORD God: Everyone of the house of Israel who harbors idols in his heart and is bent upon the sin which trips him up, when he comes to a prophet, he will get an answer from Me according to the multitude of his idols, <sup>5</sup>so that I may grip the house of Israel in their own thoughts,<sup>w</sup> those who are estranged from Me through their idols.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Therefore say to the house of Israel, Thus says the LORD God: Repent and turn from your idols; and turn your face from all your abominations, <sup>7</sup>for everyone of the house of Israel and any alien resident in Israel who abandons Me, setting up idols in his heart and placing temptations to sin before himself, yet coming to the prophet to consult Me through him, I the LORD will answer him Myself. <sup>8</sup>I will set My face against that man; I will make him a sign and a byword and cut him off from the midst of My people; and you shall know that I am the LORD. <sup>9</sup>If that prophet is beguiled to speak a message, it is I, the LORD, who has

beguiled that prophet;<sup>y</sup> I will stretch out My hand against him and destroy him from the midst of My people Israel. <sup>10</sup>They shall both be punished alike — the prophet's punishment shall be like the punishment of the inquirer; <sup>11</sup>so that the house of Israel may no more go astray from Me nor defile themselves any more with all their transgressions; but that they may be My people and that I may be their God,<sup>z</sup> says the LORD God.

<sup>12</sup>The word of the LORD came to me: <sup>13</sup>Son of man, when a land sins against Me, sinning treacherously, and I stretch out My hand against it, break its staff of bread, send famine upon it, and cut off from it both man and beast, <sup>14</sup>even though these three men, Noah, Daniel, and Job, were in it, they would by their righteousness deliver only their own lives, says the LORD God.

<sup>15</sup>Were I to cause wild beasts to overrun the land and they should ravage it and leave it desolate so that no man would pass through it because of the beasts, <sup>16</sup>though these three men<sup>a</sup> were in it, as I live, says the LORD God, they would save no one, neither sons nor daughters, but only themselves; the land would be left desolate. <sup>17</sup>Or if I bring the sword upon that land and say, Sword, go through the land and cut off from it man and beast, <sup>18</sup>though these three men were in it, as I live, says the LORD God, they would deliver neither sons nor daughters; they would save but themselves alone. <sup>19</sup>Or if I send a pestilence into that land and pour out My wrath on it with bloodshed, cutting off from it man and beast, <sup>20</sup>even though Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, as I live, says the LORD God, they would save neither son nor daughter; they, by their righteousness, would save but themselves.

v) The elders, as the leaders of the colony in exile, probably came often to visit the prophet. w) "Take them in their own heart," literally, because of their idolatrous prejudices. Sin carries its own retribution.

x) The prophets saw sin as related to God [cf. Amos 3:6; Isa. 45:7; I Kings 22:20-23]. The Arabs still attribute all that happens, good and bad alike, to God.

z) God's purpose in punishment on earth is always warning, in quest of peace and love.

a) Noah had saved his family, Daniel his companions, and Job his friends. But their righteousness could not have made up for the wickedness of Ezekiel's contemporaries in Jerusalem.

<sup>21</sup>For thus says the LORD God: How much more when I send upon Jerusalem My four deadly judgments, sword, famine, harmful beasts, and pestilence, to cut off from it man and beast! <sup>22</sup>Yet, if there are left in it any survivors, either sons or daughters who succeed in escaping, when they get out to you and you see their ways and doings, you will be convinced by all the wickedness which they have brought upon Jerusalem, even concerning all that I have brought upon it. <sup>23</sup>You will be comforted and know that I did, not without just cause, all that I brought about in it, says the LORD God.

15 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, in what way does the wood of the vine<sup>b</sup> excel that of any other tree of the forest? <sup>3</sup>Is wood taken from it used to construct anything? Is even a peg cut from it and used to hang a vessel on? <sup>4</sup>Even when cast into the fire as fuel, only the two ends are burned and the middle is charred. Is it then useful for [making] anything? <sup>5</sup>Even when it was whole, nothing was made from it; how much less when the fire has consumed and charred it shall it yet be meet for any work!

<sup>6</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: As the wood of the vine among the trees of the forest, which I have given to feed the fire, so will I give up the inhabitants of Jerusalem; <sup>7</sup>I will set My face against them, and though they may have escaped from the fire, the fire will yet consume them; and they shall know that I am the LORD when I set My face against them. <sup>8</sup>I will make the land a desolation, because they have acted unfaithfully,<sup>c</sup> says the LORD God.

<sup>3</sup>Say, Thus speaks the LORD God to Jerusalem: By origin and by birth you belong to the land of Canaan. Your father was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite. <sup>4</sup>When you were born, your navel cord was not cut, nor were you washed with water to cleanse you, nor were you rubbed with salt<sup>e</sup> or swaddled with bands. <sup>5</sup>No eye had compassion or took pity on you to attend to any of those needs; but you were thrown out upon the open field with no appreciation for your life on the day you were born.

<sup>6</sup>But as I passed by you and saw you weltering in your blood, I said to you in your blood: Live! <sup>7</sup>Yes, I said, live and grow up like a plant in the field. You grew tall and strong, an ornament of ornaments; your breasts were formed, and your hair grew; yet you remained naked and nude.

<sup>8</sup>When I passed by you again, I observed that you were of age for courting; so I spread out the skirts of My robe over you and covered your nakedness. I plighted My troth to you and entered into a covenant with you, says the LORD God, and you became Mine! <sup>9</sup>Then I bathed you with water; yes, I thoroughly washed away your blood and anointed you with oil. <sup>10</sup>I clothed you with an embroidered dress, shod you with porpoise leather, wrapped you in fine linen, and covered you with silk. <sup>11</sup>I also adorned you with rich ornaments, putting bracelets on your arms and a chain around your neck. <sup>12</sup>I put a ring in your nostril,<sup>f</sup> earrings in your ears, and a beautiful crown upon your head. <sup>13</sup>Thus you were decked with gold and silver and clothed with fine linen, silk, and embroidered robes; and you ate fine flour with honey and oil. By these you grew to be a woman of surpassing beauty, fit to be a queen. <sup>14</sup>Your fame spread abroad among all the nations because of your beauty, which was perfect through the splendor that I had bestowed upon you, says the LORD God.

<sup>16</sup>But you trusted in your beauty and played the harlot on your reputation;<sup>5</sup> you lavished your harlotries on everyone who passed by.

<sup>16</sup>You took of your costly garments of diverse colors in order to decorate and make more attractive your high places on which you played the harlot. The like has never been, or ever shall be. <sup>17</sup>You parted with your lovely jewels and splendid ornaments of gold and silver which I had given you, making for yourself images of men, and with those you played the harlot. <sup>18</sup>You took your own beautifully embroidered garments to dress them, setting before them oil and incense, which I had furnished you.<sup>1</sup> <sup>19</sup>My food that I gave you, fine flour, oil, and honey which I gave you to eat, you set before them as a soothing fragrance, says the LORD God. <sup>20</sup>You took your sons and your daughters, whom you had borne to Me, and offered them as sacrifices to be consumed. Was harlotry so exacting and so important a matter <sup>21</sup>that you had to slaughter My children and offer them as burnt offerings to your idols?<sup>1</sup> <sup>22</sup>And amid all your loathsomeness and harlotry, you did not remember the days of your youth when you were naked and nude and lay wallowing in your blood.

ters of the Philistines, who grew ashamed of your lewd conduct. <sup>28</sup>With the Assyrians, too, you played the harlot because you were insatiable; you committed harlotry with them, and still you remained unsatisfied. <sup>29</sup>You multiplied your harlotry also with the Chaldeans in trade and exchange, and even so you were not sated.

<sup>30</sup>I how you are consumed by passion, says the LORD God, that you were doing all these things, the doings of a brazenfaced harlot, <sup>31</sup>having built your vaulted chambers on every street corner and erected lofty chambers in all the squares. Yet you were not like the harlot who received hire; you scorned hire! <sup>32</sup>You have been an adulterous wife, who welcomes strangers instead of her husband. <sup>33</sup>Men are accustomed to give gifts to all harlots; but you gave away your precious gifts to all your lovers, bribing them to come to you from every direction for your embraces. <sup>34</sup>You were in contrast to other women; in your whoredom you gave hire, while no hire was given you!<sup>1</sup> Therefore you were different.

<sup>35</sup>Wherefore, you harlot, hear the word of the LORD! <sup>36</sup>Thus says the LORD God: Because of your throwing away your virtue, your exposure of your nakedness to your lovers, because of your abhorrent idolatry, and because of the bloodshed of your children whom you sacrificed to your gods, <sup>37</sup>therefore, behold! I will gather all your paramours, whose embraces you enjoyed, those whom you loved as well as those whom you loathed, and I will assemble them against you from every side. I will expose your nakedness for them to gaze upon, <sup>38</sup>and I will judge you as women are punished who break wedlock and who shed blood.<sup>m</sup> I will bring upon you bloody wrath and jealousy. <sup>39</sup>I will give you into the hand of your lovers. They shall destroy your vaulted shrines and demolish your high places; they shall strip you of your clothing and take your fair jewels, leaving you naked and bare. <sup>40</sup>And they shall bring forces against you, too, who will stone you and slaughter you with their swords. <sup>41</sup>They shall burn your houses and execute judgments upon you in the sight of many women.<sup>n</sup> I will put a stop to your harlotry, and you shall cease paying hire. <sup>42</sup>So will I appease My fury on you,<sup>o</sup> and My jealousy shall pass from you; I will be pacified and no longer angry. <sup>43</sup>Because you did not remember the days of your youth, I am incensed with wrath to resent your doings; I will bring your behavior down on your own head, says the LORD God. Have you not added this shameful unchastity to all your abominations?

<sup>44</sup>Take note! Every one who quotes proverbs will use this proverb about you, "As the mother, so the daughter."<sup>p</sup> <sup>45</sup>You are the daughter of a mother who scorned her husband and her children; and you are the sister of your sisters who loathed their husbands and their children. Your mother was a Hittite and your father an Amorite. <sup>46</sup>Your elder sister was Samaria, who, with her daughters,<sup>q</sup> was located north of you; and your younger sister was Sodom who, with her daughters, lived south of you. <sup>47</sup>But you were not content merely to follow in their ways or to copy their abominations; that was too slight a thing for you, for you acted more corruptly in all your ways than they. <sup>48</sup>As I live, says the LORD God, your sister Sodom and her daughters have never gone the lengths in evil which you and your daughters have gone. <sup>49</sup>See! this was the iniquity of your sister Sodom: pride, fullness of bread, and careless ease were in her and in her daughters; neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy.<sup>r</sup> <sup>50</sup>They were haughty and committed abominations before Me; I swept them away when I observed it.

<sup>51</sup>Samaria has not committed half your sins; you have committed more abominations than they; compared with your abominations, your sisters seemed innocent. <sup>52</sup>You must bear the shame of having your sister judged more favorably than yourself. In comparison with you and your abominations, she is adjudged less guilty than you; yes, be also confounded; you must bear your ignominy in justifying your sister.

<sup>53</sup>But I will restore their fortunes,<sup>s</sup> the fortune of Sodom and her daughters and the fortune of Samaria and her daughters; and I will restore your fortune along with theirs, <sup>54</sup>so that you may bear your disgrace and be ashamed of the little you have done in comforting them.<sup>t</sup> <sup>55</sup>Your sisters, Sodom and her daughters, will return to their former estate; Samaria and her daughters will return to their former estate; and you, too, and your daughters will return to your former estate. <sup>56</sup>As the name of your sister Sodom never passed your lips in the day of your pride, <sup>57</sup>before your own wickedness was uncovered, so now you have become an object of reproach to the daughters of Syria and all who are around them, and to the daughters of the Philistines — those all around who detest you. <sup>58</sup>Thus you will bear the consequences of your lewdness and abomination, says the word of the LORD.

<sup>59</sup>For thus says the LORD God: I will deal with you as you have done in despising the oath and breaking the covenant; <sup>60</sup>yet I will remember My covenant with you, which I made in the days of your youth, and I will establish an everlasting covenant with you.<sup>u</sup> <sup>61</sup>Then you will remember your ways and be ashamed when I take your sisters, both your elder and your younger sisters, and give them to you as your daughters, though not on account of your covenant with Me. <sup>62</sup>But I will establish My covenant with you;<sup>v</sup> and you will know that I am the LORD, <sup>63</sup>so that you may remember and be confounded and never open your mouth again because of your disgrace, when I forgive<sup>w</sup> you for all you have done. The LORD God has spoken.

<sup>7</sup>But there was another great eagle with exceedingly widespread wings and heavy plumage; and see, this vine bent its roots to him<sup>a</sup> and sent out its tendrils for him to water, away from the bed where it was planted; <sup>8</sup>though it was planted in good soil where water was plentiful for it to yield foliage, bear fruit, and become a goodly vine. <sup>9</sup>Thus says the LORD God: Ask! Will it prosper? Will they not pluck up its roots and strip off its fruit that its leaves may wither? Neither a strong arm nor many hands are required to uproot it. <sup>10</sup>It is well planted, but will it thrive? When the blasting east wind strikes it, it shall wither; it shall wither in the furrows where it sprouted.

bellious house, Do you not know what these things signify? Tell them, See, the king of Babylon<sup>b</sup> came to Jerusalem, took its king<sup>c</sup> and its princes, and carried them home with him to Babylon. <sup>13</sup>He also took one<sup>d</sup> of the seed royal and made a covenant with him, putting him under oath. The chiefs of the land he removed, <sup>14</sup>to keep the realm in subjection without an uprising, continuing to exist under treaty obligations. <sup>15</sup>But he rebelled against him, sending messengers to Egypt<sup>e</sup> to grant him horses and a strong army. Will he prosper? Can one who so behaves escape? <sup>16</sup>Can he break his covenant promise and go free? As I live, says the LORD God, in Babylon shall he die, in the place where the king dwells who made him king, whose oath he despised and whose covenant he broke. <sup>17</sup>And Pharaoh with his mighty army and unnumbered resources will not sustain him in the day of battle when they cast up mounds and build siege walls to cut off escape. <sup>18</sup>Because he scorned the oath and broke the covenant, because he pledged his word and yet did all these things, he shall not escape. <sup>19</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: As I live, My oath which he despised and My covenant which he broke, I will turn down upon his own head. <sup>20</sup>I will spread My net over him, and he shall be caught in My snare. I will bring him to Babylon, and there I will conduct court with him for the treason which he has worked against Me. <sup>21</sup>All the choicest of his troops shall fall by the sword; any fugitives shall be scattered in every direction the wind blows; and you shall know that I, the LORD, have spoken it.

<sup>22</sup>Thus says the LORD God: I, too, will take a tender twig from the top of a high cedar<sup>f</sup> and put it in the ground; one of its top twigs I will plant on a lofty mountain height. <sup>23</sup>On the high mountain of Israel I will plant it, and it shall grow branches and bear fruit and become a noble cedar, in the shadow of whose branches the birds of every feather will nestle and find rest. <sup>24</sup>All the trees of the field shall know that I am the LORD; and that it is I who brings low the lofty tree and exalts the humble tree, who causes the green tree to wither and the dry tree to flourish. I, the LORD, have spoken, and I will do it.

18 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>What do you mean by quoting this proverb in the land of Israel, "The fathers have eaten sour grapes and the children's teeth are blunted"? <sup>3</sup>As I live, says the LORD God, this proverb shall no more be used by you in Israel. <sup>4</sup>Observe! All souls are Mine; the soul of the father as well as the soul of the son is Mine; it is the person that sins who shall die.

<sup>5</sup>If a man is righteous and does what is lawful and fair, <sup>6</sup>if he does not eat on the mountains nor lift up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, if he does not seduce his neighbor's wife or approach a woman in the period of her uncleanness, <sup>7</sup>if he oppresses no one but restores to a debtor his pledge, if he commits no robbery but shares his food with the hungry and clothes the naked with a robe, <sup>8</sup>if he does not lend money on usury<sup>i</sup> or take any increase; if he withholds his hand from crime, practices strict justice between man and man, <sup>9</sup>follows My statutes, and is careful to observe My ordinances to deal truly — such a man does what is right; he shall surely live, says the LORD God.

<sup>14</sup>But note well: If a man begets a son, who, seeing all the sins his father has committed, has reverence and renounces his father's behavior — <sup>15</sup>he does not eat upon the mountains or does not lift up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, does not seduce his neighbor's wife, <sup>16</sup>does not wrong anyone, exacts no pledge, commits no robbery, shares his food with the hungry and covers the naked with a robe, <sup>17</sup>withholds his hand from wronging the poor, takes no usury or increase, observes My ordinances and walks according to My statutes — he shall not die for his father's iniquities, but shall surely live. <sup>18</sup>His father shall die for his own iniquity, having exploited his neighbor, having robbed his brother, and having done what was evil among his people.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>19</sup>Yet you say, "Why should not the son suffer for his father's iniquity?" If the son does what is lawful and fair and has been careful to observe all My statutes, he shall surely live. <sup>20</sup>The soul that sins shall die.<sup>k</sup> The son shall not be loaded with his father's iniquities nor a father with the iniquity of his son. The righteousness of the righteous shall be put to his own account, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be put to his own account.

f) In vss. 22-24 we have Ezekiel's first prediction of restoration through a Messiah, a Prince of the future, a descendant of the royal line of David; later, in 34:23 and 37:24, he unfolds his expectations.

h) Jeremiah also quotes this proverb [31:29-30]. "Unripe grapes, if eaten, cause blunted teeth." Ezekiel declares that this proverb does not morally apply. He solves objections by pointing to new life through union with God — a new heart and a new spirit [31:31-32].

i) The Hebrew word for "interest" was a portion "bitten off" the loan in advance. When a "charity loan" was made, it was a heinous sin to keep a portion of it.

j) The prophet, by three examples, shows that wickedness need be no more hereditary than righteousness: a righteous man [vss. 5-9]; a righteous man's son who does not follow his father's good example [vss. 10-13]; a son, who does not follow his father's wicked example [vss. 14-17].

k) Cf. Exod. 20:5 and Rom. 5:12 ff.

from all the sins which he has committed and keeps all My statutes and does what is lawful and fair, he shall surely live and not die. <sup>22</sup>None of the transgressions which he has committed shall be remembered against him; in the righteousness which he has practiced he shall live.<sup>1</sup> <sup>23</sup>Have I any pleasure in the death of the wicked, says the LORD God, and not rather that the sinner should turn from his wicked way and live?<sup>m</sup> <sup>24</sup>But when a righteous man turns from doing right and commits iniquity and does according to all the abominations that a wicked man does, shall he live? None of the righteous deeds which he has done shall be remembered because of the unfaithfulness and the sins which he has committed; in them he shall die.

<sup>25</sup>Yet you say, "The way of the LORD is not fair." Hear now, O house of Israel! Is My way not fair? Are not your ways unfair? <sup>26</sup>When a righteous man turns away from doing right and commits iniquity and dies because of it, in the iniquity which he has done he shall die. <sup>27</sup>Just so, when a wicked man turns away from his wickedness which he has done and does what is lawful and right, he shall save his life. <sup>28</sup>On reflecting, he gives up all his transgressions; he shall live, he shall not die. <sup>29</sup>But the house of Israel still says that the way of the LORD is not fair. O house of Israel, are not My ways fair? Is it not rather that your ways are unfair?

<sup>30</sup>Therefore, O house of Israel, I will judge each one of you according to his behavior, says the LORD God. Repent and turn from all your transgressions, lest your iniquity bring you to ruin. <sup>31</sup>Throw away from you all your transgressions which you have committed, and renew your heart and your spirit;<sup>n</sup> for why should you die, O house of Israel? <sup>32</sup>For I have no pleasure in the death of anyone who dies, says the LORD God; so turn and live.

<sup>5</sup>When she<sup>q</sup> saw that she was baffled, that her hope was gone, she took another of her whelps, and of him she also made a young lion. <sup>6</sup>He prowled around among the lions of strength, became strong himself, and learned to catch prey, even devouring men. <sup>7</sup>He ravaged their palaces and laid waste their cities. The land and its people became appalled by him at the sound of his roaring. <sup>8</sup>Then the nations turned against him; from realms all around they spread a net over him, and he was captured in their pit. <sup>9</sup>With hooks they put him in a cage, brought him to the king of Babylon, and put him in a stronghold so that his voice should no more be heard on the mountains of Israel.

<sup>10</sup>Your mother was like a vine,<sup>r</sup> fruitful and full of branches, planted near plentiful waters. <sup>11</sup>She had one strong branch which became a royal scepter; it towered aloft among the forest foliage and was ever visible because of its height and its massive boughs. <sup>12</sup>But she was plucked up in fury and cast down to the ground, the east wind withering all her fruit; and her strong branch was broken off and consumed in the fire. <sup>13</sup>Now she is transplanted in the wilderness in a dry and thirsty land. <sup>14</sup>Fire has spread from the branch, devouring her shoots and fruit, so that there remains in her no strong scion, no scepter for a ruler. This is a dirge; a dirge it has become.

20 IN THE SEVENTH YEAR, IN THE fifth month, on the tenth day of the month, certain of Israel's elders came to inquire of the LORD, and they sat before me. <sup>2</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>3</sup>Son of man, speak to the elders of Israel. Tell them, Thus says the LORD God, Is it to inquire of Me that you have come? As I live, says the LORD God, I will not be inquired of by you. <sup>4</sup>Will you judge them? Then arraign them, son of man, and tell them of the abominations of their fathers. <sup>5</sup>Say to them, Thus says the LORD God: On the day when I chose Israel, <sup>1</sup>I swore with uplifted hand to the descendants of the household of Jacob, making Myself known to them in the land of Egypt. I swore to them, saying, I am the LORD your God. <sup>6</sup>On that day I swore to them that I would bring them out of the land of Egypt into a land which I had selected for them, a land flowing with milk and honey, <sup>u</sup>the gem of all countries. <sup>7</sup>I told them: Every one of you shall throw away the detestable things you love; do not defile yourselves with the idols of Egypt; I am the LORD your God.

<sup>8</sup>But they rebelled against Me and would not listen to Me; they did not every one cast away the detestable things which they loved, nor did they forsake the idols of Egypt. <sup>v</sup>So I resolved that I would pour out My wrath upon them and vent My fury against them while they were still in Egypt. <sup>9</sup>But I was ever careful to maintain the honor of My name, <sup>w</sup>that it should not be profaned in the eyes of the nations among whom they sojourned, in whose sight I had revealed Myself to them in bringing them out of the land of Egypt.

<sup>10</sup>So from the land of Egypt I brought them and led them into the desert. <sup>11</sup>I gave them My statutes and taught them My judgments, by obedience to which man shall live. <sup>12</sup>I gave them also My Sabbaths as a sign between Me and them, that they might know that I am the LORD, who consecrates them. <sup>13</sup>But the house of Israel rebelled against Me in the desert; they did not walk according to My statutes, and they scorned My ordinances, by which, if a man observes them, he shall live; and My Sabbaths <sup>x</sup>they grossly profaned. Then I resolved I would pour out My indignation upon them in the desert to annihilate them. <sup>14</sup>But in dealing with them, I had regard for My honor, that it might not be sullied before the nations, in whose sight I had brought them out. <sup>15</sup>However, I did swear to them in the desert, with My hand uplifted, that I would not bring them to the land which I had given them, a land flowing with milk and honey, a land which is the gem of all lands, <sup>16</sup>because they had scorned My ordinances, did not walk in My statutes, and had profaned My Sabbaths; for their heart went after their idols. <sup>17</sup>Nevertheless, My eye spared them, and I did not destroy them or make a complete end of them in the desert. <sup>18</sup>Then I said to their children in the desert, Do not walk by the rules of your fathers nor observe their ordinances, nor pollute yourselves with their idols. <sup>19</sup>I the LORD am your God; walk in My statutes, and be careful to observe My ordinances. <sup>20</sup>Hallow My Sabbaths, and they shall be a sign between Me and you, that you may know that I am the LORD your God. <sup>21</sup>But those children rebelled against Me;

s) Here only is Ezekiel called on to judge his countrymen.

t) This is the single mention in Ezekiel of God's choice of Israel.

u) These words, "a land flowing with milk and honey," occur also in vs. 15, and in Jer. 11:5, 32:22, and nowhere else in the O.T. outside the Pentateuch. Goats, camels, and cows supplied the milk, and Palestine's flowers gave the bees their honey.

v) There is but one other mention in the O.T. [Josh. 24:14] that Israel practiced idolatry in Egypt.

w) The LORD could vindicate His moral character by punishing His people for their rebellion and preserve His honor in the eyes of the nations [cf. Num. 14:13-18].

x) Two instances of Sabbath-breaking are recorded in the Pentateuch [Exod. 16:26-30; Num. 15:32-36]. In this chapter Ezekiel places great emphasis on keeping the Sabbath [vss. 12, 13, 16, 20, 21, 24]. Its importance as a religious institution would be increased in the exile. To profane the LORD's Sabbaths meant oblivion of the covenant promise [cf. Exod. 24:3; Amos 8:5].

they did not walk in My statutes and were not careful to observe My ordinances, by obeying which a person shall live. They profaned My Sabbaths, and I resolved that I would pour My indignation on them and apply My anger against them in the desert.

<sup>22</sup>But I withdrew My hand<sup>y</sup> and acted on behalf of My name, that it might not be profaned before the nations in whose sight I had brought them out. <sup>23</sup>Yet I swore to them in the desert that I would scatter them among the nations and disperse them among foreign lands,<sup>z</sup> <sup>24</sup>because they had not obeyed My ordinances, but had scorned My statutes and profaned My Sabbaths and set their eyes on their fathers' idols.

<sup>25</sup>Moreover I gave them statutes that were not good and ordinances by which they should not live,<sup>a</sup> <sup>26</sup>and I defiled them through their own gifts, as they passed all their first-born children through the fire that I might confound them, and that they might know that I am the LORD.

<sup>27</sup>Therefore, son of man, speak to the house of Israel. Say to them, Thus says the LORD God: Your fathers further blasphemed Me, dealing unfaithfully with Me. <sup>28</sup>When I had brought them into the land which I had sworn to give them, they looked for any high hill or any lofty tree,<sup>b</sup> and there they offered their sacrifices; there they presented their offensive oblations; and there they set their soothing odors and poured out their libations. <sup>29</sup>I said to them: What means this high place to which you go up? So it is still called High Place to this day. <sup>30</sup>Therefore, say to the house of Israel, Thus says the LORD God: Will you still defile yourselves after the manner of your fathers and run wantonly after their detestable things? <sup>31</sup>You offer your gifts, causing your sons to pass through the fire, and you defile yourselves with all your idols to this day! Shall I then be inquired of by you, O house of Israel? As I live, says the LORD God, I will not be inquired of by you. <sup>32</sup>Your whim of adopting heathen practices and becoming pagan like other nations, worshiping blocks of wood and stone, will never be realized.

<sup>33</sup>As I live, says the LORD God, I will rule over you with a strong hand and an outstretched arm and with indignation poured out. <sup>34</sup>I will lead you out from the peoples and gather you from among the lands where you are scattered, with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm and with indignation poured out. <sup>35</sup>I will bring you into the desert of peoples<sup>c</sup> and will plead with you there face to face; <sup>36</sup>as I pleaded with your fathers in the desert of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, says the LORD God. <sup>37</sup>I will make you pass under the rod<sup>d</sup> and bring you into the bond of the covenant.<sup>e</sup> <sup>38</sup>I will purge from among you the rebels and the transgressors of My law. I will bring them out of the land where they stay, but they shall not enter the land of Israel; and you will know that I am the LORD.

<sup>39</sup>As for you, O house of Israel, thus says the LORD God: Go, serve everyone his idols, now and hereafter, if you will not listen to me; but My holy name you shall no more profane with your gifts and your idols. <sup>40</sup>For on My holy mountain, the mountain height of Israel, says the LORD God,<sup>f</sup> all the house of Israel, all of them,<sup>g</sup> shall serve Me in the land; there I will accept them, and there I will require your contributions and the choicest of your gifts, with all your sacred offerings.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>41</sup>As a pleasant fragrance will I accept you, when I bring you out from among the peoples and gather you out of the countries wherein you have been scattered; and through you I will be sanctified<sup>i</sup> in the sight of the nations. <sup>42</sup>You will recognize that I am the LORD when I bring you back into the land of Israel, the land I swore to give your fathers. <sup>43</sup>There you shall remember your ways and all your actions by which you have polluted yourselves, and you will loathe yourselves for all the evils you have practiced. <sup>44</sup>You shall know that I am the LORD when I have dealt with you for My name's sake, not according to your wicked ways, nor according to your corrupt doings, O house of Israel, says the LORD God.

<sup>45</sup>The word of the LORD came to me:<sup>j</sup> <sup>46</sup>Son of man, set your face toward the south;<sup>k</sup> speak against the south, prophesying also against the shrubbery of the southland, <sup>47</sup>saying, Hear the word of the LORD, Thus says the LORD God: See! I will kindle a fire in you, and it shall devour every green shrub and every dry tree in you; the blazing flame shall not be quenched, and all faces from the south to the north shall be scorched by it. <sup>48</sup>All flesh shall see that I, the LORD, have kindled it; it shall not be quenched. <sup>49</sup>Then I said, "Ah, LORD God!" But of me they are saying, "Is he not an inventor of allegories?"

21 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, turn your face toward Jerusalem, denounce her sanctuaries, and prophesy against the land of Israel. <sup>3</sup>Say to the land of Israel, Thus says the LORD: See, I am against you; I will draw My sword<sup>l</sup> from its sheath and will cut off from you the righteous and the wicked.

<sup>4</sup>And because I cut off from you the good and the bad alike, My sword shall be unsheathed against all that lives from south to north; <sup>5</sup>and everything living shall know that I the LORD have drawn My sword out of its sheath to return it no more. <sup>6</sup>Sigh therefore, you son of man; sigh with a broken heart and with bitter grief in their presence. <sup>7</sup>When they ask you, "Why do you sigh?" say, "Because of the tidings at the coming of which every heart shall melt and every hand be limp; every spirit shall faint and every knee become weak as water." See, it comes, and it shall take place, says the LORD God.

<sup>8</sup>Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying, <sup>9</sup>Son of man, prophesy, say, Thus says the LORD:<sup>m</sup> A sword, a sword is sharpened and whetted; <sup>10</sup>it is sharpened for slaughter and whetted to flash like lightning. Shall we then make mirth? You have despised the rod, my son, with everything of wood. <sup>11</sup>But the sword is polished to be handled; His sword is sharpened and brightened to be given into the hand of the killer.<sup>n</sup> <sup>12</sup>Shriek and lament, son of man, for [judgment] has fallen upon My people and on all the princes of Israel; they have all been handed over to the sword; so, strike your thigh.<sup>o</sup> <sup>13</sup>For there is a trial ahead for you. Who would despise the rod? says the LORD God.

<sup>14</sup>Prophesy therefore, son of man! Strike your hands together, and let the sword come down twice, yes, thrice, the sword of the slain, the sword of great slaughter that hems them in. <sup>15</sup>I have set the sword of slaughter against all their gates, so their hearts may melt and many go down; it flashes like lightning and is sharpened for slaughter. <sup>16</sup>Turn, O sword, to the right or to the left, whichever way your edge is directed. <sup>17</sup>I, too, will strike My hands together and give vent to My indignation. I, the LORD, have spoken.

<sup>18</sup>The word of the LORD came to me again, saying: <sup>19</sup>Son of man, trace<sup>p</sup> two ways by which the sword of the king of Babylon may come, both ways coming out of the same country. And place a signpost at the fork of the road to the city. <sup>20</sup>Point out the way for the sword to come to Rabbah<sup>q</sup> of the Ammonites, and to Judah, to fortified Jerusalem. <sup>21</sup>For the king of Babylon stands at the parting of the ways, at the fork of the two roads, practicing divination. He shakes the arrows;<sup>r</sup> he consults the teraphim;<sup>s</sup> he inspects the liver.<sup>t</sup> <sup>22</sup>Into his right hand falls the lot marked "for Jerusalem," calling for slaughter and the shout of battle, the planting of battering rams against the gates, the casting up of mounds, and the building of forts. <sup>23</sup>But to them<sup>u</sup> it will seem like a false divination, because solemn oaths<sup>v</sup> have been made to defend the city; but their iniquity is soon to be revealed. So they shall be taken.

<sup>24</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD God: Because you keep Me mindful of your guilt through your transgressions, which are flagrant and uncovered, and your sins, which are manifest in your deeds, and through them you are kept in remembrance, therefore you shall be apprehended. <sup>25</sup>And as for you,<sup>w</sup> the prince of Israel, you wicked knave, your hour will come on the final day of reckoning. <sup>26</sup>Thus says the LORD God: Remove the turban, and take off the crown; change is in process.* Let the low be exalted and the lofty abased. <sup>27</sup>Ruin, ruin I will make it; only ruin will remain; there shall not be a trace left of it until He comes,<sup>7</sup> whose right it is; to Him will I give it.

<sup>28</sup>And you, Son of man, prophesy and say, Thus says the LORD God concerning the Ammonites<sup>2</sup> and concerning their reproach: say, A sword, a sword is drawn for slaughter, whetted to flash like lightning and to devour — <sup>29</sup>while they see for you false visions and while they divine for you lies — to lay you on the necks of those who are mortally wounded, the wicked whose day is coming at the time of final reckoning. <sup>30</sup>Sheathe your sword, therefore, for I will judge you where you were created, in your native land. <sup>31</sup>I will pour out My indignation upon you; I will blow on you with the fire of My wrath, and I will deliver you into the hand of brutal men, skilful to destroy. <sup>32</sup>You shall be fuel for the fire; your blood shall flow in the midst of the land, and you shall be no more remembered; for I, the LORD, have spoken.

22 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, would you judge, are you willing to judge the city of blood?<sup>a</sup> Then declare openly to her all her abominable deeds. <sup>3</sup>Say, Thus says the LORD God: O city that sheds blood in the midst of her so that her doom will come, which has made idols and has defiled herself, <sup>4</sup>you are guilty because of the blood you have shed, and you are defiled because of the idols you have made; you have brought your day near, and you have reached the limit

v) Zedekiah, the last king of Judah, had been placed under oath by the king of Babylon [17:13-19].

w) Referring to Zedekiah, who had appealed to Pharaoh Hophra of Egypt for help to rebel against Nebuchadnezzar. x) Literally, "this is not this."

y) A strong hint of a coming one, the Messiah, as in Gen. 49:10, where "Shiloh" is predicted.

z) Though Ammon had been passed by in order that Jerusalem might first be punished, their turn has now come; they too had listened to their false prophets, who inspired them to hope, seizing portions of Israel's territory after Jerusalem's fall [cf. Ezek. 25:4, 10].

a) The two great sins of Jerusalem were cruel bloodshed and gross idolatry. This chapter falls naturally into three divisions: [1] The city's crimes [vss. 1-16]; [2] The Lord's smelting fires [vss. 17-22]; and [3] The fall of the city [vss. 23-31].

of your years. Therefore I have made you a reproach to the nations and a ridicule to all lands. <sup>6</sup>Both those near you and those far from you will mock you, you infamous one, abounding in rioting.

<sup>6</sup>Observe! The princes<sup>b</sup> of Israel among you are every one bent on shedding blood. <sup>7</sup>Father and mother are treated with contempt by their children; the foreigner suffers extortion among you; the orphan and the widow are oppressed. <sup>8</sup>My holy things you have despised, and My Sabbaths you have profaned.<sup>c</sup> <sup>9</sup>There are those among you who accuse falsely to shed blood, and those who eat upon the high places,<sup>d</sup> those who commit lewdness in your midst. <sup>10</sup>Among you there are those who uncover their father's nakedness and those who humble women unclean from their impurity. <sup>11</sup>One commits abomination with his neighbor's wife; another lewdly defiles his daughter-in-law; another humbles his own sister, the father's daughter.<sup>e</sup> <sup>12</sup>Among you men take bribes to shed blood. You exact usury and interest and make gain of your neighbors through extortion; and you have forgotten Me,<sup>f</sup> says the LORD God.

<sup>13</sup>See! I strike My hands together in anger at the extortion which you practice and at the blood that has been shed in your midst. <sup>14</sup>Can your heart hold out with courage, and can your hands remain strong when I come to deal with you? I the LORD have spoken, and I will do it. <sup>15</sup>I will scatter you among the nations and disperse you over the countries, and I will purge you of the moral foulness within you. <sup>16</sup>You shall be personally profaned before the nations,<sup>g</sup> and you shall know that I am the LORD.

<sup>17</sup>The word of the LORD came to me, saying: <sup>18</sup>Son of man, the house of Israel has become dross to Me; all of them are but brass, tin, iron, and lead in the furnace, dross like that of silver.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>19</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: Because you have all become dross, see, I will assemble you in the midst of Jerusalem. <sup>20</sup>As men collect silver, bronze, iron, lead, and tin into a furnace, and fire is blown upon it in order to melt it, so I will gather you in My anger and in My indignation, and I will throw you in and melt you. <sup>21</sup>I will gather you and blow upon you with the fire of My wrath, and you will be melted in the midst of it. <sup>22</sup>As silver is melted in a furnace, so shall you be melted in the midst of it; and you will know that I the LORD have poured out My indignation upon you.

<sup>29</sup>As for the people of the land, they too have practiced extortion and committed robbery; they have oppressed the poor and needy and cruelly extorted the foreigners without redress. <sup>30</sup>I have looked for a man among them who would build up the wall and hold the breach before Me in defense of the land, that I should not destroy it; but I did not find him. <sup>31</sup>Therefore I pour out My indignation upon them; with the fire of My indignation I have consumed them; their own ways have I repaid upon their own heads,<sup>j</sup> says the LORD God.

23 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me, saying: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, there were two women, daughters of one mother,<sup>k</sup> <sup>3</sup>who, when they were young, played the harlot in Egypt. There their bosoms were pressed, and there their virgin nipples were stroked.<sup>l</sup> <sup>4</sup>Their names were Oholah, the elder, and Oholibah, her sister.<sup>m</sup> They became Minc, and they bore sons and daughters; Oholah signifies Samaria, and Oholibah Jerusalem.

ple, riding on horses, all of them attractive young men. <sup>13</sup>I saw she was defiling herself, both going the same way, <sup>14</sup>but she went still further in her harlotries. She saw portraits of men upon the wall, figures like those of the Chaldeans,<sup>o</sup> painted in vermillion, <sup>15</sup>with girdles about their loins and tasselled turbans upon their heads, princes to look upon, all of them looking like Babylonians of Chaldea, the land of their nativity. <sup>16</sup>When she saw them, she longed for them and sent messengers to them in Chaldea. <sup>17</sup>The Babylonians came to her into the bed of amours, and they defiled her with their lust, and when she had been polluted by them, she turned from them in disgust. <sup>18</sup>And because she flaunted her harlotries and exposed her nakedness, I also became disgusted with her, as I had become disgusted with her sister. <sup>19</sup>Yet she increased her harlotries, remembering the days of her girlhood when she played the harlot in the land of Egypt.<sup>p</sup> <sup>20</sup>She longed for her paramours, who were lustful as donkeys and impetuous as stallions. <sup>21</sup>You repeated the lewdness of your youth when the Egyptians handled your breasts and pressed your girlish bosom.

<sup>22</sup>Therefore, Oholibah, thus says the LORD God: Take notice! I will raise up against you your paramours from whom you turned in disgust. I am about to bring them against you from every side — <sup>23</sup>the Babylonians and all the Chaldeans, the men of Pekod, Shoa, and Koa,<sup>q</sup> together with all the Assyrians, desirable young men, all of them governors and rulers, counselors and men of renown, all of them riding on horses. <sup>24</sup>They shall come against you with chariots and wagons and a host of infantry; they shall array themselves against you on every side with buckler, shield, and helmet. I will commit to them the

k) Oholah, "her tent," is Samaria; Oholibah, "My tent is in her," is Jerusalem. Samaria sought alliance with the Assyrians, Jerusalem with the Babylonians. The prophet considers the period of schism under Jeroboam [c. 940 B.C.] down to the fall of Samaria [720 B.C.] and on to the fall of Jerusalem [586 B.C.]. They both played the harlot in religion through their foreign alliances.

judging, and they will judge you according to their customs.<sup>r</sup> <sup>25</sup>I will set My jealousy against you, and they will deal with you in fury, cutting off your noses and your ears;<sup>s</sup> your survivors shall fall by the sword. They will take away your sons and daughters, and what remains of you shall be burned up. <sup>26</sup>They shall strip you of your clothes and take away your fine jewels. <sup>27</sup>Thus will I put an end to your lewdness and cause your harlotry, brought from the land of Egypt, to cease, so that you shall not lift up your eyes to Egypt or have your mind on them any more.

<sup>28</sup>For thus says the LORD God:<sup>t</sup> Note! I am delivering you into the hand of those you hate, into the hand of those with whom you became disgusted. <sup>29</sup>They will treat you hatefully; they will rob you of all your earnings and leave you naked and nude. The nakedness of your harlotry shall be uncovered, both your lewdness and your whoredom. <sup>30</sup>This will be done to you because you played the harlot with the nations and polluted yourself with their idols. <sup>31</sup>You have gone the way of your sister; therefore I will give her cup into your hand.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>32</sup>Thus says the LORD God: You shall drink of your sister's cup, which is deep, large, and brimful; you shall be laughed at and held in derision, for it contains much; <sup>33</sup>you will be filled up on drunkenness and sorrow, a cup of horror and terror, the cup of your sister Samaria. <sup>34</sup>You shall drink it, drain it to the dregs, chew on it, and tear your breasts; for I the LORD your God have spoken. <sup>35</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD God: Because you have forgotten Me and have cast Me behind your back, you must suffer for your lewdness and your harlotry.

man, will you judge Oholah and Oholibah? Then declare to them their abominations, <sup>37</sup>for they have committed adultery, and blood clings to their hands; with their idols they have committed adultery, offering up to idols for food the sons they had borne to Me. <sup>38</sup>Moreover, this they have done to Me: they have made My sanctuary unclean, in the same day, and they have profaned My Sabbaths. <sup>39</sup>For when they had done slaughtering their children in sacrifice to their idols, on the same day they came into My sanctuary, so that they profaned it;<sup>w</sup> they did so in My house. <sup>40</sup>They even sent for men to come from afar, dispatching special messengers to bring them;<sup>x</sup> and they came, those for whom you bathed yourself, painted your eyes,<sup>y</sup> and adorned yourself with ornaments. <sup>41</sup>And together you sat on a stately divan, with a table spread before you on which you had placed My incense and My oil. <sup>42</sup>Sounds of a careless crowd were heard; men of the commonest sort, including drunkards, were brought from the desert, who had placed bracelets on their hands and gorgeous crowns upon their heads. <sup>43</sup>I said: Will they at their fading age commit adultery and play the harlot with men like them? <sup>44</sup>Yet they went in to them as men of lust go in to harlots, to Oholah and Oholibah, those shameful women. <sup>45</sup>But righteous men shall condemn them to the punishment due to adulterous women, to women who shed blood; for they are wantons, and blood clings to their hands.

all women shall take warning<sup>a</sup> and not commit lewdness as you have done. <sup>49</sup>Thus your lewdness shall be turned back upon you; you shall suffer the penalty for your sinful idolatry, and you shall acknowledge that I am the LORD God.

Early 588 B.C.

24 IN THE NINTH YEAR, IN THE tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me, saying: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, write down the date of this day, for on this day the king of Babylon has besieged Jerusalem.<sup>b</sup> <sup>3</sup>Propound also an allegory to the rebellious house. Say to them, Thus says the LORD God: Set on the caldron; set it on, pour water into it, <sup>4</sup>and put into it all the best pieces of meat, the thigh and the shoulder, filling it up with the choicest bones. <sup>5</sup>Besides, take the best of the flock, pile wood under them, and boil them all together, seething well the bones.

<sup>6</sup>For this is the word of the LORD God: Woe to the city of bloodshed, a pot whose rust is in her and whose rust never leaves her! Take it out piece by piece, without a lot falling on them. <sup>7</sup>For she has shed blood in every quarter of the city and poured it out on the bare rocks instead of on the ground where dust might cover it. <sup>8</sup>To arouse wrath and to apply retribution, I have smeared her blood on the bare rock, so that it could not be covered.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: Woe to the bloody city! I will pile the city's firewood still bigger. <sup>10</sup>Heap on the logs, kindle the fire to boil the meat well; pour off the broth, and let the bones be burned up. <sup>11</sup>Then place the empty caldron on the coals to make it hot, so that the pot itself may glow and all its impurities be burned up, that the rust of it be consumed. <sup>12</sup>To no avail have I wearied Myself; its thick filth will not leave it. To the fire its impurities! <sup>13</sup>Therefore, you filthy one, because I sought to cleanse you but you refused to be cleansed, you will not be purified till I have spent My indignation upon you. <sup>14</sup>I, the LORD, have spoken, and I will do it. I will neither relent nor show pity; I will punish you according to your doings, and I will judge you, says the LORD God.

<sup>15</sup>The word of the LORD also came to me: <sup>16</sup>Son of man, I am about to take from you by a stroke the desire of your eyes,<sup>d</sup> yet you shall not lament or weep or shed tears; <sup>17</sup>you may quietly sigh, but make no mourning for the dead.<sup>e</sup> Bind on your turban, and put your sandals on your feet; do not cover your lips nor eat the bread of mourners. <sup>18</sup>So I spoke to the people in the morning, and at eventide my wife died. Next morning I did as I was ordered.

<sup>19</sup>The people said to me, "Will you not tell us what these things mean to us; why you are acting thus?" <sup>20</sup>Then I said to them, "The word of the LORD came to me: <sup>21</sup>Say to the house of Israel, Thus says the LORD God: Look! I am about to desecrate My sanctuary, the pride of your strength, the delight of your eyes, and the desire of your heart; and your sons and daughters, whom you leave behind, shall fall by the sword. <sup>22</sup>Then you shall do as I have done; you shall not cover your lip<sup>f</sup> nor eat the bread of mourners. <sup>23</sup>Your turbans shall remain wrapped about your head,<sup>g</sup> and your sandals shall be on your feet; you shall not lament or weep, but you shall pine away in your sins and moan and groan together. <sup>24</sup>Thus shall Ezekiel be a sign for you; for according to all that he has done, you shall do.<sup>h</sup> When the time comes, then you will know that I am the LORD God."

<sup>25</sup>As for you, son of man, on the day when I take from Israel their

d) Two momentous incidents are here associated with the fall of Jerusalem — the death of Ezekiel's wife from a stroke and the end of his own silence as a prophet.

stronghold,<sup>1</sup> their joy and glory, the delight of their eyes and their heart's chief desire, and also take their sons and daughters,<sup>26</sup> on that day a fugitive shall come to you to report it.<sup>27</sup> On that same day your mouth shall be opened; you shall again preach and be no longer dumb. So shall you be a sign to them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

25 THE WORD<sup>1</sup> OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>“Son of man, set your face toward the Ammonites, and prophesy against them. <sup>3</sup>Say to the children of Ammon,<sup>k</sup> Hear the word of the LORD God: Thus says the LORD God, Because you shouted “Aha!” when My sanctuary was profaned and rejoiced when the land of Israel was made desolate and when the house of Judah went into exile, <sup>4</sup>therefore, see, I am handing you over to the children of the East for a possession; they shall pitch their tents in your midst and select their camp sites among you, eat your fruit and drink your milk. <sup>5</sup>I will permit camels to pasture in Rabbah<sup>1</sup> and flocks to have folds in the cities of Ammon, and you shall know that I am the LORD. <sup>6</sup>For thus says the LORD God: Because you have clapped your hands, stamped your feet, and rejoiced with all the malice within you against the land of Israel, <sup>7</sup>therefore I have stretched out My hand against you and will hand you over as a booty to the nations; I will cut you off from the peoples and eliminate you from the countries, I will destroy you; and you will know that I am the LORD.

<sup>8</sup>Thus says the LORD God: Because Moab and Seir said, “See, the house of Judah has become like all the Gentiles,”<sup>m</sup> <sup>9</sup>behold, I am laying open Moab's flank, the cities of its frontier,

Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim,<sup>n</sup> the glory of the land. <sup>10</sup>I will give Moab along with Ammon as a possession to the Easterners, so that the Ammonites may be remembered no more among the nations. <sup>11</sup>I will execute judgments on Moab, and they will know that I am the LORD.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>12</sup>Thus says the LORD God: Because Edom acted revengefully against the house of Judah and has assumed great guilt practicing revenge, <sup>13</sup>therefore, so says the LORD God: I will stretch out My hand against Edom,<sup>p</sup> destroying man and beast, and I will make it desolate from Teman to Dedan;<sup>q</sup> they shall fall by the sword. <sup>14</sup>I will execute My retribution on Edom by the hand of My people Israel; and they shall deal with Edom according to My anger and according to My indignation; and they shall know My repayment, says the LORD God.

<sup>15</sup>Thus says the LORD God: Because the Philistines acted revengefully, wreaking malicious revenge upon them, seeking to destroy [Israel] by a never-ending enmity, <sup>16</sup>therefore thus says the LORD God: See, I am stretching out My hand against the Philistines; I will cut off those Cherethites<sup>r</sup> and destroy the remainder of the seacoast. <sup>17</sup>I will execute on them sore retribution by acts of furious chastisement, and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I carry out My punishment upon them.

26 SO IT WAS IN THE ELEVENTH year, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>2</sup>“Son of man, because Tyre<sup>s</sup> has said about Jerusalem, “Aha, the gate of the peoples is broken; it stands open toward me. Now that she is ruined, I shall get abundance,”

p) Edom's hatred of Judah was bitter; Jacob and Esau were twin brothers.

q) Teman, modern Shobek; Dedan, s.e. of Akabah. Shobek is a walled city on a high hill, supplied with water through a shaft sunk from its center some 200 feet straight down to a spring.

r) The Cherethites were Philistines and once part of David's bodyguard.

s) Tyre was the Venice of antiquity, the most famous port of Phoenicia and of the east coast of the Mediterranean. She enjoyed security from attack, being almost impregnable.

<sup>3</sup>therefore thus says the LORD God: Surely I am against you, Tyre, and I will bring up as many nations against you as the sea brings up waves. <sup>4</sup>They shall destroy the walls of Tyre and tear down her towers. I will scrape away her very dust and will make her a bare rock.<sup>t</sup> <sup>5</sup>She shall be a place fit for the spreading of nets in the midst of the sea; for I have spoken, says the LORD God, and she shall become a pillage to the nations. <sup>6</sup>Her daughters<sup>u</sup> on the mainland shall be conquered by the sword, and they shall know that I am the LORD.

<sup>7</sup>For thus says the LORD God: See! I am about to bring upon Tyre from the north Nebuchadrezzar<sup>v</sup> king of Babylon, king of kings, with horses, chariots, and cavalry, beside a host of infantry. <sup>8</sup>Your daughters on the mainland he shall put to the sword. He will build forts against you, throw up against you a mound, and build a shield-formed roof against you.<sup>w</sup> <sup>9</sup>His battering rams he shall pound against your walls, and with his crowbars he shall break down your towers. <sup>10</sup>His countless horses will cover you with the dust they raise. At the noise of the horsemen<sup>x</sup> and of the wheels of the chariots, your walls will quake as he enters your gates as one enters a breached city. <sup>11</sup>With the hoofs of his horses he will trample all your streets; your people he will slay with the sword, and your strong pillars shall topple to the ground. <sup>12</sup>They will plunder your wealth and make a prey of your merchandise; they will tear down your walls and destroy your pleasant houses, casting your stones, your timbers, and your garden soil into the sea. <sup>13</sup>I will cause the sound of your songs to cease, and the music of your harps shall be heard no more. <sup>14</sup>I will make you a bare rock, a place for the spreading of nets. You shall never be rebuilt;<sup>y</sup> for I the LORD have spoken it, says the LORD God.

<sup>15</sup>Thus says the LORD God to Tyre: Shall not the coastlands<sup>z</sup> shake at the sound of your fall when the wounded groan and murder is rampant among you? <sup>16</sup>Then all the princes of the sea shall descend from their thrones, lay aside their robes, take off their embroidered garments, and clothe themselves with trembling, crouching upon the ground, continuously trembling, and be astonished at you. <sup>17</sup>They will raise a lamentation over you and say to you, "How you have vanished from the seas, O city of renown; you that once were so mighty on the sea, you and your inhabitants, who struck terror into everyone around! <sup>18</sup>How the coastlands will tremble on the day you fall; yes, the isles in the sea will be dismayed because you are gone!"

<sup>19</sup>For thus says the LORD God: When I make you a desolate city, like cities that are depopulated, when I bring up the deep over you and the mighty waters cover you, <sup>20</sup>then I will thrust you down with those who descend into the pit,<sup>a</sup> to the people of ancient times. I will make you dwell in the nether world amid primeval wastes, with those who go down to the pit, so that you<sup>b</sup> will remain uninhabited and no more arise in the land of the living. <sup>21</sup>I will make you a terror, and you shall be no more; though you will be sought, you shall nevermore be found, says the LORD God.

a) By the ancients the pit was conceived of as a vast subterranean cave, with a narrow opening like that of a well. It is here regarded as the home of departed nations as well as of individuals [cf. 32:17-32]. b) Tyre.

c) Tyre is pictured as a gallant ship, sailing proudly on the high seas, when it is overtaken by a storm and wrecked.

ing Tyre, which is situated at the entrances<sup>d</sup> of the sea, the market city of the people of many coasts, thus says the Lord God: Tyre, you have said, "I am perfect in beauty."<sup>e</sup> <sup>4</sup>Your domain was in the heart of the seas; your builders made you perfect in beauty. <sup>5</sup>They fashioned all your planks<sup>f</sup> from fir trees of Senir;<sup>f</sup> they took a cedar from Lebanon to make you a mast; <sup>6</sup>of oaks from Bashan they carved your oars; from the pines of Cyprus they made your deck and inlaid it with ivory. <sup>7</sup>Linen with embroidered work from Egypt served for your sail; your ensign and awning were blue and purple, and came from the coastlands of Elishah.<sup>g</sup> <sup>8</sup>Bold seamen of Sidon and Arvad<sup>h</sup> were your oarsmen; your skilled men, O Tyre, were your pilots. <sup>9</sup>The ancients of Gebal<sup>i</sup> and their wise men repaired your leaks and caulked your seams; all the ships of the sea with their mariners came to handle your wares. <sup>10</sup>Warriors from Persia, Lud, and Put<sup>j</sup> served in your army as soldiers. They hung on you their shields and helmets, displaying the glory of your equipment. <sup>11</sup>The men of Arvad and Helech manned your walls round about, and the men of Gammad<sup>k</sup> were in your towers; they hung their shields on your walls all around and made your beauty perfect.

and vessels of bronze. <sup>14</sup>They of the house of Togarmah<sup>n</sup> traded for your wares, horses, war horses, and mules. <sup>15</sup>The men of Dedan<sup>o</sup> traded with you; many islands were your customers; ivory tusks and ebony they brought you in payment. <sup>16</sup>Syria trafficked with you because of your many products; she bartered with you garnets, purple dyes, embroidered work, fine linen, coral, and rubies in exchange for your merchandise. <sup>17</sup>Judah and the land of Israel traded with you, exchanging for your wares wheat from Minnith,<sup>p</sup> early figs, honey, oil, and balm. <sup>18</sup>Damascus traded with you because of your abundant supplies and your immense wealth of every kind. Wine of Helbon<sup>q</sup> and white wool, <sup>19</sup>wine also from Uzal<sup>r</sup> they exchanged for your wrought iron, cinnamon, and sugar cane. <sup>20</sup>Dedan<sup>s</sup> sold you saddle trappings for riding. <sup>21</sup>Arabians and all the princes of Kedar<sup>t</sup> were your favored dealers in lambs, rams, and goats; in these they bartered with you. <sup>22</sup>The merchants of Sheba<sup>u</sup> and Raamah<sup>v</sup> traded with you, supplying you with the choicest spices and also with jewels and gold. <sup>23</sup>Haran,<sup>w</sup> Canneh, Eden, Assyria, and all the Medes traded with you. <sup>24</sup>They sold you choice fabrics, mantles of blue and embroidered work and carpets of colored goods bound with cords and made secure; in all these ways they trafficked with you. <sup>25</sup>Tarshish ships carried your merchandise, swelling your caravan and together making you an imposing fleet on the high seas. <sup>26</sup>By many waters your oarsmen conveyed you;<sup>x</sup> but a wind from the east has wrecked you on the high seas! <sup>27</sup>Your wealth and your wares, your goods, your mariners and your sailors, your caulkers, your experts in bargaining, all your men of war, and the entire crew on board with you, shall sink into the depths of the sea on your day of ruin. <sup>28</sup>At the wailing cries of your pilots, the pasture lands shake. <sup>29</sup>All the oarsmen and sailors and the pilots of the sea come down from their ships, stand on shore, <sup>30</sup>and raise their voices in bitter agony over you, casting dust on their heads, wallowing in ashes, <sup>31</sup>making themselves bald for your sake, girding themselves with sackcloth, and weeping over you in bitter-hearted lamentation. <sup>32</sup>In their wailing they raise a dirge for you and lament over you, "Who is destroyed like Tyre in the midst of the sea!" <sup>33</sup>When your wares went out by sea, you satisfied many peoples with your abundant wealth and your attractive wares, making kings rich. <sup>34</sup>Now you are wrecked by the seas; in the depths of the waters your merchandise and all your crew have sunk with you. <sup>35</sup>All the dwellers of the coastlands are appalled at you; their kings are aghast with horror, their faces are convulsed. <sup>36</sup>The merchants among the nations hiss at you. You have become a horror. You have forever ceased to be.

28 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, say to the prince of Tyre, Thus says the LORD God: Because you are puffed up with pride, and have said, "I am a god,<sup>y</sup> and I sit in the seat of the gods in the heart of the sea," yet you are only human and no god, though you boast yourself to be like a god, <sup>3</sup>yes, wiser than Daniel, no secret thing being hidden from you! <sup>4</sup>By your shrewdness and your skill you have won for yourself great wealth and have gathered gold and silver into your treasuries.

<sup>5</sup>By your sharpness in trade you have increased your wealth and because of your great riches you have become proud in heart. <sup>6</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: Because you count yourself wise as a god, <sup>7</sup>behold, I am bringing aliens against you, the most ruthless of nations; they shall draw their sword against your subtle wisdom and defile your brightness. <sup>8</sup>They shall thrust you down into the pit, and you shall die the death of the slain in the heart of the seas. <sup>9</sup>Will you venture to claim, "I am a god," when you face those who slay you when you are but human, and no god, in the hand of those wounding you? <sup>10</sup>You shall die the death of the uncircumcised<sup>z</sup> at the hand of foreigners; for I have spoken it, says the LORD God.

ground and exposed you for kings to gaze at you. <sup>18</sup>Through your many iniquities and the intrigues of your trade, you profaned your sanctuaries; so I brought forth fire from your midst to burn you up, and I reduced you to ashes upon the ground in the sight of all who saw you. <sup>19</sup>All who know you among the nations are appalled at your fate; for you have become a horror; you shall be no more forever.

<sup>20</sup>The word of the LORD came to me: <sup>21</sup>Son of man, turn your face toward Sidon;<sup>d</sup> prophesy against her. <sup>22</sup>Say, Thus says the LORD God: See! I am against you, Sidon, and I will reveal My glory in the midst of you. They shall know that I am the LORD when I execute judgments in her and reveal My holiness to her;<sup>e</sup> <sup>23</sup>for I will send her pestilence and bloodshed in her streets; the wounded shall fall in her midst by the sword, coming down on her from every side. Then you shall know that I am the LORD. <sup>24</sup>Then the house of Israel shall no more be subjected to pricking thorns and painful briars among their neighbors who treat them with contempt. Then they will know that I am the LORD God.

<sup>25</sup>Thus says the LORD God: When I have gathered the house of Israel from the nations among whom they are scattered and have revealed My holiness through them in the sight of the Gentiles, then they shall dwell in their land, which I gave My servant Jacob; <sup>26</sup>they shall live securely in it and build houses and plant vineyards. In safety and security they shall dwell in it after I have executed judgments on all their neighbors, who have treated them with contempt; and they shall know that I am the LORD their God.

29 IN THE TENTH YEAR, IN THE tenth month, on the twelfth day of the month,<sup>f</sup> the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, set your face against Pharaoh,<sup>g</sup> king of Egypt. Prophesy against him and against all Egypt; <sup>3</sup>speak, and say, Thus says the LORD God: Look! I am against you, Pharaoh, king of Egypt. You are a big crocodile lying in the midst of the streams, that says, "The Nile is my own; I made it for myself." <sup>4</sup>I will put hooks in your jaws and will make the fish<sup>h</sup> of your streams to stick to your scales; then I will pull you out of your streams with all the fish of your streams that stick to your scales. <sup>5</sup>I will throw you into the desert, you and all the little fish of your streams; and I will leave you on the open desert; you shall be neither picked up nor buried,<sup>i</sup> but given as food to the beasts of the earth and the birds of heaven. <sup>6</sup>Then all the dwellers of Egypt shall know that I am the LORD; for they have been a staff of reeds to the house of Israel, <sup>7</sup>breaking when they grasped you by the hand and tearing their shoulders; and when they leaned on you, you broke and caused the loins of all to stagger. <sup>8</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: See! I will bring a sword upon you and will cut off from you man and beast. <sup>9</sup>The land of Egypt shall become a desolation and a waste, and they shall know that I am the LORD; for you boasted, "The Nile is mine; I made it." <sup>10</sup>Therefore, behold, I am against you and against your streams, and I will make the land of Egypt an utter waste, a desolation from Migdol<sup>j</sup> to Syene, as far as the borders of Ethiopia. <sup>11</sup>No foot of man or beast shall cross it; for forty years<sup>k</sup> it shall remain uninhabited. <sup>12</sup>I will make the land of Egypt a desolation among desolated lands,<sup>l</sup> and for forty years her cities shall remain a desolation among cities that are already wasted. I will scatter the Eyp-

d) Sidon was the first-born of Canaan [Gen. 10:15]. The city he founded was larger than Tyre and located 20 miles north of it on the coast. After Tyre's siege, Sidon became the leading city of Phoenicia. This brief oracle of warning fittingly concludes Ezekiel's prophecies against Phoenicia.

e) God will be sanctified through just chastisements of those who harass Israel; "holiness" in the O.T. implies uniqueness and separation in moral character and justice.

f) Egypt had always been an unreliable ally of Israel, and Hebrew religion detested the gross idolatry of Egypt. g) Hophra was then Egypt's king [588-569 B.C.].

h) The "fish" are the officers of Pharaoh's court, who are destined to share his fate.

i) To forfeit the rights of burial was the last indignity.

j) Migdol, "tower," located probably on the n.e. side of the Delta, near Pelusium. Syene was the modern Aswan near the Nile's First Cataract on the south.

tians among the nations and disperse them over the countries.

<sup>13</sup>For thus says the LORD God: At the end of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the people among whom they were scattered; <sup>14</sup>I will turn the captivity of Egypt and bring them back to the land of Pathros,<sup>m</sup> into the land of their birth, and there they shall abide, an insignificant kingdom. <sup>15</sup>It shall be the weakest of all kingdoms and shall no more rise above other nations; and I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule over the nations. <sup>16</sup>It shall never again be the confidence of the house of Israel, who will recall their sin when they turn to look at them. And they shall know that I am the LORD God.

<sup>17</sup>It was so in the twenty-seventh year, in the first month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came to me, saying:<sup>n</sup> <sup>18</sup>Son of man, Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, made his army render heavy service in fighting Tyre. Every soldier's head was peeled bald, and every shoulder was blistered; yet neither he nor his army gained any returns<sup>o</sup> from the long campaign which he directed against Tyre. <sup>19</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD God: See, I am giving the land of Egypt to Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, and he shall carry away her wealth, despoil, and plunder her; it shall be the wages for his army. <sup>20</sup>I am giving the land as his recompense for which he labored, because they worked for Me, says the LORD God.

<sup>21</sup>In that day I will cause a horn<sup>p</sup> to bud for the house of Israel, and to you I will give open lips in their midst, and they will know that I am the LORD.

30 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME again to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus says the LORD

God: Wail! Alas for the day! <sup>3</sup>For the day is near.<sup>q</sup> The day of the LORD is near, a day of clouds; it is the hour for the nations. <sup>4</sup>A sword shall descend on Egypt, and there shall be anguish in Ethiopia, when Egypt's slain shall fall, her wealth be carried away, and her foundations demolished. <sup>5</sup>Ethiopia, Put, and Lud,<sup>r</sup> all the Arabians, the Libyans, and the people of the land in league with them, shall fall by the sword. <sup>6</sup>Thus says the LORD: Those who sustain Egypt shall fall; her vaunted strength shall come down; from Migdol to Syene<sup>s</sup> those within her shall fall by the sword, says the LORD God. <sup>7</sup>She shall be desolate in the midst of desolate lands, her cities among cities already wasted. <sup>8</sup>They shall know that I am the LORD when I kindle a fire in Egypt and all her helpers are crushed. <sup>9</sup>On that day messengers shall go forth from Me in ships to terrify the unsuspecting Ethiopians, and anguish shall seize them on the day of Egypt's doom; for, observe, it is coming.

<sup>10</sup>Thus says the LORD God: I will bring Egypt's masses to an end by the hand of Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon. <sup>11</sup>Ic and his people with him, the most violent of nations, shall be brought in to destroy the land; they shall draw their swords against Egypt and shall fill the land with the slain. <sup>12</sup>I will make Nile streams dry ground and sell the land into the hand of villains. I will make the land and all that is in it a desolation by the hand of aliens; I, the LORD, have spoken it.

<sup>13</sup>Thus says the LORD God: I will also annihilate the idols and make the images disappear from Memphis.<sup>t</sup> There shall no longer be a prince in the land of Egypt, and I will make fear reign in Egypt. <sup>14</sup>I will make Pathros<sup>u</sup> a ruin. I will kindle a fire in Zoan<sup>v</sup>

m) Pathros was upper Egypt; the mother section of the whole land, between Oxyrhynchus and Syene.

n) These verses bear the latest date in the book and were probably composed about 571 B.C. Nebuchadrezzar set out to invade Egypt 567 B.C.

o) Soldiers were paid from the spoils of captured cities. Nebuchadrezzar could pay his troops out of the booty taken from Egypt.

p) The word "horn" implies power and prosperity. In Ps. 132:17 it is used to describe the revival of the Davidic dynasty. The vision of a Coming One may be back of it, a Messianic hope.

and execute judgment on No.<sup>w</sup> <sup>16</sup>I will pour out My fury on Sin,<sup>x</sup> the stronghold of Egypt, and I will cut off the crowds of Thebes. <sup>16</sup>I will kindle a fire in Egypt, and Sin shall tremble in anguish; Thebes shall be split up and Memphis reduced to ruins. <sup>17</sup>The young men of On and of Pibeseth<sup>y</sup> shall fall by the sword, and the [women] shall go into captivity. <sup>18</sup>At Telaphehes<sup>z</sup> the day will become dark when I break there the yoke of Egypt and when the pride of her power ceases. She shall be covered by a cloud, and her daughters shall go into captivity. <sup>19</sup>Thus will I execute My judgments on Egypt, and they shall know that I am the LORD.

<sup>20</sup>In the eleventh year, in the first month, on the seventh day of the month,<sup>a</sup> the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>21</sup>Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh, king of Egypt; and see, it has not been bound up, nor have healing medicines been applied that it might become strong again to wield the sword. <sup>22</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD God: See! I am against Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and I will break his arms, both the sound one and the broken one, and I will make the sword fall out of his hand. <sup>23</sup>I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them throughout the lands. <sup>24</sup>I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and will put My sword in his hand; but I will break the arms of Pharaoh, making him groan before him<sup>b</sup> like a man mortally wounded. <sup>25</sup>I will hold up the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharaoh shall slump. They shall know that I am the LORD when I put My sword into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he swings it over the land of Egypt. <sup>26</sup>I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them throughout the countries. Then they will know that I am the LORD.

31 IN THE ELEVENTH YEAR, IN THE third month, on the first day of the month,<sup>c</sup> the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, say to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and to his teeming crowd: Whom are you like in your greatness? <sup>3</sup>Behold! Assyria was a cedar in Lebanon with graceful branches and forest shade, lofty in height with its head among the clouds, <sup>4</sup>waters nourishing it, deep waters supplying its roots, sending out channels and streamlets of refreshment to all the trees around. <sup>5</sup>So it towered aloft above all the trees of the field. Its boughs multiplied, and its branches lengthened through the wealth of water at its roots. <sup>6</sup>Among its boughs all the birds of the air made their nests, and under its branches all the beasts of the field bore their young, while in its shadows many nations dwelt. <sup>7</sup>It was beautiful in its size and the length of its branches, for its roots reached abundant water; <sup>8</sup>the cedars in the garden of God could not conceal it; no cypress had branches like it; no plane tree had boughs to compare with it; no tree in God's garden equalled it in beauty. <sup>9</sup>Because of its boughs and the beauty of its foliage, all of Eden's trees that were in the garden of God, envied it. <sup>10</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD God: Because it towered high, carrying its head in the clouds and priding itself on its height, <sup>11</sup>I gave it into the hand of a mighty one among the nations, who dealt with it as its wickedness deserved; I, Myself, have cast it off.<sup>d</sup> <sup>12</sup>Strangers, the most ruthless of peoples, cut it down and left it lying upon the mountains, its branches forsaken in the valleys, and all the people of the earth left its shade and let it lie.

w) No is modern Thebes, the seat of Ammon worship, 400 miles south of Cairo, and the capital of Upper Egypt. x) Sin was one of the chief fortresses of the Delta.

y) On and Pibeseth are in Lower Egypt; On, center of "cat" worship, is modern Heliopolis, 7 miles n.e. of Cairo. A cat cemetery is still extant.

z) Telaphehes is probably the modern Tel Defenneh, 3 miles west of El Kantara on the Suez Canal.

a) This independent section [vss. 20-26] is dated three months later than 29:1 and only four months before the fall of Jerusalem; it refers to a defeat of Pharaoh Hophra.

b) Pharaoh before Nebuchadnezzar. c) Two months before Jerusalem's fall.

d) The allegorical figure of the cedar and the literal description of the Pharaoh, run into each other in these verses [vss. 11-17].

<sup>13</sup>Upon its fallen trunk all the birds of the heavens gathered, and among its branches and thick boughs all the beasts of the field rested; <sup>14</sup>so that no trees beside the waters may exalt themselves because of their height or lift their heads into the clouds, and no water-fed tree may show off its height; for all are delivered to death, to the nether parts of earth, and with the children of men, with those who go down to the pit.

<sup>15</sup>Thus says the LORD God: On the day when he<sup>e</sup> went down to the realm of the dead, I made the deep mourn for him and restrained its floods; the great waters were held back, and I caused Lebanon to mourn for him; and all the trees of the field fainted because of him. <sup>16</sup>I made the nations quake at the sound of his fall when I cast him down to Sheol with those who go down to the pit; and all the trees of Eden, the choicest and best of Lebanon, all that thrive on water, were comforted in the underworld. <sup>17</sup>Those slain by the sword also went down with him into the realm of the dead, his helpers, who had lived under his shadow among the nations. <sup>18</sup>To whom, then, are you really like in glory and in greatness among the trees of Eden? You, with them,<sup>f</sup> shall be brought down to the underworld with the trees of Eden and die there among the uncircumcised,<sup>g</sup> slain by the sword. Such shall be the fate of Pharaoh and of all his teeming masses, says the LORD God.

32 IN THE TWELFTH YEAR, IN THE twelfth month, on the first day of the month,<sup>h</sup> the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, intone a dirge over Pharaoh, king of Egypt. Say to him: You compared yourself to a young lion among the nations, whereas you are a crocodile in the seas, making water bubble, troubling the waters with your feet, and befouling their streams. <sup>3</sup>Thus says the LORD God: I will spread out My net over you with a host of many peoples; I will haul you up in My net; <sup>4</sup>and I will leave you upon the land, and hurl you out on the open field. I will make the birds of the air settle on you and will glut the animals of all the earth with you. <sup>5</sup>I will strew your flesh upon the hills and fill the valleys with your bones, <sup>6</sup>drenching with your gushing blood the whole earth to the tops of the mountains, so that the ravines will be filled with you. <sup>7</sup>And when I have extinguished you, I will veil the heavens and darken the stars, covering the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall cease giving her light. <sup>8</sup>All the beaming lights of heaven I will darken over you, bringing darkness on your land, says the LORD God.

<sup>9</sup>I will cause dismay in the hearts of many peoples when I announce your downfall to the nations, to countries which you never knew. <sup>10</sup>I will make many peoples astonished at you; their kings will shudder with terror when I brandish My sword before them. They shall tremble every moment, each for his own life, on the day of your downfall. <sup>11</sup>For thus says the LORD God: The sword of the king of Babylon shall come upon you. <sup>12</sup>By the sword of the mighty, the most terrible of the nations, I will make your host fall; they shall humble the pomp of Egypt, and all its multitudes shall perish. <sup>13</sup>I will destroy all your cattle from beside many waters which no foot of man shall roil any more, nor shall the hoofs of beasts trouble them. <sup>14</sup>Then I will make their waters clear and cause their rivers to flow like oil, says the LORD God. <sup>15</sup>When I have made the land of Egypt a ruin and a waste, when I have stripped the land of all its fulness, and when I have smitten all who dwell in it, then they shall know that I am the LORD. <sup>16</sup>This is the dirge which shall be chanted by the daughters of all the nations, lamenting for Egypt and her teeming masses, says the LORD God.

f) The doom of Pharaoh is to be shared by his allies; Ezekiel often uses the "prophetic perfect"! g) The Egyptians practiced circumcision and considered those uncircumcised as outside the pale of civilization [cf. fifteenth day of the month,<sup>1</sup> the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>18</sup>Son of man, wail over the masses of Egypt, and send them down, her and the daughters of famous nations to the nether world, with those who have gone down to the pit. <sup>19</sup>Whom do you surpass in loveliness? Go down, and be laid with the uncircumcised; <sup>20</sup>they shall fall among those who were slain by the sword. Lie down, you and all your vast multitude. <sup>21</sup>The mighty warriors of Sheol will welcome you and your helpers.<sup>j</sup> They have all gone down and lie still with the uncircumcised in the midst of those who have been slain by the sword. <sup>22</sup>Assyria<sup>k</sup> is there and all her multitude; their graves are around her, all of them slain, fallen by the sword, <sup>23</sup>whose graves are made in the sides of the pit, her company around her grave, all of them slain, fallen by the sword, who caused terror in the land of the living. <sup>24</sup>There is Elam,<sup>l</sup> with all her multitude around her grave; all of them slain, fallen by the sword, and gone down to the underworld uncircumcised, who in the land of the living had caused terror; they have borne their shame with them that go down to the pit. <sup>25</sup>Among the slain they have made for her a bed and for the many in numberless graves around her, all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword, for the terror they caused in the land of the living; hence they bear their shame with those who go down to the pit and are placed among the slain.

do not lie with the mighty men who went down to Sheol with their weapons of war, whose swords were laid under their heads, and their wickedness upon their bones, because their terror was mighty in the land of the living. <sup>28</sup>So you too shall lie broken among the uncircumcised, with those who were slain by the sword.

<sup>29</sup>There also is Edom, whose king and princes, in spite of all their might, are laid with those who were slain by the sword;<sup>n</sup> they shall lie among the uncircumcised, with those who go down to the pit.

<sup>30</sup>The princes of the north, including the Sidonians, all of them, who have gone down in shame with the slain, in spite of the terror because of their might, they shall be in the pit among the uncircumcised, slain by the sword, and they shall bear their disgrace.

<sup>31</sup>When Pharaoh sees them, he will be consoled that all his multitude, Pharaoh and all his army, who were slain by the sword, are with him in Sheol,<sup>o</sup> says the LORD God. <sup>32</sup>For I spread My terror in the land of the living among all the victims of the sword, uncircumcised, Pharaoh and his multitude, says the LORD God.

33 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me:<sup>p</sup> <sup>2</sup>Son of man, speak to your countrymen. Say to them: When I bring the sword upon a land and the people of that land take one of their number and make him their watchman, <sup>3</sup>if he sees the sword coming on the land and blows the trumpet to warn the people, <sup>4</sup>then whoever hears the sound of the trumpet but does not take warning, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be on his own head. <sup>5</sup>He heard the sound of the

i) Though the month is here not specified, the twelfth may be assumed from vs. 1; hence vs. 17-32 may be dated about two weeks after vs. 1-16. j) Cf. Isa. 14:9.

k) Assyria had been conquered by Babylon in 612 B.C.

l) After Assyria, Elam was the next most formidable warrior state. Originally they were sons of Shem, but they got mixed and spoke a different language from all other Semites. They inhabited the region east of the Tigris and joined the Assyrian army against Jerusalem in Isaiah's time [Isa. 22:6].

m) Meshech and Tubal were remnants of the old Hittite population, sons of Japheth, and therefore Arian.

n) The Edomites were circumcised, but they are destined to share Sheol with those who were not.

o) In Isa. 14, and here in vs. 18-32 are the most vivid descriptions in the Bible concerning Sheol. p) Ezekiel turns from divine judgment to divine restoration. The future, he sees, lies with the exiles: they must form a new Israel. For seven years he had preached the coming of judgment and the certainty of doom; now, in chaps. 33-39, he proclaims the forgiveness of sin. In these chapters there is but one date [33:21], 586 B.C., the date of Jerusalem's fall.

trumpet and did not take warning; his blood shall be upon himself; had he taken warning, he would have saved his life. <sup>6</sup>But if the watchman sees the sword approaching and does not blow the trumpet, so that the people are not warned, and the sword comes and takes any one of them, that man is taken in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.

<sup>7</sup>So you, son of man, I appoint you a watchman to the house of Israel; when you hear the word from My mouth, warn them from Me. <sup>8</sup>When I say to the wicked, Sinner, you shall surely die; but you say nothing to warn that sinner to turn from his way, that sinner shall die in his sins; but his blood I will require at your hand. <sup>9</sup>But if you warn the sinner to turn from his way and he does not turn from it, he shall die in his iniquity, but you have saved your soul.

<sup>10</sup>Therefore, son of man, say to the house of Israel: <sup>a</sup>You have said, "Our sins are heavy upon us," and under them you are wasting away and are crying, "How then can we live?" <sup>11</sup>Say to them: As I live, says the LORD God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but rather in this, that he turns from his way and lives. Turn you, oh, turn you, from your evil ways; for why should you die,<sup>r</sup> house of Israel? <sup>12</sup>And you, son of man, say to the children of your people, The righteousness of the righteous shall not save him when he transgresses; and as for the wickedness of the wicked, it shall not be his downfall<sup>s</sup> in the day that he turns from his wickedness; neither shall the righteous be able to live by his righteousness in the day he does the sinning. <sup>13</sup>Though I say to the righteous that he shall surely live, yet if he trusts in his righteousness and commits sin, none of his righteous deeds will be remembered; but in the sin he commits he shall die. <sup>14</sup>Again, when I say to the wicked, you shall surely die; yet if he turns from his sin, and does what is lawful and fair — <sup>15</sup>he restores the pledge and gives back what he had robbed, follows the statutes of life, and does no wrong — he shall surely live; he shall not die. <sup>16</sup>None of his sins which he has committed shall be remembered<sup>t</sup> against him; he has done what is lawful and fair; he shall surely live.

<sup>21</sup>It happened in the twelfth year of our captivity, in the tenth month, on the fifth day of the month that a fugitive from Jerusalem came to me and announced, "The city is smitten!" <sup>22</sup>Now the hand of the LORD had been upon me the evening before the fugitive arrived, and in the morning about the time when the fugitive came, my mouth was opened and I could speak; I was no longer dumb.

<sup>23</sup>Then the word of the LORD came to me: <sup>24</sup>Son of man, those who inhabit these wastes of the land of Israel are saying, "Abraham was but one man, yet he received possession of the land; now we are many, to us therefore the land should be given as a possession."<sup>u</sup> <sup>25</sup>Therefore say to them, Thus says the LORD God: You eat [flesh] with the blood in it; you lift up your eyes to your idols, and you shed blood; should you then possess the land?<sup>v</sup> <sup>26</sup>You depend on your sword; you commit abominations, each one of you defiling his neighbor's wife; should you then possess the land? <sup>27</sup>Tell them this, too, Thus says the LORD God: As

q) Ezekiel speaks in these verses as a pastor, not as a speculative theologian.

r) A man's past may not necessarily determine his possible future. A man is morally free to repent [cf. 18:21-29]. The apostles carried this doctrine even higher [cf. Rom. 7:6; I John 3:9].

s) Wickedness leads to stumbling [cf. Prov. 4:19]; repentance will arrest the fall.

t) How such forgiveness becomes possible, through Christ, and how the old sinful personality ceases to be, is taught clearly in the N.T. u) It is character, not numbers, that counts with God.

v) With the better elements of the people carried into exile, there was no future for those left behind. The land had become desolate.

I live, those among the wastes shall be taken by the sword; those in the open country I will give to the beasts for nourishment; those in strongholds and in the caves shall die of pestilence. <sup>28</sup>I will make the land a desolation and a waste; the pomp of its strength shall come to an end, and the mountains of Israel shall become so deserted that none will pass through them. <sup>29</sup>They<sup>w</sup> will know that I am the LORD, when, because of all the abominations they have committed, I have made the land a desolation and an astonishment.

<sup>30</sup>As for you, son of man, your fellow countrymen are talking about you by the walls and the doors of houses. They say to one another, each to his brother, "Please come, and hear what is the word from the LORD." <sup>31</sup>They will come to you as My people used to come, and they will sit before you as My congregation; they will listen to your words but they will not obey them; for with their lips they make a show of love, but their hearts are set on their own selfish gain.<sup>x</sup> <sup>32</sup>See! You are to them like a lovely song, sung with a beautiful voice and played well on an instrument; they hear your words, but they will not obey them. <sup>33</sup>But when the hour comes — and it is coming — will they recognize that a prophet has been among them?<sup>y</sup>

34 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds<sup>z</sup> of Israel. Prophesy; say to them, Thus says the LORD God to the shepherds: Ah! You shepherds of Israel, who have been tending yourselves; should not shepherds tend the sheep? <sup>3</sup>You eat the fat and dress yourselves with the wool; you slaughter the fatlings, but you do not feed the flock. <sup>4</sup>The weak you have not strengthened; nor have you healed the sick or bound up the wounded; nor have you brought back the straying or sought after the lost; only with force and with rigor have you ruled over them. <sup>5</sup>They were scattered because there was no shepherd, and they became food for all the beasts of the field when they were scattered. <sup>6</sup>My sheep wandered all over the mountains and on every high hill, yes, My flock was scattered on the whole face of the earth, with no one to seek or search for them.

<sup>7</sup>Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD: <sup>8</sup>As I live,<sup>a</sup> says the LORD God, because My sheep<sup>b</sup> have become a prey and My flock have become food for all the wild beasts for want of a shepherd, because the shepherds did not care for My flock but fed themselves, not having fed My sheep; <sup>9</sup>therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD. <sup>10</sup>Thus says the LORD God:<sup>c</sup> Observe! I am against the shepherds; I will require My sheep at their hand and put a stop to their feeding the flock; neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more. I will rescue My flock from their mouths, so that they may not be food for them any longer. <sup>11</sup>For thus says the LORD God: Lo! I, even I, will search for My flock and seek them out. <sup>12</sup>As a shepherd seeks out his sheep when he is among those who are scattered, so will I seek out My sheep and rescue them from all the places where they have been scattered in the day of cloud and darkness.<sup>d</sup> <sup>13</sup>I will bring them out from among the peoples and gather them from the countries and bring them into their own land; and I will feed them on the mountains of Israel, by the watercourses and in all the habitable portions of the country. <sup>14</sup>In good pastures will I feed them; upon the

w) As a rule, the Gentiles will learn from His judgments that the LORD is God; but through Israel's tragic discipline, the Jews too may learn this vital fact.

x) They show enthusiasm, but their inclinations are not Godward [cf. Isa. 29:13].

y) A prophet's true function is to interpret history in the light of God's purpose to redeem His people.

z) The shepherds are their native kings, rulers, and priests [Moses, Isa. 63:11, 12; David, Ps. 78:70-72; Cyrus, Isa. 44:28].

a) "As I live, says the LORD God" finds a corresponding equivalent in "I assure you" in the N.T. as spoken by Jesus.

b) The phrase "My sheep," is repeated often in these verses: four times in verse 8 alone.

c) Repetition is for emphasis.

d) The LORD here shows what a good shepherd would do [cf. Luke 19:10]. The kings of Israel were responsible for the morals of the nation, and the prophets shared the responsibility. Jeremiah had warned Israel that a better brand of pastors was needed [23:1-8].

mountain heights of Israel shall be their fold; there they will lie down in a good fold, and in rich pastures they shall graze on the mountains of Israel. <sup>15</sup>I Myself will feed My flock, <sup>16</sup>and I will cause them to lie down, says the LORD God.<sup>e</sup> I will seek the lost and bring back the strayed; I will bind up the wounded; I will strengthen the sick; and the fat and the strong I will guard, tending them all with judgment.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>17</sup>As for you, my flock, thus says the LORD God: See! I judge between lambs and kids, between rams and he-goats.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>18</sup>Is it not enough for you to graze in the good pasture, that you must trample down with your feet the rest of the pasture; and to drink of the clear waters yourselves, that you must befoul the rest with your feet? <sup>19</sup>Must My flock graze on what you have trampled upon and drink what you have befouled with your feet?

<sup>20</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD God to them: Behold! I Myself will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep. <sup>21</sup>Because you push with your side and shoulder and thrust at all the weak with your horns till you have driven them out, <sup>22</sup>I will save<sup>h</sup> My sheep, so that they may no longer be your prey, and I will judge between sheep and sheep. <sup>23</sup>I will appoint over them one shepherd,<sup>i</sup> even My servant David; he shall feed them and be a shepherd to them; <sup>24</sup>I, the LORD, will be their God, and My servant David shall be a prince among them. I, the LORD, have spoken it. <sup>25</sup>I will make with them a covenant of peace<sup>j</sup> and will banish the wild animals from the land, so that they may live securely in the plains and sleep in the woods. <sup>26</sup>I will make them and the places around My hill a blessing, sending rains to come down in their season; there shall be showers of blessing.<sup>k</sup> <sup>27</sup>The trees of the field shall yield their fruit, and the land shall yield her produce; they shall be secure in their land! They shall know that I am the LORD, when I have broken the bars of their yoke<sup>l</sup> and have rescued them from the hands of those who enslaved them. <sup>28</sup>They shall no more be a prey to the nations, neither shall the wild beasts of the earth devour them; but they shall dwell securely, and none shall make them afraid. <sup>29</sup>I will provide them with vegetation renowned for its growth. No more will they be subjected to famine, and no longer shall they bear the reproach of the nations. <sup>30</sup>Thus they shall know that I, the LORD their God, am with them, and that they, the house of Israel, are My people, says the LORD God. <sup>31</sup>You are My flock, the sheep of My pasture, and I am your God,<sup>m</sup> says the LORD God.

35 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME to me: <sup>2</sup>Son of man, set your face against Mount Seir<sup>n</sup> and prophesy against it. <sup>3</sup>Say to it, Thus says the LORD God: Look! I am against you, Mount Seir; I will stretch out My hand against you, and I will make you a desolation and a waste. <sup>4</sup>Your cities<sup>o</sup> I will destroy, and you shall become a desolation. You shall know that I am the LORD, <sup>5</sup>for you have perpetuated enmity toward the children of Israel and have handed them over to the violence of the sword at the time of their calamity, the time of their final

c) To gather and restore Israel is repeatedly emphasized in Ezekiel's later chapters [36:24; 37:22; 38:8; 39:27]. That the LORD Himself will act as the Shepherd of His people leads directly to the N.T. f) The divine Shepherd tempers His treatment of His flock with mercy and discernment.

g) The he-goats are the strong, leading men of the community, who ignore the rights of common people.

h) To Ezekiel salvation meant largely restoration of Israel; Jesus saves from sin [Matt. 1:21], for the new life.

doom. <sup>6</sup>Therefore, as I live, says the LORD God, because you are guilty of blood, blood shall pursue you; since you have not hated blood, blood will pursue you. <sup>7</sup>Thus I will make Mount Seir a waste and a ruin. I will cut off from it him who arrives and him who leaves. <sup>8</sup>I will cover its mountains with the slain; those slain by the sword shall fall, in your hills, in your valleys and in your creek-beds. <sup>9</sup>I will make you a perpetual desolation, and your cities shall remain uninhabited.<sup>p</sup> You shall know that I am the LORD.

<sup>10</sup>Because you have said, "These two nations and these two lands<sup>q</sup> shall become mine, and we will take possession of them," — although the LORD was there — <sup>11</sup>therefore, as I live, says the LORD God, I will do to you according to your anger and your envy which you have shown in your hatred for them. I will make Myself known among them when I judge you. <sup>12</sup>And you shall know that I, the LORD, have heard all your revilings which you have uttered against the mountains of Israel, saying, "They are a desolation! They are given us to devour!" <sup>13</sup>You spoke boastfully with your big words against Me; I heard them all. <sup>14</sup>Thus says the LORD God: The whole world will rejoice when I make you desolate. <sup>15</sup>As you rejoiced over the heritage of the house of Israel because it was ruined, so will I deal with you; you shall become desolate, Mount Seir, and all Edom, all of it. So shall they know that I am the LORD.

36 AND YOU, SON OF MAN,<sup>r</sup> PROPHECY to the mountains of Israel. Say, You mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD. <sup>2</sup>Thus says the LORD God: Because the enemy<sup>s</sup> has exulted over you, saying, "Aha! The ancient heights have become ours," <sup>3</sup>therefore prophesy, Thus says the LORD God: Because, yes, because<sup>t</sup> you were crushed and were trampled on every side to become the possession of the remaining nations, and you became the talk and slanderous gossip of the people; <sup>4</sup>therefore, you mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD God: Thus says the LORD God to the mountains and to the hills, to the ravines and to the valleys, to the desolate wastes and to the deserted cities, which have become a spoil and a mockery to the nations remaining all around, <sup>5</sup>thus says the LORD God: Surely I will speak in the heat of My zeal against the remainder of the surrounding nations, especially against all Edom, who allotted My land to themselves with the utmost joy and with utter contempt, so that they might hold it as booty. <sup>6</sup>Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Israel, and say to the mountains and to the hills, to the ravines and to the valleys, Thus says the LORD God: Behold, I will speak in my wrathful jealousy, because you have suffered the reproach of the nations. <sup>7</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD God: I swear with My uplifted hand<sup>u</sup> that the nations which are around you shall themselves bear their reproach.

<sup>8</sup>But you, mountains of Israel, shall put forth your branches and yield your fruit for My people Israel; for they shall soon be coming home.<sup>v</sup> <sup>9</sup>For see, I am for you, and I will turn to you, and you shall be tilled and sown; <sup>10</sup>I will multiply you into a large population, the whole house of Israel, all of it;<sup>w</sup> Your cities shall be inhabited and the ruins rebuilt. <sup>11</sup>I will multiply in the land both man and beast; they shall increase and be fruitful; and I will populate you as of old, and I will do even better to you than during your early days.<sup>x</sup> Then you shall know that I am the LORD. <sup>12</sup>Yes, I will allow men to travel over you;<sup>y</sup> My people Israel shall possess

you; you shall be their inheritance, and no longer shall you make them childless.<sup>13</sup> Thus says the LORD God: Because men taunt you, declaring that you are a land which devours its population,<sup>2</sup> you shall no longer diminish the number of men and no longer bereave your nation [of children], says the LORD God.<sup>15</sup> I will no longer make you hear the sneer of the nations, and you shall no more bear the reproach of peoples, and no longer shall you make your people stumble,<sup>a</sup> says the LORD God.

<sup>22</sup>Therefore say to the house of Israel, Thus says the LORD God: It is not for your sakes, house of Israel, that I am about to act, but for My holy name,<sup>e</sup> which you have profaned among the nations to which you came. <sup>23</sup>I will vindicate My great name, which has been profaned among the nations, and which you have profaned

among them; and the nations shall know that I am the LORD, says the LORD God, when, through you, I vindicate My holiness<sup>f</sup> before their eyes. <sup>24</sup>For I will lead you from among the nations, gather you from all the countries, and bring you into your own land. <sup>25</sup>I will sprinkle clean water upon you, and you will be cleansed from all your impurities; from all your idols I will purify you. <sup>26</sup>A new heart,<sup>g</sup> too, I will give you, and a new spirit I will put within you. I will take the heart of stone out of your flesh, and I will give you a heart of flesh. <sup>27</sup>I will put My Spirit within you and cause you to walk in My statutes, and you shall observe My ordinances and do them. <sup>28</sup>You shall live in the land which I gave your fathers; you shall be My people, and I will be your God; <sup>29</sup>I will also save you from all your impurities. I will command the grain, to make it abundant, allowing no famine to overtake you. <sup>30</sup>I will multiply the fruit of the tree and the produce of the field, that you may no more be reproached by the nations for famine.<sup>h</sup> <sup>31</sup>Then you will remember your evil ways and your doings which were not good, and you will loathe yourselves in your own sight because of your iniquities and your abominations.<sup>i</sup> <sup>32</sup>It is not for your sake that I do this, says the LORD God. Be that known to you. Be ashamed and confounded for your ways, O house of Israel!

<sup>33</sup>Thus says the LORD God: On the day that I cleanse you from all your iniquities, I will cause the cities to be inhabited, and the waste places to be rebuilt. <sup>34</sup>The acreage that was left desolate shall once more be cultivated in the sight of all those who pass by. <sup>35</sup>They shall say, "This soil that was sembled your forces to take prey, to carry away silver and gold, to drive away cattle, and to seize goods?"

<sup>14</sup>Therefore, son of man, prophesy. Say to Gog, Thus says the LORD God: On that day, when My people Israel are dwelling in security, you will bestir yourself <sup>15</sup>and come from your place out of the far north, you and the many peoples with you, all of them riding on horses, a great host and a mighty army; <sup>16</sup>and you will come against My people Israel like a cloud covering the land. It shall be in the latter days that I will bring you against My land, so that the nations may recognize Me, when through you, Gog, I vindicate My holiness before their eyes.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Thus says the LORD God: You are those of whom I spoke in former days by My servants, the prophets of Israel, who prophesied for years in those days, through whom I threatened to bring you against them.<sup>c</sup> <sup>18</sup>And on that day, the day when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, says the LORD God, My anger shall come up into My nostrils. <sup>19</sup>For in My jealousy and in the fire of My indignation, I have spoken: Surely in that day there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel; <sup>20</sup>the fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the beasts of the field, all creatures that creep upon the ground, and all people that live on the face of the earth, shall quake at My presence. The mountains shall be thrown down; cliffs shall fall, and walls shall tumble to the ground.<sup>d</sup> <sup>21</sup>I will then summon the sword against him<sup>e</sup> on all My mountains, says the LORD God; every man's sword shall be against his brother. <sup>22</sup>With pestilence and with blood I will enter into judgment with him, and I will pour upon him, upon his hordes, and upon all the nations in his train, floods of rain accompanied by hailstones, fire, and brimstone. <sup>23</sup>Thus I will manifest My greatness and My holiness and make Myself known in the eyes of many nations; they will know that I am the LORD.<sup>f</sup>

39 SON OF MAN, PROPHECY AGAINST Gog. Say, Thus says the LORD God: Look! I am against you, Gog, chief prince of Meshech and Tubal. <sup>2</sup>I will turn you around and drive you on to leave the extreme north, so as to bring you to the mountains of Israel: <sup>3</sup>then I will strike your bow from your left hand and will make your arrows drop out of your right hand. <sup>4</sup>You shall fall upon the mountains of Israel, you and all your hordes and your many allies, and I will give you to the birds of prey of every sort and to the beasts of the field to be devoured. <sup>5</sup>You shall fall in the open field; for I have said it, says the LORD God. <sup>6</sup>I will send fire on Magog<sup>g</sup> and on those who dwell securely in the coastlands; and they shall know that I am the LORD. <sup>7</sup>I will make known My holy name in the midst of My people Israel, and I will no longer allow My holy name to be profaned. So shall the nations<sup>h</sup> know that I am the LORD, the Holy One of Israel. <sup>8</sup>Behold, it comes! It shall be done, says the LORD; this is the day I predicted.

<sup>9</sup>Then shall those who live in the cities of Israel go out and make fires of their weapons, the shields and bucklers, bows and arrows, the handpikes and the spears. For seven years they shall make fires of them; <sup>10</sup>they shall not gather wood from the fields or cut it in the forests, but they shall make fuel of the weapons; thus they shall despoil those who despoiled them and plunder those who plundered them, says the LORD God.

<sup>11</sup>On that day I will give Gog a place for burial in Israel, the valley of the travelers, east of the sea. It will block the road for all who travel that way; for there Gog and his whole army will

b) Gog comes up of his own accord; at the same time the LORD says, "I will bring you up against My land." Thus the divine purpose overrides Gog's base motives and uses them.

be buried; it will be called, "the Valley of Gog's Host."<sup>12</sup>For seven months the house of Israel will be burying them, so that the land may be thoroughly cleansed.<sup>13</sup>All the people of the land will be burying them; it will bring them renown on the day that I show My glory, says the LORD God.<sup>14</sup>They will set apart certain men, definitely commissioned to traverse the whole land searching for those who remained on top of the ground unburied, to bury them and to cleanse the land; they will begin their search at the end of seven months.<sup>15</sup>As they pass through the land and one notices human bones, he shall set up a marker<sup>1</sup> beside it, till the gravediggers bury it in the Valley of Gog's Host.<sup>16</sup>A city named "Multitude" is there. Thus they shall cleanse the land.

<sup>17</sup>And for you, son of man, thus says the LORD God: Speak to the birds of every feather and to all the beasts of the field. Say, Assemble yourselves and come, gather from every quarter to the great sacrificial feast<sup>1</sup> that I am preparing for you upon the mountains of Israel, at which you shall eat flesh and drink blood.<sup>18</sup>You shall eat the flesh of warriors and drink the blood of princes of the earth — of rams, of lambs, of goats, and of bulls, all of them fatlings of Bashan.<sup>19</sup>You shall eat fat<sup>k</sup> until you are glutted and drink blood<sup>k</sup> until you are drunk, at the sacrificial feast which I am preparing for you;<sup>20</sup> you shall be sated at My table with horses and riders, warriors and soldiers of every sort, says the LORD God.

<sup>21</sup>Thus I will manifest My glory among the nations; all the nations shall see the judgments that I execute and the hand which I have laid on them.<sup>22</sup>From that day onwards the house of Israel shall know that I am the LORD their God.<sup>23</sup>And the nations shall know that the house of Israel went into captivity for their iniquity, because they dealt treacherously toward Me; for which reason I hid My face from them and gave them into the hand of their adversaries; and they fell, all of them, by the sword.<sup>24</sup>According to their uncleanness and transgressions I dealt thus with them and hid My face from them.

<sup>25</sup>Therefore,<sup>1</sup> says the LORD God: I will reverse the captivity of Jacob<sup>m</sup> and have mercy on the whole house of Israel; I will be jealous for My holy name.<sup>26</sup>They shall forget their shame<sup>n</sup> and all the treachery they have practiced against Me, when they are settled and undisturbed in their own land,<sup>27</sup> when I have brought them back from the peoples and gathered them from the lands of their enemies and through them I have vindicated My holiness in the sight of many nations.<sup>28</sup>They shall know that I am the LORD their God<sup>o</sup> in that I have caused them to go into exile among the nations and have now gathered them into their own land. I will never leave any of them alone again,<sup>29</sup> nor any longer hide My face from them, for on the house of Israel I have poured out My Spirit, says the LORD God.

40 IN THE TWENTY-FIFTH YEAR OF our exile, in the beginning of the year, on the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after the city had been smitten, on that very day the hand of the LORD was upon me,<sup>2</sup> and in visions of God He brought me into the land of Israel. He set me down on a very high mountain, on the south side of which there was laid out something like a city.<sup>p</sup> <sup>3</sup>When He brought me to it, behold, there was a man, whose appearance was like shining bronze, with a linen tape and a measuring reed in his hand, standing in the gateway. <sup>4</sup>The man<sup>q</sup> said to me, "Son of man, look with your eyes, hear with your ears, and take to heart all that I shall show you; for you were brought here so that I might show it to you; then go and tell the house of Israel all that you see." <sup>5</sup>Observe, a wall ran all around the outside of the building,<sup>r</sup> and in the hand of the man standing there was a measuring reed, 10½ feet long by the longer measure;<sup>s</sup> so he measured the thickness of the wall, one reed in breadth, and the height one reed.

<sup>6</sup>Then he brought me to the gateway looking east.<sup>t</sup> Going up its steps, he measured the threshold of the gate, one reed broad, and the other threshold, one reed broad. <sup>7</sup>Each guard room was one reed long and one reed broad; and the space between the guard rooms, 8¾ feet; and the threshold of the gate by the vestibule of the gate at the inner end, one reed. <sup>8</sup>He also measured the vestibule of the gateway leading into the building, one reed; then the vestibule, 14 feet; <sup>9</sup>the jambs<sup>u</sup> on either side of the gateway porch being 3½ feet wide, and the porch of the gate was inside. <sup>10</sup>The three guard rooms of the east gate were on each side, all of the same dimensions; and the jambs between them were all of the same size. <sup>11</sup>Then he measured the breadth of the gateway, 17½ feet, and the length of the gateway, 22¾ feet. <sup>12</sup>In front of each guard room there was a platform, 1¾ feet square; the guard rooms themselves being 10½ feet square. <sup>13</sup>Then he measured the gate from roof to roof of the guard rooms, a breadth of 43¾ feet from door to door. <sup>14</sup>He measured the vestibule, too, which was 35 feet in length; and around the vestibule was the inner court. <sup>15</sup>From the front of the gateway at the entrance to the inner front was 87½ feet.<sup>v</sup> <sup>16</sup>The gateway had latticed windows all around, which were beveled inward toward the jambs between the guard rooms; the vestibule, too, had windows all around, and on the jambs were palm-tree<sup>w</sup> decorations.

<sup>17</sup>Then he brought me into the outer court; and see, there were chambers and a pavement around the court, thirty chambers fronting on the pavement.<sup>x</sup> <sup>18</sup>The lower pavement, which was on a different level from that around the temple, ran along before the gates, as broad as they were long. <sup>19</sup>Then he measured the breadth of the court from the inner front of the lower gate to the outer front of the inner court, 175 feet, on the east side and the north side.

<sup>20</sup>He also brought me to the north gate of the outer court and measured its length and its breadth. <sup>21</sup>This gate had three guard rooms on each side, with jambs and vestibule of the same size as that of the first gate; it was 87½ feet in length and 43¾ feet in breadth. <sup>22</sup>And it had windows, a vestibule, and palm trees, of the same size as those of the east gate. It was reached by a stairway of seven steps, and its vestibule was on the inside. <sup>23</sup>Opposite the gate on the north, as on the east, was a gate to the inner court; and he measured from gate to gate, 175 feet.

<sup>24</sup>Then he led me southward; and look, there was a gate facing south. He measured its jambs and its vestibule and found they were the same size as the others. <sup>25</sup>There were windows too about the gate and its vestibule, of the same size as the others. It was 87½

r) The whole temple area with its courts and chambers.

s) The Hebrew standard of measurement was the cubit, the length from the elbow to the end of the middle finger, which equals 1½ feet. But Ezekiel refers to the longer cubit, a hand-breadth [¼ foot more], so that six such cubits are six times 1¾ feet, or 10½ feet. These longer cubits are applied in these temple measurements. We express our measurements in inches and feet — 21 inches to Ezekiel's cubit.

t) The east gate was a most important entrance to the temple area, for the Holy of Holies faced east.

u) From French jambe, "leg," corresponding to our "post," but usually large, of column type.

v) The total length of the gateway, from east to west, was 87½ feet; the building was thus twice as long as broad.

w) The palm was especially sacred to the Oriental in the decoration of temples; Solomon's temple was adorned with palms [1 Kings 7:36].

feet long and  $43\frac{3}{4}$  feet wide. <sup>26</sup>It too had a stairway of seven steps; its vestibule was on the inside, and it had palm trees on its jambs, one on each side. <sup>27</sup>The inner court had a gateway on its south side, corresponding to the south gate of the outer court. He measured from gate to gate, 175 feet.

<sup>28</sup>He further brought me to the inner court<sup>3</sup> by the south gate, and he measured the south gate. It was of the same size as the others <sup>29</sup>and its guard rooms, its jambs, and its vestibule were of the same size as the others; and there were windows all around in it and in its vestibule; its length was  $87\frac{1}{2}$  feet and its breadth  $43\frac{3}{4}$  feet. <sup>30</sup>There were vestibules round about, and its vestibule was  $43\frac{3}{4}$  feet long and  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet broad. <sup>31</sup>The vestibule faced the outer court. It had palm trees on its jambs, and its stairway had eight steps.

<sup>32</sup>Then he took me to the inner court<sup>4</sup> on the east side; and he measured the gate, which was the same size as the others. <sup>33</sup>Its guard rooms, jambs, and vestibule were of the same size as the others. The gate and its vestibule had windows all around; it was  $87\frac{1}{2}$  feet long and  $43\frac{3}{4}$  feet broad. <sup>34</sup>Its vestibule faced the outer court and palm trees were on its posts, both sides; and its stairway had eight steps.

<sup>35</sup>Then he led me to the north gate and measured it <sup>36</sup>with its guard rooms, jambs, and vestibule of the same size as the others. It also had windows all around and was  $87\frac{1}{2}$  feet long by  $43\frac{3}{4}$  feet broad. <sup>37</sup>Its vestibule faced the outer court; it had palm trees on its posts, one on either side; and its stairway had eight steps.

<sup>38</sup>There was one chamber with its door opening into the vestibule of the gate, where the victims of the burnt offerings were washed. <sup>39</sup>In the vestibule of the gate there were two tables on each side, on which the burnt offerings, the sin offerings, and the guilt offerings were slaughtered.<sup>a</sup> <sup>40</sup>On the outside of the vestibule at the entrance of the north gate were two tables, and on the other side of the vestibule of the gate were two tables. <sup>41</sup>Four tables were on the inside, and four tables were on the outside of the gateway, in all eight tables, on which the sacrifices were cut up and made ready. <sup>42</sup>There were also four tables of hewn stone for the burnt offering,  $2\frac{5}{8}$  feet long, and  $2\frac{5}{8}$  feet broad, and  $1\frac{3}{4}$  feet high, on which the instruments, used in the preparation of the sacrifices, could be laid. <sup>43</sup>Hooks, 3 inches long, were fastened all around on the inside of the vestibule, on which to hang the flesh of the sacrifices.

<sup>44</sup>Outside the gate to the inner court, there were two chambers in the inner court, one by the north gate, facing south, and the other by the south gate, facing north. <sup>45</sup>He said to me, "This chamber, facing south, is for the priests who have charge of the house; <sup>46</sup>the other chamber, facing north, is for the priests, the sons of Zadok, who have charge of the altar; they among the sons of Levi may approach the LORD to minister to Him."<sup>b</sup> <sup>47</sup>Then he measured the court, a perfect square, 175 feet long and 175 feet broad; and the altar was in front of the temple.

<sup>48</sup>He then brought me to the vestibule of the temple and measured the jambs of the vestibule, which were  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet thick on each side. The breadth of the gate was  $24\frac{1}{2}$  feet and the breadth of its sides, each  $5\frac{1}{4}$  feet. <sup>49</sup>The length of the vestibule was 35 feet, and the breadth  $19\frac{1}{4}$  feet. Ten steps led up to it, and there were two pillars beside the jambs one on each side.<sup>c</sup>

41 HE THEN TOOK ME INTO THE nave of the temple, and he measured the jambs on each side,

y) Solomon's temple had only one court, but one court was not enough [Ezek. 43:7-9]; in this temple there must be one for the use of the laity and an inner one for the priests [Ezek. 44:7 ff; 46:3].

z) The inner court stood on a higher level than the outer one, to express, probably, an ascending scale of holiness and separation.

a) The Hebrew word, translated "slaughtered" here, refers to the care and manipulation of the flesh of these offerings rather than to the actual killing, which took place outside.

b) The distinction in ranks of the priesthood seems to have arisen in the days of Josiah [II Kings 23:8, 9].

c) In Solomon's temple there were two pillars, Jachin and Boaz [I Kings 7:21]. Two great pillars still stand at the entrance to the "Great High Place" of Petra in Edom of Mt. Seir.

which were  $10\frac{1}{2}$  feet thick. <sup>2</sup>The breadth of the entrance was  $17\frac{1}{2}$  feet, the leaves of each door being  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet. Then he measured the nave, which was 70 feet long and 35 feet broad. <sup>3</sup>He then entered the inner room and measured the jambs of the door, which were  $3\frac{1}{2}$  feet thick, while the width of the entrance was  $10\frac{1}{2}$  feet; and the sidewalls of the entrance were  $12\frac{3}{4}$  feet on each side. <sup>4</sup>Then he measured the [inner] room,<sup>d</sup> which was 35 feet long and 35 feet broad at the front of the nave. He said to me, "This is the Holy of Holies."<sup>e</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Then he measured the wall of the temple,  $10\frac{1}{2}$  feet thick, with side chambers 7 feet broad all around the house. <sup>6</sup>These side chambers were three stories high, one over another, thirty in each story. They were attached to the wall of the temple on joints that were not inserted in the wall of the house.<sup>f</sup> <sup>7</sup>These side chambers increased in width as they rose upward; so in ascending, one went up from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middle chamber. <sup>8</sup>I noticed a raised platform surrounding the temple on which the foundations of the chambers also rested, full  $10\frac{1}{2}$  feet high. <sup>9</sup>The thickness of the wall for the side chambers on the outside was  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet, and the part of the platform left free was  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet, <sup>10</sup>leaving a 35-foot space between the side rooms and the service rooms on every side. <sup>11</sup>The doors of the side chambers opened on a free space, one door to the north and another to the south; and the open space was  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet broad all around the temple.

<sup>12</sup>The building<sup>g</sup> which faced the temple yard on the west side was  $122\frac{1}{2}$  feet broad; the wall of the building was  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet thick round about and its length  $157\frac{1}{2}$  feet.

<sup>13</sup>Then he measured the temple, 175 feet long, including the yard with its building and walls, 175 feet long;

<sup>14</sup>and the east front of the house with the yard was 175 feet broad. <sup>15</sup>Then he measured the building on the west side of the yard with its walls on either side, 175 feet long. The nave, the inner temple, and the vestibule <sup>16</sup>were roofed over, and all three had latticed windows all around. The inside walls of the temple were paneled with wood from the floor to the windows and from the windows to the roof, <sup>17</sup>including the space over the door leading to the inner room, inside and out. And on all the walls round about and on the nave there were carved likenesses <sup>18</sup>of cherubs and of palm trees,<sup>h</sup> a palm tree alternating with every cherub. Each cherub had two faces, <sup>19</sup>a man's face looking to the palm tree on one side, and a lion's face looking to the palm tree on the other side. They were carved all around the temple. <sup>20</sup>From the floor to the roof there were carved cherubim and palm trees on all walls.

<sup>21</sup>As for the temple, the doorposts were squared, and in front of the holy place was something resembling <sup>22</sup>an altar of wood;<sup>i</sup> it was  $5\frac{1}{4}$  feet high and  $3\frac{1}{2}$  feet long, its corners, its base, and its sides being all of wood. He said to me, "This is the altar-like table which stands before the Lord."<sup>j</sup> <sup>23</sup>Both the nave and the holy place had double doors, <sup>24</sup>each door having two swinging leaves. <sup>25</sup>On the doors of the nave were carved cherubs and palm trees, such as were carved on the walls; and there was a canopy of wood over the front of the vestibule outside. <sup>26</sup>There also were recessed windows with palm trees on either sidewall of the vestibule. Thus were the side chambers of the house, and the thresholds.

42 THEN HE LED ME OUT INTO THE outer court northward to the chambers extending along the side of the temple, facing its yard and the

e) To express the superlative degree, the Hebrews often repeated the same word, thus "Holy of Holies," "Lord of lords," "Song of songs," "heaven of heavens."

f) These were not an integral portion of the temple building [cf. I Kings 6:6].

g) The purpose of this building is not stated; possibly it was an open summerhouse.

h) Solomon's temple was so decorated [I Kings 6:29], the cherubim symbolizing the guardians of God's dwelling place.

structure to the north. <sup>2</sup>The length of the building on the north side was 175 feet and its breadth 87½ feet. <sup>3</sup>Adjoining the 35 feet which belonged to the inner court and facing the pavement which belonged to the outer court, rose the chambers with galleries<sup>j</sup> three stories high. <sup>4</sup>Before the chambers was a passageway 17½ feet wide and 175 feet long, their doors opening to the north. <sup>5</sup>The upper chambers were narrower because the gangways took from them more than from those of the lower and the middle stories, <sup>6</sup>and the three stories had no pillars like the rooms in the outer court; hence the upper chambers were set back more than those on the ground floor. <sup>7</sup>There was a wall outside, parallel to the chambers in the outer court, 87½ feet long; <sup>8</sup>for the chambers in the outer court were 87½ feet, while those opposite the temple were 175 feet long. <sup>9</sup>From under these chambers, as one approached them from the outer court, was the entrance on the east side.

<sup>10</sup>On the south side, in front of the yard and the outer wall of its building, there was another row of chambers, <sup>11</sup>with a passage in front of them, similar to the chambers facing north, of the same length and breadth, with like exits, arrangements, and doors, <sup>12</sup>facing the south. There was a door too at the head of the passage in front of the outer wall as one approached it from the east.

<sup>13</sup>He said to me, "The north chambers and the south chambers facing the yard are the holy chambers, where the priests who approach the LORD shall eat the most holy offerings and where they may deposit the most holy offerings, the cereal offerings, the sin offerings, and the guilt offerings; for the place is holy. <sup>14</sup>When the priests enter in, they shall not go out of the holy place into the outer court, without laying off the clothes there in which they have been ministering, for these are holy; they shall put on other clothes, in which they shall approach the part of the building open to the people."<sup>k</sup>

<sup>15</sup>When he had finished measuring the interior of the temple, he led me out by the gate facing east and measured the whole building all around. <sup>16</sup>First he measured the east side, 875 feet by the measuring reed. <sup>17</sup>Then he turned and measured the north side, 875 feet by the measuring reed. <sup>18</sup>Then he turned and measured the south side, 875 feet by the measuring reed. <sup>19</sup>Then he turned and measured the west side, 875 feet by the measuring reed. <sup>20</sup>On the four sides he measured it. There was a wall about it on all four sides, 875 feet long and 875 feet broad,<sup>l</sup> to separate the sacred from the secular.

43 AFTERWARD HE BROUGHT ME to the gate looking east, <sup>2</sup>and behold, the glory of the God<sup>m</sup> of Israel came from the east. The sound of His coming was like the sound of many waters, and the earth beamed with His glory. <sup>3</sup>The vision which I saw was like the appearance I had seen when He came to destroy the city and like the vision which I saw by the river Chebar; and I fell face downward. <sup>4</sup>The glory of the LORD entered the temple by the gate facing east; <sup>5</sup>then the Spirit caught me up and brought me into the inner court, and the glory of the LORD filled the temple.

<sup>6</sup>I heard Him speaking to me out of the temple, while the man stood by me. <sup>7</sup>He said to me: Son of man, this is the place of My throne, the place of the soles of My feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel forever. The house of Israel shall no more defile My holy name, neither they nor their kings, by their harlotry or by the corpses of their wicked kings. <sup>8</sup>By putting their threshold next to My threshold and their doorposts next to My doorposts with only a wall between

k) Holiness was regarded as contagious [cf. Hag. 2:12]. The Hebrew prophets distinguished sharply between the sacred and the common.

them,<sup>n</sup> they sullied My holy name by their abominable practices; so I consumed them in My anger. <sup>9</sup>Now let them remove their whoredoms and the corpses of their kings far from Me, and I will dwell in the midst of them forever.

<sup>10</sup>And you, son of man, picture to the house of Israel the temple, its plan and design, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities. <sup>11</sup>And if they are ashamed of their doings, explain to them the construction of the temple, its arrangements, its exits and its entrances, its ordinances, all its arrangements, and all its laws; and write them down in their sight that they may observe the whole constitution and its regulations and do them. <sup>12</sup>This is the law of the temple: the whole area around the top of the mount is sacred ground.<sup>o</sup> Such is the law of the temple.

<sup>13</sup>Here are the special measurements of the altar<sup>p</sup> by 21-inch yards: the gutter 21 inches deep and 21 inches wide and along on the outside a ridge 9 inches high. <sup>14</sup>And this shall be the height of the altar; from the top of its base to the lower ledge, 3½ feet and the width, 21 inches; and from the lower ledge to the upper ledge, seven feet, and the width, 21 inches; <sup>15</sup>from this upper ledge to the top of the altar hearth, 7 feet and the width, 21 inches. So the altar shall be 7 feet, and from the altar hearth four horns<sup>q</sup> shall project. <sup>16</sup>The altar hearth shall be 21 feet square; <sup>17</sup>the block beneath it 24½ feet square, with a channel about each block of 10½ inches broad and its base 21 inches broad all around. The steps of the altar shall face east.<sup>r</sup>

<sup>18</sup>Then I he said to me, Son of man, thus says the LORD God: These are the regulations for the altar, on the day it is erected to offer burnt offerings and to sprinkle blood against you. <sup>19</sup>You shall give the Levitical priests of the Zadok family, who draw near to minister to Me, says the LORD God, a bullock for a sin offering. <sup>20</sup>You shall take some of its blood and put it on the four horns and on the four corners of the ledge and on the border round about; thus you shall cleanse the altar and make atonement for it.<sup>s</sup> <sup>21</sup>Take the bullock for the sin offering, and have it burned at the proper place in the temple area outside the sanctuary. <sup>22</sup>Then on the second day you shall offer a he-goat without blemish for a sin offering; thus the altar shall be cleansed as it was cleansed by the bullock. <sup>23</sup>When you have finished the cleansing, you shall offer a bullock without blemish and a ram from the flock without blemish. <sup>24</sup>You shall present them before the LORD, and the priests shall sprinkle salt<sup>t</sup> on them and offer them up as a burnt offering to the LORD. <sup>25</sup>For seven days you shall provide daily a he-goat as a sin offering; also a bullock and a ram from the flock without blemish shall be provided. <sup>26</sup>For seven days you shall continue to make atonement for the altar, to purify and cleanse it, thus consecrating<sup>u</sup> it. <sup>27</sup>At the end of these days, from the eighth day onward, the priests shall offer your burnt offerings and peace offerings on the altar; and I will accept you, says the LORD God.

44 THEN HE BROUGHT ME BACK TO the outer gate of the sanctuary, which faces east, and it was shut. <sup>2</sup>The LORD said to me: This gate shall remain shut; it shall never be opened, and no man shall enter by it; for the LORD, the God of Israel, entered by it; therefore it shall remain closed.<sup>v</sup> <sup>3</sup>Only the prince, because he is prince, may sit in it, to eat bread before the LORD, entering always by the vestibule and departing the same way.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>4</sup>Then He brought me by way of the north gate to the front of the temple; and when I looked, there was the glory of the LORD filling the LORD's temple, and I fell face downward. <sup>5</sup>The LORD said to me: Son of man, note carefully; see with your eyes, and hear with your ears all that I shall tell you concerning the ordinances of the house of the LORD and all its laws, and mark well those who may be admitted to the sanctuary and who are to be excluded. <sup>6</sup>Say to the rebellious, to the house of Israel, Thus says the LORD God: O house of Israel, you have committed more than enough abominations <sup>7</sup>in admitting aliens, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to enter My sanctuary, profaning it, when you offer to Me My food, the fat and the blood. You have thus broken My covenant with all your abominations. <sup>8</sup>You have not kept proper charge of My holy things, but you have appointed for yourselves keepers to take charge of My sanctuary.

<sup>9</sup>Therefore, thus says the LORD God: No alien,<sup>x</sup> uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter My sanctuary of all the aliens that are among the children of Israel. <sup>10</sup>But the Levites, who went far from Me when Israel went astray—who strayed from Me after their idols—they shall bear their punishment. <sup>11</sup>They may minister in My temple as guards by My temple gates and as temple servants in slaughtering the burnt offerings for the people and standing before the people to serve them. <sup>12</sup>But because the Levites ministered to the people before their gods and thereby became a stumbling block of iniquity to the house of Israel, therefore I have sworn with uplifted hand concerning them, says the LORD God, that they shall bear their punishment. <sup>13</sup>They shall not come near Me to minister as priests to Me or to touch any of My sacred things, but they shall bear their shame because of the abominations which they have committed. <sup>14</sup>Yet I will make them keepers of My house to do all the work and all the service that is to be done in it.

<sup>15</sup>But the Levitical priests, the sons of Zadok, who kept the charge of My sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from Me, they shall come near to Me to minister to Me,<sup>y</sup> and they shall stand before Me to offer to Me the fat and the blood, says the LORD God; <sup>16</sup>they shall enter My sanctuary, and they shall come near to My table to minister to Me, and they shall keep My charge.

<sup>17</sup>It shall be when they enter the gates of the inner court, they shall wear linen garments; they must not wear anything woollen when they are on duty within the gates of the inner court or within the house. <sup>18</sup>They shall have linen turbans on their heads and linen breeches on their loins; they shall not gird themselves with anything that causes sweat. <sup>19</sup>On going out into the outer court to join the people, they shall take off the clothes in which they ministered and deposit them in the sacred chambers; they shall put on other clothes, lest by contact with the people they render them and their clothes consecrated. <sup>20</sup>They shall neither shave their heads, nor let their hair grow long;<sup>z</sup> they shall trim the hair of their heads. <sup>21</sup>No priest shall drink wine<sup>a</sup> when he enters the inner court. <sup>22</sup>Nor shall he marry a widow or a woman who has been divorced; only a virgin of the house of Israel or the widow of a priest.

guish between the unclean and the clean. <sup>24</sup>In cases of legal controversy,<sup>b</sup> they shall serve as judges, who shall decide all cases according to My laws. They shall observe My rules and regulations at all My festivals, and they shall maintain the sacredness of My Sabbaths. <sup>25</sup>No priest shall contaminate himself by touching the body of a dead person,<sup>c</sup> except for a father or mother, for a son or a daughter, for a brother or a sister who has no husband; for them they may defile themselves. <sup>26</sup>After defilement he shall reckon for himself seven days, and then he shall be clean. <sup>27</sup>On the day that he goes into the holy place, into the inner court to minister in the sanctuary, he shall offer a sin offering for himself, says the LORD God.

<sup>28</sup>This shall be their heritage; I am their heritage, and you shall give them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession. <sup>29</sup>They shall eat the cereal offerings, the sin offerings, and the guilt offerings; and everything devoted to the LORD in Israel shall be theirs. <sup>30</sup>The first of all the first-ripe fruits and all the gifts which you give as an oblation shall go to the priests; the first batch of your bakings, too, you shall give the priests, that a blessing may rest on your homes.<sup>d</sup> <sup>31</sup>But of nothing, whether bird or animal, that dies a natural death or has been torn by wild beasts, shall the priests eat.

45 WHEN YOU ALLOT THE LAND as an inheritance, you shall set apart for the LORD a district, lifted up from the whole, as a sacred portion,<sup>e</sup> approximately 8-1/3 miles long and 6-2/3 miles broad, which shall be sacred throughout its whole extent. <sup>2</sup>Of this whole allotment, 875 feet square shall be for the sanctuary, with 87½

feet for an open space around it. <sup>3</sup>And in this sacred allotment you shall measure off a section approximately 8-1/3 miles long by 3-1/3 miles broad, in which shall be the sanctuary, the most holy place. <sup>4</sup>There shall be the holy portions in the land for the priests, who minister in the sanctuary and approach the LORD in ministering to Him; it will furnish room for their houses as well as a holy place for the sanctuary.<sup>f</sup> <sup>5</sup>Another section, about 8-1/3 miles long and 3-1/3 miles broad, shall be for the Levites who serve in the temple, and it shall be their possession for their houses in which to live.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Alongside this portion set apart as the holy district, you shall assign as the possession of the city an area about 8-1/3 miles long and 1-2/3 miles broad, which shall belong to the whole house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>To the prince shall belong the land on both sides of the holy district and of the assignment to the city, on the west and on the east, corresponding in length to one of the tribal portions and extending from the western to the eastern boundary of the land; <sup>8</sup>this shall be his property in Israel. For My princes shall no longer oppress My people but shall assign the land to the house of Israel according to their tribes.

<sup>9</sup>Thus says the LORD God: Enough, you princes<sup>h</sup> of Israel! Have done with violence and oppression; practice justice and righteousness; cease evicting My people from their homes, says the LORD God.

<sup>10</sup>You shall have honest scales, an honest bushel and an honest gallon.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>11</sup>The dry and the liquid measures shall be of like standard, the bath containing one tenth of the ten-bushel homer; the homer shall be the standard measure. <sup>12</sup>The shekel<sup>j</sup> shall be twenty

gerahs; five shekels shall be five shekels, and ten shekels shall be ten shekels, and your mina shall be fifty shekels.

<sup>13</sup>This is the contribution which you shall make: one sixth of a bushel from every ten bushels of wheat and a sixth of a bushel from every ten bushels of barley; <sup>14</sup>and as a fixed portion of oil, one percent of the standard measure (the cor, like the homer, containing about ten bushels); <sup>15</sup>one sheep from every flock of two hundred, from all the families of Israel, these to provide for the cereal offering, the burnt offering, and the thank offerings, in order that atonement may be made for them,<sup>k</sup> says the LORD God. <sup>16</sup>All the people of the land shall give this offering for the prince in Israel, <sup>17</sup>and it shall be the prince's part to furnish the burnt offerings, the cereal offerings, and the libations at the various festivals — the new moons, the Sabbaths, and all the appointed feasts of the house of Israel. He shall provide the sin offering, the cereal offering, the burnt offering, and the peace offering, to make atonement for the house of Israel.<sup>l</sup>

seven days unleavened bread shall be eaten. <sup>22</sup>On that day the prince shall provide for himself and for all the people of the land a bullock as a sin offering, <sup>23</sup>and during the seven days of the feast he shall provide as a burnt offering to the LORD, seven bullocks and seven rams without blemish, on each of the seven days, and a he-goat daily for a sin offering. <sup>24</sup>For a cereal offering he shall provide a bushel for each bullock, and a bushel for each ram, with  $1\frac{1}{2}$  gallons of oil<sup>n</sup> for each bushel. <sup>25</sup>In the seventh month, on the fifteenth day of the month and during the days of the feast,<sup>o</sup> he shall make the same provision for the sin offering, the burnt offering, the cereal offering, and the oil.<sup>p</sup>

46 <sup>1</sup>THUS SAYS THE LORD GOD: THE gate of the inner court that faces east shall be closed on the six working days; but it shall be opened on the Sabbath and on the day of the new moon. <sup>2</sup>The prince<sup>q</sup> shall enter the vestibule of the gate by the porch which is on the outside, pass through the gate and stand by the post of the gate, while the priests offer his burnt offering and his peace offering, worshipping on the inner threshold of the gate and then going out through the gate, which shall not be closed till evening. <sup>3</sup>The people of the land likewise shall worship before the LORD at the entrance<sup>r</sup> of the same gate on the Sabbaths and at the new moons. <sup>4</sup>The burnt offering which the prince shall offer to the LORD on the Sabbath day shall be six lambs without blemish and a ram without blemish. <sup>5</sup>The cereal offering with the ram shall be a bushel and with the lambs as much as each worshiper can afford, with one and

l) As the ritual act was carried out by the priests, probably the taxes were paid to them.

m) The year was halved, each half beginning with a rite of purification to remove any contamination which might have defiled the sanctuary during the previous six months. The first month was Nisan [March/April]; Tishri that of Sept.-Oct.

n) The cereal offering might consist of crushed grain or meal or cakes. Olive oil was needed to make this flour edible. o) The autumn feast of ingathering.

p) Emphasis was placed on the festivals of April and October. To avoid all tendency to sun-worship, the opening of the east gate of the Temple Area, in spring and autumn for a time, that the rays of the rising sun might penetrate into the heart of the Temple, was discontinued [cf. Ezek. 8:16].

q) The prince, that is the king, is assigned a much humbler position in the temple than what Solomon assumed [I Kings 8:22].

r) Unlike the prince, the common people are to remain outside the inner eastern gateway. They were allowed only a glimpse through the gateway at the altar and the priests.

a half gallons of oil for each bushel. <sup>6</sup>On the day of the new moon, he shall offer a bullock without blemish and six lambs and a ram, all of which shall be without blemish. <sup>7</sup>As a cereal offering he shall provide a bushel for the bullock, a bushel for the ram, and as much as the worshiper can afford for the lambs, with one and a half gallons of oil for each bushel. <sup>8</sup>When the prince enters, it shall be by way of the vestibule of the gate; and he shall leave by the same way. <sup>9</sup>But when the people of the land come before the LORD at the appointed feasts, <sup>a</sup> he who enters by the north gate to worship shall leave by the south gate, and he who enters by the south gate shall leave by the north gate; no one shall return by the same gate by which he entered, but each shall go out straight ahead. <sup>10</sup>The prince shall go in among them; and when they leave, he shall go out with them.<sup>t</sup>

<sup>11</sup>At the feasts and at appointed festivals the cereal offering shall be a bushel for the bullock, a bushel for the ram, and as much as the individual can afford for the lambs, with one and a half gallons of oil for each bushel.

<sup>12</sup>When the prince offers a freewill offering to the LORD, be it a burnt offering or a peace offering, the gate facing the east shall be opened for him, and he shall offer his burnt offering or his peace offering as he does on the Sabbath day. Then he shall go out, and the gate shall be shut after him.

<sup>13</sup>You shall provide a lamb a year old for a daily burnt offering to the LORD, morning by morning you shall provide it; <sup>14</sup>you shall also provide a cereal offering morning by morning, the sixth<sup>u</sup> part of a bushel and half a gallon of oil to besprinkle<sup>v</sup> the fine flour, as a cereal offering to the LORD; this is the ordinance for the continual burnt offering. This shall be the standing requirement for the continual burnt offering. <sup>15</sup>Thus the lamb, the cereal offering, and the oil shall be provided, morning by morning, for a continual burnt offering.

<sup>19</sup>He then took me through the entrance beside the gateway, to the sacred chambers for the priests facing north, and there I saw a place at the extreme westward end of them. <sup>20</sup>He said to me: "This is the place where the priests shall boil the guilt offering and the sin offering and where they shall bake the cereal offering, to prevent the necessity of their bringing them into the outer court and rendering the people dedicated."

<sup>21</sup>He then brought me out into the outer court and led me past the four corners of the court; and look, at each corner of the court there was another small court; <sup>22</sup>in the four corners of the court were courts enclosed, all four courts being of the same size, 70 feet long by 52½ feet broad. <sup>23</sup>Around each of the four courts, on the inside, ran a line of masonry with ranges for boiling built into the masonry, under each of the rows all around. <sup>24</sup>He said to me, "These are the kitchens, where the ministering Levites of the temple shall boil the sacrifices for the people."<sup>x</sup>

s) Passover, Pentecost or Feast of Weeks, and Feast of Booths, with Thanksgiving.

t) On the Sabbaths and the new moon festivals the prince enters and stands by himself; but on the great feasts he goes in and out with the common people.

u) The amount of the cereal offering is here fixed; but the amount required for the Sabbaths and new moons is left optional.

v) The verb in Hebrew rendered here "besprinkle" is usually translated "moisten"; it occurs nowhere else in the O.T.

w) According to Deut. 15, every seven years debts and slaves were released; also, according to Lev. 25:10, every fifty years — the year of jubilee — a release of the land took place, and it returned to the original owner.

x) There were two sets of kitchens connected with the holy area; one for the priests near the temple proper; and another for the people in the four corners of the outer court.

47 HE THEN TOOK ME BACK<sup>y</sup> TO the door of the temple,<sup>z</sup> and behold, water was issuing from under the threshold of the temple eastward, for the temple faced east; and the water came down from under the right side of the house on the south side of the altar. <sup>2</sup>He then brought me out by way of the north gate<sup>a</sup> and led me round on the outside of the outer gate that faces east; and see! the water was trickling out on the south side. <sup>3</sup>Passing eastward with the measuring line in his hand, the man measured about a third of a mile and made me cross the stream; and the water was ankle-deep. <sup>4</sup>Again he measured about a third of a mile and made me pass through the water and it was knee-deep. <sup>5</sup>Again he measured about a third of a mile and made me cross the water, and it was up to the hips. Again he measured about a third of a mile, and it was a flood which I could not cross, for the water had become a river deep enough to swim in, too deep to be crossed on foot.

<sup>6</sup>He said to me, "Have you seen this, son of man?" Then he led me back along the bank of the stream, and as I went back, look, on the bank of the stream, along both sides of it, I saw many, many trees. <sup>8</sup>Then he said to me, "These waters are flowing toward the region of the east, descending into the Arabah,<sup>b</sup> and when they enter the saline waters of the Dead Sea, those will become fresh. <sup>9</sup>For wherever the river goes, every swarming creature shall live; fish in great numbers will be there, for as this water reaches there, it makes those [of the Dead Sea] wholesome; everything will live wherever the river goes. <sup>10</sup>Fishermen shall stand on the shores; all the way from Engedi to Eneglain,<sup>c</sup> these will be places to spread their nets; and the varieties of fish shall be many, like the fish of the Great Sea, untold many. <sup>11</sup>But its marshes and pools will not become fresh; they shall continue to be given over to salt. <sup>12</sup>On both sides of the river, there will grow all kinds of trees for food, the leaves of which shall not wither, nor their fruit fail, but they will bear fresh fruit every month, because their water flows from the sanctuary. Their fruit will be for food, and their leaves for healing."<sup>d</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Thus says the LORD God: These are the tribal boundaries according to which the land shall be divided among the twelve tribes of Israel for their inheritance. Joseph shall have two portions. <sup>14</sup>It shall be divided equally; for, as I swore with uplifted hand to give this land to your fathers, so shall it fall to you as your inheritance. <sup>15</sup>These, then, are the boundaries of the land: On the north side, from the Great Sea, by way of Hethlon,<sup>e</sup> where the road turns to go to Hamath<sup>f</sup> and on to Zedad,<sup>g</sup> <sup>16</sup>to Berothah, Sibram (on the border between Damascus and Hamath); and Hazarenon,<sup>h</sup> on the border of Hauran.<sup>i</sup> <sup>17</sup>So the boundary shall run from the sea<sup>j</sup> to Hazarenon on the northern border of Damascus and Hamath. This is the northern border.

<sup>18</sup>On the east side, the boundary shall run from Hazarenon between Hauran and Damascus, along the Jordan between Gilead and the land of Israel, to the eastern sea,<sup>k</sup> and as far as to Tamar.<sup>l</sup> This shall be the eastern frontier.

b) Today the Arabah is called El-Ghor, "the Depression," applied to the deep Jordan Valley, especially the portion between the Sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea.

c) Engedi is identified with the modern fishing point known as Ain Tidi, and Eneglain as another fishing station with Ain Hailah, both on the north and northwest shores of the Dead Sea.

d) This verse is echoed in Rev. 22:2.

e) The exact location of Hethlon is not known, but probably it was some 25 miles south of Hamath. f) Hamath was on the Orontes River about 115 miles north of Damascus.

g) Zedad toward Damascus. h) Hazarenon was probably near the chief source of the Jordan.

Meribath-kadesh; thence along the Brook of Egypt<sup>m</sup> to the Great Sea.<sup>1</sup> This is the southern frontier.

<sup>21</sup>Thus you shall divide the land among you according to the tribes of Israel. <sup>22</sup>You shall allot<sup>n</sup> it as an inheritance for yourselves and for the immigrants who permanently reside among you, who have begotten children among you. Such children shall be regarded as native-born children of Israel and shall be allotted an inheritance along with you among the tribes of Israel. <sup>23</sup>In whatever tribe the immigrant<sup>o</sup> homes, there you shall assign him his inheritance, says the LORD God.

<sup>8</sup>By the border of Judah, from the east side to the west side, shall be the sacred oblation which you shall set apart, about 8-1/3 miles in breadth, and in length equal to one of the tribal portions, from the east side to the west side, with the sanctuary in its center. <sup>9</sup>The portion which you shall set apart for the LORD shall be about 8-1/3 miles long and 6-2/3 miles wide. <sup>10</sup>Of this sacred allotment the priests shall have a section measuring about 8-1/3 miles in length from east to west, and 3-1/3 miles in breadth from north to south, with the LORD's sanctuary in the midst of it. <sup>11</sup>This dedicated section shall be for the priests, the sons of Zadok, who kept My charge and did not go astray, as the Levites did, when the children of Israel went astray. <sup>12</sup>It shall belong to them as a special portion from the allotment of the land, most sacred, adjoining the frontier of the Levites. <sup>13</sup>Alongside the allotment of the priests, the Levites shall have a section about 8-1/3 miles in length and 3-1/3 miles in breadth. The whole length shall be about 8-1/3 miles and the breadth 6-2/3 miles. <sup>14</sup>None of this choice portion of the land shall be sold or exchanged or alienated, for it is holy to the LORD.

<sup>15</sup>The remaining strip, about 1-2/3 miles in breadth and 8-1/3 miles in length, shall be for common use, for the city, for dwellings and pasture lands, with the city situated in the midst of it. <sup>16</sup>And these shall be the divisions of the city: about 1½ miles on the north side, about 1½ miles on the south side, about 1½ miles on the east side, and about 1½ miles on the west side.<sup>q</sup> <sup>17</sup>The city shall have pasture lands, 437½ feet northward, 437½ feet southward, 437½ feet eastward, and 437½ feet westward. <sup>18</sup>The remaining length of an ample 3 miles, along the east and west sides of the sacred portion, shall belong to the city, and its produce shall supply food for the work-

o) This ordinance of Ezekiel goes much further than the statutes of the Pentateuch in its treatment of strangers. Only those circumcised and following divine instructions would be so fraternally treated in Moses' law.

p) The twelve tribes of Israel are all settled on the west side of the Jordan; seven tribes north of the Temple Area, and five south. They are assigned strips of land running from east to west. Levi is not included, but the sons of Joseph, Ephraim and Manassch, are reckoned as two. Ezekiel assumes that all twelve tribes are united, settled in the land west of the Jordan promised to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and available to their descendants who obey God.

ers of the city.<sup>r</sup> <sup>19</sup>By the workers in the city from all the tribes of Israel it shall be cultivated. <sup>20</sup>The whole allotment, consisting of the sacred assignment and the city property, shall be about 8-1/3 miles square. <sup>21</sup>What remains shall belong to the prince — the land on either side of the sacred allotment and the city property, extending from the holy allotment of 8-1/3 miles square to the east border,<sup>s</sup> and west of the allotment of 8-1/3 miles square as far as the western border<sup>t</sup> parallel to the tribal portions. The possession of the Levites <sup>22</sup>and the possession of the city shall be in the midst of what belongs to the prince. The prince's portion shall lie between the frontiers of Judah and of Benjamin.<sup>u</sup>

<sup>35</sup>The circumference of the city shall be about six miles. And the name of the city henceforth shall be, THE LORD IS THERE.<sup>y</sup>

THE BOOK OF DANIEL

605 B.C.

1 IN THE THIRD YEAR OF THE REIGN of Jehoiaxim, king of Judah, Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon came and laid siege to Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>The LORD handed Jehoiaxim, king of Judah, over to him with a portion of the utensils of God's house, which he took to the land of Shinar,<sup>a</sup> to the house of his god, placing the utensils in his god's treasury.

<sup>3</sup>The king then ordered Ashpenaz, chief of his eunuchs, to bring in for service in his palace some Israelites of the royal family and of the nobility — <sup>4</sup>boys without any defects, good-looking, versed in various studies, well informed, with intelligent views, fit to take their place in the royal palace — and to teach them the Chaldean literature and language. <sup>5</sup>The king appointed for them a daily ration from his menu and of the wine which he usually drank. In this way they were to be trained for three years, at the end of which they were personally to wait on the king. <sup>6</sup>Among them were from the tribe of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishaël and Azariah, <sup>7</sup>whom the chief of the eunuchs renamed. Daniel he called Belteshazzar, Hananiah Shadrach, Mishaël Meshach, and Azariah Abed-nego.<sup>b</sup>

permission from the chief of the eunuchs not to make himself unclean. <sup>9</sup>Then God granted Daniel favor and sympathy from the chief of the eunuchs, <sup>10</sup>and the chief of the eunuchs said to Daniel, "I am afraid my master, the king, who has appointed your food and drink, will find your faces gloomier than those of the other youths your age; then you would endanger my head with the king." <sup>11</sup>Daniel then suggested to the overseer, whom the chief of the eunuchs had put in charge of Daniel, Hananiah, Mishaël and Azariah, <sup>12</sup>"Please, give your servants a ten days' test, allowing us to eat vegetables and to drink water. <sup>13</sup>Then compare our looks with that of the other youths, who have eaten of the king's menu, and act according to your findings." <sup>14</sup>He agreed with them on this score, gave them a ten days' test, <sup>15</sup>and after ten days they looked healthier and were in better condition than the youths who were eating the royal dishes; <sup>16</sup>so the overseer discontinued their royal rations of meat and wine and served them vegetables.

<sup>17</sup>As for these four youths, God gave them mastery and understanding in all the literature and science, and Daniel gained insight in every kind of vision and dream. <sup>18</sup>At the close of the period which the king had fixed to bring them in, the chief of the eunuchs brought them into the presence of

a) Babylonia; also called Shinar [Gen. 10:10; 11:2; 14:1, 9]. Babylon, the capital of Babylonia, was considered their god Marduk's residence, to which king and captives were taken and where the golden articles from the temple were put in the treasure chest.

b) The new names were intended to discard remembrance of God and to replace Hים by Bel, Marduk and Nebo.

Nebuchadrezzar<sup>19</sup> and when the king interviewed them, none among them all were found equal to Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, who therefore entered the king's personal service.<sup>20</sup> On all subjects in which grasp and information counted, the king, as he questioned them, found them ten times<sup>e</sup> more able than all the magicians and astrologers in his entire realm.<sup>21</sup> Daniel carried on until the first year of king Cyrus.

603 B.C.

2 IN THE SECOND YEAR OF NEBUCHADREZZAR'S reign Nebuchadrezzar* had dreams that disturbed him; he woke up and could not sleep again.<sup>2</sup> So the king gave orders to summon all the magicians, the astrologers, the sorcerers and the Chaldeans<sup>d</sup> to explain to the king his dream. They came and stood in the king's presence, <sup>3</sup>and the king then told them, "I had a dream and my spirit is troubled to know what the dream was." <sup>4</sup>The Chaldeans replied to the king in Aramaic: "O king, live forever!<sup>e</sup> Tell your servants the dream, and we will show its meaning." <sup>f</sup><sup>5</sup>The king answered the Chaldeans, "This word I speak, I mean! If you do not tell me the dream and what it means, you shall be torn limb from limb and your houses will be destroyed.<sup>1</sup> <sup>6</sup>But if you will declare to me the dream and show its meaning, you will receive from me gifts, rewards and great honor. So tell me the dream and its message." <sup>7</sup>Again they answered, "Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will explain it." <sup>8</sup>The king replied, "I see plainly that you are trying to gain time; because you see how capital punishment awaits you; <sup>9</sup>and that if you do not make the dream known to me there is but one sentence awaiting you. You have banded together to speak false and deceitful words to me, hoping that a change may come.<sup>5</sup> So tell me the dream and I shall know that you can truthfully explain it."

<sup>10</sup>The Chaldeans answered the king, "There is not a man on earth who can tell the king what he asks; for no other king, no matter however great and mighty, has ever demanded such a thing of any magician, enchanter or Chaldean. <sup>11</sup>The king is asking a hard thing, which none can tell him except the gods, whose dwelling is not with mortals."<sup>h</sup> <sup>12</sup>Because of their answer, the king became so angry and furious, that he commanded that all the wise men of Babylon be destroyed. <sup>13</sup>So the decree went forth that all the sages of Babylon should be slain; and they sought Daniel and his companions to slay them.

<sup>14</sup>Then Daniel made answer with wisdom and tact to Arioch, the captain of the king's patrol, who were gone forth to slay the wise men of Babylon; <sup>15</sup>asking meekly of the king's chief executioner, "Why is the king's decree so harsh?" Then Arioch explained the matter to Daniel, <sup>16</sup>and Daniel went in and asked the king to set a date, and he would give the king the explanation.

<sup>17</sup>Then Daniel went home and explained the matter to his companions, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah,<sup>i</sup> <sup>18</sup>that they might ask the God of heaven to be merciful concerning this mystery; and that Daniel and his companions might not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon. <sup>19</sup>Then the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a vision of the night, and Daniel blessed the God of heaven, saying:<sup>j</sup> <sup>20</sup>"Blessed be the name of God forever and ever, to whom belong wisdom and might! <sup>21</sup>He changes the times and the seasons; He removes kings and He sets up kings; He gives wisdom to the wise, and knowledge to those who have understood before the image which Nebuchadrezzar had erected. <sup>3</sup>When the presidents, the generals and the governors, the treasurers, the judges, the magistrates, and all the officials of the provinces were assembled for the dedication of the image, which king Nebuchadrezzar had set up, <sup>4</sup>a herald shouted with a loud voice, "Peoples, nations, and races of every tongue, to you the royal command is proclaimed, <sup>5</sup>that as soon as you hear the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lyre, the lute, the harp, the bagpipe, and every kind of music, you shall fall down and prostrate yourselves before the image of gold, which king Nebuchadrezzar has set up; <sup>6</sup>and whoever does not fall down and worship, shall at once be cast into a burning fiery furnace." <sup>7</sup>So, as soon as all the people heard the sound of the horn, pipe, lyre, lute, harp, bagpipe, and every kind of music, all the peoples, nations, and races fell down and worshiped the golden image which king Nebuchadrezzar had erected.

<sup>24</sup>So Daniel went to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon, and said to him, "Do not slay the sages of Babylon; take me into the presence of the king. I will tell the king his dream and what it means." <sup>25</sup>At once, therefore, Arioch brought in Daniel before the king, and said to him, "I have found among the exiles of Judah a man, who can make known the message to the king!" <sup>26</sup>The king said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, "Are you able to make known to me the dream that I have seen, and its meaning?" <sup>27</sup>Daniel answered the king, "No wise men living, be they enchanters, magicians, or astrologers,<sup>k</sup> can tell the king the mystery which the king has asked; <sup>28</sup>but there is a God in the heavens, who reveals mysteries, and He is now about to make known to king Nebuchadnezzar what is to happen in the days to come.<sup>l</sup> Your dream and the visions of your head upon your bed were these: <sup>29</sup>You, O king, as you lay in bed, were thinking of the future, speculating as to what should come to pass hereafter, and He who reveals secrets disclosed to you what is going to happen. <sup>30</sup>As for myself,<sup>m</sup> this secret has not been revealed to me because of any wisdom I possess more than other men, but in order that the meaning may be made known to the king and that you, O king, may understand the thoughts of your own heart.

3 KING NEBUCHADREZZAR<sup>z</sup> MADE AN image of gold, ninety feet in height and nine feet in breadth, which he erected on the plain of Dura<sup>a</sup> in the province of Babylon. <sup>2</sup>Then king Nebuchadrezzar sent and assembled the presidents, the generals, the governors, the counselors, the treasurers, the judges, the magistrates, and all the officials of the provinces to come to the dedication of the image which he, king Nebuchadrezzar, had set up, and they

<sup>8</sup>But certain Chaldeans came forward and brought charges<sup>b</sup> against the Jews, <sup>9</sup>reminding king Nebuchadrezzar, "O king, live forever! <sup>10</sup>You, O king, have made a decree that every man who hears the sound of the horn, the pipe, the lute, the harp, the bagpipe, and every other kind of music, shall fall down and worship the golden image, <sup>11</sup>and that anyone, who does not fall down and prostrate himself, shall be cast into a furnace of flaming fire. <sup>12</sup>Now there are certain Jews whom you have raised to high positions over the business affairs of the province of Babylon, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. These three men, O king, pay no regard to you; they do not respect your gods, nor will they worship the golden image which you have set up."

Meshach, and Abednego to be brought; and when these men were brought before the king, <sup>14</sup>Nebuchadrezzar charged them, saying, "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, that you will not worship my gods, nor prostrate yourselves before the image which I have set up? <sup>15</sup>Now if you are ready when you hear the sound of the horn, pipe, lute, harp, bagpipe, and other kinds of music, to fall down and worship before the image which I have made, very well; but if you will not prostrate yourselves, you shall at once be cast into a furnace of flaming fire; and what god is there who can deliver you out of my hands?"<sup>c</sup>

<sup>19</sup>At this Nebuchadrezzar was filled with extreme fury, and his face was distorted with rage against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. He gave orders that the furnace should be heated seven times as hot as usual <sup>20</sup>and he ordered certain powerful men of his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to throw them into the burning, fiery furnace.

<sup>21</sup>These men were then bound in their mantles, their tunics, their turbans and their other clothes and were thrown into the fires of the furnace. <sup>22</sup>Indeed, so sharp was the king's order, and so hot was the furnace, that the flames of the fire killed those men who took up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego; <sup>23</sup>but these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell down bound into the midst of the flaming furnace.

of his officers, "Did we not cast three men bound into the fire?" They answered the king, "We certainly did." <sup>25</sup>He replied, "But I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire; they are unhurt, and the appearance of the fourth is like that of a son of the gods."<sup>d</sup>

<sup>26</sup>Thereupon, king Nebuchadrezzar went toward the mouth of the furnace of flaming fire and called, "Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, servants of the Most High God, come forth and come here!" So Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came out of the fire, <sup>27</sup>and when the presidents, the generals, the governors, and the king's ministers of state gathered round and saw that the fire had had no effect upon their bodies, that their hair had not been singed, nor their mantles been damaged, nor was there any smell of burning about them,<sup>e</sup> <sup>28</sup>Nebuchadrezzar reflected and said, "Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego! He sent His angel to deliver His servants who trusted in Him, and frustrated the king's order by giving up their bodies to die rather than serve and worship any god, except their own God! <sup>29</sup>Therefore I make a decree: Any people, nation, or tongue, that speaks a word against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be torn limb from limb, and their houses shall be made a dunghill; for there is no other god who is able to deliver in this manner." <sup>30</sup>Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the provinces of Babylon.

<sup>4</sup>"I, Nebuchadnezzar, was living at ease in my house, and enjoying prosperity in my palace, <sup>5</sup>when I had a dream that troubled me; fancies upon my bed and visions of my head that upset me. <sup>6</sup>So I made a decree that all the wise men of Babylon should be brought before me, that they might make known to me the meaning of the dream. <sup>7</sup>Then came in the magicians, the enchanters, the Chaldeans, and the astrologers; but when I told them the dream, they could not make known to me its message. <sup>8</sup>At last Daniel came in, whose name is Belteshazzar (according to the name of my god)<sup>h</sup> and in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and I told him the dream, saying, <sup>9</sup>Belteshazzar, chief of the magicians, I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in you, and no mystery is any trouble to you; here is the dream which I saw; tell me what it means. <sup>10</sup>The visions of my head which I saw in my bed were these: I looked, and behold a tree stood in the midst of the earth and its height was abnormal! <sup>11</sup>The tree had grown strong until its top reached to heaven, and had become visible to the ends of the whole earth; <sup>12</sup>its leaves were lovely, and its fruit abundant, providing food for all. The beasts of the field and wild animals were sheltered by it; the birds of the air nested in its branches, and all flesh was fed from it.

<sup>13</sup>"But in the visions of my head on my bed, I looked, and see! a holy guardian, a watcher,<sup>i</sup> came down from heaven <sup>14</sup>and shouted aloud, 'I'll hew down the tree and cut off its branches; strip off its leaves and scatter its fruit; let the animals flee from under it and the birds fly away out of its branches! <sup>15</sup>But leave the stump<sup>j</sup> of its roots in the earth amid the herbage of the earth with a band of iron and bronze about it. Let the dews of heaven drench him and let him share the herbage of the earth with the animals of the field;

<sup>16</sup>let his human mind be taken from him and let an animal mind be given him, and let seven years pass over him. <sup>17</sup>This sentence is by the decree of the Guardian-Watcher and by the authority of the holy ones; in order that all who live may know that the Most High rules the kingdom of men, giving it to whomever He wills and setting up over it the lowliest of men.'

<sup>18</sup>"This dream I, king Nebuchadnezzar saw; and now, you, Belteshazzar, tell me the meaning of it; since all the wise men of my kingdom are unable to make known to me its message; but you are able, because the spirit of the holy gods is in you."

<sup>19</sup>Then Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, was stunned and stood aghast for a time, his thoughts appalling him. But the king said, "Belteshazzar, let not the dream and its meaning make you hesitate to tell me." Belteshazzar replied, "My master, may the dream be for those who hate you, and its message for your enemies! <sup>20</sup>The tree which you saw,<sup>k</sup> which grew great and strong, whose height reached to the heavens, and which was visible to the ends of the earth; <sup>21</sup>whose leaves were lovely and whose fruit was plentiful, providing food for all; the tree under which the field animals found shade and in whose branches the birds built their nests — <sup>22</sup>you, O king, are that tree! You have grown and become strong, so that your power has increased till it reaches to heaven, and your dominion extends to the ends of the earth. <sup>23</sup>And as the king saw a watcher, a holy one, coming down from heaven and saying, 'Hew down the tree and destroy it; yet save the stump of its roots in the earth, bound about with a band of iron and bronze amid the herbage of the earth, and let him be wet with the dew of the heavens, and let him share with the animals of the field, till seven times pass over him'; <sup>24</sup>this is the interpretation, O king: It is a decree of the Most High,<sup>1</sup> which has come upon my master the king, <sup>26</sup>that you shall be driven from among men and you will live as the animals of the field, eating grass like an ox and wet with the dew of the heavens, till seven years pass over you and you have learned that the Most High rules the kingdom of men and gives it to whom He wills. <sup>26</sup>And as it was commanded to leave the stump of the roots of the tree, your kingdom shall be assured to you from the time you learn that it is the Heavens<sup>m</sup> that rule. <sup>27</sup>Therefore, O king, let me counsel you to break off your sins by practicing justice<sup>n</sup> and showing pity to the oppressed; perhaps your prosperity may be prolonged."

<sup>28</sup>All this befell king Nebuchadrezzar. <sup>29</sup>At the end of twelve months he was walking on the roof of his royal palace in Babylon <sup>30</sup>and the king was saying to himself, "Is not this great Babylon, that I have built<sup>o</sup> by my mighty power as a royal residence and for the glory of my majesty?" <sup>31</sup>While the words were still in the king's mouth, there fell a voice from heaven, saying, "King Nebuchadrezzar, to you is this sentence: Your kingdom is taken from you <sup>32</sup>and you shall be driven from among men; your dwelling shall be with the field animals; you shall be made to eat grass like an ox and seven years shall pass over you, till you learn that the Most High rules the kingdom of men, giving it to whomever He wills." <sup>33</sup>Instantly the sentence upon king Nebuchadrezzar was executed. He was driven from among men, ate grass like an ox, and his body was wet with the dew from heaven till his hair grew as long as eagles' feathers and his nails as the claws of a bird.<sup>p</sup>

chadrezzar, lifted up my eyes to the heavens and my reason returned to me. I blessed the Most High and praised and honored Him, who lives forever; for His dominion is an everlasting dominion and His kingdom endures from generation to generation. <sup>35</sup>All the inhabitants of the earth are accounted as nothing;<sup>r</sup> He does according to His will in the army<sup>s</sup> of heaven and among the inhabitants of the earth and none can stay His hand or say to Him, "What dost Thou?"<sup>t</sup> <sup>36</sup>My reason returned to me at once and, for the glory of my kingdom, my majesty and my splendor also returned to me. My counselors and my rulers came to me for council. I was re-established in my kingdom and exceptional greatness was added to me. <sup>37</sup>Now I, Nebuchadrezzar praise, extol, and honor the King of heaven; for all His works are truth. All His dealings are just, and those who walk in pride He is able to abase."<sup>u</sup>

<sup>7</sup>The king then called loudly for the enchanters, the Chaldeans and the fortune-tellers to be brought in. To them, as the wise men of Babylon, the king said, "Whoever reads this writing and tells me its meaning shall be clothed with purple, wear a golden chain about his neck and shall rank as the third ruler in the kingdom."<sup>x</sup>

<sup>8</sup>But when all the king's wise men came in, they could not read the writing, nor could any one of them explain to the king its meaning. <sup>9</sup>At this, king Belshazzar was greatly perplexed; and his countenance was changed in him, and his rulers were at their wits end. <sup>10</sup>Then the queen, because of the cries of the king and his rulers, came into the banquet hall,<sup>y</sup> and the queen said, "O king, live for ever! Let not your fears alarm you; let not your color vanish! <sup>11</sup>There is in your kingdom one man in whom is the spirit of Deity. In your father's days there were found in him light, understanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods. King Nebuchadnezzar, your grandfather, made him chief of the magicians, enchanters, Chaldeans, and astrologers; <sup>12</sup>he possessed an excellent spirit, knowledge, and understanding to interpret dreams, solve riddles, and unravel knots. Call in Daniel; he will be able to interpret the writing."

<sup>13</sup>So Daniel was brought in before the king, and the king, addressing Daniel, said: "Are you that Daniel of the exiles of Judah, whom my grandfather the king brought from Judah? <sup>14</sup>I have heard of you that the spirit of the gods is in you, and that light, understanding and surpassing wisdom are found in you. <sup>15</sup>Already the wise men, the enchanters have been brought in before me, that they might read this writing and make known to me its meaning; but they could not decipher it. <sup>16</sup>But I have heard of you, that you can give explanations and solve problems. Now, if you can read the writing and make known to me its meaning, you shall be clothed with purple, and have a chain of gold to wear around your neck, and shall be the third ruler<sup>z</sup> in the kingdom."

<sup>17</sup>Then Daniel answered the king, "Keep your gifts, and give your rewards to another; nevertheless I will read the writing to the king and make known to him its meaning. <sup>18</sup>O king, the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar, your grandfather, the kingdom with its greatness, glory and majesty; <sup>19</sup>and because of the greatness which He gave him, all peoples, nations and languages trembled and feared before him. Whom he would, he slew, and whom he would, he kept alive; whom he would, he promoted, and whom he would, he demoted. <sup>20</sup>But when his heart became proud and his spirit became haughty and self-confident, he was thrust from his kingly throne and deprived of his glory; <sup>21</sup>he was driven away from human society. His mind was made like the instincts of animals and he lived among the wild donkeys,<sup>a</sup> eating grass like an ox and his body getting wet with the dew of heaven, till he learned that the Most High God rules over the kingdom of men, setting over it whom He wills. <sup>22</sup>And you, his son, Belshazzar, have not humbled yourself, though you knew all this; <sup>23</sup>but you have lifted up yourself against the LORD of heaven; having ordered the sacred vessels of His house to be brought in, that you and your rulers, your wives, and your concubines might drink wine from them. You have praised the gods of silver and gold, bronze, iron, wood, and stone, which can neither see, nor hear, nor understand, and you have not honored the God in whose hand is your breath, and to whom belong all your ways.<sup>b</sup>

x) Nabonidus would stand first in the kingdom; Belshazzar would remain second to his father; and the successful interpreter would be Prime Minister. "Purple" was the royal color.

y) She came in without being summoned by the king. z) As one of the three chief rulers.

a) Wild donkeys are the shyest and most untamable of all animals, suggestive of the king's wildness and savagery.

b) Belshazzar had deliberately ignored his grandfather's fate; he was culpable.

<sup>24</sup>It was His palm and His hand which was seen, and it was His writing that was inscribed. <sup>25</sup>This is the writing: 'MENE, MENE, TEKEL, UPHARSIN'.<sup>c</sup> <sup>26</sup>And this is the interpretation of the words: 'MENE' — God has numbered the days of your kingdom and brought it to an end; <sup>27</sup>'TEKEL' — you have been weighed in the balances and been found wanting; <sup>28</sup>'UPHARSIN' — your kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Persians."<sup>d</sup>

<sup>29</sup>Then Belshazzar gave orders, and Daniel was clothed in purple, a chain of gold was placed about his neck and it was published about him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdom that very night.

<sup>30</sup>Belshazzar, the king of Chaldea, was slain, <sup>31</sup>and Darius, the Mede, received the kingdom, being then about sixty-two years of age.

538 B.C.

6 IT PLEASED DARIUS, THE MEDE, to set over the kingdom a hundred and twenty provincial governors to administer the whole kingdom, <sup>2</sup>and over them three presidents,<sup>e</sup> of whom Daniel was one, so that to them the governors might be responsible and that the king might suffer no loss. <sup>3</sup>Above all the other presidents and governors Daniel distinguished himself, because of his surpassing spirit, so superior that the king was planning to set him over the whole kingdom.

<sup>4</sup>Then the presidents and the governors sought some ground of complaint against Daniel in the discharge of his official duties; but they could find no ground of complaint, because he was faithful, and no error or fault was found in him. <sup>5</sup>So these men said, "We shall find no ground of complaint against this Daniel unless we find it in connection with service to his god."<sup>f</sup>

governors rushed<sup>g</sup> in jointly to the king, and said to him, "O king Darius, live forever! <sup>7</sup>All the presidents of the kingdom, the chiefs and the governors, the counselors and the rulers have agreed that the king should establish an ordinance and enforce a strict decree, that whoever petitions any god or man for thirty days, except you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions.<sup>h</sup> <sup>8</sup>Now, O king, lay down the law, and sign it as a document, which cannot be changed forever, according to the law of the Medes and Persians which can not be changed." <sup>9</sup>Therefore king Darius signed such a document in keeping with this decree.

<sup>10</sup>When Daniel learned that such a decree had been officially signed and issued, he went to his house on the roof of which there were chambers with windows opening toward Jerusalem, and three times a day he kneeled and prayed and gave God thanks as he was accustomed to do. <sup>11</sup>Then these accusers came in throngs and found Daniel praying and making humble petition before his God.<sup>i</sup> <sup>12</sup>So they approached the king and reminded him of his decree. They said, "O king! Did you not sign a decree to the effect that any man who prays to any god or man within thirty days except to you, O king, should be cast into the den of lions?" The king replied, "The thing stands fast according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which can not be revoked." <sup>13</sup>Upon this they protested to the king, "That man Daniel, of the exiles of Judah, neither heeds you, O king, nor regards the decree which you have signed; for thrice a day he continues to pray to his own god."<sup>j</sup> <sup>14</sup>When the king heard these words, he was greatly distressed and set his mind to deliver Daniel. He struggled till sunset to rescue him. <sup>15</sup>But these men together rushed to the king, and said, "Know, O king, that a law of the Medes and Persians, in particular a decree of royal authority, can not be changed." <sup>16</sup>So the king gave the order and Daniel was brought and cast into the den of lions, the king voicing the hope, "May your God, whom you worship so faithfully, deliver you."<sup>k</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Then a great boulder was brought and laid upon the opening of the den and the king sealed it with his own seal and also with the seal of his rulers, to prevent any possible change of plan about Daniel. <sup>18</sup>Then the king went to his palace, and spent the night in meditation and fasting, instead of enjoying his usual diversions,<sup>l</sup> and his sleep fled from him. <sup>19</sup>In the morning, as soon as it was light, the king arose and went in haste to the den of lions. <sup>20</sup>When he came near to the den where Daniel was, he cried in a tone of anguish and anxiety, "Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you worship so regularly, been able to save you from the lions?" <sup>21</sup>Daniel answered the king, "O king, live forever! <sup>22</sup>My God sent His angel and shut the lions' mouths and they have not hurt me; because He found me innocent, not having done you any injury."

<sup>23</sup>Then the king was exceeding glad and ordered that Daniel be lifted out of the den. So Daniel was lifted out, and no kind of hurt was found on him, because he had trusted in his God. <sup>24</sup>The king gave orders, and the men who had accused Daniel were brought and cast into the den of lions; they, their children and their wives and before they reached the bottom of the den, the lions overpowered them, and crunched all their bones in pieces.<sup>m</sup> tongue that dwell in all the earth: "Peace be multiplied to you! <sup>26</sup>I make a decree,<sup>n</sup> that in all my dominion men tremble in reverence before the God of Daniel, for He is the living God, enduring forever; His kingdom shall never be destroyed; His dominion shall last to the end: <sup>27</sup>He saves and He delivers; He works signs and performs wonders both in heaven and on earth; for it was He who saved Daniel, from the power of the lions."

7 IN THE FIRST YEAR OF BELSHAZZAR, king of Babylon, Daniel upon his bed saw<sup>o</sup> a dream, even visions of his head; whereupon he wrote down the dream, and recounted the visions which he had seen. <sup>2</sup>Daniel said, "I saw in my vision by night and behold, the four winds of heaven were stirring up the great sea." <sup>3</sup>Out of the sea rose four large animals, different from one another. <sup>4</sup>The first was like a lion and had wings like an eagle. As I looked, its wings were plucked off and it was lifted from the ground and made to stand on two feet like a man, and the mind of a man was given to it. <sup>5</sup>And behold, a second animal came up, like a bear,<sup>q</sup> having its paw raised, ready to strike, and with three ribs in its mouth between its teeth, and it was told, 'Arise, devour much flesh.' <sup>6</sup>After this I looked, and see! there was another like a leopard, with four wings like those of a bird on its back; it had four heads, and dominion was given to it! <sup>7</sup>After that I saw in the visions of the night, and note, there was a fourth animal, dreadful, terrible, and exceedingly powerful, with huge iron teeth; it devoured and tore its victims in pieces, and stamped the remaining por-

In both, the kingdom of this world is superseded by a kingdom of celestial origin: that of Nebuchadrezzar, by "a stone," which becomes a great mountain filling the whole earth [2:34, 35]; that of Daniel "like a son of man," coming with the clouds of heaven, to whom universal and everlasting dominion are given [7:13, 14]. The visions are parallel.

tions of it with its feet.<sup>r</sup> It was different from all the animals that were before it. It had ten horns. <sup>8</sup>These horns I studied, and while I was contemplating them attentively, behold, up rose another horn, a little one and a marvel, by which three of the ten horns were uprooted. This little horn had the eyes of a man and a mouth ever boasting of great deeds and uttering proud words.<sup>s</sup> <sup>9</sup>I watched till thrones were placed<sup>t</sup> and a Venerable One<sup>u</sup> sat on the throne of justice; His clothing was white as snow and the hair of his head was like pure white wool; His throne was a blaze of flames and its wheels were burning fire. <sup>10</sup>A stream of fire came forth from His presence,<sup>v</sup> a thousand thousands served Him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before Him;<sup>w</sup> the court sat in judgment and the books were opened.

<sup>11</sup>"I watched till the animal was slain and his body destroyed and handed over to be burned by fire; because of his proud words, which the little horn had spoken. <sup>12</sup>As for the rest of the animals, their dominion was taken away, but their lives were prolonged for a season and a time. <sup>13</sup>Then in my night-vision I saw and behold, One coming with the clouds of heaven<sup>x</sup> like a son of man, and He came advancing toward the Ancient of Days, before whom He was presented. <sup>14</sup>And to Him was given dominion and glory and a kingdom, so that all peoples, nations, and languages should serve Him; His dominion is an everlasting dominion which shall not pass away and His kingdom one that shall not be destroyed.<sup>y</sup>

He answered me, explaining to me the meaning of it all. <sup>17</sup>These huge animals, he said, being four in all, are the four kingdoms, which shall arise out of the earth; <sup>18</sup>but the saints<sup>z</sup> of the Most High shall receive the kingdom and possess the kingdom<sup>a</sup> forever, even forever and ever.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>19</sup>"Then I desired to know the truth about the fourth animal, so different from all the others, exceedingly terrible, with iron teeth and bronze claws, which devoured and tore in pieces, trampling what remained of a victim under its feet;<sup>b</sup> <sup>20</sup>and concerning the ten horns which were on its head, and the other horn which came up, and before which three of them fell, — the horns which had eyes and a mouth speaking great things; the horn that seemed stronger than its fellows. <sup>21</sup>This horn I saw making war against the saints, and it was prevailing against them<sup>c</sup> <sup>22</sup>until the Ancient of Days came, and the court took its seat and dominion was given to the saints of the Most High and the time came for the saints to possess the kingdom.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>23</sup>"He said this: "The fourth animal shall be a fourth kingdom on earth, which shall be different from all other kingdoms; it shall devour the whole earth, and trample it down, breaking it as grain is broken on the threshing floor. <sup>24</sup>For out of its ten horns shall arise ten kings and after them shall arise another, who shall be different<sup>e</sup> from the former kings, and shall put down three of them. <sup>25</sup>He shall speak

As for me, Daniel, my thoughts alarmed me greatly, and my color changed, but I kept the matter in my heart."

8 IN THE THIRD YEAR OF THE REIGN of king Belshazzar<sup>h</sup> a vision appeared to me, Daniel, of a kind with the earlier vision <sup>2</sup>and this is the vision I saw: I found myself in the Susan stronghold in the Elam province beside the Ulai stream.<sup>i</sup> <sup>3</sup>As I raised my eyes and looked, behold, there stood on the bank of the stream a ram with two horns, tall horns, but the one higher than the other and the higher one grew out later.<sup>j</sup> <sup>4</sup>I saw the ram butting westward, northward and southward and no creature could hold out against him, nor could anyone rescue from his power. He did as he pleased and made himself great.

<sup>5</sup>As I was pondering, behold, there came a he-goat advancing from the west over the whole earth without touching the ground, and between his eyes the he-goat grew a prominent horn. <sup>6</sup>On approaching the horned ram, which I had seen standing on the bank of the stream, he ran at him in the wrath of his power; <sup>7</sup>I saw him close in on the ram. In brutal rage he butted him and broke both his horns. There was no strength in the ram to hold out against him; he threw him to the ground and trampled him and no one rescued the ram from his power. <sup>8</sup>The he-goat then assumed gigantic proportions, but when he grew powerful, the prominent horn was broken and in its place four good-sized horns came up, pointing to the four winds of heaven.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>9</sup>From one of them a horn emerged, that began small but grew very large southward, eastward and toward the Glory-land.<sup>k</sup> <sup>10</sup>Its greatness reached to the host of heaven; some of the starry host it caused to fall to the ground and it trampled on them. <sup>11</sup>Even against the Prince of the starry host it matched itself, whose daily sacrifice was abolished and His sanctuary profaned. <sup>12</sup>It was granted power in opposition to the daily sacrifice; it cast truth to earth and whatever it did succeeded.

<sup>13</sup>I then heard a holy one speaking, and another holy one inquired of the holy one who had spoken, "How long shall the vision hold good regarding the daily sacrifice, the desolating transgression, the surrender of the sanctuary, and of the host of heaven to be trampled?" <sup>14</sup>He told me, "For 2,300 evenings and mornings;<sup>l</sup> then the rights of the sanctuary shall be restored."

<sup>15</sup>As I, Daniel, was observing the vision and trying to make out its meaning, behold, there was standing before me a human form, <sup>16</sup>and I heard a man's voice over the Ulai that called, "Gabriel, make him understand the vision." <sup>17</sup>He<sup>m</sup> then came near to where I stood and as he came I felt panic-stricken; I fell on my face. But he said to me, "Understand, son of man, that the vision relates to the final period." <sup>18</sup>But while he was speaking to me I swooned face-down to the ground; then he touched me and made me stand up straight. <sup>19</sup>He said, "I am here to acquaint you with the final events of the indignation time; for the end comes at the appointed time.

He shall succeed in what he undertakes. He shall destroy mighty opponents; also the holy people.<sup>p</sup> <sup>25</sup>By his scheming he shall make the treachery, which he applies, win out; proud of heart he shall destroy the unsuspecting. <sup>27</sup>Then I, Daniel, was exhausted; for several days I was ill. Afterward I got up and rendered service to the king. I was amazed at the vision and did not fathom its meaning.

9 IN THE FIRST YEAR OF DARIUS,<sup>s</sup> son of Ahasuerus of the Median race, who had been made king over the Chaldean realm, <sup>2</sup>in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, took notice from the Scriptures of the number of years about which the word of the LORD had come to Jeremiah, the prophet — that Jerusalem would lie desolate for seventy years. <sup>3</sup>Then I turned my face to the LORD God to pray and to supplicate in fasting and in sack-cloth and ashes. <sup>4</sup>I interceded with the LORD my God and made confession, saying,

"O LORD, great and awesome God, who keepest the merciful covenant with those who love Thee and keep Thy commands, <sup>5</sup>we have sinned; we have done wrong; we have behaved wickedly; we have rebelled and have swerved away from Thy commands and Thy ordinances.<sup>t</sup> <sup>6</sup>We have not heeded Thy servants, the prophets, who spoke in Thy name to our kings, our princes, our fathers and all the people in the land. <sup>7</sup>With Thee, O LORD, is righteousness, but with us shamefacedness as we today experience — the men of Judah, the dwellers of Jerusalem and all Israel near and far in all the countries to which Thou hast driven them, because of the disloyalty they have practiced toward Thee. <sup>8</sup>With us, LORD, there is the shamed face, with our kings, our princes and our fathers; for we have sinned against Thee; <sup>9</sup>but with the LORD our God there are mercies and pardons, although we have rebelled against Him. <sup>10</sup>We have not listened to the voice of the LORD our God, to live in agreement with the laws He laid before us through His servants, the prophets. <sup>11</sup>Indeed, all Israel has transgressed Thy law and has by-passed it, so as not to heed Thy voice; therefore there is poured upon us the curse confirmed with an oath, which is written in the law of Moses, the servant of God; for we have sinned against Him.<sup>u</sup> <sup>12</sup>He has confirmed His words, which He spoke regarding us and regarding our rulers who directed us, by bringing on us such an immense disaster, the like of which has occurred nowhere under heaven except in Jerusalem. <sup>13</sup>Just as it is written in the law of Moses, all this punishment has come upon us, and we have not mollified the LORD our God by turning from our offenses, and observing Thy truth. <sup>14</sup>The LORD therefore has taken care to bring the calamity upon us; for the LORD our God is righteous in all His doings; but we have not heeded His voice.

<sup>15</sup>Now then, O LORD, our God, who didst lead Thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand,<sup>v</sup> and hast gained for Thyself the renown Thou hast today, we have sinned; we have behaved wickedly. <sup>16</sup>LORD, in view of all Thy righteousness, please turn away Thy anger and Thy indignation from Thy city Jerusalem, Thy holy hill; for, due to our sins and the offenses of our fathers, Jerusalem and Thy people have become a disdain among all those around us. <sup>17</sup>Now therefore, our God, hear the prayer of Thy servant and his supplications and make Thy face to shine upon Thy ruined sanctuary for Thy sake, O LORD. <sup>18</sup>Incline, O my God, Thine ear and hear; open Thine eyes and see our desolation, the city which is called by Thy name; for we are not pouring out our petitions before Thee on account of our righteousness but on account of Thy great compassions. <sup>19</sup>O LORD, hear! O LORD, forgive! O God, take notice and take action; for Thine own sake, O God, do not delay; for Thy city and Thy people are called by Thy name."

The people of a prince, who comes, shall destroy the city and the sanctuary;<sup>z</sup> its end shall come overwhelmingly and till the end there shall be warfare; ruins that are determined. <sup>27</sup>In a week He shall make the covenant to prevail for many,<sup>a</sup> and in the middle of the week He will cause sacrifice and offering to cease. Then a hand touched me and had me rise tottering to my hands and knees; <sup>11</sup>he said to me, "Daniel, highly esteemed man, note well the words I speak to you and stand up straight; for I have been sent to you." And as he was speaking to me, I stood, trembling.

He shall occupy the Fair Country,<sup>q</sup> with all of it in his power. <sup>17</sup>He shall then do his best to overpower the other's entire realm; to this one he shall give his daughter in marriage to come to terms with him, aiming to ruin his kingdom; but the plan shall neither succeed nor benefit him.<sup>r</sup> <sup>18</sup>He will then turn his attention to the coastlands and occupy many, but a general shall stop his insolence and throw his insults back on himself. <sup>19</sup>Subsequently he shall busy himself with the strongholds of his own lands; but he shall stumble, fall and disappear.

In an unguarded period he shall come and acquire royalty by devious intrigues. <sup>22</sup>Before him overwhelming forces shall be swept away; yes, also a prince of the covenant.<sup>t</sup> <sup>23</sup>When a treaty has been made with him, he will practice deceit; thus he will with few people rise to great power. <sup>24</sup>Stealthily he will invade the fertile spots in a province and shall do what neither his fathers nor their ancestors did — he will distribute spoil, booty and property among them and he shall for a time plan strategies against fortresses. <sup>25</sup>With a great army he will direct his strength and his courage against the king of the South<sup>u</sup> and the Southern king shall prepare for war with an unusually vast and

HOSEA

1 THIS IS THE LORD'S MESSAGE THAT came to Hosea the son of Beeri, during the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and during the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup>In the LORD's first message to Hosea, this is what the LORD said to him: Go, take to you a wife of harlotry and children of harlotry; for the land is doubly guilty of harlotry, forsaking the LORD completely. <sup>3</sup>So Hosea went and took Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and bore him a son. <sup>4</sup>Call his name Jezreel, the LORD told him, for after a little time now, I will punish the house of Jehu because of the blood of Jezreel, and put an end to the kingdom of the house of Israel. <sup>5</sup>On that day I shall break the bow of Israel in the valley of Jezreel.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>6</sup>When again Gomer conceived and bore a daughter, the LORD said, Call her name Unloved, for never again will I show pity for the house of Israel so as to forgive them at all. <sup>7</sup>I will, however, still show pity for the house of Judah, and I will deliver them through the LORD their God; but I will not deliver them by bow, or sword, or war, or horses, or horsemen.

<sup>8</sup>Gomer weaned Unloved, then conceived again and bore a son. <sup>9</sup>And the LORD said: Call him, Not-my-people;<sup>c</sup> for you are not My people, and I shall not be your God.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>10</sup>Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be like the sand of the sea that cannot be measured or counted; and where it used to be said to them, "You are not my people," they will be called, "Sons of the living God."

<sup>11</sup>Then shall the children of Judah and the children of Israel be gathered into one, and they shall choose for themselves one head; and they shall go up from the land; for great shall be the day of Jezreel.

2 SAY TO YOUR BROTHER, "MY PEOPLE," and to your sister, "Beloved."<sup>2</sup>Strive with your mother, plead — for she is not my wife, nor am I her husband — persuade her to clear her face of her marks of harlotry and remove her adulterous charms from her breasts; <sup>3</sup>or I shall strip her naked and leave her as in the day she was born; I will make her as a desert waste and leave her like a land all parched, and thus I will slay her with thirst.<sup>e</sup> <sup>4</sup>For her children I shall have no mercy for they are children of harlotry. <sup>5</sup>Their mother played the harlot; the one who con-

a) This verse, the title of the book, may have been provided to convey Hosea's prophecies to Judah, mentioning four kings of Judah but only one of Israel.

b) Jezreel in the northern kingdom was the scene of the bloody massacre by Jehu, as told in II Kings 9-10. In Jehu's day it was accepted as an act of justice, being done under an order of Elisha as punishment of the house of Ahab for the sins of Jezebel.

c) Her son was not Hosea's. d) The book of Hosea presents some of the greatest, most revealing, writings in the O.T. The prophet was a man of profoundly spiritual insight. He loved his people, being born among them and reared with them, he being the only "writing prophet" of the northern kingdom. He loved Gomer in spite of her infidelity; so did God's love for Israel continue, steady and sure, in spite of her apostasy. e) The speaker here is the LORD. He is addressing the whole nation.

ceived them has been shameless. She said, "I shall go after my lovers, who give me my bread and water, my wool and my flax, my oil and my drink."<sup>f</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Therefore I will hedge up her path with thorns, and I will build a wall against her, so she will never find her way out. <sup>7</sup>She will run after her lovers but she will not overtake them; she will search for them but will not find them. Then she will say, "I shall go back to my first husband; for then it went better with me than now." <sup>8</sup>However, she did not understand that it was I who gave her the grain, the wine and the oil; and silver I gave her, too, in abundance, as well as gold, which they made into a Baal. <sup>9</sup>Therefore, I shall take back My grain in harvest time and My wine in its season; I shall reclaim My wool and My flax, given to cover her nakedness. <sup>10</sup>Now I shall show her in her shame to her lovers, and none shall come to take her again. <sup>11</sup>So shall I put an end to all her gaiety, her feasts, her new moons, her Sabbaths, and all her festal assemblies.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>12</sup>I will destroy her vines and her fig trees of which she said, "They are my pay; my lovers gave them to me."<sup>h</sup> I will turn them into a jungle, and the wild beasts shall devour them. <sup>13</sup>I shall visit upon her the days of the Baals, when she offered incense to them, decked herself out with her rings and her jewels, sought to attract her lovers and forgot Me utterly. Such is the LORD's message.

<sup>14</sup>Therefore, see! I shall allure her; I will take her to the wilderness, and I will speak tenderly to her heart. <sup>15</sup>I will give her there her vineyards, and the Valley of Achor for a door of hope.<sup>i</sup> There she will sing as in the time of her youth, in those days when she came up from the land of Egypt.

<sup>16</sup>On that day — this is the word of the LORD — you will call Me, "My Husband," and not again will you say to Me, "My Baal." <sup>17</sup>I will take away from her lips the names of the Baals, and they shall never again be mentioned by name. <sup>18</sup>Then, too, on that day I shall make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field and with the birds of heaven, even with the creeping things of the ground. Bow, sword, and war I will banish from the earth, and they shall live in safety. <sup>19</sup>I will betroth you to Me for ever, in righteousness and justice, in love and tender mercy, <sup>20</sup>betroth you to Me in faithfulness, and you shall know the LORD.

<sup>21</sup>On that day too — it is the LORD who says it — I will call on the heavens, and they shall call on the earth; <sup>22</sup>the earth shall call on the grain, the wine and the oil, and they shall call on Jezreel.<sup>j</sup> <sup>23</sup>I will sow her for Myself in the land; I will love Unloved; I will say to Not-my-people, "You are My people," and they will say, "My God!"<sup>k</sup>

3 AGAIN THE LORD SAID TO ME: GO, love a woman now in love with a paramour, herself an adulteress, besides; such is the way the LORD loves His people Israel, even though they keep turning to other gods and love raisin cakes.<sup>l</sup> <sup>2</sup>So I bought her, paying fifteen silver dollars and fifteen bushels of barley for her,<sup>m</sup> <sup>3</sup>and I said to her: "For many days you will remain quietly here at home with me; no more are you to play the harlot; nor are you to have a husband; furthermore my relation to you will not change." <sup>4</sup>For the people of Israel shall continue many days without a king or a prince, without sacrifice or an altar, and without a pillar, without ephod or

f) This refers to Israel's most serious religious problem; most of the people believed they owed all the products of the soil to the Baals, the pagan gods of Canaan, all fertility to be due to their bounty.

g) Such as the feast of ingathering when the people lived in booths or tents in the vineyards and celebrated the occasion in song and gaiety. They made religious festivals of them, observed their rituals and brought sacrifices.

i) The valley in which Achan and his family had been destroyed because of their treacherous sin [Josh. 7:1, 20-24].

j) The relationship between God, the heavens, the earth, the grain, wine and oil is close, and the people should have been an inner part of it; but they lost that marvelous heritage. However, it is theirs if they will return for it.

k) The names which Hosea gave the children, typifying Israel, are reversed; the people may be restored to God's grace. Cf. Rom. 9:23-26. l) An important item in the Baal feasts.

teraphim. <sup>5</sup>Thereafter the Israelites shall turn to seek the LORD their God and David their king.<sup>n</sup> They shall come with reverence to the LORD and to His goodness in the end of the days.

4 LISTEN TO THE WORD OF THE LORD, sons of Israel; for the LORD has a charge against the dwellers of the land, because there is no fidelity, no kindness, no knowledge of God in the land. <sup>2</sup>There is swearing, lying, murder, theft, adultery, violent outbreaks, bloodshed after bloodshed. <sup>3</sup>Wherefore the land mourns and everything living in it languishes; the beasts of the field, the birds of the air, the fish of the sea, too, are swept away.

<sup>4</sup>Even at that, let no one enter complaint; let no one bring accusation, for My people are like their priestlings.<sup>o</sup> <sup>5</sup>You priests! You stumble by day; the prophet, too, stumbles with you by night, and I will destroy your mother. <sup>6</sup>My people perish for lack of knowledge, and because you have rejected knowledge, I reject you from being priest to Me. Since you<sup>p</sup> have forgotten the law of your God, I, too, will forget; I will forget your children.

lotry has led them astray, and it has made them apostates from their God. <sup>13</sup>They sacrifice on the tops of their mountains and burn incense on the hills, under an oak or poplar or terebinth, for their shade is pleasant. Therefore your daughters give themselves to harlotry and your brides to adultery.<sup>t</sup> <sup>14</sup>I will not punish your daughters for playing the harlot, nor your daughters-in-law when they commit adultery; for the men themselves go aside with harlots; they sacrifice with temple prostitutes, and the people, not being sensible, are ruined.

<sup>15</sup>Though you play the harlot, Israel, let not Judah be guilty. Never go up to Gilgal or to Bethaven, and never swear, "By the life of the LORD." <sup>16</sup>Yes, like a stubborn heifer, Israel is stubborn. How can the LORD feed them like a lamb in a broad place? <sup>17</sup>Ephraim is wedded to idols; let him be! <sup>18</sup>Their drinking bout over, whoring they go; they love shame more than glory. <sup>19</sup>A wind has folded them in its wings, and they shall be put to shame by their altars.<sup>u</sup>

5 HEAR THIS, YOU PRIESTS; GIVE heed, O house of Israel; and you, too, family royal, lend an ear; for the sentence pronounced pertains to you. A snare you have become at Mizpah, a net spread out on Tabor,<sup>v</sup> <sup>2</sup>and the pit they made deep at Acacia.<sup>w</sup> But I, I will be a scourge to all of you.

<sup>3</sup>Yes, I know Ephraim well, and Israel is not hid from Me. You have played the harlot, Ephraim; Israel is defiled. <sup>4</sup>Their doings will not permit them to return to their God; for with a spirit of harlotry in them, they cannot know the LORD.

stumbling in their guilt; Judah, too, will stumble with them. <sup>6</sup>With their flocks and herds they shall go to seek the LORD<sup>y</sup> but they will not find Him; He has withdrawn Himself from them. <sup>7</sup>For they have dealt treacherously with the LORD and have begotten strange children.<sup>z</sup> Now a new moon shall devour them together with their portions.<sup>a</sup>

6 "COME, LET US RETURN TO THE LORD; for He has torn, and He may heal us; He has smitten, and He may bind us up. <sup>2</sup>In two days He will revive us, and on the third day He will raise us up that we may once more live before Him. <sup>3</sup>Let us know, let us press on to know the LORD; for as certain as the break of dawn He comes to us; He will come to us like winter rain, as the spring showers that water the earth."

<sup>4</sup>What can I do with you, Ephraim, and with you, too, Judah, what can I do? Your love is like a morning cloud and like the dew, so early gone.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Wherefore I hewed them down by the prophets; I slew them by the words of My mouth, and My judgment breaks forth as the light. <sup>6</sup>For I desire loving-kindness and not sacrifice and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.<sup>g</sup>

7 WHEN I WOULD HEAL ISRAEL, THE guilt of Ephraim is before Me and the evil doings of Samaria; for they commit fraud. Burglars they are, who break into houses; bandits who raid on the highways. <sup>2</sup>Through it all they never consider in their hearts that I remember their evil doings. Now their sinful deeds confront them everywhere; before My face, too, they appear.

terers; like an oven heated by the baker who rests from kneading the dough until it is leavened. <sup>5</sup>On our king's day<sup>1</sup> the royal princes became sick with the fever of wine; they made common cause with worthless fellows, <sup>6</sup>and their hearts were fired like an oven with their plotting. All night their anger smoldered; in the morning it blazed out like a raging fire, <sup>7</sup>all aglow like an oven.<sup>m</sup> They consume their rulers; so all their kings have fallen, not one among them ever calling on Me.

<sup>8</sup>Ephraim mixes himself among the nations; Ephraim is a cake not turned.<sup>n</sup> <sup>9</sup>Strangers have devoured his strength, and he does not know it; gray hairs are sprinkled upon him, but he is not aware of it. <sup>10</sup>The pride of Israel bears witness against him; but they neither turn to the LORD their God, nor seek Him on account of all this. <sup>11</sup>So Ephraim has become like a silly, witless dove; they call to Egypt; they run off to Assyria. <sup>12</sup>As they fly off, I cast My net over them; as if they were birds of the air, I bring them down; I will punish them because of their evil ways. <sup>13</sup>Woe to them for forsaking Me! As for Me, I would have redeemed them, but they spoke lies against Me!

<sup>14</sup>They never cry out to Me from their hearts when howling upon their beds; for grain and new wine they cut themselves and rebel against Me.<sup>o</sup> <sup>15</sup>Although I trained them and strengthened their arms, yet toward Me they think only evil. <sup>16</sup>They turn, but not to the Most High; they are like an unreliable bow. Their princes shall fall by the sword because of the insolence of their tongue. So there shall be only scorn for them in the land of Egypt.<sup>p</sup>

8 THE TRUMPET TO YOUR MOUTH!

For like an eagle it comes against the LORD's house,<sup>q</sup> because they have transgressed My covenant and have revolted against My Law. <sup>2</sup>To Me they cry, "My God, we know Thee, we of Israel!" <sup>3</sup>But Israel has spurned the good, and an enemy shall pursue him.

<sup>4</sup>They have made kings, but without My consent; they have made princes too, but I knew it not.<sup>r</sup> With their silver and their gold they have made themselves idols to their own elimination. <sup>5</sup>I reject your calf, Samaria; My wrath burns against them.<sup>s</sup> How long will a pure heart be impossible among them? <sup>6</sup>For this<sup>t</sup> too is of Israel, a craftsman made it; it is not God. It shall become broken chips, the calf of Samaria.

<sup>7</sup>They are sowing the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind. A grain stalk standing bare without a shoot will produce no grain, and if perchance it did produce, foreigners would soon swallow it. <sup>8</sup>Devoured is Israel, now among the nations like a useless vessel. <sup>9</sup>For they have gone up to Assyria like a wild donkey wandering off by himself; So too Ephraim offers love-gifts,<sup>u</sup> <sup>10</sup>but even though they hire help among the nations, I am now going to gather them in; they have begun to be few because of the burden of tribute to the great king.<sup>v</sup>

<sup>11</sup>Ephraim has indeed multiplied altars, but to him they have become altars for sinning. <sup>12</sup>If I were to write for him My laws by the myriads, they would be accounted laws of foreigners. <sup>13</sup>They bring sacrifices; they offer flesh and eat it; the LORD has no pleasure in them; He will remember their guilt and visit their sins upon them. They must return to Egypt.<sup>w</sup>

<sup>14</sup>Truly Israel has forgotten his Maker and has built himself palaces, while Judah has multiplied cities highly fortified; but I shall send a fire on his cities, that shall consume his strongholds.

9 NO REJOICING NOW, ISRAEL, NOR any exulting in gladness like that of the pagan people around you; for you have played the harlot. Turning away from your God, you have, indeed, loved a harlot's hire upon every threshing floor.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>4</sup>There they shall not pour out libations of wine to the LORD, nor would their sacrifices please Him. Their bread shall be like mourners' bread; all who partake of it shall be defiled; for they shall eat bread only to satisfy hunger; it cannot enter the LORD's house.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>10</sup>Like grapes in the wilderness I found Israel, and as the first fruits of the fig tree's first crop I looked upon your fathers.<sup>c</sup> But they came to Baal-peor<sup>d</sup> and there gave themselves over to shame, becoming abominable, like the object of their love.

<sup>11</sup>Ephraim's glory has flown away like a bird; no more births, no more motherhood, no more conception!<sup>e</sup> <sup>12</sup>Even if they brought up children, I would bereave them to the last man; it is woe to them when I turn from them. <sup>13</sup>Ephraim's sons, as I foresaw, are destined to be a prey; he must bring forth his sons for slaughter. <sup>14</sup>Give them, LORD, what wilt Thou give? Give them wombs that miscarry, withered breasts! <sup>15</sup>All their evil is in Gilgal,<sup>f</sup> there I have hated them; because of the wickedness of their deeds I will drive them out of My house;<sup>g</sup> no more will I love them; their nobles are all rebels.

<sup>16</sup>Ephraim is smitten; their roots are all dried up; they will never produce fruits; even if they should bear offspring, I will slay the darlings of their womb. <sup>17</sup>My God will cast them off for they have not listened to Him, and they shall become wanderers among the nations.

10 A LUXURIANT VINE IS ISRAEL, productive of fruit for himself; but the more fruits he produced, the more he multiplied altars; and the better his land became, the more beautiful he made his sacred pillars.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Their heart was slippery, and so they must suffer for it. Their altars the Lord shall break down; their sacred stones He will destroy.

<sup>3</sup>Now they say, "We have no king; if we have no reverence for the LORD, what could the king do for us?" <sup>4</sup>They mouth words; with false oaths they enter covenants, and judgments sprout like poisonous weeds in the furrows of a field. <sup>5</sup>For the calf of Beth-aven<sup>1</sup> the dwellers in Samaria shall tremble; yes, its people shall mourn for it and its priestlings wail on account of it, lamenting its glory that has departed. <sup>6</sup>The thing itself they shall pack along to Assyria; it will be tribute for the fighter king. Ephraim shall suffer disgrace, and Israel shall be put to shame through his counsel.

<sup>7</sup>Samaria's king will cease to be; as a chip on the surface of the waters will he be. <sup>8</sup>The high places of Aven,<sup>1</sup> Israel's sin, will crumble away; thorns and thistles shall come creeping up over their altars. They shall say to the mountains, "Cover us," and to the hills, "Fall upon us."<sup>2</sup>

<sup>9</sup>From the days of Gibeah you have sinned, Israel; you have not advanced in the warfare against the sons of iniquity; you never even caught up with the men of Gibeah.<sup>3</sup> <sup>10</sup>I will come and I will chastise them, and peoples shall be gathered against them to punish them for their double guilt. <sup>11</sup>Ephraim was a young, trained heifer loving to tread the threshing floor, and I have been sparing her comely neck; but I will put Ephraim to the yoke; Judah must plow and Jacob must harrow.

<sup>12</sup>Sow for yourselves righteousness and reap the fruit of love; break up your fallow ground;<sup>4</sup> it is time to seek the LORD until He comes and rains righteousness upon you. <sup>13</sup>You have cultivated ungodliness; you have harvested injustice; you have eaten the fruit of lies because you trust in your chariots and in the abundance of your warriors.

<sup>14</sup>Tumults shall rise among your peoples, and all your forts will be destroyed as Shalman destroyed Beth-Arbel,<sup>5</sup> on the day of battle when the mother was dashed in pieces with the children. <sup>15</sup>So shall I<sup>6</sup> do to you, O house of Israel, because of your great wickedness. Israel's king shall be cut off utterly in the morning.

11 WHEN ISRAEL WAS YOUNG, HOW I loved him and called him from Egypt to be My son.<sup>7</sup> <sup>2</sup>But the more I called to them, the more they deserted Me, offering sacrifices to the Baals and burning incense to idols.

<sup>3</sup>But it was I who taught Ephraim to walk; I who took them up in My arms; yet they did not know that I healed them. <sup>4</sup>With human cords I would lead them, with bands of love. I was to them as one lifting the yoke from their jaws, and, bending down, I fed them.

<sup>5</sup>They shall return to the land of Egypt, and Assyria shall be their king; for they refuse to return to Me. <sup>6</sup>So the sword shall whirl in their cities, destroy the bars of their gates, and devour them in their fortresses. <sup>7</sup>My people are bent on wandering away from Me, and though they call to Him on high, He will not lift them up.

<sup>8</sup>How can I give you up, Ephraim? How can I let you go, Israel? How can I give you up like Admah or make you like Zeboiim?<sup>9</sup> My heart overturns within Me; all My compassions kindle. <sup>9</sup>I will not let the heat of My anger burn; I will not again destroy Ephraim; for I am God, not man, the Holy One among you; I came not to consume.

<sup>10</sup>They will walk after the LORD; like a lion He will roar; and as He roars, sons will come trembling from the west. <sup>11</sup>Like birds they come hurrying from Egypt and like doves from the land of Assyria, and I will bring them back home; it is the word of the LORD. <sup>12</sup>Ephraim surrounds Me with lies and the house of Israel with deceit; but Judah still acknowledges God and is faithful to the Holy One.

12 <sup>1</sup>EPHRAIM IS FEEDING ON THE wind and following after the east wind all day long.<sup>2</sup> They multiply lies and desolation, entering into contracts with Assyria and carrying oil to Egypt.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>4</sup>The LORD has a lawsuit with Judah, to see that Jacob is punished as his ways require, to repay him according to his doings.<sup>5</sup> In the womb he seized his brother's heel<sup>6</sup> and later in his manly strength he strove with God.<sup>7</sup> Yes, he wrestled with the Angel and prevailed;<sup>8</sup> he wept and entreated Him for mercy. At Bethel he found Him and there God spoke with him.<sup>9</sup> The LORD, the God of hosts, YAHWEH His name.<sup>10</sup> So, you return to your God, hold on to love and justice and wait continually on your God.

<sup>11</sup>As for Canaan, in his hand are false balances; for he loves to practice fraud.<sup>12</sup> But Ephraim says, "Truly, I am growing wealthy; I have gotten me riches, and none of my gains have come to me wrongfully, for that would be sin."

<sup>13</sup>Now I the LORD, your God, since the land of Egypt,<sup>14</sup> could again make you to live in tents, as in the days of the harvest festival.<sup>15</sup> I spoke to you repeatedly by the prophets; I multiplied visions for you, and by the prophets I appealed to you in parables;<sup>16</sup> but in Gilead all is wicked worthlessness; in Gilgal their bullocks were offered to demons. Their altars shall become as stone-heaps in the furrows of the field.<sup>17</sup> Jacob fled to the land of Aram, and there Israel served for a wife — for a wife he herded sheep.<sup>18</sup> By a prophet the LORD brought Israel from Egypt, and by a prophet he was shepherdded.<sup>19</sup> But Ephraim has provoked (Him) bitterly; so He will leave his bloodguilt upon him and make him pay for his reproach.

13 <sup>1</sup>WHEN EPHRAIM SPOKE, THERE was trembling;<sup>2</sup> he was prince in Israel; but he fell into sin through Baal, and thus he died.<sup>3</sup> Now they continue their sinning; they make themselves molten images, shaping as they are minded their silver into idols — the work of craftsmen, all of it. They say of them, "The men who offer sacrifices kiss the calves."<sup>4</sup> Wherefore they shall be like the morning cloud and like the dew vanishing early, like chaff driven in the wind from the threshing floor and like smoke from a window.

<sup>5</sup>Yet I am the LORD your God, since the land of Egypt; and you, you know no God but Me; nor is there any Savior besides Me.<sup>6</sup> I knew you in the desert in that scorched land.<sup>7</sup> But as they ate and were filled, their heart was exalted; therefore they forgot Me.<sup>8</sup> So I shall be like a lion to them, like a leopard by the wayside ready to leap.<sup>9</sup> I will spring on them like a bear bereaved of her young; I will tear open their hearts and devour them there as would a lion, as wild beasts would rend them.

<sup>10</sup>When I destroy you, O Israel, who then comes to your aid? <sup>11</sup>Where now is your king, that he may save you, and all your princes besides, that they may rule over you, concerning whom you said, "Give me a king and princes?" <sup>12</sup>I will give you a king, but in My anger, and I will take him away again in My indignation.<sup>13</sup> Harvested is Ephraim's guilt; stored up now is his sin.<sup>14</sup> Pangs like those of childbirth are come upon him; but a foolish son is he; for this is no time to stay in the mouth of the womb.<sup>15</sup>

God's Final Call — to Heal Them

of Sheol? Should I redeem them from death? Where, O Death, are your plagues; where, O Sheol, is your destruction?<sup>c</sup> Relenting is hid from My eyes. <sup>15</sup>Though among his brothers he is the "fruitful" one,<sup>d</sup> an east wind<sup>e</sup> shall come, a wind of the LORD out of the desert, and mounting high, it shall dry up his fountain and parch his spring, stripping him of every precious thing. <sup>16</sup>Samaria must bear her guilt, for she rebelled against her God. They shall fall by the sword; their children shall be dashed in pieces and their women with child ripped open.

14 COME BACK, O ISRAEL, TO THE LORD your God; for your sins have caused you to stumble. <sup>2</sup>Come back to the LORD and bring words with you. Say to Him, "Take away all guilt, grant us favor, that we may bring as an offering to Thee the fruit of our lips!"<sup>f</sup>

<sup>3</sup>Assyria will not save us; neither will we be riders of horses;<sup>g</sup> nor will we ever again say, "Our God," to what our hands have made; for in Thee the fatherless finds mercy.

<sup>4</sup>I will heal their backsliding;<sup>h</sup> I will love them freely, for My anger is now turned from them. <sup>5</sup>I will be as the dew to Israel; he shall blossom as the lily; he shall throw out his roots like Lebanon. <sup>6</sup>His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be like that of the olive tree, his fragrance like Lebanon. <sup>7</sup>They shall return and dwell beneath His shadow. They shall live as a well-watered garden, flourish like the vine and become as fragrant as the wine of Lebanon.

<sup>8</sup>What more then has Ephraim to do with idols? I make answer to him; I look after him<sup>i</sup> with watchful care; I am like an evergreen cypress; and your fruit, it is found, comes from Me.

<sup>9</sup>Whoever is wise will understand these things, and the discerning man will know them; for the ways of the LORD are right and the righteous walk in them; but transgressors stumble in them.<sup>j</sup>

c) St. Paul's I Cor. 15:55 recalls this passage, but with a glorious reversed meaning.

d) Ephraim, in Heb. "fruitful," was thought of as the "productive" one.

e) The wind from the east is Assyria. f) Offer words of thanksgiving and praise.

g) They will no longer look to Assyria for help nor turn to Egypt [Isa. 30:16; 31:1].

h) Now God responds. i) When he calls to Me.

j) Ch. 14 offers an encouraging picture — Israel's return to God, to the land, and to the blessings to follow — such as only God's love could offer. Could Hosea have written thus after all those messages? Yes, his understanding of God's love would make it agreeable to him.

THE BOOK OF

JOEL

1 THE WORD OF THE LORD THAT CAME
to Joel, the son of Pethuel:

<sup>2</sup>Hear this, you old men, and listen, all you who dwell in the land!

Has such a thing ever taken place in your days, or in the days of your fathers?

<sup>3</sup>Tell these things to your children, and they to their children, and their children to the generation after
them.

<sup>4</sup>What the crawling locust left, the swarming locust ate,
and what the swarming locust left, the hopping locust ate,
and what the hopping locust left, the stripping locust ate.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Wake up, you drunkards and cry aloud;

wail, all you drinkers of wine,
because of the sweet wine, for it is cut off from your mouth.

<sup>6</sup>For a nation has now invaded My land, mighty and beyond numbering;
their teeth are the teeth of a lion,
their fangs are those of a lioness.

<sup>7</sup>He has made of My vineyards a waste-
land,

And My fig trees he has blasted;

He has stripped them clean of their bark, and thrown it away.

He has bleached the branches white.

<sup>8</sup>Wail (O land), like as a virgin girded with sackcloth for the bridegroom
of her youth.

<sup>9</sup>The meal offerings and the drink offerings<sup>b</sup> are cut off from the house

of the LORD;

the priests, the ministers of the LORD,
now mourn.

<sup>10</sup>The fields are desolate, the land is in
mourning,
for the grain is destroyed; the new wine is dried up; the oil does not flow.

<sup>11</sup>The farmers are depressed, the vinedressers lament;
for the wheat and the barley, the harvest of the field is ruined.

<sup>12</sup>The vines languish, and the fig tree is withered.

The pomegranate, the palm and the apricot,

all the trees of the field are dried up,
and all gladness is gone from among
men.

<sup>13</sup>Gird yourselves and mourn, O priests!
Wail, you ministers of the altar!

Come inside, and lie all night in sack-
cloth,

you ministers of my God.

For sacrifices and drink offerings are now not offered in the house of your God.

<sup>14</sup>Sanctify a fast, announce a solemn
assembly,

gather together the elders, and all
those living in the land, to the house of your God, and cry to the LORD fervently.

<sup>15</sup>Alas, for the day,
for the day of the LORD is near!

It comes as a day of destruction from the Almighty.

a) Of the nine names for locust used in the Hebrew Old Testament four are found here and in 2:25. Palestine had similar terrifying experiences as here described in the years 1915 and 1928.
b) The regular daily offering, Ex. 29: 4-6; Num. 15:5-7; 28:7-9.

JOEL 1, 2

A Dreadful Devastation; Call to Repentance

<sup>16</sup>Has not food been cut off from before your eyes,
gladness and joy from the house of our
God?

<sup>17</sup>The seed rots under the clods;
the granaries are all empty;
the barns are falling down, now that all grain is withered.

<sup>18</sup>What can we put away in them?
The herds of cattle wander aimlessly about

because there is no pasture for them.
The flocks of sheep also are depressed.

<sup>19</sup>To Thee, O LORD, I cry aloud, for fire has destroyed the pastures of
the plains,
and flames have burned up the trees
in the fields.

<sup>20</sup>Also the beasts of the field turn panting to Thee,
for the water brooks have run dry,
and fire has destroyed all pastures of
the land.

2 BLOW THE TRUMPET<sup>c</sup> IN ZION;
raise the alarm in my holy mountain.
Let all those dwelling in the land
tremble,
for the day of the LORD is coming, it is near.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>2</sup>A day of darkness and gloom,
a day of clouds and dense darkness!
Like morning gray that spreads upon
the mountains,
there comes a great and powerful people, the like of whom have never been from of old,
nor will they again be known throughout the years of all coming generations.

<sup>3</sup>Before them fire destroys, and after them a flame consumes;
before them the land was like the Garden of Eden,
and after them it is a desert waste.
From them there is no escape.

<sup>4</sup>Their appearance is that of horses,
and they run like war horses;

<sup>5</sup>they leap like the rumbling chariots
on the tops of the mountains,

Like the crackling flames of fire devouring the stubble;
like a mighty people prepared for
battle.

<sup>6</sup>Before them people are in anguish,
all faces grow pale with consternation.

<sup>7</sup>They run like warriors; like men of war they climb the walls;
they go each in his own path, they do not entangle themselves.

<sup>8</sup>They do not jostle each other in the
way,

each goes his own path;
they plunge through the defenses;<sup>e</sup>
they are not stopped.

<sup>9</sup>They leap upon the city; they run
upon its walls;
they climb upon its houses;
they enter through its windows as do thieves.

<sup>10</sup>Before their face the earth quakes,
and the heavens tremble;
the sun and the moon are darkened,
and the stars lose their brightness.

<sup>11</sup>The LORD thunders before His army,
His advancing host is mighty;
he that obeys His commands is very powerful.

The day of the LORD is very great and terrible,
who can withstand it?

<sup>12</sup>Yet even now the LORD announces, Return to Me with all your hearts,
fasting, and weeping and mourning,
come!

<sup>13</sup>Rend your hearts and not your garments,
and return to the LORD, your God.
For I He is merciful and compassionate,
long-suffering and abounding in mercy,
and feels grieved over punishment.

<sup>14</sup>Who knows but that He will turn and feel grievance
and leave a blessing behind Him,
even for cereal offerings and drink offerings
which you may offer to the LORD, your God.

<sup>15</sup>Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast day; proclaim a solemn
assembly.

c) The original trumpet was a ram's horn.

d) This arrangement of the sentence is apparently that of the original.

e) In the locust invasions of Palestine mentioned in note "a" of ch. 1, heaps upon heaps were beaten to pulp and burned, but the invaders moved on over the debris, and all attempts to stop them were useless.

<sup>16</sup>Assemble the people; arrange a holy convocation.

Bring together the elders; gather the children,

even those nursing at the breast.

Let the bridegroom come forth from his quarters,
and the bride from her bridal closet.

<sup>17</sup>Between the vestibule and the altar let the priests, those ministering to the LORD, weep,

and let them say, "Spare Thy people, O LORD,

and make not Thy heritage a reproach, a byword among the nations.

Why should those among the nations say,

'Now where is your God?'

<sup>18</sup>Then the LORD became zealous for His land, and had pity on His people.

<sup>19</sup>The LORD answered and said to His people,

Lo, I will send you the grain, and the wine and the oil;

you will be satisfied with them, and I will no longer make you a reproach among the nations.

<sup>20</sup>I will remove the invader from the north<sup>f</sup> far from you and I will drive him into a parched wasteland, his front to the eastern sea,<sup>g</sup> and his rear to the sea of the west.<sup>h</sup>

His stench will arise, his foul smell will ascend,

for his (evil) works have been vast.

<sup>21</sup>Fear not, O land, be glad, and rejoice; for the LORD has done great things!

<sup>22</sup>Fear not, ye beasts of the field, for the pastures of the plains are now green; the tree bears its fruit, the fig tree and the grapevine give their full yield.

<sup>23</sup>And you, O sons of Zion, be glad; rejoice in the LORD your God; for He gave you warning, teaching unto righteousness;

and He has now poured down rain for you,

the early rains, and the latter rains<sup>i</sup> at the first.

<sup>24</sup>The threshing floors will be full of grain,
and the wine vats overflow with wine and oil.

<sup>25</sup>I will repay for the years which the locust devoured —
the hopper, the stripper and the shearer—

My great army which I sent upon you.

<sup>26</sup>You shall eat and be full, and be satisfied, and you shall praise the name of the LORD your God, who has done these wonders for you. My people shall never again be put to shame,

<sup>27</sup>and you shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, that I am the LORD your God, and My people shall never again be put to shame.

<sup>28</sup>It shall come to pass after this that I will pour out My Spirit upon all flesh, your sons and your daughters shall prophesy;

your old men shall dream dreams, and your young men shall see visions, <sup>29</sup>Even upon the servants and the maids I will, in those days, pour out of My Spirit.

<sup>30</sup>And I will give signs in the heavens and upon the earth, blood and fire, and columns of smoke.

<sup>31</sup>The sun shall be changed into darkness,

and the moon into blood,
before the coming of the day of the LORD, dark and terrible;

<sup>32</sup>but every one who calls upon the name of the LORD shall be saved. For in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem there shall be those who escape, as the LORD has said.

And those who are saved will be those whom the LORD has called.

3 FOR BEHOLD, IN THOSE DAYS AND AT that time, when I restore <sup>2</sup>the fortunes of Judah and Jerusalem, I shall gather all the nations and bring them down into the valley of Jehoshaphat;<sup>j</sup> I shall there enter into judgment with them on account of My people and My heritage, Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations. <sup>3</sup>My land they have divided up, and for My people they have cast lots; they have given a boy for a harlot, and have sold a maiden for wine and have drunk it.

<sup>4</sup>And further, what are you to Me, O Tyre and Sidon, and all the regions of Philistia?<sup>k</sup> Are you paying Me back for something I have done? If so, I shall speedily return your recompense upon your own heads; <sup>5</sup>for you have taken My silver and My gold, and My precious treasures you have carried away into your own temples. <sup>6</sup>The sons of Judah and the sons of Jerusalem you have sold to the Greeks, that you might remove them far from their own borders. <sup>7</sup>But listen! I am going to remove them from the place whither you have sold them, and I shall return your retribution upon your own heads. <sup>8</sup>I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hands of the sons of Judah, and they will sell them to the Sabaeans,<sup>l</sup> a nation far away; for the LORD has spoken.

Declare a holy war; arouse your warriors,

let all fighting men draw near, let them all go up!

<sup>10</sup>Beat your plowshares into swords and your pruninghooks into spears; let the weak one say, I am strong.

<sup>12</sup>Let the nations bestir themselves, and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat;

for there, will I, the LORD, sit to judge all the nations round about.

The Nations Judged; Judah Saved

<sup>13</sup>Bring forth the sickle, for the harvest is ripe; go in and tread, for the wine press is full;

the vats overflow, for their wickedness is great.

<sup>14</sup>Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision, for the day of the LORD is near, in the valley of decision;

<sup>15</sup>The sun and the moon are darkened, and the stars withhold their shining.

The heavens and the earth are shaken;

but the LORD is a refuge for His people and a stronghold for the sons of Israel.

<sup>17</sup>You shall know that I am the LORD your God, that I am dwelling in Zion, My holy mountain.

Jerusalem shall remain holy, and aliens shall never again pass through her.

<sup>18</sup>It shall be in that day that the mountains shall drip sweet wine, and the hills shall flow with milk; all the brooks of Judah shall flow full of waters, and a fountain shall send forth its waters from the house of the LORD, and irrigate the valley of Acacia.

<sup>19</sup>Egypt shall become a desolation, and Edom shall be a barren wasteland, because of their violence against the sons of Judah;

for they have poured out innocent blood in their land.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>20</sup>But Judah shall be inhabited forever and Jerusalem from generation to generation, <sup>21</sup>and I will avenge their blood; I will not leave it unrequited.

I am the LORD, dwelling in Zion.

THE PROPHECY OF

AMOS

1 THE WORDS OF AMOS,<sup>a</sup> WHO WAS one of the shepherds from Tekoa,<sup>b</sup> which he saw concerning Israel in the days of Uzziah king of Judah<sup>c</sup> and Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel,<sup>d</sup> two years before the earthquake.

<sup>2</sup>He said, "The LORD will roar from Zion; He will utter His voice from Jerusalem;<sup>e</sup> the pastures of the shepherds shall mourn, and the top of Carmel shall be dried up."

<sup>3</sup>Thus says the LORD: Because of three transgressions of Damascus, yes of four,<sup>f</sup> I will not revoke it;<sup>g</sup> because they have threshed Gilead with iron threshing sleds. <sup>4</sup>I will send fire on the house of Hazael, and it will consume the palaces of Ben-hadad.<sup>h</sup> <sup>5</sup>I will break the bolt of Damascus and cut off the inhabitants from the valley of iniquity,<sup>i</sup> and the holder of the sceptre from the house of luxury,<sup>j</sup> and the Syrian shall go captive to Kir, says the LORD.

<sup>6</sup>Thus says the LORD: On account of three transgressions of Gaza, yes of four, I will not revoke it;<sup>k</sup> because they took a complete captivity to turn it over to Edom. <sup>7</sup>Therefore I will send fire on the walled city of Gaza, and it shall consume her palaces. <sup>8</sup>I will cut off the inhabitants of Ashdod and the holder of the sceptre from Ashkelon; I will cause my hand to turn against Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines<sup>k</sup> shall perish, says the Lord God.

<sup>9</sup>Thus says the LORD: On account of three transgressions of Tyre,<sup>l</sup> yes of four, I will not revoke it;<sup>m</sup> because they turned over a complete captivity to Edom and they did not remember the covenant of brothers. <sup>10</sup>Therefore I will send fire on the walled city of Tyre, and it shall consume her palaces.

<sup>11</sup>Thus says the LORD: On account of three transgressions of Edom,<sup>n</sup> yes of four, I will not revoke it;<sup>o</sup> because he pursued his brother with the sword and stifled his love while his anger tore incessantly and he kept his wrath forever. <sup>12</sup>Therefore I will send fire on Teman, and it shall consume the palaces of Bozrah.

<sup>13</sup>Thus says the LORD: On account of three transgressions of the sons of Ammon, yes of four,<sup>p</sup> I will not revoke it;<sup>q</sup> because they ripped up the pregnant women of Gilead in order to expand their boundaries.<sup>r</sup> <sup>14</sup>Therefore I will kindle a fire on the walled city

a) Not to be confused with Amoz, father of Isaiah [Isa. 1:1].

b) Now Tekoa, a ruined village five miles south of Bethlehem. Amos prophesied at Bethel to the northern kingdom. c) Reigned 790-739 B.C. d) Jeroboam II, reigned 793-753 B.C.

e) Cf. Joel 3:16.

f) A common Semitic idiom stressing the fact that the sins have been numerous. The one singled out in each instance is the most heinous. g) His decree to punish the nation mentioned.

h) Son of Hazael, who maintained his palace in Damascus. i) Or Aven. j) Or Beth-edon.

k) Gaza, Ashdod, Ashkelon and Ekron represent the Philistines.

l) Cf. I Kings 5:12, where Hebrews and Phoenicians are allies; the Tyrians may have sold Hebrews to Edomites, or people from other Phoenician cities.

m) The Hebrews were Edom's closest relatives as descendants of Jacob and Esau. Usually the Hebrews ruled the Edomites, but fortunes changed; tables were turned.

n) We know that the Ammonites plagued the Hebrews repeatedly. Gideon and Jephthah fought them successfully, after much suffering from them.

o) Territorial expansion gained by extremely cruel methods.

Sins of Edom, Moab, Judah and Israel to Be Punished

AMOS 1-3

of Rabbah, and it shall consume their palaces with a cry on the day of war, with a storm on the day of tempest. <sup>15</sup>Their king shall go into captivity, he and his princes together, says the LORD.

2 <sup>1</sup>THUS SAYS THE LORD: BECAUSE OF three transgressions of Moab, yes of four, I will not revoke it;<sup>2</sup> because he burned the bones of the king of Edom to lime.<sup>3</sup> <sup>2</sup>Therefore I will send fire on Moab, and it shall devour the palaces of the city; and Moab shall die in the tumult with a cry, with the sound of a ram's horn. <sup>3</sup>I will cut off the judge from its midst, and all its princes I will kill with him, says the LORD.

<sup>4</sup>Thus says the LORD: On account of three transgressions of Judah, yes of four, I will not revoke it;<sup>5</sup> because they despised the law of the LORD, and His statutes they did not keep. Their lies after which their fathers walked have led them astray; <sup>6</sup>therefore, I will send fire on Judah, and it will devour the palaces of Jerusalem.

<sup>6</sup>Thus says the LORD: On account of three transgressions of Israel,<sup>7</sup> yes of four, I will not revoke it;<sup>8</sup> because they sold the righteous for silver and the poor for a pair of sandals. <sup>7</sup>They are panting after dust on the head of the poor; the way of the meek they stretch out.<sup>9</sup> A man and his father go in to the same girl in order to profane My holy name; <sup>8</sup>on pledged garments they stretch out beside every altar; wine bought with fines they drink in the house of their god.<sup>9</sup> <sup>9</sup>Yet it was I who destroyed the Amorite before them, although his height was as the cedars and his strength was that of the oak; I destroyed his fruit above and his roots below. <sup>10</sup>It was I who brought you up from Egypt, and I led you in the desert 40 years, so you could possess the land of the Amorite.

<sup>11</sup>I raised up some of your sons to be prophets and some of your young men to be Nazarites. Is it not so, sons of Israel? — it is affirmed by the LORD. <sup>12</sup>But you caused the Nazarites to drink wine and the prophets you commanded, "Do not prophesy." <sup>13</sup>Behold, I will make you groan as a wagon groans loaded with sheaves. <sup>14</sup>Flight shall perish from the swift; the strong man shall not save his life; <sup>15</sup>the Bowman shall not stand; the lightfooted shall not be saved,<sup>1</sup> even the rider of the horse shall not save his life. <sup>16</sup>The strong of heart among the heroes shall flee naked in that day — it is affirmed by the LORD.

3 <sup>1</sup>HEAR THIS WORD WHICH THE LORD has spoken to you, sons of Israel, to every family that I brought up from Egypt:<sup>2</sup> <sup>2</sup>Only you have I known<sup>3</sup> of all the families of the earth. Therefore will I visit upon you all your iniquities. <sup>3</sup>Do two walk together without having agreed? <sup>4</sup>Does a lion roar in the forest when there is no prey for him? Does a young lion growl from his den unless he has seized something? <sup>5</sup>Shall a bird swoop down into a snare on the earth when there is no bait in it? Does a snare spring up from the ground if it has seized nothing? <sup>6</sup>If a ram's horn is blown in a city, are the people there not afraid? Shall there be calamity in a city and the LORD has not made it? <sup>7</sup>Truly the Lord God will not do anything unless He has revealed His secret to His servants the prophets. <sup>8</sup>A lion has roared; who is not afraid? The Lord God has spoken, who can but prophesy?

<sup>9</sup>Cause it to be heard at the palaces

g) His decree to punish the nation mentioned.

p) A glimpse is afforded in II Kings 3:5-27, where Moab's hatred develops especially against Edom. Not able to take Edom's king alive, they got his corpse and cremated it, an outrage among all Semitic peoples.

q) Amos had enjoyed little formal schooling, but note his skill as a speaker. His hearers agreed and felt good about God's judgment on surrounding nations, including Judah. Now he shows that northern Israel deserves no less.

r) These figures are equivalent to saying, "They ground the poor in the dust; the meek they compel to lengthen their walking."

s) Israelites, like pagans, satisfying lust under a mantle of religion.

t) Hebrew, "will not save"; without harmony with God there is no success in life.

u) The southern as well as the northern kingdom of Israel; both singularly privileged, therefore singularly guilty. v) In the Biblical meaning of "know," intimately and with favor.

Israel's Wealthy, Worldly Wives

in Ashdod<sup>w</sup> and at the palaces in the land of Egypt and say, "Assemble yourselves on the mountains of Samaria and see the many disorders within her and oppressions in her midst." <sup>10</sup>They do not know how to do right — it is affirmed by the LORD — those who store up violence and robbery in their palaces.

<sup>11</sup>Therefore thus says the Lord God: An enemy! He is surrounding the land, and he shall break down your strongholds from you and your palaces shall be plundered. <sup>12</sup>Thus says the LORD: As a shepherd snatches from the mouth of a lion two leg bones or part of an ear, so shall the sons of Israel be delivered; those who sit on the corner of a bed in Samaria, or on a couch in Damascus. <sup>13</sup>Hear and bear witness in the house of Jacob, says the Lord God, the God of hosts, <sup>14</sup>for when I bring back the transgressions of Israel upon him, then I will punish the altars of Bethel; * the horns of the altars shall be cut off, and they shall fall to the earth. <sup>15</sup>I will cut off the winter house together with the summer house; the houses of ivory shall perish, and the ample houses shall come to an end — it is affirmed by the LORD.

4 HEAR THIS WORD, YOU HEIFERS OF Bashan,<sup>y</sup> who are in the mountain of Samaria, the oppressors of the common people, the crushers of the poor, those who say to their husbands, "Bring, that we may drink!" <sup>2</sup>The Lord God has sworn by His holiness that the days are even now coming upon you when He shall lift you up with hooks and your posterity with fish-hooks. <sup>3</sup>You shall go out at the breaches, each of you going straight ahead; and you shall be driven to the fortress — it is affirmed by the LORD.

your sacrifices every morning, your tithes<sup>z</sup> every three days! <sup>5</sup>Offer leavened burnt offerings as a thank offering, and proclaim freewill offerings and publish them, for thus you love (to do), O sons of Israel — it is affirmed by the Lord God.

<sup>6</sup>But on My part, I have given you cleanness of teeth<sup>a</sup> in all your cities and lack of bread in all your places, and still you have not returned to Me — it is affirmed by the LORD. <sup>7</sup>Also I have held back from you the heavy rain when there were yet three months to the harvest; I caused rain to come upon one city, and I withheld the rain from another city. One portion was rained upon, and the portion which was not rained upon withered, <sup>8</sup>so that two or three cities wandered into one city to drink water; but they were not satisfied, and still you have not returned to Me — it is affirmed by the LORD.

<sup>9</sup>I have smitten you with blight and with mildew. The yield of your gardens, of your vineyards, of your fig trees and your olive trees, the locusts are eating, and still you have not returned to Me — it is affirmed by the LORD. <sup>10</sup>I sent upon you pestilence after the manner of Egypt; I slew your warriors with the sword and took away your horses; I caused the stench of your camps to rise even to your noses, and still you have not returned to Me — it is affirmed by the LORD. <sup>11</sup>I have overthrown in your midst as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah; you have been like a firebrand plucked from the burning, and still you have not returned to Me — it is affirmed by the LORD.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>12</sup>Therefore thus shall I do to you, O Israel, and since I shall do this to you, prepare to meet your God, O Israel!

w) One of five larger cities in Philistia. The ark of the covenant was taken there, to Dagon's temple, after its capture and the defeat of the Hebrew army [1 Sam. 5:1-8]. It is Azotus of Acts 8:40.

x) Amos was preaching there. The golden calf, which Jeroboam had erected, was its worship shrine.

y) Designating the dissolute women of Samaria. The Bashan plateau, east of Jordan, contained rich pasture land [Ps. 22:12].

z) The sacrifices were to be offered at the annual feasts and the tithe once every three years. These offerings and tithes, even though greatly multiplied, did not suffice; there was no surrender of self in them. a) Little to eat.

b) Because God still cares for them, He applies His fatherly discipline. Will they learn their lesson?

tain, the Creator of the wind, the One who proclaims to man His thought, the Maker of the dawn and darkness, the One who treads upon the high places of the earth: the LORD, the God of hosts, is His name.<sup>c</sup>

5 HEAR THIS WORD WHICH I AM bringing against you as a complaint, O house of Israel! <sup>2</sup>The virgin Israel has fallen, never to rise. She is forsaken upon her ground; there is no one to lift her up. <sup>3</sup>For thus says the LORD God: The city which goes forth a thousand strong shall return a hundred, and the one which goes forth a hundred strong shall return ten to the house of Israel.

<sup>4</sup>For thus says the LORD to the house of Israel: Seek Me and live. <sup>5</sup>Do not seek Beth-el; do not enter Gilgal; do not pass through Beersheba. For Gilgal shall go rolling away,<sup>d</sup> and Beth-el shall become wickedness.<sup>e</sup> <sup>6</sup>But seek the LORD and live, lest He break out as fire in the house of Joseph and it will consume and there is no extinguisher at Beth-el. <sup>7</sup>O you who turn justice into wormwood,<sup>f</sup> and cast down righteousness to the earth! <sup>8</sup>(Seek Him) who makes the Pleiades and Orion, who turns blackness to morning and darkens day to night; Him who calls the waters of the sea and pours them out on the face of the earth — the LORD is His name, <sup>9</sup>Him who causes destruction to flash forth against strength, and destruction comes upon the fortified city.

<sup>10</sup>They hate the one who reproves in the gate,<sup>g</sup> and they abhor the one who speaks with integrity. <sup>11</sup>Therefore, because you have trodden upon the poor and exact wheat from him — rock houses you have built, but you shall not dwell in them; desirable vineyards you have planted, but you shall not drink their wine! <sup>12</sup>For I know your transgressions to be many, and your sins very great. You are enemies of the righteous, receivers of bribes, and you turn down the needy in the gate.

<sup>13</sup>Therefore the prudent shall be silent at that time, for it is an evil time. <sup>14</sup>Seek good and not evil, that you may live; so shall the LORD, the God of hosts, be with you, as you say. <sup>15</sup>Hate evil, and love good. Place justice up high in the gate, and perhaps the LORD, the God of hosts, will be gracious to the remnant of Joseph.

<sup>16</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the Lord: In all the squares there will be wailing, and in all the streets they shall say, "Woe, woe!" They shall call the plowman to mourning and professional mourners to lamentation. <sup>17</sup>In all the vineyards there shall be mourning — for I will pass through your midst, says the LORD.

<sup>18</sup>Woe to those who long for the day of the LORD! What good will the day of the LORD do you? It is darkness and not light — <sup>19</sup>as when a man flees from a lion only to have a bear fall on him; then he runs into the house and leans his hand against the wall only to have a serpent bite him. <sup>20</sup>Is not the day of the LORD darkness and not light, gloom with no gleam in it? <sup>21</sup>I hate, I despise your festivals; I will not be pleased with your assemblies. <sup>22</sup>For if you cause burnt offerings to ascend to Me and meal offerings, I will not accept them; and the peace offerings of your fatlings I will not look upon. <sup>23</sup>Take away from Me the noise of your songs; the melody of your musical instruments I will not hear. <sup>24</sup>Let justice roll on like water, and righteousness like a mighty stream.<sup>h</sup> <sup>25</sup>Did you offer to Me sacrifices and cereal offerings during the 40 years in the wilderness, O house of Israel? <sup>26</sup>But you did carry Siccuth your king, and Kiyyun the images, the star of your gods which you made for yourselves.<sup>i</sup>

c) The man who centers his thoughts on God is being educated. What sublimity in this thirteenth verse! d) This in Hebrew is a play on the word Gilgal — rolling [Josh. 4:19-24]. e) Again this is a play on the Heb. words; for Bethel, "house of God," was sometimes called Beth-aven, "house of sin."

f) There is a suggestion of iniquity in the word "wormwood" in Hebrew.

g) Where the local court sat, dealing with local affairs—appeals, complaints, fair and unfair dealings.

h) Prophetic of our Lord's, "Not everyone who says LORD, LORD, but he who does the will of My Father who is in heaven."

i) Siccuth was an Assyrian god, also known as Kiyyun, which some of the Hebrews, or the mixed crowd that came along with them from Egypt, must have worshiped in the desert.

<sup>27</sup>Therefore I will cause you to go into captivity beyond Damascus, says the LORD; the God of hosts is His name.

6 WOE TO THOSE WHO ARE AT EASE in Zion and those who feel secure in the mountain of Samaria, the appointed men of the first of the nations, to whom the house of Israel comes! <sup>2</sup>Pass through Calneh<sup>j</sup> and see. Go from there to greater Hamath.<sup>k</sup> Then go down to Gath<sup>l</sup> of the Philistines. Are you better than these kingdoms, or are their boundaries greater than your boundary? <sup>3</sup>You who put off the day of punishment, yet cause the seat of violence to draw near; <sup>4</sup>who lie on beds of ivory and stretch out on couches; who eat sheep from the flock and calves straight from the stable;<sup>m</sup> <sup>5</sup>who croon to the sound of the lute; who like David invent for themselves instruments of song; <sup>6</sup>who drink wine from bowls and anoint themselves with the choicest ointments, but they are not at all grieved over the ruin of Joseph!<sup>n</sup> <sup>7</sup>Therefore they shall now go into captivity with the first of the captives, and the noisy banquets of those who stretch out shall come to an end.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>8</sup>The Lord God has sworn by Himself — it is affirmed by the LORD, the God of hosts: I detest the pride of Jacob, and I hate his palaces! I shall hand over the city and its fulness. <sup>9</sup>It shall come to this, that if there are ten men left in one house, they shall die. <sup>10</sup>If a man's uncle and the one who is to anoint<sup>p</sup> him shall lift him up to bring the bones out of the house and shall say to those who are still in the house, "Is there yet another with you?" and he says, "No," then he shall say, "Hush, we must not mention the name of the LORD!"

will smite the great house with breaches and the little house with clefts. <sup>12</sup>Do horses run on the rock? Does one plow there with oxen? But you turn justice to wormwood and the fruit of righteousness to bitterness.<sup>q</sup> <sup>13</sup>You who rejoice in what is nothing; who say, "Is it not by our own strength we have taken horns<sup>r</sup> for ourselves?" <sup>14</sup>Behold, I am raising up against you, house of Israel — it is affirmed by the LORD, the God of hosts — a nation, and they shall oppress you from the entrance of Hamath to the brook of the Arabah.<sup>s</sup>

7 HERE IS WHAT THE LORD GOD showed me. He is forming locusts in the first stages of the shooting up of the aftergrowth; in fact, it was the aftergrowth after the king's mowings. <sup>2</sup>When they had finished eating the grass of the land, I said, "O Lord God, pardon me; who will lift up Jacob, for he is little?" <sup>3</sup>The LORD had compassion on account of this. The LORD said, It shall not be.

<sup>4</sup>Thus the Lord God showed me, and see, the Lord God was calling for a trial by fire: it would consume the great deep, it would also consume the tilled land. <sup>5</sup>So I said, "O Lord God, cease, I pray; who shall raise up Jacob, for he is little?" <sup>6</sup>The LORD had compassion on account of this. The Lord God said: This too shall not be.

<sup>7</sup>Thus He showed me, and behold, the LORD stood upon a plumb line with a plumb line in His hand. <sup>8</sup>The LORD said to me, What do you see, Amos? And I said, "A plumb line." The LORD said, See, I am placing a plumb line in the midst of My people Israel.<sup>t</sup> I will not again pass by him any more. <sup>9</sup>The high places of Isaac shall be desolate and the sanctuaries of Israel

j) City of Assyria on the banks of the Tigris. k) City of Syria on the Orontes River.

l) Formerly the capital of the Philistines. God is here calling upon His people to learn from the lessons of history. m) Where they had been confined to be fattened. n) Northern Israel.

o) Amos said this about 760 B.C. when Jeroboam II reigned a prosperous people. Less than 40 years later Northern Israel was conquered by Assyria and all but the poor were exiled.

p) Rub him with oil for the burial, or possibly cremate the body.

q) God is accusing the leaders of Israel of violating the very principles of common sense; making life unbearable by discouraging fair dealings. r) The symbol of strength or authority.

s) The depression of the Galilean Sea, the Jordan, the Dead Sea and on to the Red Sea. The word means desert, as does Arab. Its brook marks the southern boundary of Palestine.

t) How straight were the people walking the God-appointed way?

shall be destroyed, and I will rise up against the house of Jeroboam with the sword.

<sup>10</sup>Then Amaziah<sup>u</sup> the priest of Beth-el sent to Jeroboam the king of Israel, saying, "Amos has conspired against you in the midst of the house of Israel. The land can not bear all his words. <sup>11</sup>For thus said Amos, 'With the sword shall Jeroboam die, and Israel shall surely go into captivity from his own land.'"

<sup>12</sup>And Amaziah said to Amos, "Seer, go, flee into the land of Judah; there eat your bread and prophesy;" <sup>13</sup>but do not prophesy any more at Beth-el; for it is the king's sanctuary and the house of the kingdom."

<sup>14</sup>Amos answered Amaziah, "I am neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, but I was a herdsman and a grower of sycamore figs. <sup>15</sup>The LORD took me from behind the flock and the LORD said to me, Go, prophesy to My people Israel. <sup>16</sup>Now hear the word of the LORD. You are saying, 'Do not prophesy against Israel, and do not preach against the house of Isaac.' <sup>17</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD: Your wife will commit adultery in the city; your sons and daughters will fall by the sword, and your land will be divided by the sword. As for you, upon an unclean ground you will die, and Israel shall certainly go into captivity from its own land."

8 THUS THE LORD GOD SHOWED ME and see, a basket of summer fruit. <sup>2</sup>He said, What do you see, Amos? I said, "A basket of summer fruit." The LORD said to me, The end<sup>x</sup> has come for My people Israel. I will not again pass by any more. <sup>3</sup>The songs of the temple they shall make into howlings in that day — it is affirmed by the Lord God. Many shall be the corpses; in every place they shall, with a hush, cast them out.

<sup>4</sup>Hear this, you who swallow up the needy and cause the poor of the land to cease, <sup>5</sup>saying, "When will the new moon<sup>y</sup> be over, so we can sell corn for money, and the Sabbath, so we can open the wheat market to make the bushel little and the shekel large and to deal crookedly with false balances; <sup>6</sup>to buy the poor with silver and the needy for a pair of sandals, and sell the refuse of the wheat?"<sup>z</sup>

<sup>7</sup>The LORD has sworn by the pride of Jacob: I will never forget all their deeds!<sup>a</sup> <sup>8</sup>On account of this shall not the earth shake and every dweller in it mourn! All of it shall rise like the Nile, and it shall be tossed and sink like the River of Egypt.

<sup>9</sup>In that day — it is affirmed by the Lord God — I will bring in the sun at noonday; I will cause darkness on earth in broad daylight time. <sup>10</sup>I will turn your festivals to mourning and all your songs to a dirge. I will cause sackcloth to go up on all loins and baldness on every head. I will make it as mourning for an only son; the end shall be as a bitter day. <sup>11</sup>For the days are coming — it is affirmed by the Lord God — that I will send famine in the land; not famine for bread or thirst for water, but for hearing the words of the LORD. <sup>12</sup>Then they shall be cast from sea to sea and from the north even to the sunrising. They shall scurry about to seek the word of the LORD, but they shall not find it. <sup>13</sup>In that day beautiful virgins and young men shall faint for thirst. <sup>14</sup>Those who swear by the guilt of Samaria<sup>b</sup> — "As your God lives, Dan!" and, "As the way of Beer-sheba<sup>c</sup> lives!" — they shall fall, and they shall not rise again.

u) Taking the place of the LORD's high priest in the Jerusalem temple, Amaziah was serving at the shrine of the golden calf, set up at Beth-el to keep worshippers away from Jerusalem.

v) Intimating that Amos tried to make a living from his prophesying.

w) The warning applied to the people generally, including the priest, who would die captives abroad. x) The Hebrew word for "end" is very similar to the word for "summer."

y) Retaining sacred customs of the faithful Hebrews, the new moon was observed by cessation of work and of marketing, but with a feeling of wasting time.

z) They measured out less than they should and charged more for it than was fair.

a) Which always holds where there is no sincere sorrow and confession.

b) In agreement with golden-calf worship.

c) Where Abraham lived for years and called on Jehovah; where Jacob sacrificed on his way to Joseph in Egypt, thus a secondhand relationship with God.

9 I SAW THE LORD STANDING<sup>d</sup> BY the altar, and He said: Smite the capitals,<sup>e</sup> and the threshold shall shake! Break them in pieces on the head of all of them! The last of them I will slay with the sword. Not a single one shall escape, and not one fugitive of them shall be saved. <sup>2</sup>If they dig through to Sheol, from there My hand shall take them. If they go up to heaven, from there I will cause them to go down. <sup>3</sup>If they hide in the top of Mount Carmel, from there I will dig them out and take them. If they be hid from before My eyes in the bottom of the sea, from there I will command the serpent, and he shall bite them. <sup>4</sup>If they go into captivity before their enemies, from there I will command the sword, and it shall slay them.<sup>f</sup> I will set My eyes upon them for hurt and not for help. <sup>5</sup>The Lord, God of hosts, He it is who smites the earth and it melts, and all the dwellers in it mourn; it shall rise like the Nile, all of it, and it shall sink like the River of Egypt. <sup>6</sup>He who builds His upper room in the heavens, who rests His vaults upon the earth, He who calls the waters of the seas and pours them out upon the face of the earth — the Lord is His name.

<sup>7</sup>Are you not as the sons of Cush<sup>g</sup> to Me, O sons of Israel? says the LORD. Was it not Israel that I caused to go up from the land of Egypt, also the Philistines from Caphor, and the Syrians from Kir? <sup>8</sup>Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are upon the sinful kingdom. I will root her up from the face of the earth; only I will not completely root up the house of Jacob — it is affirmed by the LORD. <sup>9</sup>For I command, and I will sift the house of Israel among all the nations as one shakes a sieve. There shall not fall to earth the smallest portion.<sup>h</sup> <sup>10</sup>All the sinners of My people shall die with the sword, those who say, "Harm will not soon approach because of us!"

<sup>11</sup>In that day I will raise up the fallen tabernacle of David;<sup>i</sup> I will repair its breaks; I will raise up its ruins and build it as in the days of old, <sup>12</sup>so that they may possess the remnant of Edom and all the nations upon whom My name is called — it is affirmed by the LORD, who is doing this.

<sup>13</sup>The days are coming, it is affirmed by the LORD, that the plowman shall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes him who scatters the seed. The mountains shall drip new wine, and all the hills shall dissolve. <sup>14</sup>I will turn the captivity of My people Israel. They shall build cities which have been desolate; they shall dwell in them; they shall plant vineyards, and they shall drink their wine. They shall make gardens, and they shall eat their fruit. <sup>15</sup>So I will plant them on their land, and they shall not be plucked up again from their land which I have given them, says the LORD your God.

d) Isaiah sees God seated; but Amos sees Him standing — previously on the wall, here by the altar; for He is administering justice in both instances.

e) Ornaments on top of the pillars; so from top to bottom the place will turn to ruin.

f) The reverse of Ps. 139 where God's benevolent omnipresence is sung.

g) The Ethiopians, who also are His offspring. And God is the Ruler of Egypt, Philistia, and the Syrians too — God of all the earth, for there is no other.

h) Their sifting served to let fine particles drop through, to retain the grain.

i) Amos sees repentance on the part of David's house, representing Judah, whom discipline has brought back to God. Not only Judah, but Simon, most of Benjamin, the majority of Levites and priests, and the godly of the northern kingdom will enjoy these blessings, spiritually, with adjoining nations sharing divine favor.

THE BOOK OF OBADIAH

1 THE VISION OF OBADIAH.

1 Thus the LORD God speaks concerning Edom: We have heard a report from the LORD, and a messenger has been sent among the nations: "Rise up, let us rise up against her for battle!"<sup>2</sup> Behold! I will make you insignificant among the nations; you will be greatly despised.<sup>a</sup> <sup>3</sup>The insolence of your heart has misled you, you who reside in the retreats of the cliff, whose dwelling is high,<sup>b</sup> who say in your heart, "Who will bring me down to the ground?" <sup>4</sup>Though you fly high like the eagle, though your nest is set among the stars, from there I will bring you down, says the LORD.

<sup>5</sup>If thieves came to you, if robbers by night — how you have been ruined! — would they not steal (only) what they want? If grape gatherers came to you, would they not leave gleanings? <sup>6</sup>How Esau has been ransacked, his hidden treasures searched out!<sup>c</sup> <sup>7</sup>All your allies<sup>d</sup> have pushed you to the border, they have misled you; your intimate friends<sup>e</sup> have prevailed over you; those eating your bread have placed a trap under you<sup>f</sup> without your sensing it.

<sup>8</sup>Shall it not be on that day, says the LORD, that I will cause the wise men to perish from Edom, and discernment from the mount of Esau? <sup>9</sup>Then your mighty men shall be filled with terror, O Teman, so that every man may be cut off from the mount of Esau by slaughter. <sup>10</sup>Because of violence against your brother Jacob, shame will overwhelm you, and you shall be cut off forever. <sup>11</sup>On the day when you stood aloof, as foreigners carried off his possessions and aliens came into his gate,<sup>g</sup> and for Jerusalem they cast lots, yes, you were as one of them.

<sup>12</sup>Now do not gloat over your brother's day, the day of his misfortune; do not rejoice over the sons of Judah in the day when they perish; do not speak overbearingly<sup>h</sup> in the day of his distress. <sup>13</sup>Do not enter the gate of My people in the day of his disaster; yes, you, do not take pleasure in seeing his misery in the day of his misfortune. Do not reach out for his possessions in the day of his calamity. <sup>14</sup>Do not stand at the crossroads<sup>i</sup> in order to cut off those refugees of his who escape and do not deliver up his survivors in the day of distress.

<sup>15</sup>For the day of the LORD is near upon all the nations; as you have done, so it shall be done to you; your doings will come back upon your own head. <sup>16</sup>For as you have drunk upon My holy mountain, so all the nations will

JONAH

1 THE WORD OF THE LORD CAME TO Jonah the son of Amittai, with this message: <sup>2</sup>Get up and go to Nineveh,<sup>a</sup> that great metropolis, and preach against it, because their wickedness has mounted up before Me. <sup>3</sup>But Jonah arose to flee to Tarshish<sup>b</sup> from the presence of the LORD; so he went down to Joppa<sup>c</sup> and found a ship going to sail for Tarshish; he paid the fare and boarded it to go with them to Tarshish, from the presence of the LORD.

<sup>4</sup>But the LORD flung a terrific wind over the sea so that there was a great tempest on the sea, and the ship was about to be wrecked. <sup>5</sup>Then the sailors<sup>d</sup> were afraid, and each cried out desperately to his god; and they threw out into the sea the cargo which was in the ship, to lighten it. But Jonah had gone below into the hold of the vessel, had lain down, and fallen sound asleep.<sup>e</sup> <sup>6</sup>So the captain came to him and said to him, "What's the matter with you, you sleeper? Get up, call on your god; perhaps your god will think about us, that we may not perish." <sup>7</sup>Then they said one to another, "Come, let us cast lots so that we may know on whose account this calamity has come upon us." They cast lots, and the lot fell on Jonah. <sup>8</sup>Then they said to him, "Tell us, we beg of you, for what fault this disaster has come on us.

What is your occupation? Where do you come from? What is your country? What people are you from?" <sup>9</sup>Then he told them, "I am a Hebrew; and I worship the LORD, the God of heaven, who made the sea and the dry land." <sup>10</sup>Then the men were terribly afraid, and they said to him, "What is this you have done?" For the men realized that he was running away from the presence of the LORD, because he had told them.

<sup>11</sup>They said to him, "What shall we do to you, so that the sea may calm down for us?" For the sea kept growing more tempestuous. <sup>12</sup>He replied, "Pick me up and throw me into the sea, and the sea will quiet down for you; for I know that because of me this terrific tempest is upon you." <sup>13</sup>But the men worked hard at the oars in order to get back to the shore; but they could not make headway, because the sea grew ever more stormy against them. <sup>14</sup>So they cried out to the LORD, "We beg of Thee, O LORD, do not let us perish for the life of this man. Do not charge innocent blood against us; for Thou, O LORD, hast done as it pleases Thee!" <sup>15</sup>Then they picked up Jonah and flung<sup>f</sup> him into the sea; the sea ceased from its raging. <sup>16</sup>And the men, in great awe of the LORD, offered a sacrifice to the LORD and made vows.

pointed a great fish to swallow Jonah, and Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

2 THEN JONAH PRAYED TO THE LORD his God from the belly of the fish and said, <sup>2</sup>"I called to the LORD out of my anguish, and He answered me. From the innermost part<sup>g</sup> of Sheol I cried for help — Thou didst listen to my voice.

<sup>3</sup>"Thou didst cast me into the deep, into the heart of the seas, and the current was engulfing me. All Thy breakers and Thy waves passed over me.

<sup>4</sup>"Then I<sup>h</sup> said, 'I have been driven away from Thine eyes; but I shall again behold Thy holy temple.'

<sup>5</sup>Waters encompassed me, threatening my life, the ocean<sup>i</sup> surrounding me. Seaweed was wrapped about my head.

<sup>6</sup>I went down to the base of the mountains; the earth with its bars was behind me forever; yet Thou hast brought up my life from the pit,<sup>j</sup> O LORD my God.

<sup>7</sup>"When my soul fainted away within me, I remembered the LORD; then my prayer came to Thee, into Thy holy temple. <sup>8</sup>Those who revere worthless idols give up the grace that might be theirs.<sup>k</sup> <sup>9</sup>But I will sacrifice to Thee with the voice of thanksgiving; what I have vowed, I will make good. Deliverance is the LORD's."

<sup>10</sup>Then the LORD spoke to the fish, and it disgorged Jonah onto the dry land.

3 THEN THE WORD OF THE LORD came to Jonah the second time: <sup>2</sup>Get up, and go to Nineveh, that great metropolis, and preach to it the message which I tell you. <sup>3</sup>So Jonah got up and went to Nineveh in accordance with the LORD's instruction.

Now Nineveh was an extremely large city requiring three days' travel.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>4</sup>When Jonah began to enter the city one day's travel, he proclaimed, "Forty days more and Nineveh shall be overthrown." <sup>5</sup>And the people of Nineveh believed God, proclaimed a fast, and from the greatest to the least of them put on sackcloth.<sup>m</sup> <sup>6</sup>When the news reached the king of Nineveh,<sup>n</sup> he arose from his throne, laid aside his royal robe, covered himself with sackcloth, and sat in ashes. <sup>7</sup>He made a proclamation and published it throughout Nineveh by a decree of the king and his nobles:<sup>o</sup> "Let not man or beast, herds or flocks, taste anything at all; let them not feed or drink water; <sup>8</sup>but let man and beast be covered with sackcloth and cry out fervently to God, and let every one turn from his evil way and from the violence that is in his hands." <sup>9</sup>Who knows but God may change His mind, relent and turn away from His fierce anger, so that we may not perish?"

<sup>10</sup>So when God saw what they did, how they turned from their evil way, God relented of the punishment which He had said He would inflict on them, and He did not do it.

4 BUT THIS GREATLY DISPLEASED Jonah, and he grew angry. <sup>2</sup>Then he prayed to the LORD, saying, "O LORD, was not this what I said while I was still in my homeland? This is why I fled to Tarshish to prevent it; for I know that Thou art a gracious God and disposed to pity, slow to anger, most merciful, and grieved at calamity. <sup>3</sup>So now, LORD, please take my life<sup>p</sup> from me; for it is better for me to die than to live." <sup>4</sup>Then the LORD said: Do you have good reason to be angry? <sup>5</sup>Now Jonah had left the city and lodged to the east of the city. he constructed a foliage covering for himself and sat underneath it in the shade until he might see what was going to happen to the city. <sup>6</sup>And the LORD God appointed<sup>r</sup> a gourd<sup>s</sup> and made it grow up over Jonah to be a shade over his head, to deliver him from his discomfort. And Jonah was very much elated over the gourd. <sup>7</sup>But when dawn came the next day, God appointed a cutworm, and it struck the gourd so that it withered. <sup>8</sup>Then as the sun shone forth, God appointed a sultry east wind, and the sun beat down upon Jonah's head, so that he grew faint. Then he wanted to die and said, "It is better for me to die than to live." <sup>9</sup>But God said to Jonah, Do you have good reason to be angry about the gourd? He answered, "I have good reason to be angry, enough to die."<sup>t</sup> <sup>10</sup>Then the LORD said, You feel grief over the gourd for which you neither labored nor did you make it grow, which came up in a night and perished in a night.<sup>u</sup> <sup>11</sup>Then should not I feel grief over Nineveh, that great metropolis, in which there are more than 120,000 persons who cannot discriminate between their right hand and their left,<sup>v</sup> and much livestock?<sup>w</sup>

MICAH

740-710 B.C.

1 THE WORD OF THE LORD THAT WAS given to Micah of Moresheth<sup>a</sup> in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah,<sup>b</sup> which he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

<sup>2</sup>Hear, all you peoples; pay attention, earth and its fulness, so that the Lord God may be a witness against you, the Lord from His holy temple. <sup>3</sup>For behold! The Lord is going out from His place; He is coming down to tread upon the high places of the earth. <sup>4</sup>The mountains shall melt beneath Him, and the valleys shall split like wax before the fire, like water poured out upon a slope. <sup>5</sup>All this is because of the transgression of Jacob and the sins of the house of Israel.

What is the transgression of Jacob? Is it not Samaria?<sup>c</sup> And what are the sins of the high places of Judah? Are they not Jerusalem?<sup>d</sup> <sup>6</sup>So I will make Samaria a ruin on the field with terraces for planting a vineyard; I will throw down her stones into the valley, and her foundation I will lay bare. <sup>7</sup>All her idols shall be broken; all her harlot hires shall be burned in the fire; all her carved images I will make an astonishment; for from the hire of a harlot she has collected them, and to a harlot's hire they shall return.

<sup>8</sup>On account of this let me weep, let me mourn, let me go away barefoot and stripped; let me make howling like the jackals and mourning like the ostrich. <sup>9</sup>For her wounds are incurable, for it has come to Judah; it has touched even the gate of my people — Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup>Do not publish it in Gath; weep not at all in Acco, in Beth-le-Aphrah<sup>e</sup> roll in dust. <sup>11</sup>Move on, dwellers of Shaphir, in nakedness and shame! The dwellers of Zaanan do not dare go forth; the wailing of Beth-ezel takes from you his standing place. <sup>12</sup>The dwellers of Maroth wait for good, because calamity has come down from the Lord to the gate of Jerusalem. <sup>13</sup>Litch the horse to the chariot, dwellers of Lachish, for she was the beginning of sin to the daughter of Zion; the transgressions of Israel are found in you. <sup>14</sup>Therefore give a parting gift for Moresheth-gath; the houses of Achzib shall be deception to the kings of Israel.<sup>f</sup> <sup>15</sup>Yet will I bring to you, dwellers of Moreshah, the possessor; the glory of Israel shall come to Adullam. <sup>16</sup>Make yourselves bald; cut off your hair on account of your fondled children. Make your baldness as bald as the eagle, for they go from you into captivity.

a) Called Moresheth-Gath, vs. 14, probably near Gath but inside the Judah boundaries.

b) Jotham "reigned" [as co-regent and king] 751-736, Ahaz 735-716, and Hezekiah 716-687 B.C.

c) The idolatries of Samaria and what went with them were being practiced in the southern kingdom.

d) Vss. 5, 6, 8, and part of 9 were found among the Dead Sea scrolls, agreeing with our text. False teachers are called culprits, whose punishment is certain. e) "House of dust."

f) The names found in these five verses are used as a series of plays on words in Hebrew, the names of places corresponding to their distressing experiences: Aphrah, dust; Shaphir, fair; Zaanan, sheepyard; Maroth, bitterness; Moresheth, possession; Achzib, deceitful.

2 WOE TO THEM THAT PLAN IN-iquity, that scheme wickedness upon their beds; in the morning light they act on it; for it is in the power of their hands. <sup>2</sup>They covet fields and seize them; houses, and take them away. They defraud a man and his household, the person and his inheritance.

<sup>3</sup>Therefore thus says the LORD: Scel! I am planning punishment against this family, from which you shall not remove your necks, and you shall not walk erect,<sup>a</sup> for this is disastrous. <sup>4</sup>In that day they shall take up against you a proverb, and they shall wail a lamentation, "Done for!" They shall say, "We are certainly laid waste! He let go the inheritance of my people; how He does remove it from me! He divides our field to the apostate!" <sup>5</sup>So you shall have no one to cast a line by lot in the congregation of the LORD.

<sup>6</sup>"Don't preach," they<sup>h</sup> preach. (But if) they do not preach to these, the shame will never cease. <sup>7</sup>Are you called, "House of Jacob?" Is the Spirit of the LORD limited? Are these His ways? Do not My words benefit him who walks honestly? <sup>8</sup>Only yesterday My people were rising up as an enemy; from one languishing in peace you strip off the garment, from those who pass by in security, averse to war.<sup>1</sup> <sup>9</sup>The women of My people you evict from their happy homes; from their young children you take away My splendor forever. <sup>10</sup>Get up and leave, for this is not a resting place; because uncleanness destroys, and the destruction is grievous. <sup>11</sup>If a man went around having lied with wine and falsehood, (saying), "I will preach to you of wine and strong drink," he would be the preacher of this people. <sup>12</sup>I will surely gather all of you, O Jacob; I will certainly collect the remnant of Israel; I will collect them like a flock in a fold; like a herd in the midst of its pasture; it will be humming with people.

<sup>13</sup>The breach-maker will have gone up before them; they have broken through and have passed by the gate and have gone out through it; their king has passed by before them, and the LORD at their head.

3 THEN I SAID: HEAR NOW, HEADS OF Jacob and rulers of the house of Israel: Are you not supposed to know justice, <sup>2</sup>you who hate good and love evil; who strip the skin off people and their flesh off their bones; <sup>3</sup>who eat the flesh of my people? The skin they have stripped from them, and their bones they have broken as for a kettle, like meat in the midst of the cauldron. <sup>4</sup>Then they cry to the LORD, but He does not answer them; He hides His face from them in that time, according as they have made their deeds evil.

<sup>5</sup>Thus says the LORD to the prophets who lead my people astray; who, when they get something between their teeth, preach "Peace!" — but whoever does not put something in their mouths, against him they sanctify<sup>j</sup> war. <sup>6</sup>Therefore it shall be night to you without vision, darkness to you without divination;<sup>k</sup> the sun shall go down upon the prophets, and dark shall be the day to them. <sup>7</sup>The seers shall blush, and the diviners shall be ashamed; they shall cover their mouths,<sup>l</sup> all of them; for there is no answer from God. <sup>8</sup>As for me, I am full of power, by the Spirit of the LORD and of judgment and might, to proclaim to Jacob his rebellion and to Israel his sin.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Hear this, you heads of the house of Jacob and rulers of the house of Israel, who spurn justice and twist everything that is straight, <sup>10</sup>who build Zion in blood and Jerusalem in iniquity. <sup>11</sup>Her leaders deal out judgment for a bribe; her priests teach for hire; her prophets divine for silver, and then they lean on the LORD, saying, "Is not the LORD in our midst? Evil shall not

g) Proudly. h) The false prophets.

i) The ungodly become unreasonable, for they have no love or respect for men; they manhandle even those who have no selfish purpose to promote with them.

come upon us!" — <sup>12</sup>Therefore, for your sake, Zion shall be plowed as a field, Jerusalem shall be heaps, and the temple mountain shall become as a jungle hill.<sup>a</sup>

4 IN THE LATTER DAYS THE MOUNTAIN of the LORD's house shall be established as the highest of the mountains; it shall be raised above the hills, and the nations shall flow unto it. <sup>2</sup>Many nations shall come and say, "Come, let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the house of the God of Jacob, so He may teach us His ways, and we may walk in His paths." For from Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>He shall judge among many peoples and decide for mighty nations afar off. Then they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning shears; nation shall lift up no sword against nation, and they shall not learn war any more. <sup>4</sup>A man shall dwell beneath his vine and fig tree and no one shall make him afraid; for the mouth of the LORD of hosts has spoken it. <sup>5</sup>For all the nations walk, each one in the name of its god, but we shall walk in the name of the LORD our God for ever and ever.

<sup>6</sup>In that day — it is affirmed by the LORD — I will gather the lame and those who have been driven out; I would gather even those whom I have afflicted.<sup>o</sup> <sup>7</sup>I will put the lame for a remnant and the outcast for a mighty nation; and the LORD will reign over them in Mount Zion from this time and through eternity.

<sup>8</sup>As for you, tower of the flock, hill of the daughter of Zion, to you it shall come, even the former dominion shall come, a kingdom for the daughter of Jerusalem. <sup>9</sup>Now why do you shout aloud? Is there no king with you, or has your counsellor perished? For pangs have taken hold of you as of a woman in travail. <sup>10</sup>Writhe and cry out, daughter of Zion, like a woman in labor, for now you shall go out from the city, and you shall live in the field. You shall enter into Babylon; there you shall be delivered; there the LORD will redeem you from the hand of your enemies. <sup>11</sup>Now many nations shall be gathered to you; those who say, "Let her be defiled! Let our eyes gaze on Zion!" <sup>12</sup>But they do not know the thoughts of the LORD; they do not understand His counsel; for He has gathered them like sheaves on the threshing floor. <sup>13</sup>Rise and thresh, daughter of Zion, for I will make your horn of iron, and your hoofs I will make of brass; you will crush many people, and I will devote to the LORD their ill-gotten gain,<sup>p</sup> and their wealth to the LORD of all the earth.

5 NOW ASSEMBLE IN TROOPS, O daughter of troops; a state of siege has been placed against us; with a rod they shall strike the judge of Israel on the cheekbone.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>2</sup>As for you, Bethlehem Ephrathah, little as you are among the thousands of Judah, from you shall He come forth to Me, who is to be ruler over Israel,<sup>r</sup> His goings forth are from of old, from days of eternity. <sup>3</sup>Therefore He shall give them up until the time when she who is in labor has brought forth,<sup>s</sup> and the rest of His brothers shall return to the sons of Israel. <sup>4</sup>He shall stand and feed in the strength of the LORD; in the majesty of the name of the LORD His God; and they shall abide, for now He shall be great to the ends of the earth, <sup>5</sup>and He shall be peace.

When Assyria shall enter our land and tread on our palaces, we shall raise against him seven shepherds and eight princes among men. <sup>6</sup>They shall shepherd the land of Assyria with the sword and the land of Nimrod within her gates,<sup>t</sup> but He shall deliver us from Assyria, when He shall go forth in our land and tread in our borders.

n) Or, "as a wooded hill" [cf. Jer. 26:18]. Note the identity of vss. 1-5 with Isa. 2:2-5. His period, 740-710 B.C., coincides with that of Isaiah, who was exceptionally well educated.

o) A foretaste of Gospel days; for such Jesus had special sympathy and help.

the midst of many people as dew from the LORD, as the showers upon the grass, which do not wait for man nor tarry for the sons of men.<sup>u</sup> <sup>8</sup>The remnant of Jacob shall be among the nations in the midst of many peoples as a lion among the animals of the forest, as the young lion in a sheepfold, which, if he passes through, he tramples and tears, and there is no deliverer. <sup>9</sup>Your hand shall be lifted up against your foes, and all your enemies shall be cut off!

<sup>10</sup>In that day — it is affirmed by the LORD — I will cut off your horses from your midst, and I will destroy your chariots.<sup>v</sup> <sup>11</sup>I will cause the cities of your land to be cut off; I will throw down all your fortifications. <sup>12</sup>I will cut off all the sorceries from your land, and you shall have no more soothsayers. <sup>13</sup>I will cut off your graven images and your idols; you shall no longer worship the works of your hands. <sup>14</sup>I will root out your shame-images<sup>w</sup> from your midst; I will annihilate your cities. <sup>15</sup>I will execute retribution in anger and indignation with the nations which did not hear.

6 HEAR WHAT THE LORD IS SAYING: Rise, enter your plea before the mountains, and let the hills hear your voice. <sup>2</sup>Hear, O mountains, the LORD's indictment, and you, everlasting foundations of the earth, for the LORD has an accusation against His people, and He will indict Israel. <sup>3</sup>My people, what have I done to you, and how have I exhausted your patience? Answer Me, <sup>4</sup>for I brought you up from the land of Egypt and from the house of bondage; I ransomed you from slavery; I sent before you Moses, Aaron, and Miriam. <sup>5</sup>My people, I urge you, remember what King Balak of Moab devised, and what Balaam son of Beor answered him;<sup>x</sup> (also the events) from Acacia to Gilgal,<sup>y</sup> so that you may fully understand the LORD's rights.

<sup>6</sup>With what shall I come before the LORD, or bow myself in the presence of God, the exalted? Shall I come before Him with burnt offerings, with yearling calves? <sup>7</sup>Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, with ten thousands of rivers of oil? Shall I give my first-born for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sins of my soul? <sup>8</sup>He has declared to you, O man, what is good, and what does the LORD require of you but to do justice, to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God?<sup>z</sup>

<sup>9</sup>The voice of the LORD cries to the city<sup>a</sup> — and it is wholesome to revere Thy name. Heed the rod and him who has appointed it. <sup>10</sup>Are there not still in the house of the ungodly treasures of wickedness and the condemned bushel of scant measure? <sup>11</sup>Would I be innocent with crooked balances and bags of false weights? <sup>12</sup>For her rich men are full of oppression; her inhabitants seek falsehood; they have false tongues in their mouth. <sup>13</sup>On My part, I have smitten you with a grievous wound; I have made you desolate on account of your sins. <sup>14</sup>You will eat; but you will not be satisfied; inside you there will still be hunger. You will put away, but you will not save, and what you do save I will give to the sword. <sup>15</sup>You will plant, but you will not harvest; you will tread the olives, but you will not anoint yourself with the oil; you will tread<sup>b</sup> the grape, but you will not drink the wine. <sup>16</sup>You have kept the statutes of Omri and all the work of the house of Ahab;<sup>c</sup> you have walked in their counsel in order that I might hand you over to destruction and the inhabitants to scorn, and the reproach of My people you shall bear.

u) As God had ordained in His covenant with Abraham for Israel to bless the world [Gen. 12:2].

v) When Israel became a nation, the multiplying of horses and chariots was forbidden [Deut. 17:16], lest they put their trust in them.

w) Asherah, the Canaanite shrine that encouraged lewdness. The court of heaven is moved down to earth, to clarify the unwholesome situation of a thankless, paganizing people.

x) Balak had secured Balaam, hoping he would curse Israel, but instead he blessed them [Num. 23]. y) Cf. Num. 22-36. Israel is sinning high-handedly [Num. 15:30].

z) A responsive life rather than response in offerings, the grateful attitude to the merciful Helper.

a) Referring to the city, Jerusalem. b) The word "tread" supplied from the previous clause.

c) The most idolatrous of kings in northern Israel, committing high-handed sins [Num. 15:27-31].

7 WOE TO ME! FOR I HAVE BEEN AS the gatherings of summer fruit, as the gleanings of the grape harvest. Not a cluster to eat; not an early fig, on which my heart is set! <sup>2</sup>The godly man has perished from the earth; not one is honest among men. They all lie in wait for blood, each man to snare his brother with a net. <sup>3</sup>They do evil with both hands and have skill in using them. The prince asks for a bribe; so does the judge; the outstanding man seeks his own satisfaction; so between them they make their deal. <sup>4</sup>The best of them is like a briar; the straightest is worse than a thorn hedge. The day of your watchmen — your visitation — is on the way; now is their confusion. <sup>5</sup>Do not trust your neighbor; do not confide in your friend; guard the doors of your mouth from the one who lies in your bosom! <sup>6</sup>For son despises father, daughter stands up against mother, daughter-in-law against mother-in-law, and a man's enemies are the men of his house.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>7</sup>As for me, I will wait on the LORD; I will hope in the God of my salvation; my God will hear me. <sup>8</sup>Do not rejoice, my enemy, against me! If I fall, I shall rise;<sup>e</sup> though I live in darkness, the LORD is my light.

<sup>9</sup>The LORD's indignation I will bear, for I have sinned against Him;<sup>f</sup> He shall plead my cause and execute my justice. He shall bring me out to the light; I shall gaze on His righteous ways. <sup>10</sup>So my enemy shall see, and shame will cover her who said to me, "Where is the LORD your God?"<sup>g</sup> My eyes shall look upon her; she shall be trodden down as mud of the streets. <sup>11</sup>A day comes for rebuilding your walls — the day of broad extensions — <sup>12</sup>when they shall come to you from Assyria to Egypt, from Egypt to the Euphrates, from sea to sea and from mountain to mountain. <sup>13</sup>Yet the earth shall become a waste on account of her inhabitants, because of the fruits of their works.

<sup>14</sup>Shepherd the people with Thy rod, the flock of Thy inheritance,<sup>h</sup> who live alone in the forest in the midst of a fruitful land; they shall feed in Bashan and in Gilead, as in days of old. <sup>15</sup>As in the days when Thou didst bring them out from the land of Egypt, I will cause them to see wonders. <sup>16</sup>As the nations see, let them despair of all their might; they shall put their hand on their mouth; their ears shall become deaf. <sup>17</sup>They shall lick the dust like serpents; like worms of the ground, trembling they shall come out of their fortresses to the LORD our God, whom they shall revere, and they shall stand in awe of Thee. <sup>18</sup>Who, O God, is like Thee, forgiving iniquity, passing over transgression<sup>i</sup> for the remnant of His inheritance? He does not maintain His indignation forever because He delights in covenant love. <sup>19</sup>He will turn; He will again show us mercy; He will trample upon our iniquities; and Thou wilt cast all our sins into the depths of the sea.<sup>j</sup> <sup>20</sup>Thou wilt show faithfulness to Jacob and covenant love to Abraham, which Thou hast sworn to our fathers from the days of old.

d) Largely quoted by Jesus of situations where some in the same home accept Him and some reject Him [Matt. 10:34-36].

e) "I steadier step when I recall, that when I slip, God does not fall."

f) The godly person sees adversities as divine discipline.

g) Throughout Scripture and through life the ungodly either deny God's hand in life or see His displeasure when His children are disciplined.

h) A picture of the Messianic fulfilment, when the Redeemer of Israel is the world's Redeemer.

i) No idol was ever formed and no god has been humanly thought of who forgives; forgiveness is God's unique attribute.

j) His forgiving is thorough. As Christians we have a mind to forgive, but how hard it is to forget! God dropping our sins to the bottom of the sea is a picture of His complete forgetting.

THE BOOK OF

NAHUM

1 AN ORACLE ON NINEVEH: THE book of the vision of Nahum of Elkosh.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup>The LORD is a jealous God, a LORD of retribution, and indignant. The LORD takes full vengeance upon His adversaries, retaining wrath toward His foes. <sup>3</sup>The LORD is slow to anger and great in power, and will not at all acquit the guilty.

The way of the LORD is in the whirlwind and in the storm; the clouds are the dust of His feet. <sup>4</sup>He restrains the sea and dries it up; He makes all the rivers desert places; Bashan and Carmel wither; likewise the bloom of Lebanon.

<sup>5</sup>At His presence the mountains tremble, and the hills shrink away; the earth is laid waste before Him, the world and all its occupants. <sup>6</sup>Who can stand before the LORD's indignation, and who can keep standing in the heat of His anger? His fury is poured forth like fire, and before Him rocks are shattered.

<sup>7</sup>The LORD is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble; He knows those who commit themselves to Him.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>8</sup>With an overwhelming flood He will make an end of all who rise up against

Him, and He will pursue His foes into darkness.

<sup>9</sup>Whatever your plotting is against the LORD, He will bring it to nothing; He will not avenge Himself upon His foes a second time.<sup>c</sup> <sup>10</sup>Though they are as entangled thorns, they shall be consumed utterly like dry stubble.

<sup>12</sup>This is what the LORD says: Although they are strong and many, they shall be cut off so as to vanish; although I have humbled you, I will humble you no more.<sup>e</sup> <sup>13</sup>And now I will break his yoke from upon you, and snap your bonds asunder.

<sup>14</sup>The LORD has given command concerning you:<sup>f</sup> Nothing of your name shall survive; even from the house of your gods I will cut off the graven and molten images, and I will make your grave; for you are vile.

<sup>15</sup>Behold, on the mountains the feet of him who brings good tidings, who proclaims peace. So keep your feasts, O Judah, pay your vows; for not again shall the wicked pass over against you; he will be cut off completely.

a) The book of Nahum is a brief prophecy on the fall of Nineveh, capital of Assyria [612 B.C.]. The Assyrians were northern Babylonians who had migrated about 2000 B.C. to the area on the Tigris river where Nineveh was built. They were the most powerful of the Semitic peoples and their first world-conquerors. They captured Samaria and destroyed northern Israel in 722 B.C. Elkosh was pointed out to Jerome [c. 400 A.D.], as Elcesi in Galilee. We know of Nahum only what we learn from this book. He was one of the ablest writers in Israel.

b) This chapter introduces the prophecy proper. Ch. 1:2-6 is a general description of the LORD's power to avenge Himself and His people; verses 7-15, His promise to utterly destroy the enemies of His people, the Assyrians and Nineveh. c) Once will be enough.

d) These plotters of evil are Assyrian kings.

e) This line is addressed to Judah; what lies before is said of Nineveh. f) Assyria.

2 THE SHATTERER HAS COME UP against you,<sup>g</sup> so, man the ramparts; watch the road; gird your loins; build up your strength to the limit!<sup>h</sup> <sup>2</sup>For the LORD is restoring the vine<sup>i</sup> of Jacob as also the vine of Israel; for devastators have stripped them and have destroyed their branches.

<sup>10</sup>Emptiness! Desolation! Utter waste! Hearts melting, knees knocking; on every loin only anguish and all faces colorless. <sup>11</sup>Where is now the lion's lair, the cave of the young lions?<sup>k</sup> Where do the lions hide, all of them, with none to molest? <sup>12</sup>The lion tore up enough to feed his whelps; other prey he strangled for his lionesses; he then filled his caves with prey and his den with plenty of booty.

<sup>13</sup>Behold, I am against you, says the LORD of hosts; I will burn your chariots in smoke, and the sword will devour your young lions; I will eliminate your plunder from the earth, and the voice of your envoys shall be heard no more.

3 WOE TO THE CITY OF BLOOD, FULL of lies, and crammed with plunder, never ceasing her pillaging. <sup>2</sup>Hear the crack of the whip, the wheels rumbling, the horses prancing, and the chariots rattling, <sup>3</sup>cavalry charging, swords flashing, spears gleaming along the way; masses of the slain, many carcasses everywhere, men stumbling over the corpses of men; <sup>4</sup>and all because of the harlot in her harlotries<sup>l</sup> with all her beauty besides, mistress of seduction, selling nations by her prostitutions, bewitching peoples everywhere.

<sup>5</sup>Look, I am opposing you, says the LORD of hosts, I will lift your skirts to your face; your nakedness I will display before nations and your shame before kingdoms. <sup>6</sup>I will fling filth your way, treat you with contempt and render you a gazingstock. <sup>7</sup>Such that every one who looks at you will take to flight, crying out, "Nineveh is ruined! Who will lament her? Where can I find any to console her?"

<sup>8</sup>Are you any better than No-Amon,<sup>m</sup> enthroned upon the banks of the Nile with waters all around her, her rampart the sea and the water her walls? <sup>9</sup>Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, unlimited; Put and the Libyans were her allies. <sup>10</sup>Yet even so she was exiled and carried into captivity. At every street corner her children were dashed to death. For her leaders they cast lots, and all her great ones were shackled in chains.

<sup>14</sup>Draw water for the siege;<sup>o</sup> strengthen your forts; go down into the clay pits; trample the mortar and lay hold

THE BOOK OF HABAKKUK

1 <sup>a</sup>THE DIVINE ORACLE WHICH Habakkuk<sup>b</sup> the prophet saw: <sup>2</sup>How long, O LORD, shall I cry and Thou wilt not hear? I cry to Thee, "Violence!" and Thou wilt not save! <sup>3</sup>Why dost Thou show me iniquity and (makest me) look upon perverseness? For violence and oppression are before me; strife and contention keep on rising. <sup>4</sup>In the presence of this, the law is slack<sup>c</sup> and justice is not at all applied; for the wicked encircle the righteous,<sup>d</sup> hence justice goes forth perverted.

<sup>5</sup>Look out among the nations, observe and be astounded, be amazed; for I am doing a work<sup>e</sup> in your day, which you would not believe, if it were told you. <sup>6</sup>Behold, I am raising up the Chaldeans,<sup>f</sup> a fierce and impetuous nation, who march through the breadth of the earth to seize dwelling places which are not theirs. <sup>7</sup>Dreadful and terrible they are; their judgment and dignity proceed from themselves.<sup>g</sup> <sup>8</sup>Their horses are swifter than leopards, fiercer than evening wolves;<sup>h</sup> their horsemen also spread themselves, coming from afar. They fly as an eagle hastening to devour. <sup>9</sup>They all come for violence; their vanguard breaks through as the east wind; they gather captives as the sand.<sup>i</sup> <sup>10</sup>At kings they scoff; deriding princes, laughing at every stronghold, and piling up earth, they take them.<sup>j</sup> <sup>11</sup>Then they sweep by like the wind and pass on; but they are guilty men, for their might is their god.

<sup>12</sup>Art Thou not from everlasting, O LORD my God, my Holy One? We shall not die! O LORD, Thou hast ordained them for judgment, and Thou, O Rock,<sup>k</sup> hast placed them for correction. <sup>13</sup>Thou who art of purer eyes than to behold evil and to countenance wrong, why dost Thou look upon those unfaithful ones and dost keep silent when the wicked swallows up the man more righteous than he?

fat,<sup>o</sup> and his food is rich. <sup>17</sup>Shall he therefore keep on emptying his net<sup>p</sup> and continually slay nations without mercy?

2 I WILL TAKE MY STAND ON MY post, station myself on the tower, and watch to see what He will say to me; what answer I shall receive concerning my complaint. <sup>2</sup>The LORD answered me and said: Write the vision! Make it plain upon tablets, so he who runs by may read it! <sup>3</sup>However, the vision waits for its appointed time; it hastens toward the end; it will not lie. If it lingers, wait for it; for it will certainly come; it will not lag. <sup>4</sup>Look, his soul is puffed up;<sup>q</sup> it is not upright in him!<sup>r</sup> But the righteous shall live by his faith.<sup>s</sup> <sup>5</sup>But wine is treacherous to a haughty man; he can not endure. He who widens his greed like the grave<sup>t</sup> is like death, never satisfied; he gathers to himself all the nations and collects all peoples as his own.

<sup>6</sup>Shall not all these take up a taunt-song against him, a song of derision, saying, "Woe to him who heaps up what is not his! — How long? — Or who loads himself with pledges!" <sup>7</sup>Will not your creditors suddenly arise, and those wake up who make you tremble? Then you will be plunder for them! <sup>8</sup>Because you have robbed many nations, all the remnant of peoples<sup>u</sup> shall rob you, because of the blood of men and violence done to the land, to the city,<sup>v</sup> and to all its inhabitants.

<sup>9</sup>Woe to him who acquires an evil gain for his house, in order to set his seat on high, to be out of the reach of calamity! <sup>10</sup>You have directed shame to your house; also by cutting off many peoples, you have forfeited your own life. <sup>11</sup>For the stone will cry out from the wall, and the beam from the timbers will answer it.

<sup>15</sup>Woe to him who gives his neighbor drink; pouring out from your wine-skin to make him drunk so as to gaze upon his nakedness. <sup>16</sup>You will be filled with reproach instead of glory. Drink, yourself, and be as one uncircumcised!<sup>x</sup> The cup<sup>y</sup> in the LORD's right hand will come around to you and great shame will come on your glory. <sup>17</sup>For the violence done to Lebanon<sup>z</sup> shall overwhelm you, and the destruction of beasts will terrify you, because of the blood of men and the violence done to the earth, to cities, and all who live in them.

<sup>18</sup>What profit is a graven image, when its maker has formed it: a molten image and the instructor of lies? For the maker trusts in his own creation when he makes dumb idols.<sup>a</sup> <sup>19</sup>Woe to him who says to a wooden object, "Awake!" or to a dumb stone, "Arise!" Can this teach? See, it is overlaid with gold and silver, and there is no life in any of it. <sup>20</sup>The LORD<sup>b</sup> is in His holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before Him.

THE BOOK OF ZEPHANIAH

1 THE WORD OF THE LORD THAT came to Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hezekiah, during the days of Josiah<sup>a</sup> the son of Amon, king of Judah.

<sup>2</sup>I will completely consume all things from off the face of the earth, says the LORD. <sup>3</sup>I will consume man and beast; I will consume the birds of the heavens, the fish of the sea, and the stumbling blocks<sup>b</sup> with the wicked. I will cut off man from the face of the earth, too, says the LORD.

<sup>4</sup>I will stretch out My hand<sup>c</sup> against Judah and all the inhabitants in Jerusalem; I will cut off the remnant of Baal<sup>d</sup> from this place and the name of the idolaters with the priests;<sup>e</sup> <sup>5</sup>those who worship the host of heaven upon the housetops;<sup>f</sup> those who worship, swearing by the LORD and then by Malcham;<sup>g</sup> <sup>6</sup>those who have turned back from following the LORD; and those who have not sought the LORD, nor inquired after Him.

<sup>7</sup>Be still in the presence of the Lord God! For the day of the LORD is near!

The LORD has prepared a sacrifice; He has sanctified His guests.

<sup>8</sup>It shall be in the day of the LORD's sacrifice<sup>h</sup> that I will punish the princes,<sup>i</sup> the king's sons,<sup>j</sup> and all who are dressed in foreign apparel.<sup>k</sup> <sup>9</sup>On that day I will punish all who leap over the threshold,<sup>l</sup> who fill their master's house with violence and deceit. <sup>10</sup>Also on that day there shall be, says the LORD, the noise of a cry from the fish gate, a howling from the second quarter, and a great crashing from the hills.<sup>m</sup> <sup>11</sup>Howl, you inhabitants of Maktesh,<sup>n</sup> for all the people of Canaan are undone; all who were loaded with silver are cut off. <sup>12</sup>And it shall be at that time that I will search out Jerusalem with lamps,<sup>o</sup> and I will punish the men who are settled on their dregs,<sup>p</sup> who say in their heart, "The LORD will do no good, neither will He do harm."<sup>q</sup> <sup>13</sup>Their wealth shall become a spoil and their houses a desolation. Yes, they will build houses, but not inhabit them; they will plant vineyards, but not drink their wine.

a) Beginning in 639 B.C. at 8 years of age, under guidance of Hilkiah the high priest, Josiah reigned until 608, honored by Jeremiah and all his people.

p) Sunken into a state of moral stagnation and spiritual indifference.

q) Because He either lacks interest or power.

it is near and hastening greatly, even the voice of the day of the LORD. The mighty man will then cry bitterly. <sup>16</sup>That day will be a day of wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of wreck and desolation, a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and heavy darkness, <sup>16a</sup>a day of the trumpet and alarm against the fortified cities and the corner towers. <sup>17</sup>And I will bring distress upon men; they shall walk like blind men because they have sinned against the LORD! Their blood shall be poured out as dust and their flesh as dung. <sup>18</sup>Neither their silver nor their gold<sup>r</sup> will be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD's indignation, for the whole land shall be devoured by the fire of His jealousy; for He will make an end, yes, a speedy end, of all those who dwell in the land.

<sup>4</sup>For Gaza shall be depopulated, Ashkelon, a desolation; they shall drive out Ashdod at noon,<sup>u</sup> and Ekron shall be rooted up. <sup>5</sup>Woe to the inhabitants of the seacoast, the nation of the Chere-thites!<sup>v</sup> The word of the LORD is against you, O Canaan, land of the Philistines; I will so destroy you that there will be no inhabitant left. <sup>6</sup>The seacoast will be pastures, with caves for shepherds and folds for flocks. <sup>7</sup>The coast will be for the remnant of the house of Judah;<sup>w</sup> they shall feed their flocks there; in the houses of Ashkelon they shall lie down in the evening. The LORD their God will visit them and restore their fortune.

<sup>8</sup>I have heard the reproach of Moab and the revilings of the children of Ammon, with which they have reproached My people and exalted themselves against their domain.<sup>x</sup> <sup>9</sup>Therefore, as I live, says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, surely Moab shall be as Sodom<sup>y</sup> and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah — a possession of nettles, salt pits, and a perpetual desolation. The remainder of My people shall loot them, and the leftover of My nation shall inherit them. <sup>10</sup>This they will receive for their pride, because they have reproached and have vaunted themselves against the people of the LORD of hosts. <sup>11</sup>The LORD will be terrible to them, for He will make lean<sup>z</sup> all the gods of the earth; men shall worship I<sup>1</sup>him, everyone from his place,<sup>a</sup> even all the islands of the nations.

<sup>12</sup>You Ethiopians, too, you shall be slain by My sword. <sup>13</sup>He will also stretch out His hand against the north<sup>b</sup> and destroy Assyria; He will make Nineveh a desolation, dry as the desert. <sup>14</sup>Flocks shall lie down in the midst of her; all the beasts of the nations, both the pelican and the porcupine, shall lodge on top of its columns; the noise they make shall wail in the windows; desolation shall be on the threshold, for He has laid bare the cedar work.<sup>c</sup> <sup>15</sup>This is the exulting<sup>d</sup> city which dwelt carelessly, that said in her heart, "I am, and there is none else."<sup>e</sup> How<sup>f</sup> is she become a desolation, a place for beasts to lie down in! u) Time of the noon siesta [see II Sam. 4:5], a sudden surprise.

v) A clan or subdivision of the Philistines [see I Sam. 30:14; Ezek. 25:16].

w) Those who escape the coming judgment. x) To encroach on Hebrew territory.

y) As a salt and barren plain — a type of desolation [see Deut. 29:23; Isa. 13:19; Jer. 49:18].

z) Rendered powerless by the LORD; unable to defend their worshippers.

a) Not making a pilgrimage to Jerusalem.

b) Taken as an example of distant lands. Although located eastward, the Assyrians invaded Palestine from the north. c) Walls of palaces and temples were panelled [see I Kings 6:9, 10].

d) Exuberant joy, unrestrained by any thought of responsibility or care [see Isa. 22:2; 23:7; 32:13].

e) Proud of her unique, imperial position.

f) Amazement at such tragic turn of fortune [see Jer. 50:23; 51:41].

g) In scorn and hatred [see I Kings 9:8]; in anger and aversion — compare "shaking the head"

in derision [Lam. 2:15; Ps. 22:7].

<sup>5</sup>The LORD in the midst of her is righteous; He will do no iniquity; morning by morning He brings His judgment to light;<sup>k</sup> He does not fail; but the unjust knows no shame. <sup>6</sup>I have cut off nations, their corner towers are desolate; I have made their streets waste so that no man passes through; their cities are so desolate that there is no man, nobody to inhabit them. <sup>7</sup>I said: Surely you will revere Me; you will receive instruction, so that her residence would not be cut off, in accordance to all that I assigned to her. Nevertheless they rose up early and corrupted all their actions.

<sup>8</sup>Therefore wait upon Me, says the LORD, for the day when I stand up for booty;<sup>l</sup> for My verdict is to muster the nations, to assemble the kingdoms, to pour upon them My indignation, even all My fierce anger; for all the earth shall be devoured with the fire of My jealousy. <sup>9</sup>For then I will give the people a pure language<sup>m</sup> that all of them may call upon the name of the LORD, to serve Him shoulder to shoulder.<sup>n</sup> <sup>10</sup>From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia they will bring<sup>o</sup> My supplicants, My dispersed, as a present for Me. <sup>11</sup>In that day you shall not be ashamed because of all your actions, in which you have transgressed against Me; for then I will remove from among you your proud, exulting ones; you will no more be haughty in My holy hill.<sup>p</sup> <sup>12</sup>But I will leave among you a humbled and poor people,<sup>q</sup> who shall take refuge in the name of the LORD. <sup>13</sup>The remnant of Israel will neither act perversely nor speak lies; neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth, for they will graze and lie down,<sup>r</sup> and no one shall frighten them.

<sup>14</sup>Sing joyfully, O daughter of Zion;<sup>s</sup> shout, O Israel, be glad and rejoice wholeheartedly, thou daughter of Jerusalem! <sup>15</sup>The LORD has dismissed the sentence against you. He has repelled your enemy; the King of Israel, even the LORD,<sup>t</sup> is among you. You shall fear disaster no more. <sup>16</sup>In that day it shall be said to Jerusalem, Do not fear, O Zion; let not your hands droop. <sup>17</sup>The LORD, your God, is in your midst, a Mighty One<sup>u</sup> who will save. He will rejoice over you with delight; He will rest you in His love; He will be joyful over you with singing.

<sup>18</sup>I will gather those belonging to you who sorrow for the solemn assembly,<sup>v</sup> who have borne the burden of reproach. <sup>19</sup>Observe how at that time I will deal with all those who oppress you; I will save the one who limps and gather in the one who was driven away; to those whose disgrace<sup>w</sup> was in all the earth I will assign praise and a reputation. <sup>20</sup>At that time, the time when I gather you, I will appoint you for renown and praise among all the peoples of the earth, when I bring back your captivity before your eyes,<sup>x</sup> says the LORD.

THE BOOK OF HAGGAI

1 IN THE SECOND YEAR OF DARIUS the king, in the sixth month, on the first day of the month,<sup>a</sup> the word of the LORD came through the ministry of the prophet Haggai to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts: This people say, "The time has not yet come for the house of the LORD to be rebuilt." <sup>3</sup>Then the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, saying: <sup>4</sup>Is it a time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, while this house lies in ruins? <sup>5</sup>Now therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: Consider your ways.<sup>b</sup> <sup>6</sup>You have sown much, but you have brought in little; you eat, but you do not have enough; you drink, but you do not have your fill; you clothe yourselves, but no one is warm; and he who earns wages earns wages for a purse with holes.

<sup>7</sup>Thus says the LORD of hosts: Consider your ways. <sup>8</sup>Go up to the hill country, bring lumber and rebuild the house; I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified, says the LORD. <sup>9</sup>You counted on much; and see, it came to little; and when you brought it home, I blew it away. Why? says the LORD of hosts. Because of My house that is in ruins, while you each busy yourself with his own house. <sup>10</sup>Therefore for your sake the heavens have withheld the dew and the earth has withheld its produce. <sup>11</sup>I called for a drought<sup>c</sup> upon the land, upon the mountains, upon the grain, upon the new wine, upon the oil, upon what the ground produces and upon men, upon cattle and upon all the labor of their hands.
